Fortunately for the welfare of mankind, these doubting people form a comparatively small portion of the community at large. They are to be found here and there, but, compared with the great mass of the world's population, their numbers are so small that I dismiss them, and address myself to those who are willing to listen to the dictates of reason, and who are disposed to admit the strong logic of well established facts.

We are also told almost daily that Consumption the scourge of the American people, is incurable; that a man whose lungs are diseased must be given over to die; that he must abandon hope; and that the arrangement of his temporal as well as spiritual affairs should claim his earliest attention. If there were not facts as undeniable as that the sun will shine in a clear heaven at midday to controvert these random and not unfrequently harmful assertions, I should feel unwilling to take up the gage of battle against them; but, fortified with results—facts—which neither theory nor mere assertion can overturn, I propose to prove that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED, and that the medicines I prepare—THE MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC, and PULMONIC SYRUP—will, if used in strict accordance with the directions, in a majority of cases effect that glorious result, which I pronounce impossible—they will cure Consumption.

An ounce of solid fact is worth a pound of theory. Let me, therefore, present the fact connected with my own individual experience. Many years ago, I was a confirmed consumptive, and like thousands of other unfortunates, was given up to die. Eminent physicians pronounced my case a hopeless one, and told me that if I had any preparations to make for the final solemn event, that I had better make them speedily. I believed this just as confidently as did the persons who thus affectionately informed me that my days were numbered, and that recovery was impossible. Still, the desire to live lingered in my bosom. I was young, and clung to life with the same tenacity that young men, and old men too, ordinarily do. I did not feel willing to abandon hope as long as a single vestige of it remained. I had full faith in the sad information conveyed to me by my physicians, but still there was a lingering belief that something could be done, though I knew not in what direction to seek for the much desired relief.

It was at this gloomy and eventful period of my history that I first learned of the roots and herbs from which my remedies for this relentless disease are now prepared. I procured and used them, and, to the utter amazement of all—physicians, friends and neighbors—began to improve. My entire system commenced to undergo a complete renovation. Expectoration, which formerly had been difficult and painful, yielded to expectoration relatively easy. I threw off daily large quantities of offensive yellow matter. At the same time my appetite returned, and I was able to eat much food as was palatable to me, and which was at the same time nutritious and wholesome. Expectoration became less copious and less painful; exhausting night sweats ceased; the racking and harrassing cough abated; the fever broke; the pain departed; flesh planted itself on my sadly wasted frame, and with flesh came strength and full health. From a mere skelton I became a stout, strong, robust man, and I have maintained both strength and flesh to this day. I weigh two hundred and thirty-five pounds; I am blest with an appetite vouchsafed to but few men, while my digestive organs are as any one's are who for all the requirements of a healthful condition of my system.

Now, be it remembered, all those wonderful cures were wrought by the use of the medicines I prepare—MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC and PULMONIC SYRUP. A cure seeming to so miraculous a nature, created astonishment in the minds of those who knew me. I was literally beslavered on all sides. I had visitors daily who brought me to grips with the terrible disease which had wrought the wonderful restoration and had wrested me from the very jaws of death. Letters were received by scores imploring me to impart the secret and inform the writers where the specifics for consumption could be obtained. Others, who were too weak to travel, not satisfied with writing, sent for fresh cases of pay me in regard to their cases. To all these applications I responded as I was able.

I had fully regained my health, and gratitude for the happy result prompted me to turn my attention to the science of medicine with the hope of bringing my skill to bear in relieving suffering fellow-creatures. I devoted myself closely to my studies, and more especially to that branch of medicine which to the cure of which I had suffered so long and so much. I investigated it in all its fearful phases, in order to assure myself that my cure was not a mere fortuitous one. The closer my investigations the more satisfactory were my conclusions. I felt convinced that tens of thousands of my fellow-creatures dying annually of consumption whose cases were not as desperate, and apparently hopeless as mine had been, and I argued from this that remedies which had proven so effective with me would prove equally so with others. I prepared my medicines in a pleasant and attractive form, and bestowed them on the sick, who, the results are well known. Thousands of suffering men, women and children, who were on the way to the grave, have been cured, and are to-day living evidences of the fact that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED; and I think I may say, without arrogating to myself any more than is justly my due, that I have had as much experience in the treatment of consumption as any other person in the country, and that my success has been wonderfully great.

Let the reader remember that these are not mere fanciful statements. They are positive living facts, of which I am the living evidence.

There is an old adage which says, "What has been done may be done." I have been completely cured of consumption by the remedies I now offer to the public. Thousands of others have testified to similar happy results from their use, and thousands of others still might benefitted as I have been could they but be prevailed upon to try the virtue of The Mandrake Pills, Seaweed Tonic and Pulmonic Syrup. All that is necessary to convince the most skeptical of their merits is a fair trial.

Full directions accompany each of the medicines, so that it is not absolutely necessary that patients should see me personally, unless they desire to have their lungs examined. For this purpose I am personally at my PRINCIPAL OFFICE, No. 15 North Sixth Street, corner of Commerce, EVERY SATURDAY.

Advice is given without charge, but for a thorough examination with the Respirometer the price is five dollars.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic, each $1 50 per bottle, or $7 50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents per box.

SUPREME JUDICIAL COURT.—Monday, Nov. 1. The calling of the new jury drawn for the coming week first occupied the attention of the court. The case of Mayberry vs. Smart was begun. This is an action of Trespass in which the Piff., Henrietta W. Mayberry, of South Newmarket, seeks to recover of the Deft., John W. Smart, Dep. Sheriff of this County, the value of a certain top buggy, which the Deft. attached and took on an execution in favor of one John S. Abbott of Boston against William Mayberry and Stephen P. Mayberry, the Piff's father and brother. The Piff. claims that this property belonged to her and therefore was wrongfully attached for debts of her father and brother. The Deft. claims that the property belonged to Stephen P. Mayberry. Case unfinished. Frink & Butler for Piff.; J. F. Wiggin and Abbott for Deft.

A HAT STORY.—On Sunday afternoon last some of our citizens observed a respectably dressed man making his way down one of our most quiet streets, molesting no one in particular, but steering somewhat wildly. At length his hat fell off, and as soon as he discovered his loss he returned to pick up the fugitive article of apparel. His movements in endeavoring to effect this object were decidedly erratic. First he waltzed gracefully several times around the hat, then advanced backwards with great speed for a considerable distance, again approached, and wound up the first part of the entertainment by gravely performing an irregular jig. Next, he managed to steady himself near the object of his ambition, and slowly stooping till his hand was within a few inches of it, he took good aim, dived at and missed it, and had to run about twenty yards to recover his equilibrium. After trying this method several times unsuccessfully, he at last solemnly laid down in the street, crawled towards and captured the truant hat, placed it firmly on his head, with some difficulty resumed the perpendicular, and moved peacefully and crookedly on. Liberty to get drunk is a glorious right, indeed.

☞ The snow storm of last Friday and Saturday which prevailed throughout a large district in Maine, was quite severe, the fall in some places being eighteen inches.

—Mr. and Mrs. Enoch Floyd of Byfield, celebrated the sixty-eighth anniversary of their wedding last week. He is 94 and she 87. He is the oldest person in Newbury, and was a soldier of 1812.

—"Any seats in the next car?" asked a passenger in a crowded car of a waggish conductor. "Plenty of 'em," was the reply; "but" (as the passenger gathered up his effects, preparatory to emigrating) "they are all full."

For the Chronicle.

ASTRONOMICAL.—The planet Mercury can be seen, for the present month, in the vicinity of the Sun, rising at about 5 o'clock in the morning. After this he will not be visible again until Christmas week, when he will re-appear in the Western sky. Venus and Jupiter still continue conspicuous objects in the heavens—Venus in the S. W., setting at 7h 14m P. M., —Jupiter in the N. E., rising at 5h 30m P. M. On the 8th, Jupiter will be in opposition to the Sun, or 180 deg. distant, and will present the largest and brightest appearance that he can possibly assume as regards this earth, and will be very interesting during the remainder of the year; and on the 31st of December will be on the meridian at 8 o'clock in the evening. There was considerable said about the great tidal wave of Oct. 6th. This proved to be nothing but a common and usual high tide at New Moon. I venture to predict that on Thursday, the 4th inst., the tidal wave will be higher along the Eastern coast than it has been at any time during the present year. The circumstances that will bring this about are, the Moon being in perigee, or nearest distance to the Earth, and the Sun 250,000 miles nearer to us than on the 6th of Oct.; and if the wind should be easterly on Wednesday and Thursday, blowing fresh, look sharp for a very extraordinarily high tide. Under any circumstances the tide will be much higher than in October.

The Comet that was said to be visible a month since in the North, I have failed to find, though I have looked for it repeatedly, and have come to the conclusion, in the language of the law, "non est inventus." Yours, TYRO.

—A little five-year old boy was being instructed in morals by his mother. The old lady told him that all such terms as "By golly," "By jingo," "By thunder," etc., were only minced oaths, and but little better than any other profanity. In fact, she said, he could tell a profane oath by the prefix of "By"—all such were oaths. "Well then, mother," said the little hopeful, "there's a big oath in the newspapers. By telegraph." The old lady gave it up, and the boy is bewildered on morals.

☞ THE GOVERNOR
COOK STOVE is the Best.
At COLEMAN'S, Market Street, Foot of Door St.

Morning Chronicle.

PUTTING UP STOVES.—In consequence of the arrival of cold weather once more, about these days there is a universal putting up of stoves, preparatory for the winter campaign, and undoubtedly a great deal of profanity is indulged in. One who has considerable experience in the work of putting up stoves says the first step to be taken is to put on a very old and ragged coat, under the impression that when he gets his mouth full of plaster it will keep his shirt bosom clean. Next he gets his hand inside the place where the pipe ought to go, and blacks his fingers, and then he carefully makes a black mark down one side of his nose. It is impossible to make any headway, in doing this work, until his mark is made down the side of the nose.

Having got his face properly marked, the victim is ready to begin the ceremony. The head of the family—who is the big goose of the sacrifice—grasps one side of the bottom of the stove, and his wife and the hired girl take hold of the other side. In this way the load is started from the woodshed toward the parlor. Going through the door the head of the family will carefully swing his side of the stove around and jam his thumb [nail against the door. This part of the ceremony is never omitted. Having got the family comfortably in place, the next thing is to find the legs. Two of these are left inside the stove since the spring before. The other two must be hunted after for twenty-five minutes. They are usually found under the coal. Then the head of the family holds up one side of the stove while his wife puts two of the legs in place, and next holds up the other side while the other two are fixed, and one of the first two falls out. By the time the stove is on its legs he gets reckless, and takes off his old coat regardless of his linen. Then he goes off for the pipe and gets a cinder in his eye. It don't make any difference how well the pipe was put up last year it will be found a little too short or a little too long. The head of the family jams his hat over his eyes and taking a pipe under each arm goes to the tin shop to have it fixed.

When he gets back he steps upon one of the best parlor chairs to see if the pipe fits, and his wife makes him get down for fear he will scratch the varnish off from the chairs with the nails in his boot heel. In getting down he will surely step on the cat, and may thank his stars if it is not the baby! Then he gets an old chair and climbs up to the chimney again to find that in cutting the pipe off the end has been left too big for the hole in the chimney. So he goes to the wood shed and splits one side of the end of the pipe with an old axe, and squeezes it in his hands to make it smaller. Finally he gets the pipe in shape and finds that the stove does not stand true. Then himself and wife and the hired girl move the stove to the left, and the legs fall out again. Next it is to move to the right. More difficulty with the legs. Moved to the front a little. Elbow not even with the hole in the chimney, and he goes to the wood shed after some little blocks. While putting the blocks under the legs the pipe comes out of the chimney. That remedied, the elbow keeps tipping over, to the great alarm of the wife. Head of the family gets the dinner table out, puts the old chair on it, gets his wife to hold the chair, and balances himself on it to drive some nails into the ceiling. Drops the hammer on wife's head. At last gets the nails driven, makes a wire swing to hold the pipe, hammers a little here, pulls a little there, takes a long breath, and announces the ceremony completed. Job never put up any stoves. It would have ruined his reputation if he had. Murk Twain.

THE CHINESE. — Like the modern Greeks, the Chinese of the present day, content with the legacy of the past, have ceased to invent; but without doubt they were once among the most ingenious and original of the inhabitants of the earth.

The Chinese have not gone back, and that is saying a great deal in their favor; but in respect to material progress, for ages they have made no advancement. Four centuries ago they were in advance of the Europeans in everything that contributes to the comfort or luxury of civilized life; but where are they now! Authors of the compass, they creep from headland to headland in coasting voyages, never venturing to cross the ocean or to trust themselves for many days out of sight of the shore. Discoverers of gunpowder, they supply the world with fire-crackers, while their soldiers fight with bows and arrows, wooden spears, and matchlocks. Inventors of printing, they have not yet advanced to the use of metallic type and the power press, but continue to engrave each page on a block of wood and to print it off by the use of a brush. Sufficiently versed in astronomy to calculate eclipses two thousand years before the christian era, they remain to this hour in the fetters of judicial astrology; and among the earliest to make advances in chemical discovery, they are still under the full sway of alchemy and magic.—W. H. P. MARTIN, in Harper's Magazine for November.

—Incredulity robs us of many pleasures and gives us nothing in return. It is well to distrust what we hear to make us think worse of a man, and to accept a story's pleasantness as prima facie evidence of its truth.

—A city missionary was asked the cause of his poverty. "Principally," said he, with a twinkle of the eye, "because I have preached so much without notes!"

—Why is an enraged snake like the letter H? Because it is an Asp-irate.

—Why is drawing from nature infectious? It's sketching.

ADVICE TO NEWSPAPERS.—The Philadelphia Typographic Advertiser thinks they rarely see so much sound sense in a small space, as marks the following paragraphs which are taken from an address by Joseph Medill, of Chicago, before the Convention of Indiana Editors and Publishers:—

Establish a living scale for advertising, and adhere tenaciously to it. If your neighbor is so foolish as to cut under you and refuses to listen to reason, do not follow his weak example, for he will hurt his own business far more than he can yours. When a publisher puts down his subscription rates, people begin to suspect he is "hard up," and then decline to pay in advance, lest he may fail; and if he reduces his advertising rates below customary prices, it will be taken as a confession that his circulation is diminutive and declining. Such are always the effects of the cut-under game of the player; for if you set a low value on your services or paper, the public is sure to place a lower.

How, then, are you profited by insane efforts to cripple or kill your neighbor's paper? Rather "live and let live" be the sentiment that governs your action. Stand by your rates, and do as nearly a cash business as it is possible. Long credits is the bane that destroys so many country papers. It is this slow poison that kills them, or causes them to drag out a miserable, sickly and unremunerative existence. All the expenses attending the publishing business are cash, and unless you receive cash for your labors, how can you expect to succeed or prosper?

—A drunken man, after trying in vain to keep on the side-walk, was heard to exclaim, as he headed for the middle of the road, "There now; go in the street, if you want to!"

HARPER'S MAGAZINE.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE, apart from the illustrations, contains from fifty to one hundred per cent. more matter than any similar periodical issued in the English language.

"Unquestionably the best sustained work of the kind in the World."

Critical Notices of the Press.

The most popular Monthly in the world.—New York Observer.

We must refer in terms of eulogy to the high tone and varied excellences of HARPER'S MAGAZINE—a journal with a monthly circulation of about 12,000 copies—in those pages are to be found some of the choicest light and general reading of the day. We speak of this work as an evidence of the culture of the American people; and the popularity it has acquired is merited. Each Number contains fully 144 pages of reading matter, profusely illustrated with good engravings; and it combines in itself the racy monthly and the more philosophical quarterly, blended with the best features of the daily journal. It has great power in the dissemination of a love and pure literature.—Trubner's Guide to American Literature, London.

It is one of the wonders of journalism—the editorial management of HARPER'S * * * all the periodicals which the Harpers publish are almost ideally well edited.—The Nation, N. Y.

We can account for its success only by the simple fact that it meets precisely the popular taste, furnishing a variety of pleasing and instructive reading for all.—Zion's Herald, Boston.

A stock company is forming to operate on the slate quarries at Lebanon.

The graduating exercises of the medical school connected with Dartmouth College took place last week, The class numbered thirteen.

Dr. Fletcher, the State fish commissioner, is making arrangements to stock Lake Winnipiseogee and other waters in New Hampshire with lake shad from Lake Champlain.

Several $40 panes of glass in Smyth's Block, Manchester, have been broken by atmospheric changes. They were tightly set in metallic frames, no allowance being made for expansion or contraction.

A man calling himself Charles Thomas arrived in Nashua on the 26th ult., got board, went to the Y. M. C. A. rooms in the evening, was voted in as a member, and left town the next day with considerable property belonging to his fellow lodgers. He did not sign the Christian Association books.

A load of wood was so carelessly put into the cellar of the Baptist church in Nashua, on the 29th ult., that the gas pipe was damaged. The gas filled the whole edifice and has injured it considerably.

Claremont has a linen mill, where business has not yet fairly begun. Two main ideas are being worked out —one is the using of the flax fibre just as it comes from the breaker, long and short—separating these as they go on and using both; and second, effecting the bleach in such a manner as to retain the entire strength of the fibre.

Ashland was thrown into excitement a few days since on the discovery of human remains. They were found by workmen engaged in digging a ditch, and were inclosed in a box so small that the body must have been doubled up. The oldest inhabitant in town, who is 97, does not remember any burial where the remains were found. They were badly decomposed, except the teeth, which were perfect.

The State Teachers' Association will meet at Lebanon on the 24th, 25th, and 26th instant.

Look out for a very "pious" Jeremy Diddler calling himself Charles Thomas. He has a smooth face, and a scar on his chin.

Mr. E. Rowell of Manchester has this year raised on his farm near the Reform School, 75 bushels ears of good sound corn from half an acre, which is equal to 75 bushels of shelled corn to an acre.

Quite a number of leading citizens of Manchester are making preparations to erect dwelling houses next spring. Hon. E. A. Straw will build a fine mansion in his splendid lot on Elm, between Harrison and Brook streets. The foundation has been made for some time. Ex-Gov. Smyth will erect a splendid house on his picturesque lot just opposite Amoskeag Falls. He has already built one of the best and most expensive stables to be found in the State. James Mitchell, Jr., shoe dealer, is putting in the foundation for a nice residence on his lot near the reservoir. W. H. Elliot, the jeweller, is preparing to build a house on his lot on Maple street, near the new residence of Hon. Moody Currier. Alpheus Gay will also build in the spring on his lot on Myrtle street. T. R. Hubbard, Dr. Childs, the dentist, George Riddle, and S. L. Lewis have bought lots on Union, corner of Prospects street, and will probably build in the spring.

In view of the fact that a secret band of midnight prowlers are in Dover plying their vocation, many residents have adopted the practice of burning their gas lights throughout the night in their residences. The cautious cashier of the Strafford National Bank also burns the "midnight oil" over the counter, and the bank with its inside shutters thrown open, admits of an inspection of its interior by the night patrol.

The frequent cases of paralysis which of late have occurred in Dover, are creating quite an alarm, and scientific inquiries have been set on foot to solve if possible the cause. The medical faculty are giving the subject a searching investigation, and the idea has become quite prevalent, both among them and other leading citizen, that the one great cause arises from drinking of water which runs through lead pipe.

DODD'S NERVINE ONCE MORE.
THE STANDARD REMEDY for biliousness with the medical profession is the Anti-Bilious Pill of the American Pharmacopœia. And its reputation has been well enough deserved. But it is a Pill, nevertheless, and most people of sensibility feel nauseating about as big as a meeting house coming into their throat whenever a pill is spoken of. DODD'S NERVINE AND INVIGORATOR acts efficiently on the biliary organism; it irritates neither stomach nor intestine in all its operation; and what is VERY IMPORTANT, as all good nurses know, it is MOST AGREEABLE TO TAKE, being as pleasant to the palate as any delicate wine. We all know how it is with Cod Liver Oil. In a pure state it is excellent for certain conditions of debility, and particularly in tendencies to Consumption; and yet many of the best physicians decline to prescribe it, because it so dreadfully sickens the patient. That, they say, makes it do more harm than good. With Dodd's Nervine all this becomes obstacle. For sale by all Druggists. Price $1. o21sw

WHAT ARE
DR. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA Vinegar Bitters.
THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits, and refuse Liquors, doctored, spiced, and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetisers" "Restorers," &c., that lead the drinker on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD-PURIFIER and LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter, and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell. $100 will be given for an incurable case, providing the bones are not destroyed by mineral poisons or other means, the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.
FOR INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND GOUT, DYSPEPSIA, or INDIGESTION, BILLIOUS, REMITTENT, and INTERMITTENT FEVERS, DISEASES OF THE BLOOD, LIVER, KIDNEYS, and BLADDER, these BITTERS have been most successful. SUCH DISEASES are caused by VITIATED BLOOD, which is generally produced by derangement of the DIGESTIVE ORGANS.
Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood healthy, and all will be well.
These Bitters are not a gilded pill, to delight the eye or please the fancy, but a medical preparation, composed of the best vegetable ingredients known.
They are Alterative, Tonic, Diuretic, Sedative, Diaphoretic, and Gentle Purgative.
"The Life of all Flesh is the Blood thereof."—Purify the blood and the health of the whole system will follow.

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 3, 1869.

The News.

A special car left Chicago for the East, Monday, with Admiral Farragut and his family on board. The Admiral is still quite weak.

The Hudson River and New York Central railroads have been consolidated, under the title of the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad. The capital of the new corporation is $45,000,000, and Cornelius Vanderbilt is its president.

Chief Justice Chase has decided that a promissory note given in payment for property purchased at Montgomery, Alabama, in 1864, is payable in confederate notes alone, and that the United States courts have power to enforce the same.

The cable announces that Queen Victoria has appointed Wednesday, the 10th of November, as a day of fasting and prayer.

The Jersey cider crop is immense.

Andrew Johnson is contesting the election of Senator Cooper on the ground that the constitution of Tennessee provides that no member of the legislature shall be eligible to such a position while his membership continues. Senator Cooper is a member of the Tennessee Senate.

Gen. Butler has been robbed of an overcoat with $800 in cash. It was taken from a sleeping car.

Sixty-five of the victims of the recent steamboat disaster on the Mississippi have been recovered, ten of whom have been identified by their friends. The feeling against Captain John S. Washington, of steamer Submarine, No. 13, who passed the Stonewall while she was burning, and when, it is said, many lives could have been saved, is very intense. He is condemned in unmeasured terms.

MASSACHUSETTS re-elected Gov. Claflin on Tuesday by a largely reduced majority from last year — probably about 40,000. Boston gave Adams, Democrat, about 2500 majority. Hull gave Adams 16, Claflin 12! The Labor Reform candidates for the legislature were chosen in Haverhill, and Chamberlain (Labor Reform) led Claflin for Governor. Hon. Geo. M. Brooks, Republican, is elected to Congress in Boutwell's District by 3500 majority.

☞ The State Temperance Committee, in a Circular issued from Concord, ask that the State Constable Law be passed. They state 1st, that the "whisky ring" has its branches virtually in every State, city and village in the land. It has a vast money power, unity and determination; 2d, that the criminal laws of this State, especially the laws against the liquor-traffic, gambling and licentiousness, are at best but imperfectly executed; 3d, that the liquor law passed in 1855, does not properly provide for its own execution; 5th, that no other State law has such formidable obstacles to confront its enforcement as the prohibitory liquor law; 6th, the non-enforcement of criminal laws fearfully demoralizes the State; 7th, the law practically cannot now be enforced; or 8th, has not been uniformly or regularly enforced; 9th, the vigorous enforcement of a Prohibitory Law by a State Police will not involve the State in expense; 10th, that the State Constabulary law has worked well where tried; and finally, that "we need such a police system in New Hampshire." The Committee close by urging "every legal voter in this State, who loves his country, his race and his God, to give the law his approval, by his vote, on the second Tuesday of November."

ACCIDENT.—The 11:15 A. M. train from this city for Boston was run into while stopping at Ipswich, by the "Bryant," an engine which was following behind. There were about 15 passengers in the rear car—all but one of them being in the forward part of the car. The gentlemen in the rear had just time to jump off when the "Bryant" struck. The car was badly smashed but no one was injured. We hear of no cause for the singular conduct of the engineer of the "Bryant."

☞ Mr. J. W. Bear has been appointed special agent for the Treasury Department, with his station at Baltimore. Mr. Bear did effective service in stumping New Hampshire for the Republicans in the spring of 1868.

☞ Newburyport has got another "fire-bug." Several fires have been set, of late. The City Council offer $5000 for the detection of the miscreant.

☞ Belle Boyd, the notorious rebel spy, has been sent to the California State Insane Asylum.

STATE CONSTABLE.—The Law proposing to establish this new officer, we have printed in full this week, except the following paragraph, which was added to test the sense (or the votes) of the people on the matter:

SEC. 5. This act shall not be in force until after it shall have been approved by a majority of the legal voters attending and voting thereon at meetings holden for that purpose in the several towns on the second Tuesday of November next, which meetings the selectmen of the several towns are hereby required seasonably to notify and warn; and it shall be the duty of the several town clerks, within ten days after said second Tuesday in November next, to return to the office of the Secretary of State the result of the vote in their respective towns upon the question of approving this act, which returns shall immediately, by the Secretary, be laid before the Governor and Council.

If a majority of the voters shall have voted to approve of this act, the Governor shall forthwith issue his proclamation announcing that the same is in force as a law of the State. The question shall be submitted in the following form;—"Are you in favor of an act entitled An Act to establish a State Police in certain cases?"

BLUNDERING ITEMS.—They are not uncommon; and are often the result of a desire to say something, when the writer has really nothing worth saying.

An item has gone over New Hampshire stating that our old friend Dea. Benj. Farnum, of Concord West Parish, had become insane, by reason of pecuniary losses, and had gone to the hospital. But we are happy to see it stated in the Manchester Mirror, that the Deacon is in his right mind, and about his business.

Some paper stated, several days ago, that Rev. Mr. Bicknell, of Skowhegan, Me., had accepted the call of the Universalist Church in this city, to be their pastor. We corrected the error as to his place, and mentioned that he belonged and lived in Bath, tho' he had been invited to preach half the time in Skowhegan. Upon this slight ground, a good smart item maker states that Mr. B. "is settled in Bath, which he has shown no intention of leaving." But this is decidedly an error. He was no more a settled minister in Bath, than Uncle Toby is in Portsmouth:—and he has shown a very decided intention to leave, by accepting a call to settle in this city. U. T.

THE WHOLE OF IT.—It has been ascertained, says the Washington correspondent of the New York Tribune, that the only basis for the stories connecting the name of President Grant with the gold gamblers of New York is the fact that when he sold his house in Washington to Gen. Sherman he gave Mrs. Grant $12,000 of the proceeds. Corbin was in Washington at the time, on his wedding trip, and Mrs. Grant placed the money in his hands, to be invested in building lots in the suburbs of New York city. This is the only money transaction that has transpired between them since President Grant was inaugurated, and will probably be the last, as the President does not hesitate to declare that in the future he will have no social communication with Corbin whatever. It is probable that Corbin used the money thus placed under his control to impress Fisk and Gould with the belief that he was acting as Mrs. Grant's broker—a belief which was suddenly dispelled when the order was issued to sell Government gold and Corbin's transactions were discovered.

☞ The Charleston Republican denies Mr. Parker Pillsbury's charges that the freedmen are as a class drunken and vicious; says if they are poor it is because their employers are continually cheating and oppressing them, and adds:

Nor is the present poverty and misery of many colored people the result of reconstruction and the gift of the ballot, any more than the low wages and distressed condition of the white mechanics and laborers result from the same cause. The fact is, that both are results of the old system of aristocracy and slavery, which exalted the rich and oppressed and degraded the laborer, whether owned or hired. We are now recovering from these effects. The prospects of laborers of all classes and races are growing brighter — because the free spirit of the new era demands for every man fair wages and fair play —and because there is vigor and strength and truth enough to enforce the demand.

☞ Albert D. Pyke, the Fitchburg, Mass., wife murderer, was sentenced at Worcester, to three years in the State Prison for adultery. He pleaded guilty.

☞ The loss of the German emigrant ship Weser, reported on a piece of paper recently found in a bottle off the coast of Cornwall, proves to be a hoax.

☞ The Houston Times, one of the three papers in Texas which placed the Democratic State ticket at its head, has taken it down.

AN EARTHQUAKE AT SEA.—The subjoined graphic description of the fearful earthquake shock experienced by the steamer Payta on her recent voyage from Panama to Valparaiso is given by the purser of that vessel;

"On the 24th of August, at 1:25 P. M., being then in latitude 19 deg. 17 min. south, and longitude 70 21 west, or what is the same thing, forty-nine miles south of the port of Arica, three from the main land and in seventy-five fathoms water, we felt a violent shaking which lasted 50 seconds, causing a terrible panic among the passengers. Though the movement at first appeared unaccountable, immediately after it was, from its nature, discovered to be an earthquake stronger than any person on board had ever experienced. It was followed by a succession of others to the number of twenty, though all of them less severe, until 2:40 P. M. when the last was felt. At the same time it may be almost affirmed that after the first, every shock lasted from seven to eight minutes with only a few seconds' intermission.

The shocks having been of the vibratory kind, considerable damage was done to articles of a breakable nature on board the steamer, its inventory being reduced to less than one-third; for notwithstanding that all brittle articles are kept in compartments two or three inches high, the shaking jerked them up to a height of five inches. An iron chest, weighing from ten to twelve quintals, was moved four inches from its place, six-inch cast-iron plates were parted in two, the compasses were injured and one of them destroyed.

During the movement the sea boiled all around the vessel, and as far as the eye could reach, in bubbles from a foot and a half to two feet in height, producing a strange creaking and dull, rumbling noise, while the coast, of a broken nature, and rising to a height of 1,800 or 2,000 feet, became wrapped in a dense cloud of dust, caused by the detachment from its summit of large masses of friable matter, which, in its fall, mostly crumbled to powder.

The shaking was so violent as to prevent locomotion, obliging every one to seize hold of something in order to keep his feet, for the vibration threw us to a height of two inches above the deck.

All the people on board, among whom were a number of old seafaring men, unanimously testified that they had never experienced so protracted and violent a shock.

For some time after the movements had ceased, most of the persons on board experienced a general discomposure and uncomfortableness, the precise cause of which they could not assign.

☞ The government Commissioners have reported favorably on the present condition of the Pacific Railroad.

MERIT SOON NOISED ABROAD.

It is but six years since ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM, was first offered for sale. Its good qualities were soon made known at home, and very soon its fame was noised far and near; now it is sold in nearly every Drug Store in the United States—North, East, South and West. No similar medicine stands higher with the people. It is well known on the Pacific coast, and liberal demands for it from San Francisco, Sacramento in California, and Portland, Oregon; even from Australia, large orders are received for it. And throughout Canada, it is well and favorably known, and everywhere.

Read what Captain Foster writes:

PORT BURWELL, March 23d, 1869.

Messrs. PERRY DAVIS & SON,

Sirs:—I am pleased to notify you of the benefit which I have received from ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM; having been troubled with a cough for several years past, the Balsam was recommended to me. I immediately procured it, and found it to relieve my cough more readily than anything I ever tried. My wife has also used it with most satisfactory results.

Yours Very Truly,

Capt. D. FOSTER.

The Shivering Season.

It is impossible to suppose that any human being can consider an attack of Fever and Ague a light visitation. And yet thousands act as if such a calamity was of no consequence, while thousands who are actually suffering from the distressing complaint neglect to adopt the certain means of cure. It ought to be known in every locality subject to this scourge, or which is infested with Intermittent fever, or any other epidemic produced by malaria, that HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS taken in advance or at the commencement of the unhealthy season, will prove the system against the atmospheric poison which generates these distempers. This admirable invigorant—harmless, agreeable, and possessing rare medicinal virtues than any other tonic at present known, will break up the paroxysms of intermittent or remittent fever in from forty-eight hours to ten days. Such is the universal testimony from districts where periodical fevers have been combatted with this powerful vegetable Chalybeate. In a thickly populated town, men bar their doors and windows yet strange to say if the same neighborhood happens to be pervaded by aerial poison they seldom take the trouble to put their bodies in a state of defence against the subtle enemy. Shivering victims endeavor to rally in vain to warm your blue blood over the fire, or consuming with the fever that follows the chill, remember that HOSTETTER'S BITTERS is an absolute, speedy and infallible specific for your distressing malady.

THE LATEST DISCOVERY

In Medication.

The great difficulty which physicians have been laboring for centuries to overcome, has at length been obviated. A vegetable Cathartic and Alterative more efficient than any mineral preparation of the same class, and as agreeable to the taste as mildest fruit, is now offered to the sick in the form of a Lozenge.

DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S

is the most important medicinal novelty that modern chemistry has produced. It contains two botanical extracts, purely harmless in themselves, but embodying all the remedial properties of mercury, and destined in this pleasant form to supersede and banish from general use, the nauseous drugs and potions of which that dangerous excitant is the main ingredient. More than were made by the inventor of this powerful remedy before it was brought to its present state of perfection. The Lozenge is harmless in its operation, and so agreeable in its medicinal taste of its curative components has been extinguished by chemical art, their virtues remain as active and potent as ever.

In Dyspepsia, Biliousness Constipation, Sick or Nervous Headache, Piles, Dropsy, and the irregularities to which the feebler sex are subject, the Lozenge will be found infinitly more effective than any of the horrible and disgusting compounds usually administered in such cases. As an antibilious specific and general aperient, they have no equal either among advertised preparations or the prescriptions of the regular pharmacopoeia.

☞ It is guaranteed that no one who has once tried DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S Liver and Stomach Lozenges will ever again take a purgative powder, or draught or pill.

Hundreds of dollars and many hours of suffering may be saved by its timely use.

Colic, Cramp, and Dysentery yield at once to its paincurative properties. It is perfectly innocent and can be given to the oldest person or youngest child. BRANDRETH'S PILLS remove all from the system which natnre needs no longer.

The wonderful cures effected by Brandreth's Pills have arrested the attention of enlightened physicians. Upwards of five thousand now use them in their daily practice, and two hundred have given their written testimony as to their innocence and value, as cleansers of the bowels and blood. Their untold value is to those living in settlements where doctors can only be had at great expense. For if you are sick, you have only to take one or more doses of Brandreth's Pills to get cured. SPECIAL NOTICES.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

Read the Evidence.

"Facts are stubborn things," and it is to facts alone that it is desired to direct the attention of the readers of this article.

Many years of severe and thorough practical trial have demonstrated beyond the peradventure of a doubt the fact that the medicines prepared by me, and known as SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, SCHENCK'S SEAWEED TONIC, and SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, have proved conclusively successful in the cure of diseases of the pulmonary organs, or what is usually termed Consumption.

I am fully aware that there are many persons whose prejudices rule them so completely that "profits strong as Holy Writ," would fail to convince them of the efficacy of my remedies, and there are others who are so situated as to circumstances, could be prevailed upon to admit their merits, simply because such an admission would prove detrimental to their particular personal interests.

Fortunately for the welfare of mankind, these doubting people form a comparatively small portion of the community at large. They are to be found here and there, but, compared with the great mass of the world's population, their numbers are so small that I dismiss them, and address myself to those who are willing to listen to the dictates of reason, and who are disposed to admit the strong logic of well established facts.

We are also told almost daily that Consumption the scourge of the American people, is incurable; that a man whose lungs are diseased must be given over to die; that he must quietly hope and that the arrangement of his temporal as well as spiritual affairs should claim his earliest attention. These are not facts as undeniable as that the sun will shine in a clear heaven at midday to controvert these random and not unfrequently harmful assertions. I should call attention to the danger of battle against them; but, fortified with results—facts—which neither theory nor mere assertion can overturn, I propose to prove that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED, and that the medicines I prepare—THE MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC, and PULMONIC SYRUP—when, if used in strict accordance with the directions, in a majority of cases effect that which the faculty pronounces impossible—they will cure Consumption.

An ounce of solid fact is worth a pound of theory. Let me, therefore, present the facts connected with my own individual experience. Many years ago, I was a confirmed consumptive, and like thousands of other unfortunates, was given up to die. Eminent physicians pronounced my case a hopeless one, and said to me that if I had any preparations to make for the final solemn event, that I had better make them speedily. I believed that as did the physicians, but still there was a lingering belief that something could be done, though I knew not in what direction to seek for the much desired relief.

It was at this gloomy and eventful period of my history that I first learned of the roots and herbs from which my remedies for this dreaded disease have been prepared. A vegetable Cathartic and Alterative, and, to the utter amazement of all—physicians, friends and neighbors—began to improve. My convalescence commenced to unfold, and I completed renovation. Expectoration, which formerly had been difficult and painful, now became comparatively easy. I threw off large quantities of offensive yellow matter. At the same time my long-lost appetite returned. I ate freely of such food as was available to me, and which was at the same time nutritious and wholesome. Expectoration became less copious and less offensive; exhausting night sweats ceased; the rocking and harassing cough abated; the fever broke; the pain departed; flesh planted itself on my sadly wasted frame, and with flesh came strength and health. From a mere living skeleton I became a stout, strong, robust man, and I have maintained both strength and flesh to this day. I weigh two hundred and thirty-five pounds; I am blest with an appetite vouchsafed to but few men, while my digestive organs are amply equal to all the requirements of a healthful condition of my system.

Now, be it remembered, all those wonderful changes were wrought by the use of the medicines I prepare—MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC and PULMONIC SYRUP. A cure seemingly so miraculous naturally created astonishment in the minds of those who knew me. I was literally believed on all sides. I had visitors daily who besought me to give them the remedies which had wrought the wonderful restoration and had arrested me from the jaws of the grave. Letters were received by scores importuning me to impart the secret and inform the writers where the specifics for consumption could be obtained. Others, who were too weak to travel, not satisfied with writing, sent for fand consulted me personally in their cases. To all these applications I responded as I was able.

I had fully regained my health, and gratitude for that happy result prompted me to devote my attention to the science of medicine with the hope of thereby being able to be of service to my suffering fellow-creatures. I devoted myself closely to my studies, and more especially to that branch of them relating to the terrible disease from which I had suffered so long and so much. I studied it in all its fearful phases, in order to assure myself that my case was not an exceptional one. The closer my investigations led me more explicitly were my conclusions. I felt convinced that tens of thousands of my fellow-creatures were dying annually of consumption whose cases were as desperate and apparently hopeless as mine had been, and I argued from this that remedies which had proven so effective with me would prove equally so with others if I put up my medicines in a pleasant and attractive form, and announced them to the world. The results are well known. Thousands of men, women and children, who were on the way to the grave, have been cured, and are to-day living evidences of the fact that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED; and I think I may say, without arrogating to myself any more than is justly my due, that I have had as much happiness in the treatment of consumption as any other person in the country, and that my success has been wonderfully great.

Let the reader remember that these are not mere fancied statements. They are based on living facts, of which I am the living evidence.

There is an old adage which says, "What has been done may be done." I have been completely cured of consumption by the remedies I now offer to the public. Thousands of others have testified to similar happy results from their use, and thousand of others still might benefitted as I have been and they but be prevailed upon to try the virtue of The Mandrake Pills, Seaweed Tonic and Pulmonic Syrup. All that is necessary to convince the most skeptical of their merits is a fair trial.

Full dirdctions accompany each of the medicines, so that it is not absolutely necessary that patients should see me personally, unless they desire to have their lungs examined. For this purpose I am personally at my PRINCIPAL OFFICE, No. 35 North Sixth Street, corner of Commerce, EVERY SATURDAY.

Advice is given without charge, but for a thorough examination with the Respirometer the price is five dollars.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic, each $1 50 per bottle, or $15 for a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents per box.

MECHANICS' ASSOCIATION.—The Annual Meeting for the choice of Officers of the "Associated Mechanics and Manufacturers of the State of New Hampshire," was held at the Reading Room, on Tuesday evening, Nov. 2, at 7 1-2 o'clock.

The reports of the Secretary and Treasurer show a good condition of things. The total number of members is now 184, the same as for the past three years, and 6 new members were voted in on this evening, making if they all join a larger number than ever before. Three have died during the past year, one withdrawn, and two forfeited membership by non-payment of dues. The total receipts of the year wers $ 180.77; from which $200 of the debt has been paid, and there is about $250 of dues and cash on hand. Of the members, 22 are past paying dues, by thirty-five years' membership. The annual assessment is $2, and the admission fee from $5 to $12 according to age of the applicant.

The President stated that Msrs. Frank Jones and others desire to build a large public Hall in rear of Congress Block, and wish to buy the brick stable and most of the back land on Fleet Street belonging to the Association, (but not including the passage-way out to Congress St.,) and offered $3500 for the same. After considerable discussion,—none seeming to oppose, except a few desire $4500 for the sale,—it was almost unanimously voted to authorize the Board of Directors to sell the specified premises to Mr. Jones and others for the erection of a Hall, as stated in his proposal.

The meeting was very fully attended; and owing to the lateness of the hour after these proceedings, the election of Officers was postponed to an adjourned meeting to be held on Tuesday evening next.

Correspondent Chronicle and Gazette.

YORK, Oct. 29.

A REJOINDER. —Messrs. Editors:—Your correspondent "Debito Justitia," I am sorry to say, has rather misconstrued my communication and has perhaps said more in reply than the case demanded, but, however there is only a difference of opinion between us in regard to Prof. Gardner's influence upon the vote of this town, and that difference of opinion should be no cause for any sharp shooting or rough argument. I will retract the assertions in regard to Prof., if any one will show me in a fair candid way, any particular person or persons who were sufficiently influenced by the Professor's remarks to change their coppery ideas and help bring about the grand and truly astonishing result of that day.

If I am so "very much mistaken," I am writing to apologize. But I must say with all respect and candor that I wholly fail to see the "democratic ring" of which your correspondent speaks.

Again, Messrs. Editors, your correspondent "Agamenticus" says I have "flatly and impertinently" denied &c., and that he gave you the item. I think he should find no fault with the first part, for that is record evidence and I will beg "Agamenticus" to read the above in reply to what he says of Prof. G. As for the "impertinent" part, I think myself that the assertion of "absurd idea" was rather hard on the editors, as the statement appeared editorially—but I asked to be excused for that. I am aware of the fact, as he states, that his informant was a gentleman from York and who is well known throughout the State— the balance of the sentence I hope my friend will admit, was uncalled for.

I will reason candidly—but I do not want any altercation and will not be first to produce one. Yours, VIDEX.

[We do not think that all this talk between our correspondents interests any but themselves.—Eds. Chronicle.]

Communication.

THE STATE CONSTABLE.—Messrs. Editors:—I am in favor of this Officer, because I believe he can do more for temperance than any City officer will attempt even—and can close a part at least of our nearly two-score houses of ill-fame, and some of the gambling shops. I should go for him even if I were not in favor of the prohibitory law, so-called; as Gov. Andrew of Massachusetts did, and as many others of his mind do.

But I would not hope much from him, unless he be a temperance man actually himself—and a man of pure morals generally. Let us look at our City. When the liquor law was new, we had a temperance Mayor and City Marshal, but they miserably failed in attempting to execute the law,—from the inherent weakness of the Act, or its unpopularity; but more than all, we think, for lack of a temperance man as Police Justice.

Well, then, says your correspondent "Temperance Republican," — of what use to try to execute the law? You will only weaken the Republican party, the real temperance party, in the State. But I don't believe it—the voters who passed the temperance law, wish it executed; and if it is not strong and complete, strengthen its weak places. But give us the State officers to execute State laws—who shall be free from all local and minor personal influences. Our present Mayor is a brewer, and the President of the Common Council is a saloon-keeper; who expects much temperance effort from such men—or indeed from any men, with success, who are liable to all sorts of unfavorable influences, and labor under great disadvantages from being at home? Let us have a secret ballot, and a State Police. STRAIGHT OUT REPUBLICAN.

MUFFLING THE THROAT.—What is the best mode for protecting the throat from colds where a person is very susceptible to them? The common way of protecting the throat is to bundle and wrap it up closely, thus overheating and rendering it tender and sensitive, and more liable to colds and inflammation than before. This practice is all wrong, and results in much evil. Especially is this the case with children, and when, in addition to muffling the throat the extremities are insufficiently clad, as is often the case, the best possible conditions are presented for the production of sore throats, coughs, croup, and all kinds of throat affections. If the neck is kept overheated a portion of the time, when it is exposed some form of disarrangement of the throat will be apt to occur. The rule in regard to clothing the neck should be to keep it as cool as comfort will allow. In doing so you will suffer much less from throat ailment than if you are always fearful of having a little cold air come in contact with your neck. Any one who has been accustomed to have his throat muffled should be careful to leave off gradually, and not all at once.—Herald of Health.

—Dr. Hurst writes to the Methodist, from the capital of Norway, that the people are remarkable for their honesty. He found no locks on hotel doors, and believes he could have left his purse in the court all night and found it next morning in safe hands. On the other hand, drunkenness abounds everywhere. He saw as much there in a day as in three months on the continent. It would hardly seem that these two traits would go hand in hand very long.

—A correspondent of the Church Times—who might have honored the Lord's Day in a more devout way, perhaps, visited fourteen Episcopal churches in London on one Sunday morning and counted the hearers in attendance. Two were closed altogether, one had one hearer, two had three each and fourteen congregations reached a total of only 162! The annual salaries of the clergy aggregated over $35,000!!

—Mr. Potter, the Trades Unionist, stated before the Trades Union Congress at Birmingham, that the amount of intoxicating liquor consumed by the English people costs the enormous sum of 228 millions sterling annually—equal to nearly fifteen hundred millions of dollars in the currency!

—The Friends, at their Iowa Yearly Meeting, gave direction that next year the subordinate meetings should send up the number of members who have actually use tobacco! Now for the other denominations. Let us know the round numbers of the spitting fraternity.

—The Free Will Baptists have voted to move the Theological School from New Hampton, N. H., to Buffalo, N. Y., provided $100,000 can be secured for grounds and buildings, and $200,000 for endowment funds.

—Rev. Charles Beecher of Georgetown, who has been absent several weeks on account of ill health, has informed his people that he shall probably never be with them again as their pastor.

—Wilted—The last rose of summer.

—A dexterous feat—Dexter's latest.

—A pleasing faction—Satisfaction.

NOTICE.

THE SUBSCRIBER having sold his Stock and Trade at No. 40 Market street, to CHEEVER & BROWN, requests all persons having Demand against him to present them for payment, and all persons indebted are requested to make an early settlement at No. 40 Market Street.

THEOLOGY AND CHRISTIANITY.

A friendly letter to ——, who has pronounced the writer to be insane, and a fit subject for an "Insane Asylum."

NORTH HAMPTON, Nov. 1.

Dear Sir:—Will you permit me to address you a few lines in regard to some things that have been reported to me as emanating from yourself. I have been informed that you have reported that I "was crazy, and had been for some time, and ought to be taken care of." Are you, my dear sir, so ignorant of history, as not to know that ever since Festus pronounced Paul crazy, because he preached that man is immortal, it has been a favourite explanation concerning those who advocate ideas that others are ignorant of, or have not brains enough to understand, "that they have gone crazy?"

When Robert Fulton built his first steamboat, he was pronounced by the unbelievers in his ideas, to have been crazy; and on this account, they gave the boat the name of Fulton's Folly. When Morse first proposed the telegraph, he was declared insane, as also was Charles Goodyear, for attempting to make garments out of india-rubber. Read what was said about Dr. Harvey, for making known his discovery of the circulation of the blood, and also of Dr. Jenner for advocating inoculation for small-pox. We are even told that the first man who carried an umbrella in England, was chased by a mob, and barely escaped with his life; and as it has been in the past, so I expect it always will be in the future; it is so much easier to say that a man is crazy, than to take the trouble to inform ourselves about the subject, and particularly when we know his arguments are unanswerable, and he is prepared to demonstrate them by plain, evident facts.

And what is the height of our offence, that we, in this, the nineteenth century, should be pronounced crazy? Why, for believing what is conclusively proved by the evidence, that departed spirits, or those who have left the mortal form, are not only conscious, but, under certain conditions, can communicate to mortals in the flesh. And pray, what is there about this, that should make us be pronounced crazy? Also, that under certain conditions, spirits can and do make themselves visible to certain persons, called mediums. And what is there about this, even, that should make us liable to be called a crazy, fanatical set? Do you believe in the Bible? and if so, will you please tell us wherein Nature's laws have so changed that we cannot see spirits as well as Daniel, Lot, Peter, Abraham, Hagar, and others who are named there? If you deny that these things take place to-day, what becomes of your Bible and all religions founded upon it? God's laws never change, and if these things ever took place, they took place by natural laws, which are God's laws, and are as much in force to-day as they were four thousand years ago.

I am very well aware that the so-called Church, says that the days of miracles are past; that the fountains of inspiration are closed; that God has said all he has got to say, and has nothing more to make known to us poor, suffering mortals. But what evidence do they offer, beyond their mere assertion, that this is so? Not one particle. On the other hand, Jesus Christ, whom they profess to believe was God himself manifest in the flesh, expressly declared that greater works even than he did, should they do who believe. Now what are we to do with this? Was Jesus Christ a liar or not? The Church, the Elect, as they style themselves, are not doing any wonderful things, to my knowledge. I have been a close observer of them for the past thirty years, and beyond being no better than those who do not belong to the Church, I have been unable to discover anything very wonderful about them. But who are these wonderful people, who are doing these wonderful things all over the world? Why, none other than these crazy, fanatical and deluded Spiritualists. And so the Church turn round and denounce us, as the old skeptical Jews did Jesus, that our works are of our master, the Devil.

I have not space to speak of the ridiculous position taken by our opponents in regard to this matter, but suffice it to say, that if we are a crazy, fanatical set, we already number twelve millions of believers; more than all the sects combined. Among these are ladies and gentlemen of the highest intellectual attainments in the land; and if we cross the Atlantic, we are sure of a welcome from the "crowned heads and nobility" there. When such people as Queen Victoria, the Emperor Napoleon and his Empress, and the Czar of Russia, together with the ladies and gentlemen of the "Court," firmly and openly announce their belief in Spiritualism, don't you think, my dear sir, that we crazy, fanatical Spiritualists train in pretty good company? It appears to me, that if all these people are insane, I would like to know where you would find your sane ones? And if we are to be styled crazy on account of our belief, and therefore sent to herd with lunatics, we shall be in much more agreeable company, than with such ignorant, bigoted people, as denounce everybody that dares maintain opinions contrary to their own, even when founded upon facts, which no person, who is honest, and knows anything about the subject, pretends to deny.

Hoping, my dear sir, that you may be induced by a sincere desire for a knowledge of the truth, and of Nature's laws, to join this company of "crazy and deluded fanatics," I remain, Very sincerely yours, DAVID P. TOWLE.

DODD'S NERVINE ONCE MORE.
THE STANDARD REMEDY for biliousness with the medical profession is the Anti-Bilious Pill of the American Pharmacopoeia. And its reputation has been well enough deserved. But it is a Pill, nevertheless, and most people of sensibility feel something about as big as a meeting house coming into their throat whenever a pill is spoken of. DODD'S NERVINE AND INVIGORATOR acts effectually on the biliary organism; it irritates neither stomach nor intestine in all its operation; and what is VERY IMPORTANT, as all good nurses know, it is MOST AGREEABLE TO TAKE, being as pleasant to the palate as any delicate wine. We all know how it is with Cod Liver Oil. In a pure state it is excellent for certain conditions of debility, and particularly in tendencies to Consumption; and yet many of the best physicians decline to prescribe it, because it is so nauseous to their patient. That, they say, makes it do more harm than good. With Dodd's Nervine all this becomes obsolete. For sale by all Druggists. Price $1. o214w

WHAT ARE
DR. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA Vinegar Bitters?
THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK, Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits, and refuse Liquors, doctored, spiced, and sweetened to please the taste, called "Bitters," "Stomachers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Active Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD-PURIFIER and LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter, and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell. $100 will be given for an incurable case, providing the bones are not destroyed by mineral poisons or other means, the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

FOR INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND GOUT, DYSPEPSIA, or INDIGESTION, BILLIOUS, REMITTENT, and INTERMITTENT FEVERS, DISEASES OF THE BLOOD, LIVER, KIDNEYS, and BLADDER, these BITTERS have been most successful. SUCH DISEASES are caused by VITIATED BLOOD, which is generally produced by derangement of the DIGESTIVE ORGANS.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood healthy, and all will be well.

These Bitters are not a gilded pill, to delight the eye or please the fancy, but a medicinal preparation, composed of the best vegetable ingredients known.

They are Alterative, Tonic, Diuretic, Sedative, Diaphoretic, and Gentle Purgative.

"The Life of all Flesh is the Blood thereof,"—Purify the blood and the health of the whole system will follow.

IRON MANDRAKE SYRUP
Is an excellent combination of IRON with MANDRAKE and vegetable tonic.

MANDRAKE
Is the great vegetable substitute for Calomel to act on the Liver.

In Freeman's Mandrake Syrup it is combined with Iron and Vegetable Tonics, and forms the most perfect Spring Medicine.

It purifies the blood and imparts IRON to it.

It acts on the Liver and removes foul humors from the body. It is a most excellent remedy for debility, especially for mothers who are worn down by nursing infants, and for all persons whose blood is pure, and who need iron and a strengthening medicine.

New Hampshire Items.

The Nashua Telegraph says last Saturday while a boy named Gilson was at work in Williams' foundry, a piece of iron fell on his right foot, and a rivet which was attached to the iron and was very hot, burned a hole through his boot and passed into his foot, and almost entirely through it.

A young man who reported himself from Derry, was found dead drunk at the Concord Railroad station in Nashua, Saturday evening, and forwarded to Manchester. He said he had been to Boston on a "time," and spent $800 in a week.

E. G. Scribner, house carpenter, of Suncook, fell by the giving way of a staging on which he was at work, on the 27th of Oct., breaking his arm a little above the wrist.

Two hundred and thirty-five letters were mailed at the Rochester Post Office on Monday, Oct. 25th, the largest number ever mailed in one day from that town.

The august State of New Hampshire on Saturday last sold at auction the old Gun house and lot in the vicinity of the Foundry at Dover, for the low sum of $63 to Thomas J. Canney. The building formerly stood almost from time immemorial just back of the old Court house at the Corner, and was in a dilapidated state.

The temperance ladies of Dover are considering in their public meeting the propriety of enforcing the liquor law on our statute book.

—Once upon a time Douglas Jerrold was visited for a subscription to the Society for the conversion of the Jews. "Sir," said he, "I cannot contribute to your fund, but if you will send a Jew to me I will do my best to convert him."

IN FASHION it is hinted that during the winter we shall wear peg-top pants, and stub-toed shoes. With the former in vogue, "a salutation to your French slops," will once more be en regle: the latter will serve to remind us of better days when the beauty of the American foot was not hidden between the ribs of a shapeless leathern scow; and when the new hat—still a secret—shall have appeared, and the long promised collar of comfort, and necktie of neatness, and the coat of comely cut, shall have been fairly introduced, what a joyous tribute to sartorial ingenuity will be paid by the men of America! And how they will bless the hatter! And how overwhelm the sensible cordwainer with worthy praise!

On the other hand, the garb of our sisters promises to be as complex this winter as the French modiste can make it. The mysteries of the coming costume have not all been explained. Only enough has been suggested to stimulate the curiosity of the fair ones who seem never to tire of novelty in garniture, and who, alas, seem pleased with any fashion however ridiculous. Let us bless what is left of the spirit of modesty, in that she has foiled the attempt of milliners to introduce the Black Crook costume, and to make familiar and dear to us the scanty enfoldings of the actors in that noted spectacle.

We have yet the high and pointed heel on which our loved ones toddle and waddle—it would be folly to call it walking—such heels as Atalanta never could have run upon. We have also a few lingering locks of yellow hair —"blonde" is the modern name for it — left on the heads of charming creatures to whom Nature gave tresses of black or brown or red, with eyelashes to match. We have patches, too, in spots. And we shall have many more queer whims exhibited before women pass away — for there is danger that ere many days

"Our poets
Shall with satire steeped in gall and vinegar,
Rithme 'em to death, as they do rats in Ireland."

Why, in all seriousness, is it necessary for all the women in the land to dress alike? To say nothing of the heels they wear, of the hats they wear, of the panniers, the points, the puffs to their dresses, all cut after the same pattern; of the chignon on the back of each head—even the wooly heads bear them—why should those supplemental snaky locks, and all the rest of the capillary covering be of the same shade throughout the community! Why, even in Queen Bess' time, women, although given then as much as now to the marring of the fair form and face of nature's mold, had some independence. She who dyed her hair, dyed it to suit her individual taste.

In those days, as in these, the man who loved a true woman, cared little for the shade of her wig; and Benedick, one of the types of manly wisdom, says of his future wife: "Her hair shall be of what color it pleases God"—not Miss McFlimsy.

Far be it from your correspondent to ridicule a harmless device, intended to cover a natural deformity. Physical peculiarities should never be the subject of jest. Let a man's ears be like those mentioned by Purchas in his "Pilgrim," or like ears of corn, or like asses' ears; let his nose be Slawkenbergian in its size, or so turned up that he must throw a somersault or stand on his head to blow it; let his eyes be fishy, or like the eyes of potatoes, or like unto saucers, or the sepials of owls: let his legs bow like the arcs of a great circle, or come together at the knees like a capital X; these are not faults of his making.

But he is a fair target, if, like Mephibosheth, he let his beard grow till David come again; or if he walk like a goose, or any other pressiroster reminded because 'tis the fashion; or if he part his hair in the middle and carry a switch cane like a country pedagogue, who hath use for it; or plaster his locks with unguents, and dye his red beard black; or imitate the tadpole in growing more and more bob-tailed as his years increase, instead of hiding his shrunken shanks with an ample flow of skirting:—and no man should pity his sorrows.

Why, it was but yesterday I saw what I thought must be the original of Shakspeare's Shallow. As Falstaff says: "You might have trussed him and all his apparel into an eel skin; the case of a treble hautboy was a mansion for him —a court"—and he, we are sure, he garnished? In the integuments of an alderman of two hundred pounds of obesity, and he strutted like a Bantam.—N. Y. Letter.

SOMETHING EXTRA.—One of the most magnificent piano-fortes ever seen or heard in Providence arrived from the factory of Hallet, Davis & Co., of Boston. While the instrument is elaborately and splendidly finished and most elegant to look upon, in every respect, it responds to the touch of a player with a wealth, a purity and a beauty of tone that is admirable in the highest degree. We had the gratification of hearing a very able pianist and fine musician, execute upon it several superb compositions in different styles, and for capacity of expression, delicacy, power, sweetness, brilliancy, duration of tone in sosteanto passages, perfection response in rapidly reiterated notes, and other qualities essential to constitute a thoroughly unexceptionable piano-forte, this instrument, we do not hesitate to say, will successfully rival any other one that has yet been heard in Providence. Where many pianos, in other respects excellent, are found to be somewhat thin—that is, in the tenor-octavo—this one is delightfully large and rich, and the scale, of the first-concert-class, is perfectly even throughout. The workmanship is, in all its parts, of that high order of excellence which the reputation of Messrs. Hallet, Davis & Co. would lead us to expect.—Providence Journal.

THE SHARPERS OF THE TURF. — To keep even with the sharpers of the trotting turf, one must have sharp eyes indeed. With changing of names, falsifying the record, and the pulling of horses, the honest turfman has a small chance of success. We must have more system and more firmness on the trotting turf, or the institution will "go to the dogs" at something like railroad speed. Owing to the want of system, it is easy to perpetrate a fraud, by changing the name of a horse, or removing him to a locality where he is not known. There are a number of horses on the turf that have been winning money the past season in purses where they had no right to go. Something must be done to check these frauds. A correspondent suggests that each Association, in receiving a nomination for a purse, should require an affidavit to be appended that the nominee has not a better record than required by the conditions of the purse for which he is entered. It is true that the men who stoop to double dealing would not hesitate to swear to a monstrous lie, if the matter were simply one of conscience; but when the law can take hold of them for perjury, they will possibly have some little regard for the truth.

The prospect of having to labor for the State, cut off from the temptations of the world, learning frugality, sobriety, honesty, and practicing industry within the walls of a prison, is not a cheerful one, and the sharpers would hesitate to commit themselves. Could we rid the turf of their obnoxious presence at once and forever, it would be a glorious thing for the turf. But as we cannot do this, our only recourse is to adopt such measures as will render them in a great degree harmless. Not until we learn to practice firmness and to adhere to system, through the assembled wisdom of a Trotting Congress, can we hope for a better order of things than that which now disgraces the turf; and as this fact is as well known to the leading patrons of the trotting turf as to ourselves, it is surprising that there should be so much delay in organizing a Congress.

At a recent race in Pennsylvania, Dan Mace, the famous driver, finding that Budd Doble was going to beat him, drove across him several times, and so kept Doble from winning the race, as Mace had bet on the wrong horse. The judges distanced Mace, but in this did not do their full duty. They should have ruled him off the Course, and thus have taught him (experienced as he is) a lesson that would have proved beneficial to the trotting turf.

There is entirely too much license given to drivers, and in many instances they control the judges, who sometimes appear quite helpless to protect the public, although they have stringent rules to guide them in the path of duty. This thing must be remedied, and the sooner a Trotting Congress is formed the better it will be for the interest of the trotting turf. All associations should be governed by one set of rules, and act in concert; for in union there is strength, especially in this matter, when so much is at stake.—Turf, Field and Farm.

THE SALE IN NEW ENGLAND OF THE "LIFE OF DANIEL WEBSTER" will be begun early in November. This biography has been prepared by Mr. Geo. Ticknor Curtis, in fulfillment of Mr. Webster's testamentary injunctions, and will be published in two beautiful volumes of 600 pages each, with an elegant engraved portrait of Mr. Webster, and other illustrations. The agents, who will dispose of the work by subscription, are H. A. Brown & Co., 3 School street, Boston.

—A newspaper article has been going the rounds of the press of late, headed, "Where is your boy at night?" A brilliant urchin suggests the propriety of another article, inquiring, "Where is the old man at night?" Not a bad idea.

MERIT SOON NOISED ABROAD.

It is but six years since ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM, was first offered for sale. Its good qualities were soon made known at home, and very soon its fame was noised far and near; now it is sold in nearly every Drug Store in the United States—NORTH, EAST, SOUTH and WEST. No similar medicine stands higher with the people. It is well known on the Pacific coast, and liberal demands for it from San Francisco, Sacramento in California, and Portland, Oregon; even from Australia, large orders are received for it. And throughout Canada, it is well and favorably known, and sold everywhere.

Read what Captain Foster writes:

PORT BURWELL, March 23d, 1869.

Messrs. PERRY DAVIS & SON,

Sirs:—I am pleased to notify you of the benefit which I have received from ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM; having been troubled with a cough for several years past, the Balsam was recommended to me. I immediately procured it, and found it to relieve my cough more readily than anything I ever tried. My wife has also used it with most satisfactory results.

Yours Very Truly,
Capt. D. FOSTER.

The Shivering Season.

It is impossible to suppose that any human being can consider an attack of Fever and Ague a light visitation. And yet thousands act as if such a calamity was of no consequence; while thousands who are actually suffering from the distressing complaint neglect to adopt the certain means of cure. It ought to be known in every family subject to this scourge, or which is threatened with remittent fever, or any other epidemic produced by malaria, that HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS taken in season, at the commencement of the unhealthy season, will fortify the system against the atmospheric poison which generates these distempers. This admirable invigorant—harmless, agreeable, and possessing rarer medicinal virtues than any other tonic at present known, will break up the paroxysms of intermittent or remittent fever in from three to four hours to ten days. Such is the universal testimony from districts where periodical fevers have been constantly with the powerful vegetable Chologogue. In a thievish neighborhood wise men bar their doors and windows yet strange to tell, if the same neighborhood happens to be pervaded by aerial poison they seldom take the trouble to put their bodies in a state of defence against the subtle enemy. Shivering victims endeavoring in vain to warm your blue hands over the fire, or consuming with the fever that follows the shivering paroxysm, remember that HOSTETTER'S BITTERS is an absolute, speedy and infallible specific for your distressing malady.

THE LATEST DISCOVERY
In Medication.

The great difficulty which physicians have been laboring for centuries to overcome, has at length been obviated. A vegetable Cathartic and alterative more efficient than any mineral preparation with none of its evils, and as easy to take as an ordinary candy, is now offered to the sick in the form of a Lozenge.

DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S

is the most important medicinal novelty that modern chemistry has produced. It combines vegetable extracts, perfectly harmless in themselves, but embodying all the remedial properties of mercury, and without its dangers, and bids fair to supersede and banish from general use, the nauseous pills and portions of which that dangerous excitant is the main ingredient. More than were made by the inventor of this peerless remedy before it was brought to its present state of perfection. The Lozenge is harmless in its operation, and altogether the medicinal taste of its curative components has been extinguished by chemical art, their virtues remain as active and potent as ever.

In Dyspepsia, Biliousness Constipation, Sick or Nervous Headache, Piles, Dropsy, and the irregularities to which the feebler sex are subject, the Lozenge will be found infinitely more effective than any of the horrible and disgusting compounds usually administered in such cases. As an antibilious specific and general aperient, they have no equal either among advertised preparations or the prescriptions of the regular pharmacopoeia.

☞ It is guaranteed that no one who has once tried DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S Liver and Stomach Lozenge, will ever again take a purgative powder, or draught or pill.

DR. TOBIAS' CELEBRATED VENETIAN LINIMENT, whose wonderful cures, sure and instaneous action, in cases of Chronic Rheumatism, Headache, Toothache, Croup, Colds, Burns, Bruises, Cramps, Dysentery, etc., have astonished the civilized world, is no new catch-penny; but an article that has stood the test of twenty-two years. The enormous sale and rapidly increasing demand is at once the surest evidence of its usefulness and popularity. No family should be without a bottle in the house. Hundreds of dollars and many hours of suffering may be saved by its timely use.

Colic, Cramp, and Dysentery yield at once to its paincurative properties. It is perfectly innocent, and can be given to the oldest person or youngest child. No matter if you have no confidence in Patent Medicines—try this, and you will be sure to buy again, and recommend to your friends. Hundreds of Physicians recommend it in their practice.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

Read the Evidence.

"Facts are stubborn things," and it is to facts alone that it is desired to direct the attention of the readers of this article.

Many years of severe and thorough practical trial have demonstrated beyond the peradventure of a doubt the fact that the medicines prepared by me, and known as SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, SCHENCK'S SEAWEED TONIC, and SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, have proved extraordinarily successful in the cure of diseases of the pulmonary organs, or what is usually termed Consumption.

I am fully aware that there are many persons whose prejudices rule them so completely that "profits strong as Holy Writ," would fail to convince them of the efficacy of my remedies, and that there are others who, under no circumstances, could be prevailed upon to admit their merits, simply because such an admission would prove detrimental to their particular personal interests.

Fortunately for the welfare of mankind, these doubting people form a comparatively small portion of the community at large. They are to be found here and there, but, compared with the great mass of the world's inhabitants, their numbers are so small that I dismiss them, and address myself to those who are willing to listen to the dictates of reason, and who are disposed to admit the strong logic of well established facts.

We are also told almost daily that Consumption the scourge of the American people, is incurable; that a man who has once been pronounced by given over to die; that he must abandon hope; and that the arrangement of his temporal as well as spiritual affairs should claim his earliest attention. If there were not facts as undeniable as that the sun will shine in a clear heaven at midday to controvert these random and not unfrequently harmful assertions, I should feel unwilling to take up the gage of battle against them; but, fortified with results—facts—which neither theory nor prejudice can overcome, I propose to prove that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED, and that the medicines I prepare—THE MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC, and PULMONIC SYRUP—will, if used in strict accordance with the directions, in a majority of cases effect that result the faculty pronounces impossible—they will cure Consumption.

An ounce of solid fact is worth a pound of theory. Let me, therefore, present the facts connected with my own individual experience. Nine years ago, I was a confirmed consumptive, and like thousands of other unfortunates, was given up by the regular medical practitioners, my case a hopeless one, and told me that if I had any preparations to make for the final solemn event, that I had better make them speedily. I believed this just as confidently as did the persons who thus affectionately informed me that my days were numbered, and that recovery was impossible. Still, the desire to live lingered in my bosom. I was young, and clung to life with the same tenacity and yearning as other men and men too, ordinarily do. I did not feel willing to abandon hope as longas a single vestige of it remained. I had full faith in the sad information conveyed to me by my physicians, but still there was a lingering belief that something could be done, though I knew not in what direction to seek for the much desired relief.

It was at this gloomy and eventful period of my history that I first learned of the roots and herbs from which my remedies for the diseases of the lungs are now prepared. I procured and used them, and, to the utter amazement of all—physicians, friends and neighbors—began to improve. My entire system commenced to undergo a complete renovation. Expectoration, which formerly had been difficult and painful, now became comparatively easy. I threw off daily large quantities of offensive yellow matter. At the same time my long-lost appetite returned, and I fed freely of such food as was palatable to me, and which was at the same time nutritious and wholesome. Expectoration became less copious and less offensive; expectorating night and morning, my cough, the harrassing cough abated; the fever broke; the pain departed; flesh planted itself on my sadly wasted frame, and I regained my strength and full health. From a mere skelton I became a stout, strong, robust man, and I have maintained both strength and flesh to this day. I weigh one hundred and thirty-five pounds; I am blest with an appetite vouchsafed to but few men, while my digestive organs are amply capable of the requirements of a healthful condition of my system.

Now, be it remembered, all those wonderful changes were wrought by the use of the medicines I prepare—MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC and PULMONIC SYRUP. A cure seemingly as miraculous as it was totally unexpected astonished me in the minds of those who knew me, for I was literally beslewed on all sides. I had visitors daily who besought me to give them the remedies which had wrought that wonderful transformation and had wrested me from the very jaws of death. Letters were received by scores importuning me to give them the secret and tell the writers where the specifics for consumption could be obtained. Others, who were too weak to travel, not unfrequently enclosed the price of a remedy in regard to their cases. To all these applications I responded as I was able.

I had thoroughly regulated my health, and gratitude for the happy result prompted me to turn my attention to the science of medicine with the hope that I might be able to be of service to my suffering fellow-creatures. I devoted myself closely to my studies, and more especially to that branch of them relating to the terrible disease from which I had suffered so long and so much, and investigated it in all its fearful phases, in order to assure myself that my case was not an exceptional one, and clear my investigations of all doubt or satisfactory were my conclusions. I felt convinced that tens of thousands of my fellow-creatures were dying an annuity of consumption whose cases were not as desperate, and apparently hopeless as mine had been, and I argued from this that remedies which had proven so effective with me would prove equally so with others. I prepared my medicines in a pleasant and attractive form, and announced them to the world. The result proves well known. Thousands of suffering men, women and children, who were on the way to the grave, have turned back and are to-day living evidences of the fact that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED; and I think I may say, without arrogance, or my investigations are not satisfactory were my conclusions. I felt convinced that tens of thousands of my fellow-creatures were dying an annuity of consumption whose cases were not as desperate, and apparently hopeless as mine had been, and I argued from this that remedies which had proven so effective with me would prove equally so with others. I prepared my medicines in a pleasant and attractive form, and announced them to the world. The result proves well known. Thousands of suffering men, women and children, who were on the way to the grave, have turned back and are to-day living evidences of the fact that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED; and I think I may say, without arrogance, or my investigations are not satisfactory that I have had as much experience in the treatment of consumption as any other person in the country, and that my success has been wonderfully great.

Let the reader remember that these are not mere fancied statements. They are positive living facts, of which I am the living evidence.

There is an old adage which says, "What has been done may be done." I have been completely cured of consumption by the remedies I now offer to the public. Thousands of others have testified to similar happy results from their use, and thousand of others still might be benefitted as I have no doubt they but be prevailed upon to try the virtue of The Mandrake Pills, Seaweed Tonic and Pulmonic Syrup. All that is necessary to convince the most skeptical of their merits is a fair trial.

Full directions accompany each of the medicines, so that it is not absolutely necessary that patients should see me personally, unless they desire to have their lungs examined. Fyr this purpose I am personally at my OFFICE, No. 15 North Sixth Street, corner of Commerce, EVERY SATURDAY.

Advice is given without charge, but for a thorough examination with the Respirometer the price is five dollars.

One of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic, each $1 50 per bottle, or $7 50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents per box.

BASE BALL.—The Eurekas and the second nine ofthe Granite State have a game at the Plains this (Wednesday) afternoon at 2:30.

THE BEST LIGHT, next to day-light, yet known, appears beyond all question to be, that from Kerosene, burned in the German Lamp, (imported,) for which Dr. W. R. Preston, druggist, is agent in this city. The Lamp is a very beautiful ornament to house or office, too, and the light is perfection—equal in amount to two common gas burners, and steady and much softer than an argand, which this German Lamp flame resembles in shape.

Dr. Preston has long been urged by the general agent in New York, to accept the agency for sale of same in this city, as numerous druggists do elsewhere—and after thoroughly testing the Lamp, by himself and friends, has consented to do so. There are two sizes, prices $7 and $8; and a gentlemen who timed one, reports that it costs but half a cent an hour to run it. A family in this city who have used two for six years, have not broken a single chimney in all that time, and have just ordered a third lamp. Others have used them from one to three years, and would not know how to do without them. Henry Ward Beecher says he employs it in preference to all others—can suggest no improvement, and desires none; and all who examine it, are loud in praise. The lamp is entirely simple and safe, and will burn even the poorest quality of oil—and needs but to be seen, to be admired.

Communication.

STATE CONSTABULARY.—Messrs. Editors; I agree with "Straight Out Republican" in all his views but one, and that one is the matter of policy. I think a State Constabulary for the enforcement of all laws is preferable to a local police. Brothels, gambling hells and rum-shops can be suppressed most effectually by a State police, but why need we attempt an impossibility? Massachusetts has answered the appeals of the temperance men who insist on a strict enforcement of the Prohibitory law. Last November it gave President Grant more than 77,000 majority; last Tuesday it gave the Republican State ticket only 7000 majority. It was a square issue between Prohibition and License, and the Prohibitionists nearly swamped the Republican party of the State. The new legislature, though Republican, is about two to one in favor of a license law. The Prohibitionists fought hard for the possession of the legislature and are heavily defeated. Why should the voters of New Hampshire be supposed to be stronger in the faith than those of the model State of Massachusetts?

The matter resolves itself to a simple question of figures. If Prohibition endangers Republican supremacy in a State which is Republican by 77,000 majority, what will be the result in a State with but 2500 majority? If a legislature, largely Republican, is not sustained in passing a Prohibitory law, what must be the result in a legislature with a small Republican majority which affords an opportunity for a third (or less) of the voters of the State to establish a law which would never be sustained were all the citizens of the State to vote? Is not the timely warning given us by Massachusetts sufficient to cause "Straight Out Republican" to vote against the proposed Constabulary? Does he not know that though the Constabulary system is better for the enforcement of all laws than the present system of local police, that it would not be sustained on a full vote in New Hampshire, for the simple reason that (for political effect) the election next March will turn on the question of Prohibition? Were I in favor of the repeal of the present Prohibitory law, an did I favor the choice of a Democratic legislature next March and a Democratic U. S. Senator next June, I should assuredly vote for the Constabulary act next Tuesday. On the contrary I shall vote "no," being simply a

TEMPERANCE REPUBLICAN.

PAYMASTER CARPENTER'S LIBEL SUIT. The following is the letter for which Mr. Carpenter asks $5000 damages:

To the Honorable Senators and Members of the House of Representatives in Congress, from New Hampshire:

The undersigned, after much patience has been exhausted, beg to remonstrate against the farther continuance at this Station, of Paymaster J. N. Carpenter, as Purchasing Agent. In all our struggles, Paymaster Carpenter has always voted against us, carrying the straight Democratic ticket, throwing his patronage adversely to the friends of General Grant, and always filling the requirements of a tool sent here by ex-Secretary Welles, to carry out the interests of Andrew Johnson. May we hope for relief from such a burden. Let the rebel sympathizer be exchanged for a man who will have office hours of a convenient kind, and be found there at least once a day, to attend to those having business there, and officers and civilians will alike be gratified.

This letter was dated Portsmouth, April 20, 1869, and signed by E. G. Peirce, jr., E. A. Stevens, Chas. Robinson, Wm. H. Hackett, Aaron Young, John H. Bailey, Daniel J. Vaughan, and Paine Durkee. The case was entered at this Term of Court, but owing to the sickness of Mr. Hatch, counsel for Mr. Carpenter, or from the law's usual delay, will not be tried at present.

SUPREME JUDICIAL COURT, Wednesday, Nov. 3.—The verdict in the case of Mayberry vs. Smart was for the full amount and interest—in all $196.65—claimed by the Pliff.

The cases of Jonathan Dearborn vs. Lewis A. Eaton, George E. Eaton and David Brown, all of Seabrook, were tried together upon one issue Tuesday. These were actions of trespass in which the Pliff. claimed damage for injuries to a windmill. Page and Wood for Pliff. Marston and Bell for Deft. Verdict of about $100 for Pliff.

Case of Christian Johnson vs. John W. Smart was tried Wednesday. This was an action of trespass to recover the value of a lot of fish, attached by the Deft. upon a writ vs. somebody else, and which the Pliff. claims were owned by him and therefore wrongfully attached. Page for Pliff.; Small and Mellows for Deft.

Case No. 193, Jones vs. Ladd and Perkins on trial. This is an action of account in which the Pliff. seeks to charge both Defendants as partners. The issue is whether there was a partnership between Ladd and Perkins or not. Hopkins for Pliff., Wood for Deft.

☞ Commend us to the Boston Post for jolly good humor. At a late election, finding its party defeated in every direction, it placed its nine roosters upside down at the head of each column of one page. Tuesday's election in Massachusetts brought one of them to right side up, and he appears this time crow over the vote of Hull. The editor apologizes for the appearance of the lonely bird as follows;—"The remainder of the Post brood of game-cocks is, with difficulty suppressed. Their crow, however, is so strengthened by repose that by another year they will 'alarm the neighborhood.'"

HE STILL LIVES.—Our old musical friend Mr. W. F. Lawrence of Epping, has sent us some Nos. of the Musical "Coronet," of new and excellent music, regular sheet music size; Overtures, Quadrilles, Polkas, Mazurkas, Songs, Duetts, Quartettes, Opera Gems and Ballads, the choicest pieces of the best composers. He will send you postage paid copies at the low price of 10 cents each. Samples may be seen on our table.

☞ The Soprano, a Musical Story, by Jane Kingsford, is just published by Loring, Boston. Dedicated to all lovers of good music. Received from New England News Company, Boston.

A PACIFIC RAILWAY

GOLD LOAN $6,500,000.

We beg leave to announce that we have accepted the agency of the

KANSAS PACIFIC RAILWAY COMPANY,

For the sale of its

NEW SEVEN PER CENT.

Thirty Year Gold Loan, Free from Tax.

This Loan amounts to $6,500,000.

First Mortgage Land-Grant and Sinking Fund Bonds,

secured upon the extension of the Railway from near Sheridan, in Kansas, to Denver, Colorado, a distance of 237 miles of which 12 miles are completed, and the rest is under construction. It is also a Mortgage upon the Road, the Rolling Stock and Franchise of this first-class Railway, besides now running through the State of Kansas,

And in successful operation for 437 miles

west of the Missouri River, and earning already enough to meet all of its expenses and existing obligations, besides MORE THAN THE INTEREST UPON THIS NEW LOAN. In addition to this the Bonds are also secured by a first mortgage of the

GOVERNMENT LAND GRANT OF THREE MILLION ACRES,

extending in alternate sections on either side of the track, from the 394th mile post in Kansas to Denver. The proceeds of the sale of these lands are to be invested by the Trustees in the 7 per cent Bonds, themselves up to 120 in U. S. Bonds, as

A SINKING FUND FOR THE REDEMPTION OF THE BONDS.

The Lands embrace some of the finest portions of the magnificent Territory of Colorado, including a coal field and pinery. The company also holds as an asset another tract of

Three Millions of Acres in the State of Kansas,

and although not pledged as a security for this Loan, their possession adds largely to the Company's wealth and credit. We estimate the Value of the Company's property, covered by this mortgage at $23,000,000 net, while the Loan is merely $6,500,000.

The Bonds have

THIRTY YEARS TO RUN,

from May 1, 1869, and will pay

SEVEN PER CENT. INTEREST IN GOLD, semi-annually, on May 1 and Nov. 1, and are FREE FROM GOVERNMENT TAXATION, the Company paying the tax.

The principal of the Loan is made payable in Gold, in the City of New York, but each coupon will be

PAYABLE IN FRANKFORT, LONDON OR N. YORK at option of the holder, with notice, at the following rates:

On $1,000 Bond in N. Y. $35 (gold) each half year.
" London....£7 8s. 10
" Frankfort, 87 fr. 30 krtcs.,

The Agents of the Loan, before accepting the trust had the condition of the Road, and the country through which it runs, carefully examined. They are happy to give the Loan an emphatic endorsement as a

FIRST CLASS INVESTMENT,

in every respect perfectly sure, and in some essential even

Better than Government Securities.

The Bonds will be sold for the present at

96, and accrued Interest, both in Currency,

the Agents reserving the right to advance the rate.

The attention of investors is invited to these well-secured bonds, which we recommend as one of the most profitable investments in the market.

Gold and Government Securities taken in payment at their market value, without commission.

Pamphlets, with maps giving full information, sent on application.

DEATH.

'Tis less than to be born; a lasting sleep,
A quiet resting from all jealousy;
A thing we all pursue. I know, besides,
It is but giving over of a game that must be lost.
[Becaumont and Fletcher.

LOVE.

Wherever love hath trodden—there
Affliction comes—a kindred power,
So twines the weed around the flower,
So poison taints the odorous air,
It is the charter of our birth,
That hope and joy with fleeting smile
Should bless our pilgrimage awhile,
But find no resting place on earth;
Each is alike withheld or given
To fit us for their home—their heaven.
[Dale.

SHORT RULES IN RURAL ECONOMY.—Paint all tools exposed to the weather, and if with a light-colored paint, they will not heat, wrap, or crack in the sun.

Dip well-seasoned shingles in a lime wash, and dip them before laying, and they will last much longer, and not become covered with moss.

In hitching a horse to a common rail or worm fence, always select the inside corner, which will be more secure by its bracing position, and the halter will not become entangled among the projecting ends of the rails, as when hitched on the outside corner. [A better rule is never to tie a horse to a rail fence at all.]

Always tie a halter by first making a single loop, and thrusting the end of the halter through this loop. This is quickly united, and will never come untied of itself.

Dip the ends of nails into grease, and they will drive easily into hard wood, where they would otherwise double and break.

In screwing nuts into any part of machinery in cold weather, be careful not to heat them with the hands, or they will contract after being screwed on tight and become immovable afterwards.

In plowing or teaming on the road in hot weather, always rest the horses on an eminence, where one minute will be worth two in a warm valley.

In setting out young orchards, always register the varieties in a book where they may be referred to in the few years, when the trees commence bearing, and the labels are lost, and name forgotten.

In laying a garden for fruits and vegetables, place everything in drills or rows, so that they may be cultivated by a horse and thus save the expense of hard labor.

When board fences become old and the boards begin to come off, nail upright facing strips upon them against each post, and the boards will be held to their place and the fence last several years longer. Always set a post fence over a ditch, or near good drainage, and the posts will always remain dry and will last many years longer than those standing in wet subsoil.

CREDIT.—No business man can sell things on credit which he cannot buy on credit. We do not refer to rich men, like A. T. Stewart, who do business for fun, but to men who do business for the sake of earning a living.

The first process in making paper is to buy rags of which to make it. For this purpose every paper mill employs a host of peddlers' wagons, which call at every house and buy from ten to fifty cents' worth of rags at a time. We fancy housewives would laugh if these peddlers should ask for credit when they take the rags. So paper makers cannot get any credit on the materials of which they make paper. The only other item which enters into the cost of paper is the labor of the workmen who make it, and this has to be paid for in cash, every Saturday afternoon. So paper makers cannot sell paper on credit, because they can get no credit on what they have to pay for making it.

The other items which enter into the cost of a book or paper, are the labor of the printers and the labor of the bookbinders. There are no journeymen printers or bookbinders in the United States who will work without their pay in cash every Saturday. A more vivid picture of earthly woe could scarcely be drawn than a picture of a boss printer on Saturday afternoon, with no money to pay his workmen with.

Those who print books and papers therefore, have to pay all the cost of their manufacture before they are ready to sell. How is it possible for them to sell them on credit, unless they are already rich men? Everybody can be assured that rich men do not make paper or print books and papers for fun.

—Lady Montague, the famous wit, on being asked whether she would not have preferred to belong to the other sex, replied sternly in the negative, because in that case she might have been obliged to marry a woman.

—On coming out of jail, a recent "prisoner of State" was reminded by a friend that he had a good opportunity for reflection. "Yes," said he, "as good as a death-bed, with not half the risk."

☞ Two "gentlemen" were lately summoned before a police court in Barmen, Germany, one being charged with having bitten off the end of a cat's tail, and the other with holding pussy during the operation. It seems that the first defend ant had performed the feat to gain a wager that he would bite off a part of a cat's tail. The defence was that a curtailment of the appendage would not only not injure the cat but would add to her comfort and convenience. A veterinary surgeon was brought in to testify to the same opinion, but both the defendants were fined, there being no recommendation in any scientific work that cats' tails be abbreviated, especially by the surgical application of human teeth.

☞ A French paper reports that "the most brilliant of the stars of song," by which every one will recognize the Marquise de Caux, "has signed a splendid engagement to sing in Russia. It is stipulated in the treaty that the diva promises—you would never guess what—to have no children during the period of her engagement. And her husband has written at the bottom of the contract: 'The above writing is read and approved.'"

☞ Mayor Hall, of New York, who says he himself is not a temperance man—gives it as his opinion in a speech a short time since, that "nine out of ten of the men who die of paralysis—what is called intellectual labor,—die because they are not temperance men!" No doubt of it.

—John Randolph was one of the most sarcastic men that ever lived. One time a young man attempted to make Randolph's acquaintance. He obtained an introduction, and among the first remarks, said; "I passed by your house lately, Mr. Randolph." "I hope you always will!" was the reply. Another one twitted as to his "want of education." "The gentleman reminds me," said Randolph in reply, "of the lands about the head waters of the Montgomery, which are poor by nature, and cultivation has ruined them."

THE JOSH BILLINGS PAPERS—Remarks. When a man hain't got enny thing to say, then iz a good time tew keep still—there iz but few peeple who hav missed a good opportunity tew ventilate their opiniyuns.

Just about az cerimonys creep into one end ov a church piety creeps out ov the other.

Thoze who have the fewest failings see the fewest in others.

Pride is az universal as hair on the head—sum are proud ov their virtews, sum ov their vices, and sum, having neither themselves, brag on other people's.

Love looks through a telescope; envy, through a microscope.

An industrious man iz seldom a bad man.

Men will believe their pashuns quicker than they will their conscience, and yet their pashuns are generally wrong, and their consciences alwus right.

It ain't mutch trouble tew bear the pain of sum boddy else's lame back, but tew hev the lame back oneself ain't so stylish.

Dispising fortune is not a sure way to gain her favor—pipe to her, and she may dance to you.

Take all the interest out of the world, and there wouldn't be friendship enough left for seed.

Sekrets are a burden, and that is one reason why we are anxious to hav sumbody help us carry them.

I hev seen men so full ov vanity that they could not endure the sight ov a peacock with his tale on a parade.

The most'excruciating bore I know is excessive politeness.

If I was called upon tew describe Eloquence, I should do it az I would a suit of clothes—"ov suitable texture and a perfect fit."

Gravity is no more an evidence of wisdom than it iz ov ill natur.

The greater the man the less hiz virtews appear and the larger hiz faults.

The man who hain't got any enemy is really poor.

Don't mistake vivacity for wit, thare iz just az mutch difference as thare iz between lightning and a lightning bug.

No man ever undertook tew alter his natur by substituting sum invenshun ov his own but what made a botch job of it.

Religion in these days iz compozed of vanity and piety, and each man and woman iz a better judge ov the proportion than I am.

Lovers feed upon mysteries, but after they are married and the pork and beans are brought on they hav a fair chance tew test the real qualitys of their appetights.

An insult tew one man is an insult to all, for it may be our turn next.

I don't know ov enny thing that would use the whole ov us up more thoroughly, than tew have all ov our wishes gratified.

Thare is 2 kinds ov obstinacy, obstinacy in the right, and obstinacy in the wrong, one iz the strength ov a grate mind, and the other is the strength ov a little one.

Lazyness iz like molassis, sweet and sticky.

I think a bear in hiz claws, iz preferable tew one with gloves on.

I kant tell now which I admire least, an old coquett or a young prude.

Misanthropy don't pay—there ain't no man living whoze hate the world cares one cuss for.

Rash men ken be korrekted, but it don't pay to labour with a phool.

The man who haz never enjoyed the plezzure ov being forgiven haz missed one ov the greatest luxurys ov life.

I hav seen coquettry that had no more malice in it than a ewe lamb frisking on the green.

When I cum acrost a man who utters hiz opinyuns with immense deliberashun, and after they are uttered they dont amount to ennything, I write him down "mysterious phool."

The grate cry ov the world now daze iz "What's trumps."

Love iz weakness, but it iz the same kind ov a weakness that repentance iz—both ov them are creditable tew our natures.

A man iz hiz own best friend and worst enemy.

Jealousy iz one ov love's parasites.

We can endure vices in the young that we should despise in the old—(please make a note ov this, old phellows).

Friendship is like earthenware, if it iz broken it kan be mended, but love iz like a mirror, once broken, that ends it.

I don't know ov enny thing on the face ov this earth more remorseless than 7 per cent. interest.

Thare iz a great deal of difference between enduring misfortunes because we expeckt to and enduring them because we are obliged to; one iz pashiunce, the other iz mere sullenness.

—While J. H. Beadle, editor of the Utah Reporter, was attending court at Brigham City, Utah Territory, on Tuesday, he was assaulted and beaten nearly to death. The articles of Mr. Beadle against polygamy are said to have caused the attack.

DODD'S NERVINE ONCE MORE.
THE STANDARD REMEDY for biliousness with the medical profession is the Anti-Bilious Pill of the American Pharmacopœia. And its reputation has been well enough deserved. But it is a Pill, nevertheless, and most people of sensibility feel something about as big as a meeting house coming into their throat whenever a pill is spoken of. DODD'S NERVINE AND INVIGORATOR acts efficiently on the biliary organism: it irritates neither stomach nor intestine in all its operation; and what is VERY IMPORTANT, as all good nurses know, it is MOST AGREEABLE TO TAKE, being as pleasant to the palate as any delicate wine. We all know how it is with Cod Liver Oil. In a pure state it is excellent for certain conditions of debility, and particularly in tendencies to Consumption; and yet many of the best physicians decline to prescribe it, because it so dreadfully sickens the patient. That, they say, makes it do more harm than good. With Dodd's Nervine all this becomes obstacle. For sale by all Druggists. Price $1. o21w

WHAT ARE
DR. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA Vinegar Bitters.
THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK, Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits, and refuse Liquors, doctored, spiced, and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetisers" "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD-PURIFIER and LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter, and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell. $100 will be given for an incurable case, providing the bones are not destroyed by mineral poisons or other means, the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.
FOR INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND GOUT, DYSPEPSIA, or INDIGESTION, BILLIOUS, REMITTENT, and INTERMITTENT FEVERS, DISEASES OF THE BLOOD, LIVER, KIDNEYS, and BLADDER, these BITTERS have been most successful. SUCH DISEASES are caused by VITIATED BLOOD, which is generally produced by derangement of the DIGESTIVE ORGANS.
Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood healthy, and all will be well.
These Bitters are not a gilded pill, to delight the eye or please the fancy, but a medical preparation, composed of the best vegetable ingredients known.
They are Alterative, Tonic, Diuretic, Sedative, Diaphoretic, and Gentle Purgative.
"The Life of all Flesh is the Blood thereof."—Purify the blood and the health of the whole system will follow.

IRON MANDRAKE SYRUP

MANDRAKE
Is the great vegetable substitute for Calomel to act on the Liver.
In Freeman's Mandrake Syrup it is combined with Iron and Vegetable Tonics, and forms the most perfect Spring Medicine.
It purifies the blood and imparts IRON to it.
It acts on the Liver and removes foul humers from the body. It is a most excellent remedy for debility, especially for mothers who are worn down by nursing infants, and for all persons whose blood is pure, and who need iron and a strengthening medicine.

The Daily Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

FRIDAY, NOV. 5, 1869.

The News.

Our Minister to Ecuador has resigned in consequence of insufficient salary.

Corrected official returns of the vote of Ohio for Governor give the following results: For Hayes, 236,082; Pendleton, 228, 581; Republican majority, 7,501.

Two children of Nathan Downey of Harwich, Mass., four and six years old, respectively, were burned to death, Wednesday evening. The little girls were in bed in a chamber, and the parents were absent at some gathering in the neighborhood. A kerosene lamp was left burning in the room with the children, and when the fire was discovered it had the appearance of having originated in that room. Nothing definite can ever be known as to the manner in which the fire caught. The house was burned to the ground. The mother is said to be entirely crazed by the occurrence.

Gen. Wool is dangerously ill.

THE ELECTIONS.—Two hundred and eighty four towns in Massachusetts give Claflin, 78,461; Adams 48,538; Chamberlain 13,116. Republican plurality 21,923—majority, 8807. The Traveller claims a majority of four in the Senate against license and that 27 of the 40 Senators favor the Constable law.

The Democratic majority in New York is about 20,000. The legislature is Democratic, probably.

In New Jersey, the Democrats have gained four members of the legislature.

The few scattering returns received from Wisconsin indicate the re-election of Gov. Fairchild and the Republican State ticket by from 5000 to 10,000 majority.

The Advertiser says "the republicans have chosen, besides the State ticket, seven of the eight counsellors, county officers in every county, and a nominal majority in both branches of he legislature. Here for the first time however, in many years, there will be a strong opposition and the elements of a vigorous contest."

S. J. COURT.—The case of Jones vs. Ladd & Perkins occupied the Court till 4 1-2 P. M., Thursday. Verdict for Defts., the jury finding that there was no partnership between these two defendants, and therefore that Perkins was not liable. Ladd previously admitted his liability but as he had no property the Piff. sought to charge Perkins.

Case of Hooks vs. Hayes, of Kittery, begun. In this action the Piff. seeks to recover $100 and interest which he alleges was paid Deft. by the State of Maine as bounty for him, Hooks. Goodall for Piff., Frink & Butler for Deft.

New Hampshire Items.

In the case of the Bartlett homicide, the grand jury refused to find a bill against Dolloff, deeming his action justifiable. The circumstances are as follows: Dolloff, who is a feeble man of 75 years, was in bed after 10 o'clock at night, when a gang of rowdies with whom he had had some difficulty, came to his house and demanded admittance. He refused to let them in, and they declaring that they would enter at any rate, threatened to shoot them. Two of the men then forced open the door, and Dolloff, seizing his gun, shot Abbott, the first who entered, killing him instantly.

The dwelling house and barn of Harrison T. Varney, about a mile above East Rochester, on the road leading from Great Falls to Milton, was destroyed by fire on the 27th ult.

Mrs. Chase Hadley, of Lyndeboro', an old lady of 98 years, was found dead in her bed on Sunday morning, the 31st. She was the oldest person in the town. The two oldest now living are Mrs. Putnam, 93, and Mrs. Goodrich, 91.

Senators Cragin and Patterson were in Concord, Wednesday. Mr. Patterson started thence for Washington.

The evening train over the Concord Road, Monday night, ran into some cattle a short distance above Newmarket Junction, belonging to a Mr. Clark, we understand. The train was not stopped, and it was not known until Tuesday morning that any injury had been done. It was discovered then that two head of cattle and a valuable colt had been killed. It is believed that the cattle were turned in upon the road to feed, the owner of them thinking that the trains for the night had all passed over the road. The night was very dark, and the engineer did not discover the cattle until right upon them.

☞ A young son of Mrs. Abbie Mitchell, of Kittery, was kicked in the face, Wednesday afternoon, by one of Mr. Kean's stage horses, and quite badly injured.

FACTS ABOUT THE CONSTABLE LAW. We find this item in the Manchester Union.

Col. Henry D. Pierce said in a recent speech at Fisherville that the entire press of this State is opposed to the State Constabulary, except the Nashua Telegraph. Is this possible? And after such pretensions, too!

Col. Pierce is not strictly accurate in this statement, which should be varied so far as to say, that no paper in the State (with possibly the above exception,) has given the bill an unqualified support. Most of them have admitted articles on both sides of the question, and a large proportion of them have advised their readers not to vote for, but against it, for political, prudential, or other reasons.

We do not know what pretensions the Union refers to: for certainly, neither before or since the passage of the bill, have the editors of these papers pretended to favor it! Many of them have professedly favored temperance measures, moral and legal, but they do not believe this proposed measure would have the desired effect,—but that, in the present state of public opinion and public affairs, it would work disastrously. They reason, in this, exactly as Neal Dow and almost all the active prohibitionists in Maine reasoned before their last election, at which they threw their votes substantially against a Constable law.

The Concord Patriot of Nov. 2, advises all democrats to vote down the measure, and scouts the idea that some of them would vote for it, thinking to make capital in that way for next March;—and says:

It will not harm the Radicals materially; it would not even if they should come out openly and manfully in favor of it as a party measure. We shall see by the vote to-day in Massachusetts that the vote of the Radical party is not sensibly affected by its support of this law.

We can hardly conceive how the editor of the Patriot could believe these sayings, when he wrote them. And surely he cannot believe them now, after the Massachusetts election has passed, leaving the republicans there with a very small majority, and prohibition with only a doubtful majority, and a severe struggle to keep from falling back on a license law.

In the city of Concord on Wednesday evening, a meeting to aid the Constable Bill, was held in Eagle Hall, which had been announced in nearly all the pulpits on the preceding Sunday, and advertised by posters in the streets.

At half-past eight o'clock, there were on the floor of Eagle Hall, 148 persons, probably voters, and in the gallery 74, mostly ladies and children. A gifted and popular speaker, Rev. Dr. Barrows of the town of Tilton, addressed this audience in favor of voting for the law,—assuring them, that if the political parties did not ratify this law,—a new political temperance party would be formed, and that, tho' he had voted with the republicans a great many years, he should go into the new party.

This small audience may not exactly represent the vote of Concord,—but it is a fair index of the feeling there, and it does not show much confidence or zeal in favor of the law. U. T.

☞ The Newburyport Herald has the following account of a singular salute by a citizen of Salisbury:—

On Friday and Saturday evenings heavy firing was heard in the direction of Portsmouth, which excited considerable speculation, opinions being divided as to whether a vessel was in distress or some political victory was being celebrated. It turns out that a resident of Salisbury was celebrating his acquittal, at the court in Lawrence, of a charge of bigamy, which was preferred against him by a worthy maiden lady who resided in the same house with him, and who felt scandalized at his bringing home a new wife in place of one who had deserted him, she not being aware of the fact that he had previously obtained a divorce from his first love.

☞ The American Colonization Society's ship Golconda cleared from Baltimore on Tuesday for Africa with a large cargo. She sailed Wednesday, touching at Savannah to take four hundred colored emigrants from the southern States to Africa.

☞ Sheriff Morse carried to the State Prison, Wednesday, Samuel Wilson, of this city, who was convicted at the Supreme Court, now in session, of robbery from the person, and sentenced to three years in the Prison. About twenty years ago Wilson served out a sentence of seven years in the same institution.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM STARVATION AND DROWNING.—We learn from a letter to the Wolfeborough News that a student at Yale College, son of a Dr. Walker, of Boston, visited Mount Chocorua, in Albany, on October 1st, in company with several others. Straying from the party, he got lost, and wandered in the woods nearly four days, with nothing to eat but one cracker, a piece of tobacco and a few wild berries. On Monday, October 4th, the day of the great storm, he was seen on the north side of Swift river, on the intervale, waving his hat as a signal for aid. As that side of the river is uninhabited, a man went over to him in a boat, and found him surrounded with rapidly rising waters, unable to get away. The water continued to rise so fast that they could not re-cross the river, but, with the aid of the boat, they succeeded in reaching an old, deserted house, where they stayed till the following morning. On Wednesday the unfortunate excursionist started for home, the almost impassable condition of the roads obliging him to go on foot. The people of Albany and vicinity have heard nothing from him since he crossed the Saco, towards North Conway, and are somewhat anxious to know that he reached his destination in safety.

☞ A Temperance mass meeting in favor of the Constabulary law, which had been extensively advertised, was held in Concord, Wednesday evening. About 225 people were present. Rev. L. D. Barnes, D. D., of Tilton, made an intemperate speech, stating that if the Constabulary act should be defeated next Tuesday, the temperance (?) men would form a new organization. As the indications are that the proposed law will not be supported by one tenth of the voters of the State, the Reverend gentleman may have speedy opportunity to start a new party. The sooner the better, perhaps; for if a minority is to dictate the course of the Republican party, the quicker that minority deserts, the better the majority will agree. And if the new movement is to result favorably to the temperance cause, no one will ever regret the proposed action of the special advocates of the new party.

THE TEXAS CAMPAIGN is being bitterly contested. The Republicans are making a vigorous fight, under the lead of Gen. Edmund J. Davis. The Jefferson Radical speaks hopefully of the prospect of a Republican victory, and we should not anticipate a different result had the Republicans throughout the entire State the support of such plucky and fearless defenders as the editors of the Radical.

☞ Among other facts which will be shown by the Secretary of the Navy, will be a large reduction in the monthly expenditures on account of the navy since the present Administration came into power. Admiral Porter claims that, under Welles' management of the Department, the expenses were over $400,000 a month more than they are now.

—In the Massachusetts Legislature the coming winter will be several gentlemen of much political experience. Hon. Charles R. Train and Hon. Timothy Davis, are elected from Boston. They were members of Congress together in Know Nothing times. Chas. Levi Woodbury, who goes to the House from Boston, will lead the Democrats, and they will find him a ready and efficient leader.—Newburyport Herald.

Malarious Fogs.

Countless millions of cubic feet of malarious vapor rook from the moist earth every twenty-four hours during the month of November. This evaporated moisture is the active principle which begets fever and ague, billious remittents, indigestion, dyssentery, bilious cholic, rheumatism, and many other ailments which prevail more extensively in the Fall than at other seasons, and some of which, in low, swampy regions and new clearings, take the form of virulent epidemics. The best safeguard against these complaints, as evidenced by the experience of a long series of years, is HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, the most pleasant and at the same time the most efficacious of all vegetable tonics. The invigoration of the system is manifestly the best means of defending it against the causes of sickness, whether constitutional or casual. Nature, as every pathologist knows, is the most determined enemy of disease, and the paroxysms of an acute malady are in most instances the consequence of the efforts she makes to conquer the foe. The great object, therefore, of preventive treatment is to reinforce the system, and it is accomplished thoroughly, rapidly and safely, by the use of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS. This powerful tonic contains also an aperient and corrective principle. It is no less valuable as a regulator and purifier than as an invigorant, and there is no danger of exciting the brain or over-stimulating the circulation by employing it as an antidote.

MERIT SOON NOISED ABROAD.

It is but six years since ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM, was first offered for sale. Its good qualities were soon made known at home, and very soon its fame was noised far and near; now it is sold by every Drug Store in the United States—NORTH, EAST, SOUTH and WEST. No similar medicine stands higher with the people. It is well known on the Pacific coast, and liberal demands for it from San Francisco, Sacramento in California, and Portland, Oregon; even from Australia, large orders are received for it. And throughout Canada, it is well and favorably known, and sold everywhere.

THE LATEST DISCOVERY

In Medication.

The great difficulty which physicians have been laboring for centuries to overcome, has at length been obviated. A vegetable Cathartic and alterative more efficient than any mineral preparation of the same class, and as agreeable to the taste as confectionary candy, is now offered to the sick in the form of a Lozenge.

DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S

is the most important medicinal novelty that modern chemistry has produced. It contains two potent medicinal extracts, prepared in themselves, but embodying all the remedial properties of mercury, and destined in this pleasant form to supersede and banish the nauseous pills and nauseous pills and portions of which that dangerous excitant is the main ingredient. More than Ten Thousand Testimonials were made by the inventor of this peerless remedy before it was brought to its present state of perfection. The Lozenge is harmless in its operation, and altogether the medicinal taste of its curative components has been extinguished by chemical art, their virtues remain as active and potent as ever.

In Dyspepsia, Biliousness Constipation, Sick or Nervous Headache, Piles, Dropsy, and the irregularities to which the feebler sex are subject, the Lozenge will be found infinitly more effective than any of the horrible and disgusting compounds usually administered in such cases. As an antibilious specific and general aperient, they have no equal either among advertised preparations or the prescriptions of the regular pharmacopœia.

☞ It is guaranteed that no one who has once tried DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S Liver and Stomach Lozenge, will ever again take a purgative powder, or draught or pill.

The enormous sale and rapidly increasing demand are at once the most conclusive evidence of its usefulness and popularity. No family should be without a bottle in the house. Hundreds of dollars and many hours of suffering may be saved by its timely use.

Colic, Cramp, and Dysentery yield at once to its potent and magic properties. It is perfectly innocent and can be given to the oldest person or youngest child. SPECIAL NOTICES.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

Read the Evidence.

"Facts are stubborn things," and it is to facts alone that it is desired to direct the attention of the readers of this article.

Many years of severe and thorough practical trial have demonstrated beyond the peradventure of a doubt the fact that the medicines prepared by me, and known as SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, SCHENCK'S SEAWEED TONIC, and SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, have proved extraordinarily successful in the cure of diseases of the pulmonary organs, or what is usually termed Consumption.

I am fully aware that there are many persons whose prejudices rule them so completely that "proofs strong as Holy Writ," would fail to convince them of the efficacy of my remedies, and yet there are others who, under no circumstances, could be prevailed upon to admit their merits, simply because such an admission would prove detrimental to their particular personal interests.

Fortunately for the welfare of mankind, these doubting people form a comparatively small portion of the community at large. They are to be found here and there, but, compared with the great mass of the world's population, their numbers are so small that I dismiss them, and address myself to those who are willing to listen to the dictates of reason, and who are disposed to admit the strong logic of well established facts.

We are also told almost daily that Consumption the scourge of the American people, is incurable; that a man whose lungs are diseased has to give up to die; that he must abandon hope; and that the arrangement of his temporal as well as spiritual affairs should claim his earliest attention. If there are not facts on record, sufficient to show that the sun will shine in a clear heaven at midday to controvert these random and not unfrequently harmful assertions, I should feel willing to take up the gage of battle against them; but, fortified with results—facts—which neither theory nor mere assertion can overthrow, I propose to prove that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED, and that the medicines I prepare—THE MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC, and PULMONIC SYRUP, when used in strict accordance with the directions, in a majority of cases effect that which the faculty pronounces impossible—they will cure Consumption.

An ounce of solid fact is worth a pound of theory. Let me, therefore, present the facts connected with my own individual experience. Many years ago, I was a confirmed consumptive, and like thousands of other unfortunates, was given up to die. Eminent physicians pronounced my case a hopeless one, and told me that if I had any preparations to make for the final solemn event, that I had better make them speedily. I believed them just as confidently as did the persons who thus affectionately informed me that my days were numbered, and that recovery was impossible. Still, the desire to live lingered in my bosom, I was young, and clung to life with the same tenacity that young men, and old men too, ordinarily do. I did not feel willing to abandon hope as longhas a single vestige of it remained. I had full faith in the sad information conveyed to me by my physicians, but still there was a lingering belief that something could be done, though I knew not in what direction to seek for the much desired relief.

It was at this gloomy and eventful period of my history that I first learned of the roots and herbs from which my remedies for this dreaded disease are now prepared. I procured some, and then, and, to the utter amazement of all—physicians, friends and neighbors—began to improve. My entire system commenced to undergo a complete renovation. Expectoration, which formerly had been difficult and painful, now became comparatively easy. I threw off quite a large quantity of offensive yellow matter. At the same time my long-lost appetite returned. I ate freely of such food as was palatable to me, and which was at the same time nutritious and wholesome. Expectoration became less copious and less offensive; exhausting night sweats ceased to trouble me, and harassing cough abated; the fever broke; the pain departed; flesh planted itself on my sadly wasted frame, and with flesh came strength and full health. From a mere skeleton I became a stout, strong, robust man, and I have maintained both strength and flesh to this day. I weigh two hundred and thirty-five pounds; I am blest with an appetite vouchsafed to but few men, while my digestive organs are amply equal to all the requirements of a healthful nutrition of my system.

Now, be it remembered, all those wonderful changes were wrought by the use of the medicines I prepare—MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC and PULMONIC SYRUP. A cure seemingly so miraculous naturally created astonishment in the minds of those who knew me. I was literally besieged on all sides. I had visitors daily who besought me to give them the remedies which had wrought the wonderful restoration and had wrested me from the very jaws of death. Letters were received by scores importuning me to impart the secret and inform the writers where it be specific for consumption could be obtained. Others, who were too weak to travel, not satisfied with writing, sent for and consulted me in regard to their cases. To all those applications I responded as I was able.

I had fully regained my health, and gratitude for the happy result prompted me to pay attention to the science of medicine with the hope of thereby being able to be of service to my suffering fellow-creatures. I therefore devoted myself to my studies, and more especially to that branch of them relating to the terrible disease from which I had suffered so long and so much. I investigated it in all its fearful phases, in order to assure myself that my case was not an exceptional one. The closer my investigations the more startled was I at the many conclusions. I felt convinced that tens of thousands of my fellow-creatures were dying annually of consumption whose cases were not as desperate, and apparently hopeless as mine had been, and I argued from this that remedies which had proven so effective with me would prove equally as well with others. I prepared my medicines in a pleasant and attractive form, and announced them to the world. The results are well known. Thousands of suffering men, women and children, who were on the way to the grave, have been cured, and are to-day living evidences of the fact that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED; and I think I may say, without arrogating to myself any more than is justly my due, that I have had as much experience in the treatment of consumption as any other person in the country, and that my success has been wonderfully great.

Let the reader remember that these are not mere fancied statements. They are positive living facts, of which I am the living evidence.

There is an old adage which says, "What has been done may be done." I have been completely cured of consumption by the remedies I now offer to the public. Thousands of others have testified to similar happy results from their use, and thousand of others still might benefited as I have been could they but be prevailed upon to try the virtue of The Mandrake Pills, Seaweed Tonic and Pulmonic Syrup. All that is necessary to convince the most skeptical of their merits is a fair trial.

Full directions accompany each of the medicines, so that it is not absolutely necessary that patients should see me personally when they desire to have their lungs examined. Yet this purpose I am personally at my PRINCIPAL OFFICE, No. 15 North Sixth Street, corner of Commerce, EVERY SATURDAY.

Advice is given without charge, but for a thorough examination with the Respirometer the price is five dollars.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic, each $1.50 per bottle, or $8 for half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents per box.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

☞ Pope Night.

☞ Indian Summer.

☞ Our thanks to Mr. E. Wyatt, for a handsome lot of delicious Pears and Grapes, from his little garden on Hill St.,—where he raises a good deal of fruit, as many another might were they to use all their land as he does.

☞ Messrs. C. E. Myers & Co. advertise a large stock of new goods in the cloth and clothing line,—among the rest, Boys' Overcoats, Mens' do., and Furnishing Goods, low. Look in at the corner of Bow and Market Streets.

☞ Schr. Oliver, Leathers, from Bangor for Boston, sprung a leak off Cape Elizabeth last Saturday, filled, and drifted on Rye Beach, her deck load being thrown overboard. She arrived in Portsmouth Lower Harbor Wednesday afternoon, and left for Boston on Thursday.

☞ We are requested to notify the boys who annually celebrate the anniversary of the discovery of the Guy Fawkes' powder plot, to meet at the Court House Yard with their horns, pumpkin lanterns and other characteristic paraphernalia, at 7 o'clock, this evening.

☞ We are reminded by a liberal slice of wedding cake, of the departure of another energetic young business man from the single blessedness of bachelorhood, whose business success is largely due to systematic advertising. Our congratulations to the happy bride and bridegroom.

PERSONAL.—We are sorry to bid adieu to Capt. Frank E. Goodwin, formerly of Goodwin & Sweetser, who goes elsewhere for business, which he finds too slow in Portsmouth. Our best wishes for his future success.

Col. McCoomb, U. S. A., formerly in charge of the repairs of the harbor defences, was in town on Wednesday.

LO'S RELATIVES give one performance only in this city, this evening, at the Temple. They claim to be native Indians from the Western Plains, and will appear in their Rites, Dances, Games, &c. The Fish family, Canfield and Washburn Brothers, with their pupils, and La Petite Lillie offer additional attractions. Tickets for sale at Thacher's.

BUSINESS CHANGES.—Mr. J. H. Head being about to proceed to Minnesota, on account of ill-health, has sold his book and fancy goods store to Messrs. C. H. and E. A. Joy. who have formed a copartnership as announced. Mr. Joy will also conduct his former store at present, we believe. The Messrs. Joys are both good traders, and will gain still greater favor with the public in their new and enlarged position. Mr. Head has been one of the most devoted and industrious of store-keepers, and has much sympathy in his loss of health.

Mr. Craig, and Mr. A. F. Howard, are to occupy the fine room over Mr. Plummer's new Shoe Store, as an insurance office, &c.

Dr. J. E. Perry, dentist, has removed to room over Mr. John Sise's Insurance Office.

A CURIOSITY.—Mr. Stephen A. Preble of this city has succeeded in collecting samples of every kind of government scrip issued since the suspension of specie payments. As may be supposed, the trouble of collecting them has not been small. Mr. Preble has in his collection several samples bearing the original autograph of S. B. Colby, Register of the Treasury, who soon tired of that slow process and had fac simile signatures stamped on the later issues. The collection includes also, several kinds which were printed and engraved but were not put in circulation. Mr. Preble has neatly arranged them in a case, with a border of revenue and postage stamps, and they may be seen in the window of Mr. David Rodrick's Hair Dressing Saloon, opposite the Kearsarge House, Congress Street.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN, Thursday Evening.—Ald. Spinney and Slater (Com. on Streets) absent.—Messrs. Randall and Caswell appeared and asked that the lease of Spring Market to Mr. John Marston, be transferred to them. The Board voted to grant the transfer.

A large amount of bills were approved for payment.

The Fleet Street widening case was taken from the table, and the Board voted to pay Mr. Cotton 30 cts. per foot (instead of 15 previously awarded) for the 6 feet to be taken, and the Brooks or Haven heirs 25 cts. per foot. After much discussion, it was voted to pay the Mechanics' Association $1.65 per foot for their land taken. And the Com. on Streets were authorized to procure a survey of the Street agreeably to votes of the Board.

Adjourned for one week.

☞ The free use of honorary or complimentary titles in this country, is often a burlesque on our professed contempt for all such attachments to nobility over the water. For instance, Mr. Clement March, who has been rather often and rather unfortunately before the public of late, has long been known as Honorable and Colonel; and has sometimes no doubt been so styled by reporters or others in our columns. But so far as we know, he was given both titles rather because he was rich, than for any other reason. To be sure, he was once elected Senator to the Legislature from this district, but unless we are mistaken, he never was qualified nor took his seat. He was also, we think, appointed on the Staff of the Governor one year—but neither accepted or filled that position.

Nor do we imagine that he ever claimed any of the titles given him—unlike another prominent individual in this vicinity, whose name we once came across in a hotel register, with the Hon. that he is legally entitled to, prefixed to it by himself!

☞ It has been stated in the Boston press, and currently reported here, that Civil Engineer B. F. Chandler of the Navy Yard had been transferred to the Charlestown Navy Yard, in place of Civil Engineer Charles Hastings, transferred to the Brooklyn Yard. Such a change was contemplated by the Navy Department, and carried out so far as Engineer Hastings is concerned; but, however much the Boston people were interested, and notwithstanding their efforts to have Mr. Chandler at the Charlestown Yard, his numerous friends in this vicinity may feel gratified that no such change will occur at present. Mr. Chandler has been in the service for seventeen years, and on duty without cessation.

☞ Bidwell's Dramatic Company at the Temple to-morrow evening, commence a short engagement. Mr. Bidwell is deservedly popular as a manager: he always does his best for the public—hence he wears well.

Mr. Chas. E. Furbish, the gentlemanly agent, has billed the city in good style and if the opening night is not a rouser it will not be his fault.

A PACIFIC RAILWAY

GOLD LOAN $6,500,000.

We beg leave to announce that we have accepted the agency of the

KANSAS PACIFIC RAILWAY COMPANY,

For the sale of its

NEW SEVEN PER CENT.

Thirty Year Gold Loan, Free from Tax.

This Loan amounts to $6,500,000.

First Mortgage Land-Grant and Sinking Fund Bonds,

secured upon the extension of the Railway from near Sheridan, in Kansas, to Denver, Colorado, a distance of 237 miles of which 12 miles are completed, and the rest is under construction. It is also a Mortgage upon the Road, the Rolling Stock and Franchise of this first-class Railway, besides now running through the State of Kansas,

And in successful operation for 437 miles

west of the Missouri River, and earning already enough to meet all of its expenses and existing obligations, besides MORE THAN THE INTEREST UPON THIS NEW LOAN. In addition to this the Bonds are also secured by a first mortgage of the extending in alternate sections on either side of the track, from the 394th mile post in Kansas to Denver. The proceeds of the sale of these lands are to be invested by the Trustees in the 7 per cent Bonds, themselves up to 120 in U. S. Bonds, as A SINKING FUND FOR THE REDEMPTION OF THE BONDS.

GOVERNMENT LAND GRANT OF THREE MILLION ACRES,

The Lands embrace some of the finest portions of the magnificent Territory of Colorado, including a coal field and pinery. The company also holds as an asset another tract of

Three Millions of Acres in the State of Kansas,

and although not pledged as a security for this Loan, their possession adds largely to the Company's wealth and credit. We estimate the Value of the Company's property, covered by this mortgage at $23,000,000 net, while the Loan is merely $6,500,000.

The Bonds have

THIRTY YEARS TO RUN,

from May 1, 1869, and will pay

SEVEN PER CENT. INTEREST IN GOLD, semi-annually, on May 1 and Nov. 1, and are FREE FROM GOVERNMENT TAXATION, the Company paying the tax.

The principal of the Loan is made payable in Gold, in the City of New York, but each coupon will be

PAYABLE IN FRANKFORT, LONDON OR N. YORK at option of the holder, with notice, at the following rates:

On $1,000 Bond in N. Y. $35 (gold) each half year.
" London. . . .$37 ad. 10. "
" Frankfort. .87 fir. 30 krtzs., "

The Agents of the Loan, before accepting the trust had the condition of the Road, and the country through which it runs, carefully examined. They are happy to give the Loan an emphatic endorsement as a

FIRST CLASS INVESTMENT,

in every respect perfectly sure, and in some essential even

Better than Government Securities.

The Bonds will be sold for the present at

96, and accrued Interest, both in Currency,

the Agents reserving the right to advance the rate. The attention of investors is invited to these well-secured bonds, which we recommend as one of the most profitable investments in the market.

Gold and Government Securities taken in payment at their market value, without commission.

Pamphlets, with maps giving full information, sent on application.

A DUEL OR A WEDDING.

I am an ardent admirer of female beauty. I ought to have been an artist or a sculptor, but I am neither. I have thought some of running an ambrotype gallery—one of that kind, you know, where they run from town to town, stopping on a vacant lot or on the common for a week or two, to transfer the faces of the town's people to glass; but I gave up that idea at last, for the sole reason that I am not of a roving disposition. I want to settle in one spot, and the spot I did settle in was just at the corner of Crown and Morton streets in W——.

I was book-keeper for Brown & Co., wholesale dealers in hides and tallow. Henry Bowers, a young man of very lively disposition, and also an admirer of female beauty, was employed in the same office. We boarded and roomed together at the corner of Crown and Morton.

One night Henry and I attended one of the lyceum lectures. I think it was Mr. Beecher that delivered the lecture. But whether it was or not, it does not matter, for I do not intend to speak of the lecture, but of a certain young lady I saw there.

We occupied seats very near the stage—we came early. There were very few in the hall at the time, but the seat directly in front was filled with ladies. I believe there was one gentleman, though I did not take much notice of him.

We had hardly been in the hall five minutes, before my attention was fixed upon one of the ladies upon the front seat. She was a little to the right of me, but as she was talking very earnestly to the lady next to her, her face was turned towards us; and, susceptible as I am, I could not but be impressed with the beauty of it.

Bowers noticed her, too, and punched me in the ribs, to attract my attention.

"A little out of the common order, eh, McDougal?" he whispered.

"Lovely, I think. Do you know her?"

And just then the organ music began to blow; and Bowers, who is also a lover of music, as well as of beauty, turned his attention to the organ, which, by the way, is always played an hour before the lecture commences, for you see the people of W—— have bought a great organ lately, and they can't let it rest whenever they have an opportunity to display its powers.

But I couldn't withdraw my gaze from the beautiful young lady before me. She had golden hair, and her bluest of blue eyes swam full of love and sweetness. Her nose was small and straight, and she had just the prettiest dimple among the blushes on either cheek. And then, such a mouth! what red, ripe lips! teeth of pearl, flashing between the roses. Her forehead was smooth and broad, and her neck, I saw, as the fur cape dropped low on her shoulders, was white as alabaster, and smooth as polished marble. Her form was trim and slight—not too tall, but just the opposite of short and dumpy. And if I had only been an artist, photographic, ambrotypist, or house painter, I certainly should have transferred that beautiful face and form to canvass, paper, glass or wood. As it was, when the lecture was concluded, which I am sorry to say I don't remember anything about, I went home leaning on the arm of Bowers, madly in love with—well, I didn't know who.

A month passed away without my seeing more of the beautiful stranger. But about that time I received an invitation to visit my friend Mrs. Segard, in M——. She is a widow of forty, and is the mother of a certain Miss Segard, familiarly Clara. I think that Mrs. Segard has tried to bring about a marriage between Clara and myself, and I believe I was not opposed to the match. Clara was a good girl, everybody said, a very pretty brunette, with flashing black eyes and hair, but her form was short, thick and dowdyish. I admire a handsome form quite as much as a handsome face. I might have married her—I really think I should, but for a little affair which happened at U——, which I sat down to tell you about.

The morning I started for M——, Bowers accompanied me to the depot. While I was buying my ticket, I noticed another gentlemen come into the waiting room. My first thought was, that it was my shadow that I saw before me. He was about my height, had a light complexion like mine, and eyes of a grizzly gray, and one of them turned in, just like mine. He had a long, thick, snub nose, covered with freckles, an exact copy of mine; his mouth was large, and his front teeth were filled, just like mine. He wore a long, gray overcoat, which I am sure was manufactured at the Adriatic, and I am almost positive that it was made from the same piece mine was. He had on a tall silk hat, tipped upon one side of his sandy locks, and so did I; and furthermore, he carried in his hand a small carpet bag, with a tag marked "J. McD." tied to the straps.

I looked at him, and he returned the compliment, and Bowers examined him at a distance with an opera glass. At last the stranger advanced across the room, bowed, and stopped directly in front of me.

"Friend," said he, with some hesitation, evidently bewildered, "did your mother ever have twins?"

"No, I never heard that she did," I replied, with a smile.

"Well, mine never did that I heard of," and he put his hand upon my coat sleeve, and began to examine the cloth.

"I say, sir," continued the stranger, looking down to the carpet bag that I held and examining the tag, "are you John McDolan, or am I?"

"My name is McDougal," I replied, smiling, as I heard a gentlemen remark to his neighbor, "Twins, of course. What a resemblance!"

"Well, Mr. McDougal, I hope you are an honest man, for you see, if you should happen to rob a bank, forge a note, pick a pocket, or cut somebody's jugular, I might have to suffer, perhaps swing for it."

"I can give good reference as to my character," I answered.

"Yes, that's very good. But, Mr. McDougal, which way are you going?"

"Down. I have bought my ticket."

"Then I'm going up. I don't think we'd best travel together. There's the train starting now. Good bye, Mr. McDougal; I wish you success, and for my sake, don't spoil your character."

Mr. McDolan shook my hand, and hurried away.

The train for U—— started five minutes after.

"Don't get married this time down," said Bowers, as he shook my hand at parting.

"No, never fear that just now," I answered, closing the window.

To get to M——, which, by the way, is a rather out-of-the-way place, a small one-horse town, one tavern, two churches and a poor-house,—I had to leave the cars at U——, and then take a private conveyance to M——, five miles distant. I could have gone by stage, but that only leaves U—— once a day, at five o'clock in the morning!

Concluded to-morrow.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY made for me THIRTEEN applications, in all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. The Chronicle.

SIGNIFICANCE OF A WINK.—Smith, the auctioneer, is a popular man, a wit and a gentleman. No person is offended at what he says, and many a hearty laugh has been provoked by his sayings. He was recently engaged in the sale of venerable household furniture and fixing. He had just got to "Going, going, and a half, going," when he saw a smiling countenance on agricultural shoulders, wink at him.

A wink is as good as a nod to a blind horse or a sharp-sighted auctioneer; so Smith winked and the man winked, and Smith kept "Going, going," with a lot of glass-ware, stove-pipes, carpets, pots and perfumery, and finally this lot was knocked down.

"To whom?" said Smith, gazing at the smiling stranger.

"Who?—Golly!" said the stranger, "I don't know who."

"Why, you, sir!" said Smith.

"Who? Me?"

"Yes, you bid on the lot," said Smith.

"Me?" "Hang me if I did," insisted the stranger.

"Why, did you not wink and keep winking?" asked Smith.

"Winking! Well, I did, and so did you at me. I thought you was winking as much as to say, 'Keep dark, 'I'll stick somebody on this lot of stuff;' and I winked as much as to say, 'I'll be hanged if you don't mister.'"

No more goods were sold on that day.

A PLEA FOR TEMPERANCE.—Certain persons, who claim to be Temperence men are getting together in their several States and making what they call Temperance nominations for Governor, &c. &c. We have a word of counsel for those who do not see the hook thus baited.

The Liquor-Dealers understand their own interest, so far as it is their interest to remain Liquor-Dealers with impunity. They are mainly shrewd men; they generally manage to have such laws as suit them, or else executive and judicial officers who insure them impunity in violating the laws that stand in their way; yet they never nominate independent candidates. They know better than such things.

They understand that every man's vote is controlled by various considerations, whereof his love of Liquor or of Temperance is at best, but one: so to nominate special Liquor Candidates is to insure their own discomfiture by segregating those whose interest in Liquor absorbs or overshadows all their political or others sympathies, so far as voting is concerned. They might possibly poll 100,000 votes in this State for distinctive Free Liquor candidates; but these would not suffice to elect half a dozen members to both Houses, and would leave them naked to their enemies.

They know a great deal better than to do any thing like this. They maintain their organization, raise lots of money, keep a keen watch over all that goes on around them, and at last throw their votes just where they will give them most strength in the State's councils. This course insures them at the worst, a strong minority, oftener an ample and plastic majority, in each and every Legislature. They win by directing and floating on the current, where they would certainly lose if they attempted to breast it and roll it back.

"The children of this world are wiser than the children of light." Wiser, that is, so far as the ways of this world are concerned. But is it necessary that the children of light should act like fools.—Tribune.

☞ The new anæsthetic, chloralhydrat, recently discovered by Dr. Seebach, of Germany, will doubtless prove a most inestimable blessing to mankind. It has been proved by a long series of experiments on various animals and human beings to produce a more complete state of unconsciousness than chloroform, ether or gas, and what is of vastly greater importance, it seems to be entirely safe, no matter how long the application may be continued. Rabbits were kept under its influence fourteen hours, and when awakened displayed their usual activity and fed with undiminished appetite. This newly discovered substance has been successfully applied to the treatment of the insane.

—Something of olden times was witnessed in Newburyport market on Wednesday of this week—a Vermont farmer—Mr. William Walbridge—who drove his own team all the way from Orange county, with a load of butter and cheese, the products of his farm. He was accustomed to drive there thirty years ago, before railroads, when hundreds of such teams came annually. He met a few old friends, but the generation of more than a quarter of a century ago, had, most of them, passed off on the longer journey, from whence no traveller returns.

—The Portland Press says that at the present term of the Supreme Judicial Court for Cumberland County, nearly one-seventh of the new entries were libels for divorce. Out of 171 entries there were 17 libels for divorce, 13 of the petitioners being the wives and four the husbands.

DODD'S NERVINE ONCE MORE.
THE STANDARD REMEDY for biliousness with the medical profession is the Anti-Bilious Pill of the American Pharmacopœia. And its reputation has been well enough deserved. But it is a Pill, nevertheless, and most people of sensibility feel something about as big as a meeting house coming into their throat whenever a pill is spoken of. DODD'S NERVINE AND INVIGORATOR acts efficiently on the biliary organism; it irritates neither stomach nor intestine in all its operation; and what is VERY IMPORTANT, as all good nurses know, it is MOST AGREEABLE TO TAKE, being as pleasant to taste as any delicate wine. We all know how it is with Cod Liver Oil. In a pure state it is excellent for certain conditions of debility, and particularly in tendencies to consumption; and yet many of the best physicians decline to prescribe it, because it so dreadfully sickens the patient. That, they say, makes it do more harm than good. With Dodd's Nervine all this becomes obstacle. For sale by all Druggists. Price $1. o21w

WHAT ARE
DR. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA Vinegar Bitters.
THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK, Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits, and refine Liquors, doctored, spiced, and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetisers" "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD-PURIFIER and LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter, and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell. $100 will be given for an incurable case, providing the bones are not destroyed by mineral poisons or other means, the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.
FOR INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND GOUT, DYSPEPSIA, or INDIGESTION, BILLIOUS, REMITTENT, and INTERMITTENT FEVERS, DISEASES OF THE BLOOD, LIVER, KIDNEYS, and BLADDER, these BITTERS have been most successful. SUCH DISEASES are caused by VITIATED BLOOD, which is generally produced by derangement of the DIGESTIVE ORGANS.
Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood healthy, and all will be well.
These Bitters are not a gilded pill, to delight the eye or please the fancy, but a medical preparation, composed of the best vegetable ingredients known.
They are Alterative, Tonic, Diuretic, Sedative, Diaphoretic, and Gentle Purgative.
"The Life of all Flesh is the Blood thereof."—Purify the blood and the health of the whole system will follow.

IRON MANDRAKE SYRUP

MANDRAKE
is the great vegetable substitute for Calomel to act on the Liver.
In Freeman's Mandrake Syrup it is combined with Iron and Vegetable Tonics, and forms the most perfect Spring Medicine.
It purifies the blood and imparts IRON to it. It acts on the Liver and removes foul humors from the body. It is a most excellent remedy for debility, especially for mothers who are worn down by nursing infants, and for all persons whose blood is pure, and who need iron and a strengthening medicine.

The News.

A Washington telegram to the Boston Post says a private letter from a government official at New York predicts that a financial crash will occur in Wall Street before the holidays, equal in its disastrous effects to that of the recent gold conspiracy. Values generally have a downward tendency, and he thinks specie payments may be reached without difficulty before the first of July next.

George Peabody, the eminent banker and philanthropist, died in London, Thursday night, at the age of 75. He was born in Danvers, Mass., Feb. 18, 1795. His parents were poor and Mr. Peabody educated himself. Entering the banking business in London, in 1837 he began to amass wealth and retired from business with an immense fortune, which he gave away by millions for benevolent purposes, having parted with the most of it during the past ten years. He was a rare man, noble and generous—a friend to all mankind.

The English gun-boat Thistle exploded a boiler, while on a trial trip off Sheerness, on Thursday; ten men killed and eight wounded.

Last Saturday night a band of forty mounted regulators, after stealing a number of horses, went to the residence of M. J. Maddox, near Prestonville, Ky., and demanded that he and the negroes who work on his premises should surrender. Mr. Maddox replied that with two sons he would defend himself. At this the regulators began firing upon the house; after a long fight they retreated, declaring that they would return and renew the attack.

New Hampshire Items.

A fire occurred at Great Falls, about one o'clock Wednesday morning, by which three stores were destroyed, with most of their contents. W. A. Worcester, furniture dealer, lost the whole of his large and valuable stock. The fire originated in his premises, and the second story of the building was on fire when discovered. George Wendell, dry goods; stock mostly saved, but building burned. Mrs. Hubbard, millinery, etc.; stock saved, but building burned. These stores were in a block on High street, two stories in height, but quite an old building.

In the Cheshire County S. J. Court—Judge Foster—in the case of Shaw and wife vs. Shaw, which was an action of slander for words spoken by the defendant, imputing unchastity to his daughter-in-law, the jury returned a verdict for the plaintiffs for $400.—Dennis Thomas, convicted of rape, was sentenced to the State Prison for thirty years.— John King, Patrick O'Neil and Patrick O'Conner, indicted for an assault with intent to kill, were convicted of a simple assault, and sentenced to be imprisoned thirty days and to pay fines of $50 each.

THE COMING EXECUTION.—As the fatal Tuesday approaches when Pike must be executed, sympathy among the people of this vicinity for the poor fellow is more and more openly expressed. Many argue that although his crime was most horrible and deserves great punishment, the circumstances of his birth and training went far to prepare him for such a deed. The friendless man little thinks of the profound sensation that his coming fate is creating. The law which demands the sacrifice of this weak man's life will not have as many earnest supporters after the deed is done, as it has had heretofore, and the question of the abolition of capital punishment looms up in the future as one of the probable results of Pike's foul deed at Hampton Falls.

A Concord dispatch says that many representatives of the press will unite in an appeal to the Governor and Council, and to the Chief Justice of the State, praying that they may be admitted to the execution.

The gallows will be erected in the hall of the prison, within twenty feet of the cell occupied by the prisoner. Pike has expressed a desire that none of the family or relatives of his murdered victims be admitted to see him hung. He has made a request, which will probably be granted, that a quartette of young ladies in Concord, who have often sung to him and other prisoners, be allowed to remain in his cell after he passes out for the last time, and sing while the preparations to launch him into eternity are being concluded. He says that he shall make no remarks when the last opportunity is vouchsafed him.

BAPTISM.—This service will be administered on Sunday next at 12 1-2 o'clock at Nobles Island by the Rev. L. L. Harmon of the Pearl St. Freewill Baptist church.

PUBLIC EXECUTIONS.—W. H. K. in the Concord Monitor, says;—A very vital regard for the interests of society and our common humanity prompts me to ask the use of your columns in a few suggestions concerning the proposed hanging of Pike, the murderer. I have no word to utter under the diction of a weak sentimentalism that would bury an atrocious offence under a maudlin sympathy for the offender. On the contrary, I would have that offender dealt with, if thought best without benefit of the doubts that largely prevail concerning his complete sanity and full responsibility at the time of the murder. He is doubtless unfit to be trusted to go free, and may well be held in servile bondage for life; yet, I don't hesitate to affirm that the public will be safer with Pike set at liberty than with Pike murdered at its command. I say murdered; for, killing for killing is nothing more nor less than murder for murder, however conventionally sanctioned and so made current.

I say it is a perilous thing for the public to deliberately deprive a citizen of his life, even under the specious pretense of self-defence or protection. Imprisonment for life is a sure protection—at least it may be made so; while hanging—murder—is a sure infraction of social order, from which dire disaster and pain are sure to the public body —to society. When, from any cause, an individual kills another, the murderer is an insignificant point, a mere mote in the great homogeneous consciousness; but when the State kills in return, the murderer swells to such appalling dimensions that one shudders at the bare thought of an execution transacted by the State. The peril, may, the positive evil, of such an execution, is in vitiating, corroding, dehumanizing effect upon her whole public consciousness, at least upon that element in this consciousness where murders and enormous crimes generate. This is no mere vagary of the impractical theorist. It is solid matter-of-fact, confirmed by experience and set forth by incontrovertible statistics, proving that the public conscience is invariably seared by public executions which violate and corrode the sacred interests of fraternity at bottom of the human heart.

I protest then, against the execution of Pike, in common with thousands and tens of thousands, not so much on his account, as on account of the fearful peril to society which is inherent to such a monstrous transaction. Besides, I am bold to say that were society faithful to its members, did the public organize and maintain clean, orderly social relations, did it abolish the odious inequality and injustice between man and man, and substitute instead those fraternal conditions which make means for all its weak members, and direct them surely in their use, then there could remain no such thing as murder or other crime, at least after a few generations. Yes, society plants its hells and sustains them on every hand where its weak and incompetent members are permitted to debauch, contract and regenerate those moral diseases, which, becoming constitutional, almost exempt their subject from moral or social responsibilities. It keeps up those outrageous distinctions which give the successful villain prominence and honor, while the unfortunate, with no evil in his heart, is held in contempt and driven to starvation or crime. Hence the inhuman and ruffianly cowards and scamps who fear the odium of poverty and having no scruples about destroying their fellow-men, rush into every infernal scheme that promises to give them wealth and the social consequence it brings. And poor Pike is a victim of such conditions. His father, the helpless victim of that class who educate nearly all the criminals we have, and fit them for infamous work, was a confirmed drunkard. The son, derived from such paternity, inherited an uncontrollable appetite for liquors, with a moral and mental constitution that fitted him on occasion for the dreadful deed he perpetrated.

Now the powerful body that permits and stimulates these conditions, is the organ that is truly responsible for the dreadful evils that ensue.

Let, therefore, the public be careful how it destroys the weak criminals it first helped to make, for God's throne is the point of final appeal, and weak, defrauded and abused creatures are sure to be heard and their cause vindicated at that august tribunal. Their vindication is in part instanced in the public depravity that is sure to follow an execution publicly decreed.

THE CONDEMNED MAN.—Two of the brothers of Pike the Hampton Falls murderer, were in the city to-day and visited him in his cell. The meeting we learn, was a very affecting one. They took their leave of him to-day.

Rev. S. Holman arrived in the city this morning, in compliance with a request from Pike to see him, and spent a portion of the day with him, affording such counsel and consolation as the circumstances would permit.

Pike's physical condition is said to be in a weaker state to-day than at any time since his arrival at the prison. The visit of his brothers, reviving old memories, was undoubtedly partly the cause of it.—Monitor, 4th.

Malarious Fogs.

Countless millions of cubic feet of malarious vapor rise from the moist earth every twenty-hour hours during the month of November. This evaporated moisture is the active principle which begets fever and ague, billious remittents, indigestion, dysentery, billious cholic, rheumatism, and many other ailments which prevail more generally in the Fall than at other seasons, and some of which, in low, swampy regions and new clearings, take the form of virulent epidemics. The best safeguard against these complaints, as evidenced by the experience of a long series of years, is HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, the most pleasant and at the same time the most efficient of all vegetable tonics. The invigoration of the system is manifestly the best means of defending it against the causes of sickness, whether constitutional or casual. Nature, as every pathologist knows, is the most determined enemy of disease, and the paramount aim of medicine mainly are in most instances the consequences of the efforts she makes to conquer the foe. The great object, therefore, of preventive treatment is to reinforce the system, and it is accomplished thoroughly, rapidly and safely, by the use of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS. This powerful tonic contains also an aperient and corrective principle. It is no less valuable as a regulator and purifier than as an invigorant, and there is no danger of exciting the brain or over-stimulating the circulation by employing it as an antidote.

MERIT SOON NOISED ABROAD.

It is but six years since ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM, was first offered for sale. Its good qualities were soon made known at home, and very soon its fame was noised far and near; now it is sold in nearly every Drug Store in the United States—Canada, and South America, and West. No similar medicine stands higher with the people. It is well known on the Pacific coast, and liberal demands for it from San Francisco, Sacramento in California, and Portland, Oregon, and from Australia, large orders are received for it. And throughout Canada, it is well and favorably known, and sold everywhere.

THE LATEST DISCOVERY

In Medication.

The great difficulty which physicians have been laboring for centuries to overcome, has at length been obviated. A vegetable Cathartic and alterative more efficient than any mineral preparation of the same class, and as agreeable to the taste as ordinary candy, is now offered to the sick in the form of a Lozenge.

DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S

is the most important medicinal novelty that modern chemistry has produced. It consists of the botanical extracts, perfectly harmless in themselves, but embodying all the remedial properties of the mineral, and obtained in this pleasant form to supersede and banish from public favor the nauseous pills and portions of which that dangerous excitant is the main ingredient. More than were made by the inventor of this peerless remedy before it was brought to its present state of perfection. The Lozenge is harmless in its operation, and altogether the medicinal taste of its curative components has been extinguished by chemical art, their virtues remain as active and potent as ever.

In Dyspepsia, Biliousness Constipation, Sick or Nervous Headache, Piles, Dropsy, and the irregularities to which the feebler sex are subject, the Lozenge will be found infinitly more effective than any of the horrible and disgusting compounds usually administered in such cases. As an antibilious specific and general aperient, they have no equal either among advertised preparations or the prescriptions of the regular pharmacopœia.

☞ It is guaranteed that no one who has once tried Dr. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S Liver and Stomach Lozenge, will ever again take a purgative powder, or draught or pill.

No family should be without a bottle in the house. Hundreds of dollars and many hours of suffering may be saved by its timely use.

Colic, Cramp, and Dysentery yield at once to its paincurative properties. It is perfectly innocent, and can be given to the oldest person or youngest child. SPECIAL NOTICES.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

Read the Evidence.

"Facts are stubborn things," and it is to facts alone that it is desired to direct the attention of the readers of this article.

Many years of severe and thorough practical trial have demonstrated beyond the paradventure of a doubt the fact that the medicines prepared by me, and known as SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, SCHENCK'S SEAWEED TONIC, and SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, have proved unerringly successful in the cure of disease of the pulmonary organs, or what is usually termed Consumption.

I am fully aware that there are many persons whose prejudices rule them so completely that "profits strong as Holy Writ," would fail to convince them of the efficacy of my remedies, and that there are others who, under no circumstances, could be prevailed upon to admit their merits, simply because such an admission would prove detrimental to their particular personal interests.

Fortunately for the welfare of mankind, these doubting people form a comparatively small portion of the community at large. They are to be found here and there, but, compared with the great mass of the world's population, their numbers are so small that I dismiss them and address myself to those who are willing to listen to the dictates of reason, and who are disposed to admit the strong logic of well established facts.

We are also told almost daily that Consumption the scourge of the American people, is incurable; that a man whose lungs are diseased and must be given over to die; that he must abandon hope; and that the arrangement of his temporal as well as spiritual affairs should receive his earliest attention. If there were not facts as undeniable as that the sun will shine in a clear heaven at midday to convince us that we should not unfrequently harm fat assertions, I should be unwilling to take up the gage of battle against them; but, fortified with results—facts—which neither theory nor mere assertion can overturn, I propose to prove that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED, and that the medicines I prepare—THE MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC, and PULMONIC SYRUP—will, if used in strict accordance with the directions, in a majority of cases effect that which the faculty pronounce impossible—they will cure Consumption.

An ounce of solid fact is worth a pound of theory. Let me, therefore, present the facts connected with my own individual experience. Many years ago, I was a confirmed consumptive, and like thousands of other unfortunates, was given up to die. Eminent physicians pronounced my case a hopeless one, and told me that if I had any preparations to make for the final solemn event, provided I had better make them speedily. I believed this just as confidently as did the persons who thus affectionately informed me that my days were numbered, and that recovery was impossible. Still, the desire to live implanted in my bosom, I was young, and clung to life with the same tenacity that young men, and old men too, ordinarily do. I did not feel willing to abandon hope as long as a single vestige of it remained. I had full faith in the sad information conveyed to me by my physicians, but I thought I was lingering belief that something could be done, though I knew not in what direction to seek for the much desired relief.

It was at this gloomy and eventful period of my history that I first learned of the roots and herbs from which my remedies for this terrible disease are now prepared. I procured and used them, and, to the utter amazement of all—physicians, friends and neighbors—began to improve. My entire system commenced to undergo a thorough renovation. Expectoration, which formerly had been difficult and painful, now became comparatively easy. I threw off daily quantities of the offensive yellow matter. At the same time my long-lost appetite returned, I ate freely of such food as was palatable to me, and which was at the same time nutritious and wholesome. Expectoration became less copious and less offensive; expectoration grew scanty, and night sweats ceased, and harrassing cough abated; the fever broke; the pain departed; flesh planted itself on my daily form, and I willingly put on strength and full health. From a mere skeleton I became a stout, strong, robust man, and I have maintained both strength and flesh to this day. I weigh two hundred and thirty-five pounds, I am in good health, an appetite vouchsafed to but few men, while my digestive organs are amply equal to all the requirements of a healthful condition of the system.

Now, be it remembered, all those wonderful changes were wrought by the use of the medicines named, namely, MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC and PULMONIC SYRUP. A cure seemingly so miraculous naturally created astonishment in the minds of those who knew me. I was literally believed on all sides. I had visitors daily who brought me to give them the remedies which had wrought this wonderful restoration, and had wrested me from the very jaws of death. Letters were received by scores importuning me to impart the secret of the form the waters where the specifics for consumption could be obtained. Others, who were too weak to travel, not satisfied with writing, sent for hand consulted me in regard to their cases. To all these applications I responded as I was able.

I had fully regained my health, and gratitude for the happy result prompted me to direct my attention to the science of medicine with the hope of thereby being able to be of service to my suffering fellow-creatures. I therefore set myself to my studies, and more especially to that branch of them relating to the terrible disease from which I had suffered so long and so well. I investigated it in all its fearful phases, in order to assure myself that my case was not an exceptional one. The results of my investigations fully and completely were my conclusions. I felt convinced that tens of thousands of my fellow-creatures were dying victims of consumption when cases were not as desperate and apparently hopeless as mine had been, and I argued from this that remedies which had proved so effective with me would prove equally so with others. I prepared my medicines in a pleasant and attractive form, and announced them to the world. The results are well known. Thousands of suffering men, women and children, who were on the way to the grave, have been cured, and are to-day living evidences that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED; and I think I may say, without arrogating to myself any more than is justly my due, that I have had as much experience in the treatment of consumption as any other person in the country, and that my success has been wonderfully great.

Let the reader remember that these are not mere fancied statements. They are positive living facts of which I am the responsible author.

There is an old adage which says, "What has been done may be done." I have been completely cured of consumption by the remedies I now offer to have public. Thousands have been entitled to similar happy results from their use, and thousand of others still might benefitted as I have been could upon buy but be persuaded to try the virtue of The Mandrake Pills, Seaweed Tonic and Pulmonic Syrup. All that is necessary to convince the most skeptical of their merits is a fair trial.

Full directions accompany each of the medicines, so that it is not absolutely necessary that patients should see me personally, unless they desire to have their lungs examined. For this purpose I am personally at my PRINCIPAL OFFICE, No. 15 North Sixth Street, corner of Commerce, EVERY SATURDAY.

Advice is given without charge, but for a thorough examination with the Respirometer the price is five dollars.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic, each $1 50 per bottle, or $7 50 per half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents per box.

All young married people, or those contemplating marriage, and having the least impediment to married life, should read this book. It discloses secrets that every one should be acquainted with; still it is a book that must be locked up and not lie about the house. It will be sent to any address on receipt of 50 cents. Address, Dr. WM. YOUNG, No. 416 Spruce street, above Fourth, Philadelphia.

☞ Nothing new—Mayor Jones declaring that he will not accept a renomination.

☞ A Long Strike for a short time may be seen at the Temple this (Saturday) evening.

☞ Fleet Street ought to be widened to forty feet, at least, and that is too narrow for any highway. It is only 16 feet now in places. All streets with sidewalks should be at least 65 feet wide.

THEATRE.—The Bidwell Company (a good one) are to commence a short engagement in this city, this evening at the Temple. They have had a successful tour this season, and had large audiences at Portland for a month. It's of no use to tell Portsmouth people of their abilities to interest; the announcement of their return is sufficient. Dollie never fails to bid well for support, and will give a life-like portraiture of Jane Learoyd, a factory girl, in The Long Strike, which we think, will be it's first representation in this city. Charlie Wilkinson, the droll humorist, will fill the bill of an Irish sailor and Mrs. Thompson will spice the programme with some of her characteristic acting. Bidwell, Sullivan, Dean, O'Connor, Emma Winslow and Dora O'Connor are cast in the play. Betsey Baker is the closing farce. Mr. Bidwell is fortunate in visiting Portsmouth at this time, for there has been a death of amusements for weeks; and we look for a crowded house (if pleasant) this evening.

For the Chronicle.

PRINCIPLE VERSUS POLICY.—Messrs. Editors:—I have read with increasing interest the friendly discussions which have appeared recently in your paper, with I. F. H. and Straight Out Republican on the one side, in favor of, and Pakeha and Temperance Republican on the other, against the adoption of the State Constable Law. While the one side argues that such a law will do much towards stopping the enormous sale of rum in our midst, destroying the gambling hells now so well patronized by our young men, and closing up at least half of the two score houses of ill-fame of which our city boasts, the other excitedly replies that such a course would result in the overthrow of the Republican party of our State, put a Democratic senator in Mr. Cragin's seat, break down the Republican majority in the legislature, and finally end in the repeal of the Constable law.

Temperance Republican cites us to Massachusetts, the failure of "her better law than ours," her "only seven thousand majority for Gov. Claflin,'s her "license majority in the legislature," etc. I do not accuse T. R. of intentionally misrepresenting facts, but that his assertions regarding the license majority in the legislature, and the majority on the vote for Governor, are not correct, the election returns prove. Massachusetts has never repealed her "better law than ours," nor is it a failure, as it was never more successfully enforced than now.

The "smelling clause" which many considered unpopular in the Massachusetts law, is not in the New Hampshire bill. Was it this clause that made hers a better law? Will the Republican party be endangered by the adoption of this law? I think not. Any party that takes truth and justice for its standard will ultimately triumph. The anti-slavery question is the brightest gem of the Republican party; will they exchange it for the support of criminals? If in their rejection of Principle and devotion to Policy, they cater to the greatest and foulest crime of the age, they find the party involved in disaster, and something purer building up on the foundations it has abandoned, then let them place their overthrow to its real origin. But Republicans will have nothing to fear if they remain true to their record. Democrats have nothing to fear, for they realized the worst of fears during the last decade. But all good men of every party who love their God, their country, their neighbors and themselves, may present the grand spectacle of forgetting the past and joining hands in carrying this moral question by an overwhelming majority.

Friends of Temperance, rally on the 9th to tear down this dreadful control of rum, and if we are defeated let it be on the broad ground of principle versus policy. REPUBLICAN IN PRINCIPLE.

NAVAL.—Paymaster J. N. Carpenter is ordered to the U. S. S. Colorado.

The U. S. Steamer Chattanooga is ordered to this Station.

☞ Among the bids for building U. S. Revenue cutters were those of Tobey & Littlefield of this city for two of the second class for $175,400, each.

☞ Who shall be Mayor? is getting to be a question of interest. It is said that Mr. Jones, as usual, declines; and it is rumored that Mr. M. Eldredge will be the Democratic nominee.

POPE NIGHT.—The boys had a jolly time, Friday evening, parading the streets in different parts of the city, carrying pumpkin lanterns, torches, horns, sea-shells and bells. They closed their festivities at a seasonable hour.

☞ Among the improvements near the Eastern Depot—the scraggy old poplar trees, with roots, on Deer Street at Capt. Vennard's residence, have been removed by the City, and the sidewalk will now be passable. The Railroad Co. are also to lay a good walk across Deer St.

PERSONAL.—It is reported that Mr. Michael Fisher of this city has bought a fine up-town residence in New York; and will occupy his home here in summer only.

Mr. J. H. Head will proceed to St. Paul, Minn., with his family in a few days.

Capt. H. Eldredge has left town for Chatham, to spend the winter, as usual. His new Stable, hence, in parts, per schooner, has also arrived, in charge of Mr. C. W. Norton, the builder, who will put it up. His fine horses were driven round by a Portsmouth "whip."

NAVY YARD IMPROVEMENTS.—The Aqueduct on Seavey's Island, now being constructed under the supervision of Civil Engineer B. F. Chandler, to supply the Navy Yard with water, is an extensive work of economy. The water for all mechanical purposes on the Yard is caught in reservoirs constructed in the ground, or rather hewn out of solid ledge. There are six reservoirs on the Yard, built at an expense of not less than $20,000 each. The pond from which the water is taken has a capacity equal to ten of these reservoirs; and taking into account the price paid by Government for Seavey's Island, the value of the pond alone to the Yard is more than double the amount paid.

The whole distance from the pond to the outlet is 1800 feet. The pipe is of iron, 4 inches in diameter inside, and has a fall of about 20 feet in its entire length. The pond is situated on one of the highest parts of the island, in the rear of Fort Sullivan, (formerly the contraband barracks,) and is balloon-shaped and walled in by a bank wall 5 feet in height—and is capable of holding about 700,000 gallons. During the dryest part of the present season, when the reservoirs and wells on the Yard were exhausted, there was probably no time when the pond contained less than half this amount, although a large quantity of water was pumped from it by the steam fire-engine, in all about 90,000 gallons, at eleven different times during the season, for use on the Yard, without which work would have been suspended. This improvement, which will be completed in a few days, will insure a sufficient supply of water for all purposes on the Yard, even in the greatest droughts.

Tom Thumb and his party have sailed for China.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS, Late Agent of the United States Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837, No. 78 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After a long extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all papers or drawings for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made into American and Foreign works, to determine the novelty and utility of Patents or inventions, and legal and other advice rendered on all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

During eight months the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications, SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided IN HIS FAVOR by the Commissioner of Patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assenting to the opinion that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me THIRTEEN applications, in all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGHART."

Morning Chronicle.

A DUEL OR A WEDDING.

Concluded from Yesterday.

So when the cars stopped at U——, I took my valise in my hand, and got out upon the platform.

There were quite a large number of people at the station, but I took no notice of any of them, except a tall, brawny man, in a brown overcoat and slouched hat, who started for me as soon as I stepped off the cars.

I stopped and looked at him. He frowned, and seemed to restrain himself from some violent action. A decidedly ugly looking customer he was, in truth; but as he was a perfect stranger to me, I really couldn't tell what to make of him. Besides, he was backed by a short, red-faced, black bearded, corpulent gentleman, who looked as fierce as a tiger.

I was about to move away, when the slouched hat, looking down upon the tag on my carpet-bag, started, and coming forward, laid his hand heavily upon my shoulder.

"You're a villain!"

"Sir?"

"I repeat it—you're a villain!"

"A miserable scamp!" said the corpulent gentleman, coming forward and scowling more fiercely than ever.

Now I felt that I was a match for the latter, but as to the other one, I didn't doubt but what he might work me up into shoe strings in less than three minutes. So being a cautious man, I thought it best to keep my angry passions down.

"Will you explain yourselves, gentlemen?" I asked trying to smile.

"Yes, I will," answered the big one, putting a great stress on the "will."

"Certainly," growled the corpulent gentleman, with a grim smile.

"Come this way, you rascal," said the tall one, drawing me along with him.

His companion followed us out back of the station, where we were out of sight and hearing of the rest of U——.

"Now," said the tall gentleman, turning and confronting me, "I'll introduce myself. I am Captain Augustus Boynton. This gentleman is my father, John Boynton. Do you know us now?"

"Well, really," I replied, wondering in my own mind what was coming—"really, I don't know anything more about you than what you've just told."

"Hush!" 'Twas the captain, and he bent down and hissed in my ear, "I am Carrie Boynton's brother."

"And I am her father," growled John Boynton.

"Ah, really! I want to know!" I could not help smiling, the whole affair seemed so ludicrous. "Give my regards to Carrie."

"Ha! you laugh at us, do you, villain?" cried the captain. "Look 'ere," said he, lowering his voice to a horrid whisper. "Look at these."

I did look; for then he drew from the pocket of his brown overcoat a handsome case, and opening it, displayed a pair of silver-mounted dueling pistols.

"Take your choice."

A cold tremor ran through my frame. Was I to be murdered? I tried to shout but I could make no sound. The ludicrous affair was becoming decidedly serious. Must I fight a duel? I'd never fired a pistol in my life but just once, and then I tried to kill a cat, but failed with the pistol, and had to dash her brains out against a stone wall.

"Choose quick," urged the captain.

"Sir," said I, in a tremulous voice, while the cold drops of perspiration stood out upon my brow, "There must be so-me mistake. I-I am not the man."

"Pshaw!" answered the captain, looking down at my carpet-bag, which I had dropped upon the ground. "You are John McDolan, of W——."

"No, sir; I am James McDougal," I replied with alacrity, for I now saw who I was taken for.

"McDougal be hanged!" growled the captain. "To be sure I never saw you before, but I've seen your photograph a hundred times. You remember the one you gave to Carrie?"

"No, sir; I don't know Carrie. I'm no McDolan at all. I'm McDougal, of W——. I'm book-keeper for Brown & Co., dealers in hides and tallow. My father was Norton McDougal, my mother was Mary McDougal, my grandfather was——"

"Confound your grandfather! Either marry my sister, as you promised to do a month ago, or take one of these pistols and——"

"Oh! help!"

"Dry up, you whelp," and the captain clapped his great broad hand over my mouth.

"Choose quick, youngster," said the elder Boynton.

"I won't fight," I cried, throwing myself on the ground.

"Then marry my sister, or we'll drag you through the mill-pond."

It was useless for me to remonstrate. I could not convince the enraged father and son that I was not the villain McDolan. I dared not cry for help.

What should I do? Marry a woman whom I never saw before, whom I knew nothing about? I had little time to consider. Life was sweet to me, a ducking was disagreeable, and, as to a duel, I should have been a dead man at the first shot.

"Choose," said the captain, giving me a kick with his boot.

"I'll—I'll mar-marry her."

"All right. Get up."

And the captain smiled grimly as he returned the pistol to the case, the case to the pocket.

The elder Mr. Boynton went after the carriage; but before I had ceased to tremble he returned.

The captain helped me in; and then seated between the chivalric father and son, I rode away. There were plenty of people on the street; but I was warned not to shout, if I knew what was healthy for me.

We rode at a smart trot for about two miles, I should think, and then the captain drew rein before a two-story white house, that stood near the road surrounded by a high white fence. There was a gravel walk up to the front door, and several large cherry trees stood in the front yard.

"Here we are," said the captain, getting down and motioning me to follow.

The door opened just as we reached it, and Venus, Hebe, Queen Victoria and General Grant! who should fall into my arms but the identical young lady who had made such a strong impression upon my heart the night of the lecture in W——.

"O, John! I knew you would be true," she cried; and the captain snickered as he led the way into the parlor.

But once there, I succeeded in convincing Miss Boynton that I was not McDolan. Her father apologized, and so did the captain, and the upshot of all was, that I consented to stop over night with them, and I am happy to state that I passed a very pleasant evening indeed.

I learned, too, that this John McDolan, for whom I had been taken, was a gentleman of wealth and leisure, with only one fault, and that was promising to marry every pretty woman that he became acquainted with.

Then I told my story, and both Mr. Boynton and the captain seemed pleased, and so did Carrie, especially when I offered to stand in McDolan's shoes.

And—well, my dear reader, I did about a month afterwards. We had a great wedding, and Clara Sogard was one of the bridesmaids and Henry Bowers was groomsman. And I am very well satisfied that McDolan took the up train instead of the down.

The Chronicle.

GENTLE ANNIE.—The Cincinnati Times says: Anna Dickinson leaves San Francisco in rather bad odor. She stirred up the hornets of the press there, and they sting her with as little compunction as though she were a horrid man. In one of her recent lectures there she declared that the women of California were "unwomanly," and that it would have been fortunate for the people of that State had the majority of the early female settlers been sunk in the sea, instead of living to curse the earth—or words to that effect. For a carpet-baggeress the San Franciscoans thought this a "little rough." The papers declare "she calumniated the women of that State in a most outrageous manner;" that it was a "flippant, ignorant, and basely sensational attack, and that "she slandered the women of that coast wantonly and grossly." To all of which we can bear testimony. Strange that in their warfare against the tyrant man these "reformers" should find it necessary to direct their heavily shotted guns against the women. They, of all others, should remember the advice of the gentle bard;

"Then gently scan your brother man,
Still gentler sister woman;
Though they may gang a kennin wrang,
To step aside is human."

NOW YOU BEGIN TO TALK.—On a certain occasion the council took some exception to the ruling of the court on some point, and a dispute arose.

"If the court please," said the counsel, "I wish to refer to this book for a moment," and at the same time picked up a volume.

"There is no referring to any book," exclaimed the court angrily, "I have decided the p'int."

"But your honor," persisted the attorney.

"Now, I don't want to hear anything on the subject," yelled the court; "I tell you again that I have decided the p'int."

"I know that," was the rejoinder, "I am satisfied of that; but this is a volume of Blackstone; I am certain he differs with your honor, and I only wanted to show you what a fool Blackstone was."

"Ah, indeed," exclaimed the court, smiling all over, "now you begin to talk."

A SLIGHT MISUNDERSTANDING.—A lady employed a young girl about fifteen years old to assist her about her housework, and one day she was making some cake and wished to put some kind of plums in it, so she set a dish down on the table with the plums, and told the girl to stone them, and to show her how, she took up a plum and took out the stone, with the remark,

"That is the way;" and then, thinking the girl understood what she meant, she put the plum she had stoned into her mouth instead of into the dish, and went away.

What was her surprise, a short time after, to have the girl come into the room where she was and tell her she had eaten all she could! and when the lady went into the room where she had been at work, she found she had put all the stones into the dish, and eaten all she could of the plums, thinking that the hard pieces—meaning the stones—would soften up when baked in the cake.

A FALSE CHARGE.—It was stated in connection with the report of the fire at Brattleboro' on Sunday night, last that Mr. A. E. Eayrs was arrested on suspicion of having set the fire for the purpose of getting the insurance on his property. As soon as the report reached Mr. Eayrs he surrendered himself to the town authorities and demanded the most thorough investigation of the whole matter. Mr. S. M. Waite, the Chief Engineer, and the Sheriff took hold of it, and after a patient and careful investigation they declare that not a shade of suspicion rests on Mr. Eayrs or his son, who was implicated with him in the rumor. He had no insurance on his stock, and lost it all. The rumor is believed to have been started out of malice to Mr. Eayrs, and he proposes to make the author of it suffer for it.

ANOTHER FIRE—the third this week in Newburyport, broke out Thursday evening about 10 1-2 o'clock, in the large stable on Littlefield's wharf, just below the Eastern railroad, and nothing but the promptness and efficiency of the fire department prevented a very destructive fire. The stable was connected with several other wooden buildings, and near Cole's bakery, but the fire was confined to the stable, which, with its contents, (except the horses of the omnibus line) was entirely destroyed. The building and contents, owned by Thomas J. Clark, Esq., of Salisbury, were valued at about $3,000, and there was insurance in the Bay State office of Worcester, and the Home office of New Haven, for $2100. It was no doubt the work of the incendiary.—Newburyport Herald.

DODD'S NERVINE ONCE MORE.
THE STANDARD REMEDY for biliousness with the medical profession is the Anti-Bilious Pill of the American Pharmacopœia. And its reputation has been well enough deserved. But it is a Pill, nevertheless, and most people of sensibility feel something about as big as a meeting house coming into their throat whenever a pill is spoken of. DODD'S NERVINE AND INVIGORATOR acts efficiently on the biliary organs; it irritates neither stomach nor intestine in all its operation; and what is VERY IMPORTANT, as all good nurses know, it is MOST AGREEABLE TO TAKE. Being pleasant to the palate as any delicate wine. We all know how it is with Cod Liver Oil. In a pure state it is excellent for certain conditions of debility, and particularly in tendencies to Consumption; and yet many of the best physicians decline to prescribe it, because it so dreadfully sickens the patient. That, they say, makes it do more harm than good. With Dodd's Nervine all this becomes obstacle. For sale by all Druggists. Price $1. o21w

WHAT ARE
DR. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
Vinegar Bitters.
THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK, Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits, and refuse Liquors, doctored, spiced, and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetisers" "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD-PURIFIER and LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter, and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell. $100 will be given for an incurable case, providing the bones are not destroyed by mineral poisons or other means, the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.
FOR INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND GOUT, DYSPEPSIA, or INDIGESTION, BILLIOUS, REMITTENT, and INTERMITTENT FEVERS, DISEASES OF THE BLOOD, LIVER, KIDNEYS, and BLADDER, these BITTERS have been most successful. SUCH DISEASES are caused by VITIATED BLOOD, which is generally produced by derangement of the DIGESTIVE ORGANS.
Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood healthy, and all will be well.
These Bitters are not a gilded pill, to delight the eye or please the fancy, but a medical preparation, composed of the best vegetable ingredients known.
They are Alterative, Tonic, Diuretic, Sedative, Diaphoretic, and Gentle Purgative.
"The life of all Flesh is the Blood thereof."—Purify the blood and the health of the whole system will follow.

—Thirty thousand French voters have signed a petition to the Senate that it will adopt measures for a vigorous enforcement of the laws against duelling, which are constantly violated.

To I. F. H. and Republican in Principle.

A CONSTABULARY LAW:—You, gentlemen, advocate the adoption of the Constable law, in the interests of Temperance; while I intend to vote against it, in the same interest. It is not a question of principle at all, but purely and simply one of policy. Is it wise in the advocates of temperance to support the law—would its adoption benefit this cause? This is the question, and I think it must be answered in the negative. If the law is adopted, it will weaken the Republican party, by many hundred votes—and but few hundreds are needed to give the State to the Democracy. Massachusetts, with her 70,000 majority, has had to struggle hard for a very mixed victory, and New Hampshire, with her 2500 majority, would almost certainly be lost to us by the adoption of the law.

Would temperance be benefitted then? We should have a State Constable, to be sure; but do you suppose he would long have a Prohibitory law to enforce, with the Democratic party once in power? I do not. Well, you may say, he will enforce the general laws against general crime. But no complaint has ever been made in this State, so far as I know, of any deficiency in the enforcement of such general laws. Then of what advantage would our Constable be, after the anti-rum laws are repealed?

I shall vote against the law solely in the interest of temperance—not as a Republican at all. I am proud of the record of the party—proud of the great principles it has supported, and the great things it has done; yet I regard that party as but a means to an end—I am no party idolater. And if I were sure that a defeat of the Republican party in this State would result from the adoption of the law, I would still vote for it did I believe a Republican overthrow would advance the cause of temperance. But a defeat of the Republican party would be a defeat—and a most disastrous one—for the Temperance party too. Democratic ascendancy would mean free rum and no prohibitory law; and the law we have got, defective and weak though it is, does enable towns where the great majority of the voters are opposed to rum-selling, to prevent it. And it can be and is, sometimes enforced even in our cities, whenever a groggery gets to be too open a nuisance; and in this manner the law is, to a certain extent, a check on rum-selling, even in the cities. A repeal of that law would be a calamity to the temperance cause.

The rum-power is mighty, and mighty unscrupulous as to what means are employed to secure its ends. Temperance has an up-hill fight, and cannot afford to throw away any advantage. And to deliberately give the State into the hands of the Democratic party, is simply to yield all that has been gained by the cause during the years of Republican rule. I am not prepared to do this. Having got a check—however slight—upon the rum-power, I am for holding it; not for throwing it away because we cannot kill rum altogether. That is my "principle;" to oppose rum in the most effective—not the most Quixotic—manner.

If a party makes unto itself an idol, and sets that idol up in the way of human progress in the right, that party deserves to fall. The old Democracy did this—they deified Slavery. They were willing to gag the press and the pulpit, take away the right of petition, have every man forced to be a slave-hunter, see the northern voters driven to the polls to the music of the same whip that cracked over the southern negro, and to allow the nation itself to be destroyed, rather than their Dagon should be interfered with,—or prevented from interfering with others. That party and its god went down together, as they deserved; and great was the fall thereof.

Even so, if the Republican party should choose to idolize rum, then that party should fall; and no Democrat in the land would vote to overthrow it more readily than would I, in such a case. But the Republican party does not worship rum or the rum-traffic. So far from upholding the drunkard-manufactory, all that has been done in the way of legislation to oppose it, has been done by the Republican party. No Democratic State has a prohibitory law; and it is idle to say that the Temperance party, working in opposition to or independently of the Republican, has ever passed such a law anywhere. Maine has an anti-liquor law. In the late election in that State only about 6000 votes were cast for the Temperance candidate. Are there then but 6000 temperance men in Maine? If so, how did they manage to secure a prohibitory law? It was not the 6000 alone who passed it, but the Republican party,—the same that passed the Massachusetts and New Hampshire laws, and within which the temperance men can influence legislation,—outside of which they may have moral force but very little political power; and men who are getting rich by selling rum can stand a great deal of "moral suasion" without wincing.

If we had a Temperance party in this State strong enough to do it, I would vote to destroy those who sell rum much more readily than I would to hang a miserable being who should commit murder while under the influence of the hell-fire they distribute. But I utterly fail to see how the adoption of the Constable law, in the present state of public opinion and political parties in New Hampshire, can advance the temperance cause; and believing, as I do, that its adoption will tend to weaken the temperance Republican party, and to strengthen the free-rum Democratic party, I shall hold to my first resolution and vote a negative. With those who vote otherwise I shall not quarrel; let each vote according to the dictates of his own conscience. But I shall vote "No," believing that to be the only wise "policy," and shall still remain, in practice and "principle," a Temperance Republican.

LEWISTON, ME., Nov. 4.

Messrs. Editors:—In my letter of the 26th of October, I informed your readers that "O. D. Bragdon lost his property, amounting to about $4000, by fire." It seems that I was incorrectly informed in regard to the affair, and with pleasure make the following correction. SPECIAL NOTICES.

Malarious Fogs.

Countless millions of cubic feet of malarious vapor rook from the moist earth every twenty-four hours during the month of November. This evaporated moisture is the active principle which begets fever and ague, billious remittents, indigestion, dysentery, billious cholic, rheumatism, and many other ailments which prevail more generally in the Fall than at other seasons, and some of which, in low, swampy regions and new clearings, take the form of Malignant epidemics. The best safeguard against these complaints, as evidenced by the experience of a long series of years, is HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, the most pleasant and at the same time the most efficient of all vegetable tonics. The invigoration of the system is manifestly the best means of defending it against the causes of sickness, whether constitutional or casual. Nature, as every pathologist knows, is the most determined enemy of disease, and the paroxysm of an acute malady is in most instances the consequences of the efforts she makes to conquer the foe. The great object, therefore, of preventive treatment is to reinforce the system, and it is accomplished thoroughly, rapidly and safely, by the use of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS. This powerful tonic contains also an aperient and corrective principle. It is no less valuable as a regulator and purifier than as an invigorant, and there is no danger of exciting the liver or over-stimulating the circulation by employing it as an antidote.

MERIT SOON NOISED ABROAD.

It is but six years since ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM, was first offered for sale. Its good qualities were soon made known at home, and very soon its fame was noised far and near; now it is sold in nearly every Drug Store in the United States—North, East, South and West. No admirer medicine stands higher with the people. It is well known on the Pacific coast, and liberal demands for it from San Francisco, Sacramento in California, and Portland, Oregon; even from Australia, large orders are received for it. And throughout Canada, it is well and favorably known, and sold everywhere.

Read what Captain Fourter writes:

Messrs. PERRY DAVIS & SON,

Sirs:—I am pleased to notify you of the benefit which I have received from ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM; having been troubled with a cough for several years past, the Balsam was recommended to me. I immediately procured it, and found it to relieve my cough more readily than anything I ever tried. My wife has also used it with most satisfactory results.

THE LATEST DISCOVERY

In Medication.

The great difficulty which physicians have been laboring for centuries to overcome, has at length been obviated. A vegetable Cathartic and alterative more efficient than any mineral preparation of the same class, yet so pleasant to the taste as ordinary candy, is now offered to the sick in the form of a Lozenge.

DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S

is the most important medicinal novelty that modern chemistry has produced. It combines the botanical extracts, perfectly harmless in themselves, but embodying all the remedial properties of mercury, and destined in this plain form to supersede and banish from general use, the nauseous pills and portions of which that dangerous excipient is the main ingredient. More than were made by the inventor of this peerless remedy before it was brought to its present state of perfection. The Lozenge is harmless in operation, and altogether the medicinal taste of its curative components has been extinguished by chemical art, their virtues remain as active and potent as ever.

In Dyspepsia, Biliousness Constipation, Sick or Nervous Headache, Piles, Dropsy, and the irregularities to which the feebler sex are subject, the Lozenge will be found infinitely more effective than any of the horrible and disgusting compounds usually administered in such cases. As an antibilious specific and general aperient, they have no equal, either among advertised preparations or the prescriptions of the regular pharmacopœia.

☞ It is guaranteed that no one who has once tried Dr. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S Liver and Stomach Lozenge, will ever again take a purgative powder, or draught or pill.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

Read the Evidence.

"Facts are stubborn things," and it is to facts alone that it is desired to direct the attention of the readers of this article.

Many years of severe and thorough practical trial have demonstrated beyond the peradventure of a doubt the fact that the medicine prepared by me, and known as SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, SCHENCK'S SEAWEED TONIC, and SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, have proved extraordinarily successful in the cure of diseases of the pulmonary organs, or what is usually termed Consumption.

I am fully aware that there are many persons whose prejudices rule them so completely that "proofs strong as Holy Writ," would fail to convince them of the efficacy of my remedies, and that there are others who, under no circumstances, could be prevailed upon to admit their merits, simply because such an admission would prove detrimental to their particular personal interests.

Unfortunately for the welfare of mankind, these doubting people form a comparatively small portion of the community at large. They are to be found here and there, but, compared with the great mass of the world's population, their numbers are so small that I dismiss them, and address myself to those who are willing to listen to the dictates of reason, and who are disposed to admit the strong logic of well established facts.

We are also told almost daily that Consumption the scourge of the American people, is incurable; that a man whose lungs are diseased must be given over to die; that he must abandon hope; and that the arrangement of his temporal as well as spiritual affairs should claim his earliest attention. If there were not facts as undeniable as that the sun will shine in a clear heaven at midday to confirm these random and injurious assertions, these fal assertions, I should feel unwilling to take up the gage of battle against them; but, fortified by facts—facts—facts—every one of them, not mere assertion can overturn, I propose to prove that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED, and that the medicines I prepare—THE MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC, and PULMONIC SYRUP—will, if used in strict accordance with the directions, in a majority of cases effect that which the faculty pronounce impossible—they will cure Consumption.

An ounce of solid fact is worth a pound of theory. Let me, therefore, present facts connected with my own individual experience. Many years ago, I was a confirmed consumptive, and like thousands of other unfortunates, was given up to die. Eminent physicians pronounced my case a hopeless one, and told me that if I had any preparations to make for the final solemn event, that I had better make them speedily. I believed this just as confidently as did the persons who thus affectionately informed me that my days were numbered, and that recovery was impossible. Still, the desire to live lingered in my bosom. I was young, and clung to life with the same tenacity that young men, and old men too, ordinarily do. I did not feel willing to abandon hope as long as a single vestige of it remained. I had full faith in the sad information conveyed to me by my physicians, but still there was a lingering belief that something could be done, though I knew not in what direction to seek for the much desired relief.

It was at this gloomy and eventful period of my history that I first learned of the roots and herbs of which my remedies for the dreadful disease are now prepared. I procured and used them, and, to the utter amazement of all—physicians, friends and neighbors—began to improve in health. My entire system commenced to undergo a complete renovation. Expectoration, which formerly had been difficult and painful, now became comparatively easy. I threw off daily large quantities of offensive yellow matter. At the same time my long-lost appetite returned. I ate freely of such food as was palatable to me, and while it was at the same time nutritious and wholesome. Expectoration became less copious and less offensive; exhausting night sweats ceased to trouble me and harrassing cough abated; the fever broke; the pain departed; flesh planted itself on my sadly wasted frame, and wild fleeting strength gave place to full health. From a mere skelton I became a stout, strong, robust man, and I have maintained that strength and flesh to this day. I weigh two hundred and thirty-five pounds; I am blest with an apetite vouchsafed to but few men, while my digestive organs are amply equal to all the requirements of a healthful condition of my system.

Now, be it remembered, all those wonderful changes were wrought by the use of the medicines I prepare—MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC and PULMONIC SYRUP. A cure seemingly so miraculous naturally created astonishment in the minds of those who knew me. I was literally beslezed on all sides. I had visitors daily who besought me to give them the remedies which had wrought the wonderful restoration and had wrested me from the very jaws of death. Letters were received by scores importuning me to impart the secret and inform the writers where the specifics for consumption could be obtained. Others, who were too weak to travel, not satisfied with writing, sent for land consulted me in regard to their case. To all these applications I responded as I was able.

I had fully regained my health, and gratitude for that happy result prompted me to turn my attention to the science of medicine with the hope of thereby being able to be of service to my suffering fellow-creatures. I devoted myself freely to my studies, and more especially to that branch of them relating to the terrible disease from which I had suffered so long and so severely, and to which it in all its fearful phases, in order to assure myself that my case was not an exceptional one, I subjected to investigation that I felt satisfactory were my conclusions. I felt convinced that tens of thousands of my fellow-creatures were dying in annually of consumption whose cases were not as desperate and apparently hopeless as mine had been, and I argued from this that remedies which had proven so effective with me would prove equally so with others. I prepared my medicines in a pleasant and attractive form, and announced them to the world. The results are well known. Thousands of suffering men, women and children, who were on the way to the grave, have been cured, and are to-day living evidences of the fact that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED; and I think I may say, without arrogating to myself any more than is justly my due, that I have had as much experience in the treatment of consumption as any other person in the country, and that my success has been wonderfully great.

Let the reader remember that these are not mere fancied statements. They are positive living facts, of which I am the living evidence.

There is an old adage which says, "What has been done may be done." I have been completely cured of consumption by the remedies I now offer to the public. Thousands of others have testified to similar happy results from their use, and thousand of others still might benefitted as I have been cured if they but be persuaded to avail themselves of the virtue of The Mandrake Pills, Seaweed Tonic and Pulmonic Syrup. All that is necessary to convince the most skeptical of their merits is a fair trial.

Full directions accompany each of the medicines, so that it is not absolutely necessary that patients should see me personally, unless they desire to have their lungs examined. For this purpose I am personally at my PRINCIPAL OFFICE, No. 15 North Sixth Street, corner of Commerce, EVERY SATURDAY.

Advice is given without charge, but for a thorough examination with the Respirometer the price is five dollars.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic, each $1 50 per bottle, or $7 50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents per box.

Mr. Andrew D. Wilson of this city was admitted to the bar, and the Court adjourned sine die.

Communication.

Messrs. Editors: — Allow me to second the nomination of the Journal—Alderman Thomas S. Nowell for Mayor of this city. We need a sagacious business man with public spirit, for Chief Executive. Citizen.

☞ Mr. T. S. Nowell's new brick building for his Shoe Manufactory is approaching completion, and will be occupied in a few weeks. It is substantially but cheaply built. There will be no plastering, the brick walls being furnished smooth inside, and the floor timbers and under side of the flooring planed smooth for oiling. A safety steam engine, with patent tubular boiler, located in the basement, will supply power and heat for the machinery above, and also for the next blocks, now occupied by Mr. Nowell which we learn will mainly be used for a printing office by the Portsmouth Journal and the Opposition organ,—Mr. N. retaining a salesroom merely.

Mr. Nowell is doing a large business, and promoting the prosperity of the city. We wish him continued and increased success.

The Theatre.—A large audience was in attendance at the opening of the short engagement of Bidwell's Company, Saturday evening, notwithstanding the rain. Mr. Bidwell has strengthened the company considerably since their last appearance here, and on this occasion appeared in the character of Noah Laroyd. Dollie Bidwell was received with applause, and faithfully represented the character of a factory girl. Charlie Wilkinson, always a favorite here, made heaps of fun as an Irish sailor, and we were particularly pleased with J. F. Dean's representation of Moneypenny. Sullivan and O'Connor also are entitled to praise for their meritorious acting. Mrs. E. Thompson is an emphatic character and lays down the law with a vengeance. Lillie Wilkinson, in the afterpiece, was exceedingly vivacious and entertaining, and shows great improvement since her last appearance. Charlie and Lillie are a lively couple. Go and see Dollie this evening in the title-role of Miami, the dauntress of the Mississippi.

Pumpkin Surprise Party.—Among the festivities of Pope Night we hear of a decidedly original and amusing affair concocted by children of a larger growth than those who paraded the streets with horns and torches. A prominent confectioner was decided upon as the receiver of the proposed gift, and two special artists, Messrs. Akermen and Treadwell, were engaged for the occasion. A mammoth pumpkin was the object decided on, and in the hands of the experts it was soon wrought into a strange image, minus the lower extremities, and being inspected and surveyed was pronounced good and suitable. The conspirators then joined in procession and marched to Fred's store, where the proprietor was discovered, unconscious of the impending surprise. The company, having been joined by some of the passers-by, marched in with their illuminated pumpkin and filled the store with beaming countenances. Col. W. Caverno Ham delivered the presentation speech in a voice choked with emotion, and tears trickled down Fred's cheeks as he feelingly responded, accepting the present with cordial thanks. The company then withdrew, but many friends of the confectioner called in the course of the evening and were shown the illuminated vegetable, which was conspicuously placed in a favorable position for observation until the candle light flickered and expired. The "boys" propose to celebrate Pope Night in similar style, annually, hereafter.

Naval.—Paymaster H. T. Stancliff is ordered to duty in the Bureau of Provisions and Clothing at Washington.

Commander Trovett Abbott, of the U. S. S. Yantic, died of yellow fever in a Haytien port on the 27th of October.

☞ Some folks are very fond of decrying the Temple as an exhibition hall; but we know of few if any better, out of the larger cities. Those at Newburyport, Lawrence and Dover are not nearly as convenient for showmen or agreeable for audiences.

☞ The Journal nominates Mr. Thos. S. Nowell for Mayor, but rather "damns him with faint praise" politically, when it says he has generally voted right in the City Council. The Journal would also seem to intimate by its remarks, that the present Opposition incumbent of the Mayoralty would be hard to beat as a candidate again; when the fact is, that he holds the position solely now by the votes of a few quasi Republicans, who, like the Journal's candidate, generally vote right—the exception being, when they are most needed.

Communication.

Messrs. Editors:—I shall say nothing more on the State Constable Law—only hope it will pass, and do all the good the temperance men hope from it. I can't see very much difference between Republican and Democratic drunkards or drunkenness, and am well aware there are two sides to every argument, and every tide causes an eddy.

As to Pike, the double murderer, he richly deserves hanging, and I hope will get it. He was no temperance man, though a good Democrat.

The Portsmouth Journal, I see, goes in for Tom Nowell for Mayor. Why not for Frank Jones? Nowell has always voted as he wanted him to, and would still work to suit the Opposition as soon as the Republicans, no doubt. For three elections, the Republicans have voted down their own candidate, when they had a clear majority in the city. No wonder candidates are a little shy of accepting. Yours musingly, Straight Out Republican.

Old Land-marks Gone.—The Poplar trees on Deer Street, near the house owned by the late Christopher Toppan, and now occupied by Capt. Matthew B. Vennard, have been taken down, by order of the City Council. The Lombardy Poplar was first introduced here by Gov. Langdon in the latter part of the last century. They were thrifty and elegant, and before the lapse of ten years from the time of their introduction they were to be seen in large numbers, on one or both sides of many of our streets. They ran up to an elegant taper for some time, but the frosts and blighting winds nipped their tops. Their decapitated trunks, shorn of every vestige of beauty stared one in the face on every hand. Failing to retain the approval of the people they were condemned as ungraceful, and within twenty years from their first introduction they began gradually to disappear, except in the borders of grave yards where a few yet remain. These trees in Deer street were probably planted in the days of their popularity, but like all other unpopular and unfashionable things they are spurned as rubbish, and are now cut down and cast in the fire.

☞ The Newburyport Herald says that Miss Kate Field's Lecture on the Adirondacks is a dead failure.

☞ The Manchester Mirror recommends carbolic acid to cleanse and cure thrush in horses feet.

Morning Chronicle.

CREATION AND DESTRUCTION OF THE EARTH.—The reader is doubtless familiar with the fact, that our friends the Second Adventists, within the last thirty years, have proved to their own satisfaction, from the Scriptures as they interpret them, that at sundry stated times the earth and all things therein were to be burnt up, re-cast and re-created. For this, as the events did not occur, they have been ridiculed, as fanatics or fools. But in truth, Wm. Miller, Cummings and others, only follow in the footsteps of such famous men as Sir Isaac Newton, Bishop Newton, and Thomas Scott.

And just as every thing in the Earth, and the Earth itself, seemed to be so firmly settled as to be somewhat permanent, lo, the terrible jarring of reported earthquakes in many lands; subterranean fires break out; tidal waves carry great ships on to the dry land, and the tornado dashes down steeples, crushes the churches, and frightens the living people, who mourn the loss of friends destroyed.

It is also generally known that some scientific men, Geologists, have proved to their satisfaction, that the Earth and Solar System were not created in Six Days, but that even so many millions of years were occupied in the work,—and therefore the Six Days of Creation, mentioned in Genesis, were very long days indeed, or else the whole history was a myth.

And here,—some of them seemed to say,—here, you Jews and Christians, break up your old churches, and discard or disregard your bibles, and join our Church Geologic, founded on the Rocks of Ages, sure and staunch, and irrefutable:—but there are heresies and schisms, it seems, even in this Church of Stones and Fossils.

For it appears that science is arrayed against itself on the subject of the age of the world—the theory of modern geologists that the earth is hundreds of million of years old being combatted by eminent astronomers and pysicists. They also controvert what is called the uniformitarian theory which claims that the action of natural causes has always been uniform, and that, from changes now visible on the earth's surface, it is logical and safe to argue back to similar changes hundreds of millions of years ago. It claims, also, that it is unscientific to suppose that the changes were more rapid then than now, or effected by other processes. The denial of these theories is based on investigations suggested by recent discoveries of the permanence and correlations of force. These indicate that the earth cannot have existed for a hundred millions of years, nor the sun have been a source of heat for a longer period, while the time may be reduced to a few million years. The theory of uniformity is declared simply impossible; as it is absolutely certain that natural causes have operated with varying intensity and rapidity. The stains of the two parties is thus given by the Providence Journal:

"Sir William Thomas, confessedly the ablest man in Great Britain in natural philosophy and applied mathematics, leads the attack on geological time, and the directness and power of his arguments have brought dismay to the ranks of geologists, who thought a mathematical training of little importance in scientific study. Prof. Huxley has attempted to answer him, but, in doing so, has virtually abandoned both the long-time claim and the uniformitarian theory. He has given up the latter for the Darwinian theory of development, which he calls by the less objectionable name of evolution.'

Those of us who are advanced in years, says Uncle Toby, and who do not expect to outlive the Century, may comfort ourselves with the reflection that the coal in the earth and the sun in the heavens, will be giving out genial heat, for a long time after our heads shall be laid in the dust, and our spirits shall have returned to God who gave them.

And the juniors may consider, if they will, that knowledge of things past or future, is not always synonymous with wisdom, which consists mainly in a comfortable, prudent and virtuous use of the present life and the present hour, —relying with implicit, Christlike faith on the Creator of all things, as the Father of Spirits and the Father of Mercies.

We have no fault to find with the Philosopher for knowing and learning all he can—nor with the child for blowing his soap bubbles in the sun,—but without the Life of Faith it is not only impossible to please God,—but equally impossible to have happiness or true comfort in our own souls.

☞ Rev. Charles Wm. Reading of Webster, Mass., has accepted a call to be pastor of the Baptist Church in Medford, Mass.

PATENTS ISSUED.—Mr. Carroll D. Wright, Counsellor at Law, Solicitor and Advocate in Patent causes, No. 12 School St., Boston, reports the following list of Patents, for New Hampshire, issued from the United States Patent Office, Nov. 2d, and each bearing that date:

Henry Blake, Rindge, and Amos J. Blake, Fitzwilliam, machine for shaping wooden trays.

Wm. Weaver, Nashua, faucet.

Benj. F. Dunklee, Concord, assignor to A. S. Gear, New Haven, Conn., step for vertical spindle.

TERRIBLE SUFFERING.—The Captain of the whaling schooner Susan N. Smith —the loss of which was reported some time ago—tells the story of that terrible disaster. The crew, twenty or more men, floated to the top of the mast of the overturned vessel, while the Captain's wife and children perished in the cabin during the storm, and their bodies were washed away. Everything edible had also been washed out of the vessel. All through the week the captain and his four companions clung to the wreck, some eight days without food or water! The testimony of all is that the thought of food scarcely entered their minds, but their burning thirst nearly drove them to distraction. It came to be, through this dreadful parching, that neither one could talk. Each tongue was swollen and hung without the mouth. As it touched the roof of the mouth it glued there, and scaled off in large flakes. On Sunday morning a sail came in sight and the men were taken off. All were the merest skeletons. Capt. Rounseville, who weighed before the wreck, 190 pounds, had lost nearly 90 pounds in his eight days' suffering. A teaspoonful of brandy was given to each one to start with, but even this was too much for their shattered systems, and very soon after reaching the ship all were unconscious, and remained in that state for nearly two days. Eventually, however, they recovered.

—Ephraim K. Avery, who more than thirty years ago, while one of the most popular Methodist ministers of Massachusetts was charged with the murder of Sara A. Cornell, died at Pittsfield, Ohio, on the 23d ult., where he had resided many years, a quiet, industrious farmer, highly respected by all his neighbors and acquaintances. His friends never doubted his innocence.

Mr. Avery was tried by an ecclesiastical court and acquitted, and was then tried at Newport, by the Supreme Court of Rhode Island. The trial lasted twenty-six days, with Jeremiah Mason as leading counsel for the defense, and resulted in a verdict of acquittal. The general public did not acquiesce in the belief of the jury, and though he continued to preach for several years after, Mr. Avery finally retired from the ministry and removed to the West, to escape popular odium.

New Publications Received.

The Edinburgh Review for October, (Amer. reprint,) opens with a 20 page article on the Œcumenical Council;—and contains the following items of literary intelligence:

John Murray, the London Publisher, announces that "The London Quarterly Review" for October will contain hitherto unpublished letters from Lady Byron to Mrs. Leigh, in 1816, which completely disprove Mrs. Beecher Stowe's story. The elder Murray having been Byron's publisher, any statement emanating from this well known house is authoritative. The Review will be republished by the Leonard Scott Publishing Co. early in November; and all who wish to secure a copy, should make immediate application, either direct to the publishers, or to a local agent.

The American Odd Fellow. — This Magazine (the official organ of the Order,) for November contains an original story, entitled "The Death Plot;" together with an attractive variety of miscellaneous reading matter of general interest, and a vast amount of valuable information for the fraternity. It should be taken by every Odd Fellow. The Odd Fellow will next year be greatly enlarged and improved, when the price will be $2.50 a year, or $1.25 a volume. Published by John W. Orr, No. 96 Nassau St., New York.

The whole edition of the Westminster Review for October was destroyed by fire in the bindery. It will be reprinted as early as possible.

WHICH IS TO GOVERN? — The 14th amendment to the Constitution provides that any State may exclude negros from voting provided that they are not counted in Congressional representation. The Fifteenth Amendment has no clause repealing this, yet provides that no State shall be allowed under any considerations, to prohibit negro suffrage. Now, the question is, if the Fifteenth Amendment shall be declared carried, which is to govern? The two amendments are in direct conflict with each other, and yet they must form a part of the same Constitution. Is not the Fourteenth Amendment just as binding as the Fifteenth will be, if ratified.—Manchester Union.

Note.—The 14th Amendment does not contain any provision authorizing a state to exclude persons. — but it does provide that any State so excluding, shall not count the excluded votes in the Congressional Representation. The two things differ very widely.

☞ The White Pine is growing in favor as an ornamental tree in New England. It will stand severe cold and exposure even better than the Norway spruce, will bear the shears as well as any other, and if kept cut back will not soon die at the bottom. The spruces, balsams, Austrian pines, and arbor vitæ, were many of them killed by the severe cold of last winter, but few or no white pines that we heard of. The whisperings of the pine, as the soft breezes sough among its branches, or the song it sings when the gale madly surges o'er its top, — are unlike the sounds of any other tree; and no carpet is so nice as that shed by a grove of pines.

—The City Council of St. Paul has just passed the following ordinance: "It shall not be lawful for any woman of evil name or fame to ride in a buggy, carriage, or other vehicle in the city of St. Paul, voluntarily walk or appear in company with any person upon the streets of said city; or enter into any saloon, restaurant, or eating house in said city; and any person violating any provision of this section, shall be arrested forthwith by the police, and punished by a fine not exceeding $100.

☞ The governors of twenty States have designated the 18th instant as a day of Thanksgiving and prayer. This is the day originally fixed by the President for National Thanksgiving. The day will probably be observed in nearly all the States;—and it will hereafter be a National, rather than a New England or State Festival. So be it.

☞ One of the speakers at a meeting in Cincinnati of the opponents to the use of the Bible in the public schools, having said that the perusal of it when a boy often made him blush, a paper of the city advises him to read it again in order that he may enjoy that novel sensation.

—Rock County, Wisconsin, has a goose which has attained the age of fifty years, and has contributed feathers towards the filling of twenty-five beds.

DODD'S NERVINE ONCE MORE.
THE STANDARD REMEDY for biliousness with the medical profession is the Anti-Bilious Pill of the American Pharmacopœia. And its reputation has been well enough deserved. But it is a Pill, nevertheless, and most people of sensibility feel something about as big as a meeting house coming into their throat whenever a pill is spoken of. DODD'S NERVINE AND INVIGORATOR acts efficiently on the biliary organism; it irritates neither stomach nor intestine in all its operation; and what is VERY IMPORTANT, as all good nurses know, it is MOST AGREEABLE TO TAKE, being as pleasant to the palate as any delicate wine. We all know how it is with Cod Liver Oil. In a pure state it is excellent for certain conditions of debility, and particularly in tendencies to Consumption; and yet many of the best physicians decline to prescribe it, because it so dreadfully sickens the patient. That, they say, makes it do more harm than good. With Dodd's Nervine all this becomes obsolete. For sale by all Druggists. Price $1. o21ew

WHAT ARE
DR. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
Vinegar Bitters.
THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK, Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits, and Refuse Liquors, doctored, spiced, and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetisers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD-PURIFIER and LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter, and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell. $100 will be given for an incurable case, providing the bones are not destroyed by mineral poisons or other means, the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.
FOR INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND GOUT, DYSPEPSIA, or INDIGESTION, BILLIOUS, REMITTENT, and INTERMITTENT FEVERS, DISEASES OF THE BLOOD, LIVER, KIDNEYS, and BLADDER, these BITTERS have been most successful. SUCH DISEASES are caused by VITIATED BLOOD, which is generally produced by derangement of the DIGESTIVE ORGANS.
Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood healthy, and all will be well.
These Bitters are not a gilded pill, to delight the eye or please the fancy, but a medical preparation, composed of the best vegetable ingredients known.
They are Alterative, Tonic, Diuretic, Sedative, Diaphoretic, and Gentle Purgative.
"The Life of all Flesh is the Blood thereof."—Purify the blood and the health of the whole system will follow.

IRON MANDRAKE SYRUP
IRON MANDRAKE SYRUP
Is an excellent combination of IRON with MANDRAKE and vegetable tonic.
The Mandrake acts on the Liver and prevents the bracing effects which Iron has in many other preparations; while the vegetable tonic strengthens the stomach, and promotes Digestion of Food and facilitates the absorption of Iron into the blood.

MANDRAKE
is the great vegetable substitute for Calomel to act on the Liver.
In Freeman's Mandrake Syrup it is combined with Iron and Vegetable Tonics, and forms the most perfect Spring Medicine.
It purifies the blood and imparts IRON to it.
It acts on the Liver and removes foul humors from the body. It is a most excellent remedy for debility, especially for mothers who are worn down by nursing infants, and for all persons whose blood is pure, and who need iron and a strengthening medicine.

Morning Chronicle.

CREATION AND DESTRUCTION OF THE EARTH.—The reader is doubtless familiar with the fact, that our friends the Second Adventists, within the last thirty years, have proved to their own satisfaction, from the Scriptures as they interpret them, that at sundry stated times the earth and all things therein were to be burnt up, re-cast and re-created. For this, as the events did not occur, they have been ridiculed, as fanatics or fools. But in truth, Wm. Miller, Cummings and others, only follow in the footsteps of such famous men as Sir Isaac Newton, Bishop Newton, and Thomas Scott.

And just as every thing in the Earth, and the Earth itself, seemed to be so firmly settled as to be somewhat permanent, lo, the terrible jarring of reported earthquakes in many lands; subterranean fires break out; tidal waves carry great ships on to the dry land, and the tornado dashes down steeples, crushes the churches, and frightens the living people, who mourn the loss of friends destroyed.

It is also generally known that some scientific men, Geologists, have proved to their satisfaction, that the Earth and Solar System were not created in Six Days, but that even so many millions of years were occupied in the work,—and therefore the Six Days of Creation, mentioned in Genesis, were very long days indeed, or else the whole history was a myth.

And here,—some of them seemed to say,—here, you Jews and Christians, break up your old churches, and discard or disregard your bibles, and join our Church Geologic, founded on the Rocks of Ages, sure and staunch, and irrefutable:—but there are heresies and schisms, it seems, even in this Church of Stones and Fossils.

For it appears that science is arrayed against itself on the subject of the age of the world—the theory of modern geologists that the earth is hundreds of million of years old being combatted by eminent astronomers and pysicists. They also controvert what is called the uniformitarian theory which claims that the action of natural causes has always been uniform, and that, from changes now visible on the earth's surface, it is logical and safe to argue back to similar changes hundreds of millions of years ago. It claims, also, that it is unscientific to suppose that the changes were more rapid then than now, or effected by other processes. The denial of these theories is based on investigations suggested by recent discoveries of the permanence and correlations of force. These indicate that the earth cannot have existed for a hundred millions of years, nor the sun have been a source of heat for a longer period, while the time may be reduced to a few million years. The theory of uniformity is declared simply impossible; as it is absolutely certain that natural causes have operated with varying intensity and rapidity. The status of the two parties is thus given by the Providence Journal:

"Sir William Thomas, confessedly the ablest man in Great Britain in natural philosophy and applied mathematics, leads the attack on geological time, and the directness and power of his arguments have brought dismay to the ranks of geologists, who thought a mathematical training of little importance in scientific study. Prof. Huxley has attempted to answer him, but, in doing so, has virtually abandoned both the long-time claim and the uniformitarian theory. He has given up the latter for the Darwinian theory of development, which he calls by the less objectionable name of evolution.'

Those of us who are advanced in years, says Uncle Toby, and who do not expect to outlive the Century, may comfort ourselves with the reflection that the coal in the earth and the sun in the heavens, will be giving out genial heat, for a long time after our heads shall be laid in the dust, and our spirits shall have returned to God who gave them.

And the juniors may consider, if they will, that knowledge of things past or future, is not always synonymous with wisdom, which consists mainly in a comfortable, prudent and virtuous use of the present life and the present hour, —relying with implicit, Christlike faith on the Creator of all things, as the Father of Spirits and the Father of Mercies.

We have no fault to find with the Philosopher for knowing and learning all he can—nor with the child for blowing his soap bubbles in the sun,—but without the Life of Faith it is not only impossible to please God,—but equally impossible to have happiness or true comfort in our own souls.

☞ Rev. Charles Wm. Reading of Webster, Mass., has accepted a call to be pastor of the Baptist Church in Medford, Mass.

PATENTS ISSUED.—Mr. Carroll D. Wright, Counsellor at Law, Solicitor and Advocate in Patent causes, No. 12 School St., Boston, reports the following list of Patents, for New Hampshire, issued from the United States Patent Office, Nov. 2d, and each bearing that date:

Henry Blake, Rindge, and Amos J. Blake, Fitzwilliam, machine for shaping wooden trays.

Wm. Weaver, Nashua, faucet.

Benj. F. Dunklee, Concord, assignor to A. S. Gear, New Haven, Conn., step for vertical spindle.

TERRIBLE SUFFERING.—The Captain of the whaling schooner Susan N. Smith —the loss of which was reported some time ago—tells the story of that terrible disaster. The crew, twenty or more men, floated to the top of the mast of the overturned vessel, while the Captain's wife and children perished in the cabin during the storm, and their bodies were washed away. Everything edible had also been washed out of the vessel. All through the week the captain and his four companions clung to the wreck, some eight days without food or water! The testimony of all is that the thought of food scarcely entered their minds, but their barning thirst nearly drove them to distraction. It came to be, through this dreadful parching, that neither one could talk. Each tongue was swollen and hung without the mouth. As it touched the roof of the mouth it glued there, and scaled off in large flakes. On Sunday morning a sail came in sight and the men were taken off. All were the merest skeletons. Capt. Rounseville, who weighed before the wreck, 190 pounds, had lost nearly 90 pounds in his eight days' suffering. A teaspoonful of brandy was given to each one to start with, but even this was too much for their shattered systems, and very soon after reaching the ship all were unconscious, and remained in that state for nearly two days. Eventually, however, they recovered.

—Ephraim K. Avery, who more than thirty years ago, while one of the most popular Methodist ministers of Massachusetts, was charged with the murder of Sara A. Cornell, died at Pittsfield, Ohio, on the 23d ult., where he had resided many years, a quiet, industrious farmer, highly respected by all his neighbors and acquaintances. His friends never doubted his innocence.

Mr. Avery was tried by an ecclesiastical court and acquitted, and was then tried at Newport, by the Supreme Court of Rhode Island. The trial lasted twenty-six days, with Jeremiah Mason as leading counsel for the defense, and resulted in a verdict of acquittal. The general public did not acquiesce in the belief of the jury, and though he continued to preach for several years after, Mr. Avery finally retired from the ministry and removed to the West, to escape popular odium.

New Publications Received.

The Edinburgh Review for October, (Amer. reprint,) opens with a 20 page article on the Œcumenical Council;—and contains the following items of literary intelligence:

John Murray, the London Publisher, announces that "The London Quarterly Review" for October will contain hitherto unpublished letters from Lady Byron to Mrs. Leigh, in 1816, which completely disprove Mrs. Beecher Stowe's story. The elder Murray having been Byron's publisher, any statement emanating from this well known house is authoritative. The Review will be republished by the Leonard Scott Publishing Co. early in November; and all who wish to secure a copy, should make immediate application, either direct to the publishers, or to a local agent.

The American Odd Fellow. — This Magazine (the official organ of the Order,) for November contains an original story, entitled "The Death Plot;" together with an attractive variety of miscellaneous reading matter of general interest, and a vast amount of valuable information for the fraternity. It should be taken by every Odd Fellow. The Odd Fellow will next year be greatly enlarged and improved, when the price will be $2.50 a year, or $1.25 a volume. Published by John W. Orr, No. 96 Nassau St., New York.

The whole edition of the Westminster Review for October was destroyed by fire in the bindery. It will be reprinted as early as possible.

WHICH IS TO GOVERN? — The 14th amendment to the Constitution provides that any State may exclude negros from voting provided that they are not counted in Congressional representation. The Fifteenth Amendment has no clause repealing this, yet provides that no State shall be allowed under any considerations, to prohibit negro suffrage. Now, the question is, if the Fifteenth Amendment shall be declared carried, which is to govern? The two amendments are in direct conflict with each other, and yet they must form a part of the same Constitution. Is not the Fourteenth Amendment just as binding as the Fifteenth will be, if ratified.—Manchester Union.

Note.—The 14th Amendment does not contain any provision authorizing a state to exclude persons. — but it does provide that any State so excluding, shall not count the excluded votes in the Congressional Representation. The two things differ very widely.

☞ The White Pine is growing in favor as an ornamental tree in New England. It will stand severe cold and exposure even better than the Norway spruce, will bear the shears as well as any other, and if kept out back will not soon die at the bottom. The spruces, balsams, Austrian pines, and arbor vitæs, were many of them killed by the severe cold of last winter, but few or no white pines that we heard of. The whisperings of the pine, as the soft breezes sough among its branches, or the song it sings when the gale madly surges o'er its top, — are unlike the sounds of any other tree; and no carpet is so nice as that shed by a grove of pines.

--The City Council of St. Paul has just passed the following ordinance: "It shall not be lawful for any woman of evil name or fame to ride in a buggy, carriage, or other vehicle in the city of St. Paul, voluntarily walk or appear in company with any person upon the streets of said city; or enter into any saloon, restaurant, or eating house in said city; and any person violating any provision of this section, shall be arrested forthwith by the police, and punished by a fine not exceeding $100.

☞ The governors of twenty States have designated the 18th instant as a day of Thanksgiving and prayer. This is the day originally fixed by the President for National Thanksgiving. The day will probably be observed in nearly all the States;—and it will hereafter be a National, rather than a New England or State Festival. So be it.

☞ One of the speakers at a meeting in Cincinnati of the opponents to the use of the Bible in the public schools, having said that the perusal of it when a boy often made him blush, a paper of the city advises him to read it again in order that he may enjoy that novel sensation.

--Rock County, Wisconsin, has a goose which has attained the age of fifty years, and has contributed feathers towards the filling of twenty-five beds.

DODD'S NERVINE ONCE MORE.
THE STANDARD REMEDY for biliousness with the medical profession is the Anti-Bilious Pill of the American Pharmacopœia. And its reputation has been well enough deserved. But it is a Pill, a nauseous, and most people of sensibility feel something about as big as a meeting house coming into their throat when such a pill is spoken of. DODD'S NERVINE AND INVIGORATOR acts efficiently on the biliary organism; it irritates neither stomach nor intestine in all its operation; and what is VERY IMPORTANT, as all good nursing know, it is MOST AGREEABLE TO TAKE, being as pleasant to the palate as any delicate wine. We all know how it is with Cod Liver Oil. In a pure state it is excellent for certain conditions of debility, and particularly in tendencies to Consumption: and yet many of the best physicians decline to prescribe it, because it so dreadfully sickens the patient. That, they say, makes it do more harm than good. With Dodd's Nervine all this becomes obstacle. For sale by all Druggists. Price $1. o214w

WHAT ARE
DR. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA Vinegar Bitters.
THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK, Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits, and refuse Liquors, doctored, spiced, and sweetened to please the taste, called "Bitters," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD-PURIFIER and LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter, and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell. $100 will be given for an incurable case, providing the bones are not destroyed by mineral poisons or other means, the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.
FOR INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND GOUT, DYSPEPSIA, or INDIGESTION, BILLIOUS, REMITTENT, and INTERMITTENT FEVERS, DISEASES OF THE BLOOD, LIVER, KIDNEYS, and BLADDER, these BITTERS have been most successful. SUCH DISEASES are caused by VITIATED BLOOD, which is generally produced by derangement of the DIGESTIVE ORGANS.
Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood healthy, and all will be well.
These Bitters are not a gilded pill, to delight the eye or please the fancy, but a medical preparation, composed of the best vegetable ingredients known.
They are Alterative, Tonic, Diuretic, Sedative, Diaphoretic, and Gentle Purgative.
"The Life of all Flesh is the Blood thereof."—Purify the blood and the health of the whole system will follow.

The News.

Important gold discoveries have been made in Sonora, Mexico, and on the Finlay branch of the Place River in British Columbia.

Four inches of snow fell Sunday at Covington, Virginia, and Greensborough, North Carolina.

The return game of base ball between the Mutuals of New York and the noted Red Stockings of Cincinnati came off Saturday in the latter city in the presence of thousands of spectators, and resulted in another victory for the latter by a score of 17 to 8. This is the fifty-eighth successive victory for the Red Stockings this season, and they have not lost a single game this year.

The following is given as the complexion of the State Constitutional Convention of Illinois, as shown by the last returns:—Republicans 42, democrats 40, conservatives 2, independent 1.

Rear Admiral Charles Stewart died at Bordentown, Pa., on Saturday aged 91.

PIKE will be executed in the State Prison, at Concord, at about 11 o'clock to-day. The Executive has declined to interfere with the sentence. The prisoner has given up all hopes and is now preparing for his final doom.

The wretched man professes religious salvation and is very constant in his devotions.

and the return of the property. Pike says he would not accept a reprieve and thinks he can go to the scaffold with perfect firmness. Warden Mayo has issued passes to the press, independent of Sheriff Morse, claiming that he has a right to do so. Dr. A. H. Crosby, of Concord, has permission of Pike's brother, to make a post mortem examination of the body.

CATHOLIC SCHOOLS.—About a year ago, Father Murphy, then of this city, gathered the Irish children here, to the number of nearly 400, into a school of their own faith, and several Sisters of the Church came here from Manchester for teachers—Father Murphy giving up his residence on State Street to this use. This took a large number of scholars from our public schools, who will now perhaps be mostly returned, as the Catholic Schools were closed on Saturday last, and the Sisters left the city.

No reason for this is given, nor did Father Welch the present priest here, refer to the matter in his church on Sunday, we are told; but the expense of supporting separate schools is probably found burdensome, with the other heavy outlays of the Catholic Society of late years. It is reported that the building formerly occupied by Father Murphy, and of late by the Schools, is to be sold by him. Father Welch has purchased the house located nearest the church, and is fitting it up for a parsonage with covered passage-way connecting the two, we believe. We learn that the Catholics are endeavoring to devise means to continue their School.

☞ Charles Cotesworth Pinckney Moody, of the Malden, Mass., Messenger died at his home on the evening of the 4th, at the age of sixty years. He learned his trade in Dover and established the Dover Chronicle and afterwards the Great Falls Gazette. He also published a paper at Westboro,' Mass., but for some years has been connected with the Malden Messenger. At Dover he married Miss Frances Evans, by whom he has had five children, all now living. He had complained of a pain in his chest, but had been in Boston during the day, seeming to have no particular ailment. Just as he had got into bed and blown out the light he exclaimed—"Oh, my head!" His wife hastily struck a light and found that he was dead, having died instantaneously. Mr. M. was a religious man, and an early, consistent and constant friend and promoter of temperance. He was a partner of Mr. Dickinson, the eminent Boston Printer, and his successor in that business.

☞ The Manchester Mirror says "Mr. John D. Bean has just completed one of the handsomest houses in that city—but it is unfortunate in its location, being on a lot much too limited for so good a dwelling." This is a mistake often made out of Manchester.

☞ The name Peirce in this vicinity has generally been spelled with the e and t placed as located in the alphabet. The names of the ex-President and most others were spelled Pierce.

—It is sad to relate, that when mechanics have land they generally give it better cultivation than farmers; they have more grapes, pears, strawberries and water-melons, and earlier potatoes and cucumbers.

New Hampshire Items.

Between 8 and 9 o'clock on the morning of the 4th inst., John S. Morgan, living on Shaker Hill, in Enfield, went to his chamber, and shot himself dead with a double-barrelled gun. Mr. Morgan was one of the most respected citizens of the town, about 58 years of age. He had been in bad health for several months, and the suicide was committed under the influence of disease on his brain. He leaves a wife and two children.

While Charles A. Downs, son of Rev. C. A. Downs of Lebanon, was varnishing a pistol on the 3d inst., it was accidentally discharged, and the ball entered his left side, near the lung. Four physicians were called, but at last accounts this "concatenation of talent" was unable to decide precisely where the ball had lodged. It was thought at first to be in the left lung, but the recovery of the boy is considered probable. The pistol was loaded a long time ago, and was supposed to be empty.

During the past week a session of the Teachers' Institute has been held in Lebanon. The attendance was large, and the Free Press thinks that it is "sad that so many teachers should slight this opportunity to receive that instruction which would make them eminently more useful in their schools."

Potatoes are as yet largely undug, in the north of the State. During the cold snap one farmer in Canaan had all of his in the ground. Another in Orange had five acres in the same fix. On the 1st, in Rockingham county, the same was true, many vegetables and even corn not having been gardened.

The Nashua Iron Co. have manufactured and forwarded to the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad three iron shafts, total weight 22,500 pounds.

Enoch Farley of Hollis has raised some rousing chestnuts, 3 1-2 inches round.

Ninety-five children have been received at the Little Wanderer's Home in Boston. On the other hand, homes have been found for ninety-four in this State.

The long and very high railroad bridge, in process of erection in Mason Village, will soon be completed. Most of the timber in it is Georgia Pine, and a very large amount of iron is used to bolt and bind the wood-work together. It is to be one of the most substantial structures of the kind in New Hampshire.

The American Fan Company at Nashua are to resume operations at once.

The Nashua Telegraph has been favored with the sight of a remarkable cabbage — twelve on a stalk, a big one surrounded with satellites, weighing twenty-one pounds.

The Manchester Mirror tells about a carrot 3 feet 5 inches long, besides what was left in the ground.

Major John B. Wentworth, postmaster at Salmon Falls, died suddenly at his residence in that place, on the 3d, of congestion of the lungs. He was attacked at about 2 o'clock A. M., and died a little after 7.

By the robbery, Friday night, the loss to the Wolfboro' banks will be $25,000. Hon. John M. Brackett, President, loses about $3000. Cashier Tebbet's loses $2000. The lock on the safe had not been considered as perfectly reliable, and a new one was being made at the time of the robbery. The robbers made a clean sweep of almost everything that was valuable in the safe. The bank officials have offered a reward of $2000 for the arrest of the robbers

On the 17th ult., Dr. F. G. Russell of Tamworth was called to visit a patient about three miles away. On arriving he complained of a severe headache, threw off his hat and coat and fell to the floor. Remedies were applied, but in less than an hour he was dead. Apoplexy is thought to have been the cause.

Capt. Francis M. Smith, one of the Detectives in Boston, was married by Rev. Dr. Nicolson in St. Paul's Episcopal church to Miss Nellie M. Hobbs, formerly of North Hampton.

Rev. Mr. Jewett, of Fisherville, has lost the sight of one eye, the result of over-exertion in his profession.

Deacon Daniel C. Gould of Manchester recently found in Pennsylvania, a brother whom he had not seen for 65 years, nor heard of for 40. He was in grand condition—has 75 grandchildren.

☞ A new contribution to the living question of the Chinaman in the kitchen is made by Rev. A. L. Stone, who has written a letter to the Congregationalist, relating an experience which a large number of Bostonians will accept as authoritative. He praises the quiet, the quickness, the economy of the new servants, their respectful demeanor, their freedom from all habits of receiving company or going out evenings, their ingenuity in the variation of dishes, their ready understanding, their fidelity; and says there are no disadvantages to offset these manifold good qualities.

MR. SCAMMON'S ROBBERY.—It will be recollected that several weeks ago, Mr. Stephen Scammon of Stratham reported that he had been assaulted, knocked down and robbed, by two men at the Alton Bay Camp Meeting; losing his watch, $90, and valuable notes. He at once notified an ex-U. S. Detective of this city, describing the men, who in consultation with City Marshal Johnson at once came to the conclusion that they were George Woodsum and Woodbury Day, of Portsmouth and Biddeford; and on Saturday was notified by the City Marshal of Biddeford, that these men were under arrest, awaiting his order. He at once proceeded to Biddeford, and brought Woodsum and Day to this city; and they were fully identified by Scammon and other witnesses to be the robbers.

Marshal Johnson or an Assistant will take them to Laconia at once for trial. The prisoners deny all guilt in the matter. The watch was found in the mud after the scuffle, and restored to Mr. S., who was severely handled in the encounter. Marshal Johnson has done well in working up this case.

☞ Thirty-four Laborers were discharged from the Department of Yards and Docks at this Navy Yard on Saturday night last, and 13 joiners were discharged on Monday night. This is occasioned by a lack of work during the coming winter months, and is in accordance with orders from the Navy Department. Sixty men were also discharged from the Bureau of Construction — 26 joiners, 10 carpenters and 24 laborers.

☞ The Third Assembly under the management of the ladies of the C. B. B. Club takes place this evening at Congress Hall. They have arranged a very attractive order of dances, and those who go through with it to the music of Cushing's Quadrille Band will have a genuine good time. The Floor Managerresses announce the Grand March and Circle to commence at a quarter past 8 precisely.

NAVAL.—U. S. Steamer Pawnee, from this port for Norfolk, arrived at Newport on Saturday.

1st. Ass't Engr. Oscar H. Lackey is detached from the Albany and ordered to the Swatara.

U. S. Steamer Tallapoosa left Washington on Saturday, with freight for New York, Boston and Portsmouth. She will then sail with sealed orders for some unknown destination.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

A CLERGYMAN writing to a friend says, "My voyage to Europe is indefinitely postponed. I have discovered the fountain of health on this side of the Atlantic. Three bottles of the Peruvian Syrup have rescued me from the fangs of the fiend Dyspepsia. Dyspeptics should drink from this fountain. 1 SPERRY'S WINES.—Parties from London and Paris order it, appreciating its above French Wines. It is said to be unsurpassed for summer complaints, and for weakly persons. Our druggists have obtained some direct from Mr. Sperr. The price is low for so excellent a wine, and every family should have the "fountain of house.—Philadelphia Press.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Malarious Fogs.

Countless millions of cubic feet of malarious vapor rock from the earth each every twenty-four hours during the month of November. The evaporated moisture is the active principle which begets fever and ague, bilious remittents, indigestion, dysentery, billious cholic, rheumatism, and many other ailments which prevail more generally in the Fall than at other seasons, and some of which, in low, swampy regions and new clearings, take the form of virulent epidemics. The best safeguard against these complaints, as evidenced by the experience of a long series of years, is HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, the most pleasant and at the same time the most efficient of all vegetable tonics. The invigoration of the system is manifestly the best means of defending it against the causes of sickness, whether constitutional or casual. Nature, as every pathologist knows, is the most determined enemy of disease, and the paroxysm of an acute malady are in most instances the consequences of the efforts she makes to conquer the foe. The great object, therefore, of preventive treatment is to reinforce the system, and it is accompanied and dispatched rapidly and safely, by the use of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS. This powerful tonic contains also an aperient and corrective principle. It is no less valuable as a regulator and purifier than as an invigorant, and there is no danger of exciting the brain or overdriving the circulation by employing it as an antidote.

MERIT SOON NOISED ABROAD.

It is but six years since ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM, was first offered for sale. Its good qualities were soon made knownto thousands very soon its fame was noised far and near; now it is sold in nearly every Drug Store in the United States—NORTH, EAST, SOUTH AND WEST. No similar preparation has gained half so high a reputation, is well known on the Pacific coast, and liberal demands for it from San Francisco, Sacramento in California, and Portland, Oregon even from Australia, large orders are received for it. And throughout Canada, it is well and favorably known, and sold everywhere.

Read what Captain Foster writes:

PORT BURWELL, March 23d, 1869.

Messrs. PERRY DAVIS & SON,

Sirs:—I am pleased to notify you of the benefit which I have received from ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM; having been troubled with a cough for several years past, the Balsam was recommended to me. I immediately procured it, and found it to relieve my cough more readily than anything I ever tried. My wife has also used it with most satisfactory results.

Yours Very Truly,

Capt. D. FOSTER.

THE LATEST DISCOVERY

In Medication.

The great difficulty which physicians have been laboring for centuries to overcome, has at length been obviated. A vegetable Cathartic and alterative more efficient than any mineral preparation of the same class, and as agreeable to the taste as ordinary candy, is now offered to the sick in the form of a Lozenge.

DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S

is the most important medicinal novelty that modern chemistry has produced. It contains two botanical extracts, purely vegetable in themselves, but embodying all the remedial properties of mercury, and destined in this pleasant form to supersede and banish from general use, the nauseous pills and portions of which that dangerous excitant is the main ingredient. More than One thousand Physicians have signed testimonials, were made by the inventor of this peerless remedy before it was brought to its present state of perfection. The Lozenge is harmless in its operation, and altogether the medicinal taste of its curative components has been extinguished by chemical art, their virtues remain as active and potent as ever.

In Dyspepsia, Biliousness Constipation, Sick or Nervous Headache, Piles, Dropsy, and the irregularities to which the feebler sex are subject, the Lozenge will be found infinitly more effective than any of the horrible nauseous compounds now usually administered in such cases. As an antibilious specific and general aperient, they have no equal either among medical preparations or the prescriptions of the regular pharmacopœia.

☞ It is guaranteed that no one who has once tried the Erasmus Winslow's Liver and Stomach Lozenge, will ever again take a purgative powder, or draught or pill.

Comfort and Bliss or Pain and Agony.

DR. TOBIAS' CELEBRATED VENETIAN LINIMENT, whose wonderful cures, sure and instaneous action, in cases of Chronic Rheumatism, Headache, Toothache, Croup, Cuts, Burns, Bruises, Cramps, Dysentery, etc., have astonished the civilized world, is now offered with its sure fulness and popularity. No family should be without a bottle in the house. Hundreds of dollars and many hours of suffering may be saved by its timely use.

Colic, Cramp, and Dysentery yield at once to its penetrative properties. It is perfectly innocent, and can be given to the oldest person or youngest child. No matter if you have no confidence in patent medicines—try this, and you will be sure to buy again, and recommend to your friends. Hundreds of Physicians recommend it in their practice.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS remove all from the system which nature needs no longer.

The wonderful cures effected by Brandreth's Pills have arrested the attention of enlightened physicians. Upwards of five thousand now use them in their daily practice, and two hundred have given their written testimony as to their innocence and value, as removers of the bowels and blood. Their untold value is to those living in settlements where doctors can only be had at great expense. For if you are sick, you have only to take one or more doses of Brandreth's Pills to get cured. Full Directions are with each box.

Sold by all Druggists.

Holloway's Ointment and Pills.—PILES.—Do not suppose that every form of this complaint is incurable. The worst hemorrhoidal cases are met beyond the remedial reach of HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT. It gives tone to the relaxed integuments and acts as a sole styptic in the bleeding type of the disorder. Not unfrequently constipation is an accompaniment of the disease, and when this happens, it should be relieved with small doses of HOLLOWAY'S PILLS. Sold by all Druggists.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

Read the Evidence.

"Facts are stubborn things," and it is to facts alone that it is desired to direct the attention of the readers of this article.

Many years of severe and thorough practical trial have demonstrated beyond the peradventure of a doubt the fact that the medicines prepared by me, and known as SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, SCHENCK'S SEAWEED TONIC, and SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, have proved extraordinarily successful in the cure of diseases of the pulmonary organs, or what is usually termed Consumption.

I am fully aware that there are many persons whose prejudices rule them so completely that "profits strong as Holy Writ," would fail to convince them of the efficacy of my remedies, and to those I do not address this article, under no circumstances, could be prevailed upon to admit their merits, simply because such an admission would prove detrimental to their particular personal interests.

Fortunately for the welfare of mankind, these doubting people form a comparatively small portion of the community at large. They are to be found here and there, but, compared with the great mass of the world's population, their numbers are so small that I dismiss them, and address myself to those who are willing to listen to the dictates of reason, and who are disposed to admit and act upon the logic of well established facts.

We are also told almost daily that Consumption the scourge of the American people, is incurable; that a man whose lungs are diseased must be given over to death; that human skill is baffled; and that the arrangement of his temporal as well as spiritual affairs should claim his earliest attention. If these were not facts too well known, I feel that I can will shine in a clear heaven at midday to controvert these random and not unfrequently harmful assertions, I should feel unwilling to take up the gage of battle against them; but, fortified with results—facts—which neither theory nor mere assertion can overturn, I propose to prove that CONSUMPTION IS A DISEASE THAT CAN BE CURED by the medicines I prepare—THE MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC, and PULMONIC SYRUP, when, if used in strict accordance with the directions, in a majority of cases effect that which the faculty pronounces impossible—they will cure Consumption.

An ounce of solid fact is worth a pound of theory. Let me, therefore, present the facts connected with my own individual experience. Many years ago, I was a confirmed consumptive, and like thousands of other unfortunates, was given up to die. Eminent physicians pronounced my case hopeless one, and told me that I had best my preparations to make for the final solemn event, that I had better make them speedily. I believed this just as confidently as did the persons who thus affectionately informed me that my days were numbered, and that recovery was impossible. Still, the desire to live lingered in my bosom, I was young, and clung to life with the same tenacity that young men, and old men too, generally do. I did not feel willing to abandon hope as long as a single vestige of it remained. I had full faith in the sad information conveyed to me by my physicians, but still there was a lingering belief that something could be done, though I knew not in what direction to seek for the much desired relief.

It was at this gloomy and eventful period of my history that I first learned of the roots and herbs from which my remedies for this dreaded disease are now prepared. I procured some of them, and, to the utter amazement of all—physicians, friends and neighbors—began to improve. My entire system commenced to undergo a complete renovation. Expectoration, which formerly had been difficult and painful, now became comparatively easy. I threw off daily large quantities of offensive yellow matter. At the same time my long-lost appetite returned. I ate freely of such food as was palatable to me, and which was at the same time nutritious, and my weakness and expectoration became less copious and less offensive; exhausting night sweats ceased; the racking and painful cough gave way to a mere tickling; the pain departed; flesh planted itself on my sadly wasted frame, and withfleh came strength and vigor. From a mere skeleton I became a stout, strong, robust man, and I have maintained both strength and flesh to this day. I weigh two hundred and thirty-five pounds; I am blest with an appetite vouchsafed to but few men, and my digestive organs are amply equal to all the requirements of a healthful condition of my system.

Now, be it remembered, that these astonishingly so miraculous naturally created astonishment in the minds of those who knew me. I was literally looked on all sides. I had to tell the story why besought me to give them the remedies which had wrought the wonderful restoration which they witnessed me from the jaws of death. Letters were received by scores importuning me to impart the secret and inform the writers where the remedies for consumption could be obtained. Others, who were too weak to travel, not satisfied with writing, sent for and consulted me in regard to their cases. To all these applications I responded as I was able.

I had fully regained my health, and gratitude for the happy result prompted me to turn my attention to the science of medicine with the object of thereby being able to be of service to my suffering fellow-creatures. I devoted myself closely to the study for two and thirty-days, when I felt sure of them relating to the terrible disease from which I had suffered so long and so much. I investigated it in all its fearful phases, in order to assure myself that my case was not an exceptional one. The closer my investigations the more satisfactory were they in convincing me that I was not alone, that tens of thousands of my fellow-creatures were dying annually of consumption whose cases were not as desperate and apparently hopeless as mine had been, and I argued from this that remedies which had proven so effective with me would prove equally so with others. I prepared my medicine in a pleasant form, put it out to the world, and announced them to the world. The results are well known. Thousands of suffering men, women and children, who were on the way to the grave, have been cured, and are to-day living evidences of the fact that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED; and I think I may, without egotistically congrating to myself any more than is justly my due, that I have had as much experience in the treatment of consumption as any other person in the country, and that my success has been wonderfully great.

Let the reader remember that these are not mere fancied statements. They are positive living facts, of which I am the living evidence.

"What a man of old has done, why may not that has been done may be done." I have been completely cured of consumption by the remedies I now offer to the public. Thousands of others have testified to similar happy results in their cases, and thousands of others still might benefitted as I have been could they but be prevailed upon to try the virtues of the Mandrake Pills, Seaweed Tonic and Pulmonic Syrup. All that is necessary to convince the most skeptical of their merits is a fair trial.

Full directions accompany each of the medicines, so that it is not absolutely necessary that patients should see me personally, unless they desire to do so, which I cordially invite, for I propose I am personally at my PRINCIPAL OFFICE, No. 15 North Sixth Street, corner of Commerce, EVERY SATURDAY.

Advice is given without charge, but for a thorough examination with the Respirometer the price is five dollars.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic, each $1 50 per bottle, or $7 50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents per box.

WARD MEETINGS.—The voting on the proposed Constabulary law commences to-day at 9 o'clock A. M. Section 8 of Chap. XL of the General Statutes provides that "In all elections by the voters in the wards, the polls shall be opened at nine o'clock in the forenoon of the day of election, and shall be kept open until three o'clock in the afternoon, and as much longer as the meeting shall direct." We suggest that the polls be kept open in all Wards until 6 o'clock, P. M., for the benefit of the workingmen. The meeting in Ward Two will be held at the new Ward Room on State Street, formerly the High School House.

Communication.

A LAST WORD.—Messrs. Editors:—My popular fellow-correspondent "Pakeha" has nearly exhausted the argnments in opposition to the proposed constabulary law in reply to I. F. H. and a "Republican in Principle," and I have but a few words more to offer in reply to the latter. "R. I. P." chooses to discredit some of my statements regarding the Massachusetts election, and quibbles over a few hundred votes for Governor. I took my figures from the Boston papers of the day following the election, when the returns indicated less than 7000 majority for Claflin. Since then, further returns have increased it, but not largely. Whether the majority be 9000 or 7000 is immaterial. A loss of 60,000 to 70,000 in Massachusetts from last year shows that New Hampshire Republicans may be swamped next March if to-day's election results in the establishment of a State Police. The Massachusetts Republican State Convention ignored the temperance question, and recommended their constituents to vote for Claflin, and to vote for Republican members of the legislature who should best represent them on the temperance question. This saved Gov. Claflin from defeat. The contest was transferred to the legislative candidates and the license men secured nearly two-thirds of the whole number in the lower house. Half the Senators are license men, less than half favor the present law, and the remaining members elect favor its modification. The Democrats had but 2 members of the State Senate last year; now they have 9. They had but 16 members of the House; now they have 52. Many of the towns that voted for Claflin chose anti-prohibition members of the legislature. Nantucket gave Claflin over 300 majority and chose a Republican license Representative.

A change of four Senators and twenty-nine Representatives in New Hampshire would throw the legislature into the hands of the Democracy and rumsellers. The four closest Republican Senatorial districts gave respectively 111, 484, 71 and 147 majority against the Democracy, last year.

The Massachusetts liquor law is a dead letter as far as Boston is concerned, even as the New Hampshire law is a dead letter as far as Portsmouth is concerned. Liquor can be had at the saloons and hotels in Boston, notwithstanding the law "was never more successfully enforced than now."

I favor a law that will hold the rumseller equally guilty with the victim who murders because of the liquor furnished him, but am obliged to be contented for the present with the present law. I hear from good authority that several of our prominent rum-sellers declare their intention to vote for the constabulary, to-day! Why?

TEMPERANCE REPUBLICAN.

☞ We have made arrangements for the early reception of the vote in different sections of the State at the close of the polls to-day,—by the International Line.

☞ The Nelson distillery at the Shore was sold at auction by U. S. Revenue Collector Andrew H. Young, on Monday, for $956. Mr. Samuel Gerrish was the purchaser.

☞ Capt. John S. Sides of this city, and Mr. Melvin Stimson of Kittery, recently killed seventeen woodcocks in the short space of two hours. Who has or can beat this?

THE THEATRE.—Manager Bidwell is putting a variety of popular dramas on the stage, and the company are doing their best to please. Their exertions are being well repaid, and another large audience was present at the rising of the curtain, Monday evening. To-night there is a very attractive entertainment—"The French Spy" and "Don't Judge by Appearances." Dollie always draws a crowd when she appears as the "Spy" and will doubtless receive quite a flattering reception.

☞ The Opposition leaders in this city have for years kept a brace of puppies to bark at this Chronicle and the Republican party generally—but we don't see that they have ever bagged much game.

Morning Chronicle.

MARK TWAIN'S IDEA OF A GOOD LETTER.—The most useful and interesting letters we get here from home are from children seven or eight years old. This is petrified truth. Happily they have got nothing else to talk about but home, and neighbors and family—things their betters think unworthy of transmission thousands of miles. They write simply and naturally and without strain for effect. They say all they know and then stop. They seldom indulge in abstraction or homilies. Consequently their epistles are brief; but, treating as they do of familiar scenes and persons, always entertaining. Now, therefore, if you would learn the art of letter-writing, let a child teach you. I have preserved it as a curiosity, because it was the only letter I ever got from the States that had any information in it. It ran thus:

ST. LOUIS, 1865.

Uncle Mark, if you were here I could tell you about Moses in the bulrushes again; I know it better now. Mr. Sowerby has got his leg broke off a horse. He was riding it on Sunday. Margaret, that's the maid, Margaret has taken all the spittoons, and slop buckets and old jugs out of your room, because she says she don't think you are coming back any more, you been gone so long. Sissy McElroy's mother has got another little baby. She has them all the time. It has got little blue eyes, like Mr. Swimley that boards there and looks just like him. I have got a new doll, but Johnny Anderson pulled one of its legs out. Miss Doosenberry was here to day; I gave her your picture, but she said she didn't want it. My cat has got more kittens—oh! you can't think—twice as many as Lottie Belden's. And there's one, such a sweet little buff one with a short tail, and I named it for you.

And all of them's got names now—General Grant, and Halleck, and Moses, and Margaret, and Deuteronomy, and Captain Semmes, and Exodus, and Leviticus, and Horace Greeley—all named but one, and I am saving it because the one I named for you's been sick all the time since, and I reckon it'll die. [It appears to have been mighty rough on the short-tailed kitten, naming it for me—I wonder how the reserved victim will stand it.] Uncle Mark, I do believe Hattie Caldwell likes you, and I know she thinks you are pretty, because I heard her say nothing could hurt your good looks—nothing at all—she said even if you were to have the small-pox ever so bad, you would be just as good looking as you were before. And my ma says she's ever so smart. [Very.] So, no more this time, because General Grant and Moses is fighting. ANNIE.

This child treads on my toes in every other sentence, with perfect looseness, but in the simplicity of her time of life she doesn't know it.

I consider that a model letter—an eminently readable and entertaining letter, and, as I said before, it contains more matter of interest and real information than any letter I ever received from the East. I had rather hear about cats at home, and their truly remarkable names than listen to a lot of stuff about people I am not acquainted with, or read "The Evil Effect of the Intoxicating Bowl," illustrated on the back with the picture of a ragged scallawag pelting away right and left in the midst of his family circle, with a junk bottle.

—Fanny Fern thinks "there is no man who would not rather be shaved by a woman than to have a great lumbering man pawing about his jugular vein, and poking him in the ribs to get up when another man's turn come. I don't say how his wife might like it, but I am sure he would; and as to his wife, why—she could shave some other man, couldn't she?" Again, says Fanny, "I never saw a sick man yet who didn't behave like an overgrown baby, or inspire everybody in the house to pray, either for his speedy recovery, or his early translation."

—Daniel Webster wrote, after continued provocation, to the editor of a newspaper which referred to his private affairs, and especially to his not paying his debts. He said, substantially—"It is true that I have not always paid my debts punctually, and that I owe money. One cause of this is that I have not pressed those for payment who owe me. As an instance of this I enclose your father's note made me thirty years ago, for money let him to educate his boys."

—Two Americans at Baden-Baden, the other day, were dining with a pair of Paris ladies, when a Russian prince, who perhaps wished to pick a quarrel, purchased two glorious bouquets, and sent them to the ladies with his compliments. The Americans merely glanced over to his table, bowed cordially, and sent him back by the waiter two Napoleons. He was so much chagrined that he left the room.

—A cautious Itemizer tells what is the matter with a noted lady, in the following terms; "The Princess de Metternich is to retire from society for a little while, and is buying lots of edgings, insertions, muslins, and so on, which she is making up into little garments too large for a doll and too small for herself."

—A Western editor thus announces an interesting event in his family. "The editor acknowledges the receipt this morning, from the authorized source, of a personal item of the masculine persuasion, weighing nine pounds."

—Mr. Chadwick of England thinks he has established the fact that pupils kept in school but half a day, accomplish just as much as those confined during the ordinary school time.

BASE BALL.—The "Fat Contributor" having winessed a base ball match in Cincinnati thus expresses himself regarding the beauties of the game:—

"The attitude and motions of the 'pitcher' were a source of interest to us. He catches the ball as it is tossed to him, holds it in his hands, contemplates it a moment, something like Hamlet contemplates the skull of 'alas! poor,' &c., turns around and takes a pace or two meditatively—forgetful, apparently, of the ball—thinking of mother, and home, and friends, and sweetheart, debts, and things, quite oblivious to the awaiting batter or the expectant crowd. Suddenly his eyes fall upon the ball—a moment of bewilderment ensues—he wonders what it is, and how it came there—then his brain clears up—his thoughts gather—it's a base ball—ah! ah! the match is on—he's the pitcher—away! and turning swift as lightning, he let's drive at the batter. And the batter (no batter than he should be, perhaps,) he adjusts himself after the model of the Colossus of Rhodes. He throws out his chest and a few other pieces of baggage, and straightens up his trunk, and plants his valises firmly; he spits upon his hands and grasps the club with a grip equal to a District Collector holding on to office. He is ready awaiting the inauguration ball. It comes. He inclines his head a little to one side as it passes, rests on his club, looks as if he hadn't done anything, as he hadn't. This performance is repeated several times to allow the pitcher a chance to renew his meditation over the skull of Yorick, think of home, &c., and give opportunities for the batter to exhibit his skill as a posturer and his exquisite talent of spitting on his hands.

At length the blow comes, and the ball comes skimming through the air or bounding along the ground. We couldn't help thinking all the time how much easier it would have been to have sent it through the post office, or by the telegraph, and saved all the trouble. But it was none of our match. We don't belong to the Red Stocking or any other club.

The running pleased us more than any other portion of the game. We always like to see the boys go 'round, having been 'round a good deal ourself. Some of them were a little late in getting 'home,' but that is better than running all night.

We wouldn't like to try and catch one of those balls. We had rather catch cold, or the measles the second time.

—Knox's hats are the ton in N. York. But is it not a little paradoxical that "Knox" on a man's head would make him comfortable? Yes? Perhaps they would not be felt. Cap-ital joke.

—No matter how much you desire to fight, never begin on a mule or a cross-eyed man. Their looks don't advertise clearly enough where they are going to hit.

From the Portsmouth Journal.

"RAMBLES ABOUT PORTSMOUTH."

The first series of the Rambles received many very high commendations both from the press and from individuals whose high literary standing gave much force to their criticism. We are told that the late President Jared Sparks of Harvard College, the historian and biographer, expressed in enthusiastic terms his great pleasure and satisfaction in its perusal.

We copy from the Boston Transcript the following notice written in 1859 by Henry T. Tuckerman Esq. of New York, a gentleman who stands in the first ranks of the literary world.

Local Histories.—A series of county history have recently appeared in England. The information they contain is valuable and curious; family chronicles, indigenous products, native traits of all kinds, are exhibited with scientific minuteness and authenticity. These works have been highly and justly commended in leading British reviews, as affording new and precious materials for English history in general. Equally desirable are local histories in this country. Indeed, if we desired to make a foreigner understand the working of our institutions and the manner in which society and its great interests develop among us, we advise him to trace carefully the origin, growth, laws, economy and character of a single old town. He would thus follow the pioneer and border life, the Indian savages, the municipal organization, the church and school establishment, the fisheries or manufactures, farming or trading, of the inhabitants, and so on to the present enlightenment and prosperity.

Take for instance, the very entertaining and curious volume just published by C. W. Brewster, Esq. of Portsmouth, N. H. under the unpretending title of "Rambles" about that endeared old New England town—where the Buckminsters flourished, Gov. Langdon entertained, and Baron Steuben landed. He gives us some pleasant scenic and typographical data; many an interesting episode of family history; odd pictures of colonial times, political reminiscences; a church chronicle, personal portraits, amusing anecdotes, and by these details, make us vividly aware of life in New England centuries ago, and the method of her local growth and social culture in isolated communities. A more specific idea is thus obtained than the more generalized narrative of Bancroft or Palfrey afford. Those who know Portsmouth, and have frequented the shores of the fair Piscataqua, will find new zest added to their reminiscences thereof, and new interest to their future visits by familiarity with Mr. Brewster's attractive "Rambles."

The work is published in a handsome octavo volume. We have seldom met with a local history so readable. Some of the details in regard to Washington's visit are quite new, and apposite to the renewed interest everything relating to that illustrious character now excites. The worthies of Portsmouth were neither few nor unrenowned; in the pulpit, at the bar, in the council and the field, her sons have left noble memories which give a peculiar charm to the biographical portion of this entertaining and valuable work.

The second series of Rambles, which will soon be ready for distribution, present the same general features of interest which elicited for the first volume so many complimentary notices from gentlemen of conspicuous literaty talent, and from the press, and is much more piquant and interesting than a formal history can be. In these two volumes we have a compend of materials, many of which must else have been irrevocably lost, and from which some future author might compile the annals of our ancient city.

The second series will contain a very fine likeness of the author, drawn on stone by J. H Bufford, of Boston.

We have received subscriptions for a large portion of the edition printed. Those wishing copies should send in their names at an early day; as the work has not been stereotyped, no additional copies can be furnished after the edition is exhausted.

The subscription price will be $2 25—to non-subscribers $2 75. Five copies for $10 00.

Subscriptions received at the Journal office; by CHARLES G. BREWSTER, 16 Tremont St. Boston; by Messrs. COLE & LAMBERT, at the office of the American Steam Fire Proof Safe Co., 300 Broadway, New York; by Charles W. Coxe, Esq., Insurance Agent and Broker, Southeast corner of Fifth and Walnut Streets, (up stairs,) Philadelphia.

—According to an exchange, it is easy enough to kill witch grass, if you only go to work right. First dig it up with a spade, then rake it out carefully with a succession of tools, beginning with a three legged stool and ending with a fine-tooth comb—agitating the soil to the depth of two feet. Take the grass and roots and run them through a straw-cutter, mix them with meal and feed them to your pig, and then immediately sell the pig out of the country. Seed down your garden to clover, and take your neighbors cow or william goat to pasture, and you will be troubled no more—that year.

STOLEN THUNDER.—The Philadelphia Telegraph reports that a young minister recently preached with marked effect in two of the Episcopal churches of that city. A Massachusetts lady who was present was acquainted with the discourse, and pointed it out to the vestrymen in the writings of William Ellery Channing, the famous Boston Unitarian!

DODD'S NERVINE ONCE MORE.
THE STANDARD REMEDY for biliousness with the medical profession is the Anti-Bilious Pill of the American Pharmacopeia. And its reputation has been well enough deserved. But it is a Pill, nevertheless, and most people of sensibility feel scruples about as big as a meeting house coming into their throat whenever a pill is spoken of. DODD'S NERVINE AND INVIGORATOR acts efficiently on the biliary organism; it irritates neither stomach nor intestine in all its operation; and what is VERY IMPORTANT, as all good nurses know, it is MOST AGREEABLE TO TASTE, as any sick man or invalid can say as any delicate wine. We all know how it is with Cod Liver Oil. In a pure state it is excellent for certain conditions of debility, and particularly in tendencies to Consumption; and yet many of the best physicians decline to use it, because it is so difficult to reconcile the patient. That, they say, makes it do more harm than good. With Dodd's Nervine all this becomes obstacle. For sale by all Druggists. Price $1. o24w

WHAT ARE
DR. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA Vinegar Bitters.
THEY ARE NOT A VILE FUSEL DRINK, Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits, and refuse Liquors, doctored, spiced, and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetisers" "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD-PURIFIER and LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter, and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell. $100 will be given for an incurable case, providing the bones are not destroyed by mineral poisons or other means, the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.
FOR INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND GOUT, DYSPEPSIA, or INDIGESTION, BILLIOUS, REMITTENT, and INTERMITTENT FEVERS, DISEASES OF THE BLOOD, LIVER, KIDNEYS, and BLADDER, these BITTERS have been most successful. SUCH DISEASES are caused by VITIATED BLOOD, which is generally produced by derangement of the DIGESTIVE ORGANS.
Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood healthy, and all will be well.
These Bitters are not a gilded pill, to delight the eye or please the fancy, but a medical preparation, composed of the best vegetable ingredients known.
They are Alterative, Tonic, Diuretic, Sedative, Diaphoretic, and Gentle Purgative.
"The Life of all Flesh is the Blood thereof."—Purify the blood and the health of the whole system will follow.

The Erie brakemen are on a strike. Fisk has filled their places with New York rough "strikers" of another kind —whow he pays $5 each and expenses to keep off any assailants from the striking brakemen.

The Eckford base ball club lost the championship to the Brooklyn Atlantics on Monday, Score 16 to 12.

Brownlow was never in better health than now: Andrew Johnson was the antidote that prevented his death. Brownlow fears that if he should step out, Andy would step in— so he made up his mind not to die just yet.

A severe storm has prevailed on Lake Ontario, and several disasters to the shipping are reported.

The deaths among the Grosventre Indians in Montana from small-pox number 500, or half the entire tribe. They are committing suicide by blowing their brains out with revolvers. The whites have taken the distemper in the form of light varioloid, but no fatal cases are reported. Dead Indians strew the road from Forks to Mill river. The Grosventres demand that the Indian agent act as a mediator with the Great Spirit to stop the disease.

The free navigation of the Dardanelles for the merchant marine of all nations is expected. The representations of foreign envoys have been favorably received by the Sultan, who shows a disposition to concede their demands.

On the 27th of October a severe earthquake occured at Manila. Some of the city walls fell, and there were many accidents.

On the 6th instant the Avondale Relief Fund amounted to $81,239.50, of which sum only $10,723.80 has been expended in aid of the widows and orphans.

☞ Mr. James H. Briggs in a speech at North Adams, Mass., just before the election, imposed the burden of paying the national debt on the hens. Estimating the number in the State at four million, each of which under favorable circumstances would lay one hundred eggs a year, he proceeded to cipher out his problem. Mr. Briggs wants the hens to lay their all on the altar of their country.

☞ Mr. George Wilkes is happy to state to a curious world that he has learned from Dr. Sequard of Paris the interesting fact that Louis Napoleon's disease is fungus of the bladder. The doctor told Mr. Wilkes that the emperor might die at any time and could hardly hope to live until spring.

☞ The striking development of woman's rights lately reported is in Santiago, Chili, and it is pretty chilly. A woman has brought an action for divorce based on the fact that her husband is also a woman. This is about as vile a violation of confidence as any "the monster man," has been guilty of.

New Hampshire Items.

Mr. Nelson B. Cook of Moultonborough, raised a Beet which weighs seven pounds ten and a half ounces, and measures in circumference twenty-five and a half inches.

☞ "Poor old horse—let him die." And he is dead. If there is no error in the chronology, the oldest horse probably in the world (the Guerney Horse, stallion,) died at Newark, Ohio, recently. It is claimed that he was 51 years old. He was gray with age, and died from colic, caused by bad digestion. Though more than fifty years of age, he was bred to mares last season. His death from colic was long anticipated, as the process of mastication was very imperfect for a number of years; there were only three of the molars that were firmly in their position. He is said to have been foaled in 1818, and brought to the States from Canada.

THE OLD SEXTONS.—The sexton of the First Parish Church, in Portland, Me., David Stillings, has occupied that position for 20 years, and the ladies of the Society, have presented him with a Silver service—a deserved testimonial to a worthy man; so says a Portland letter. Mr. Ebenezer Wyatt of this city, we believe has been sexton of the Stone Church 24 years, and is also well known as a very worthy man.

—What is the difference between a pill and a hill?—One is hard to get up, and the other is hard to get down.

PIKE EXECUTED.—(Special Dispatch to the Daily Chronicle.) — Concord, Nov. 9.—At half-past 8 o'clock, Tuesday morning, religious exercises were held in Pike's cell, and a choir from the city of Concord, by special request of Pike, sung the hymn "My Latest Sun is Sinking." From that hour he received visitors, and greeted them all pleasantly and with as much composure as though he had been in his own parlor. The gallows was erected in a corridor of the north wing of the State Prison, and its entire construction and the general management fell upon Joseph P. Morse of Portsmouth, Sheriff of the County where the deed was committed.

Pike ascended the gallows with a firm step and joined in the devotional exercises with fervor, after which Rev. Sullivan Holman read Pike's address. He implores all young men to abstain from the "flowing bowl"—the cause of his fate and the prime cause of all crimes, and entreated those who dealt in intoxicating liquors to stop that dreadful work. After the address was finished the last act was performed which launched his soul into eternity. His body hung thirty minutes; his neck was partially broken by the fall. His body was taken in charge by one of the surgeons in attendance. The execution tookplace at 11.30. and he died without a struggle.

The following are the farewell words of Pike, which Rev. Mr. Holman read upon the scaffold:

"Gentlemen—I don't shrink from my fate; I do not dread to die, because I know how worthless my life is, and I have a hope in Christ for a better hereafter; but I wish to leave a warning in my last words to those who are inclined to intemperance. It has destroyed my life and periled my soul, and I entreat those who deal in intoxicating drinks to stop that dreadful work; and Oh! I implore their victims to stop before it is too late. As I hope to be forgiven the sins of a misspent life, I forgive all severity and injustice toward myself, and willingly commit my soul, wicked and unworthy as I have been, to the disposal of a crucified Saviour. To my especial friends who have been so constant and kind, who have given me sympathy, advice and encouragement during my stay in this prison, I can only return the heartfelt thanks of a dying man. I can feel what they have done for me, but cannot utter my feelings, but commending them to God for His blessing, and imploring mercy for myself, I give you all my last farewell.

JOSIAH L. PIKE."

☞ Amid general and even great prosperity, there are often serious drawbacks, for which no human power is responsible, and which, therefore, belong to what are sometimes called affective providences. For example, as a contemporary says:—"Nature seems to be at war with New England. Only a few weeks ago a terrific gale visited us and wrought much ruin along the coast. There came copious rains which produced a freshet such as had not been experienced in the last fifty years. Millions on millions of property and many lives were destroyed. Years cannot repair the damage wrought. This was succeeded by an earthquake, felt in Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, and New Brunswick. No serious damage done, but a good many people were badly frightened."

☞ A London literary paper says that few are probably aware of the fate of Lord Byron's heart. After his death at Missolonghi, Greece, in 1822, his body was embalmed and sent to England, but the heart was begged and obtained by the Greeks, who enclosed it in a silver case. Four years later, after the protracted seige of Missolonghi, a sallying party, carrying the relic with them, cut a way, with a great sacrifice of life, through the Turkish lines; but the heart was lost in crossing the marshes. The story may be true, but many people will doubt whether the debauchee poet ever had a heart.

☞ Bonner's Bogart Colt, only 5 years old, trotted a mile last week in New York, in 2:19 1-2,—and another five year cold olt there did the like. Speedy for young ones.

A valuable horse belonging to Dr. Tilton of Newburyport, dropped dead of heart disease last Saturday.

☞ Was it not a singular coincidence that on the very day of the hanging of Pike at Concord,—a drunkard himself, and the son and grandson of drunkards —the people of this State should be called upon to vote upon a law relative to temperance, and should vote it down too?

—The World says that New York society seems to be reviving the period of Pompeiian civilization in the matter of low-necked dresses and their voluptuous displays. Shame on this fashionable prostitution! There may be honest difference of opinion concerning mere extravagance in dress, but this is a matter of morality that is altogether one sided. Ought not Christian women to meet it with more than silent dissent?

Communication.

REV. GEORGE W. BICKNELL commenced his ministry with the Universalist Society in this city, Sunday, under flattering auspices. The occasion was made one of great interest both to pastor and people. A generous collection of cut flowers, (calla lilies, tea roses, fuchsias, pinks, &c.,) were arranged with exquisite taste; a beautiful floral cross rested in front of the altar, and an arch of green velvet spanned the recess back of the pulpit, on which was wrought in white flowers an appropriate "Welcome" — all together giving a beautiful effect to this fine church, in its surroundings of nature, and its touches of art.

An eloquent discourse was preached by the the new pastor, from I Cor., 4:2, —"Moreover it is required in stewards, that a man be found faithful." His sermon gave many fine points regarding the union just formed, and the duties and relations of pastor and people, which with his eloquent lesson drawn from the silent voices of the flowers, called forth many flattering expressions from the large audience present. Rarely have we seen either such a united feeling of regard for a pastor, or so rich a variety of flowers, arranged with such delicate taste, as was here displayed. We learn it is contemplated by the Church and Sunday School, to observe the coming Christmas with appropriate services. H.

DIED in Somerville, Mass., Nov. 8th, at the residence of his son, Mr. JAMES DENNETT, aged 87 yrs. 9 mos. The Funeral services will take place at Somerville, and the remains will be brought to this city for interment on Thursday P. M. at 2 1-2 o'clock. Mr. Dennett was the oldest member of the Mechanic Association, who will turn out and escort the body from the Depot to the Cemetery at that hour.

The deceased was a very hearty and hale old gentleman, and was industriously employed at his trade as housejoiner until within a few weeks. He was a good mechanic, and one of the most worthy, social and agreeable of old gentlemen; and many, both young and old, will regret to meet him no more. Very few men of any age are so well and strong as he was even after four-score; and he retained his upright stature and kept his noted splendid teeth to the last—so that he looked much younger than he really was; and when in this city only a few weeks ago, was observed to bite open and eat hard apples which would make many younger folks pause. He leaves a wife and three sons, all resident elsewhere.

☞ Secretary Boutwell has been increasing the salaries of some of the persons holding responsible and onerous positions in the Treasury Department. Mr. Henry S. Vanderbilt, Appointment Clerk, formerly of this city, is one of the most valuable and hard-working officials in the Department, and has his salary increased to $3000 per annum. We know of no one more deserving than Mr. V.

☞ We believe in hanging all such murderers as Pike—but we don't approve the morbid curiosity which leads people to desire to witness the awful spectacle, or to read the details of murders and hangings. We would have no spectators but those ordered by law, and no report but the merest announcement of the facts. Hence we sent no reporter to the scene, and occupy very little of our space with account of it.

☞ Went down together—Pike and the proposed Constabulary law.

Malarious Fogs.

Countless millions of cubic feet of malarious vapor reek from the moist earth every twenty-four hours during the month of November. This evaporated moisture is the active principle which begets fever and ague, bilious remittents, indigestion, dysentery, bilious cholic, rheumatism, and many other ailments which prevail more generally in the Fall than at other seasons, and some of which, in low, swampy regions and new clearings, take the form of virulent epidemics. The best safeguard against these complaints, as evidenced by the experience of a long series of years, is HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, the most pleasant and at the same time, the most efficient of all vegetable tonics. The invigoration of the system is manifestly the best means of defending it against the cause of sickness, whether constitutional or casual. Nature, as every pathologist knows, is the most determined enemy of disease, and the paroxysms of an acute malady are in most instances the consequences of the effort she makes to conquer the foe. The great object, therefore, of preventive treatment is to reinforce the vital powers, and it is acknowledged that rapidly and safely, by the use of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS. This powerful tonic contains also an aperient and corrective principle. It is no less valuable as a regulator and purifier than as an invigorant, and there is no danger of exciting the brain or over-stimulating the circulation by employing it as an antidote.

MERIT SOON NOISED ABROAD.

It is but six years since ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM, was first offered for sale. Its good qualities were soon made known at home, and very soon its fame was noised far and near; now it is sold in nearly every Drug Store in the United States, NORTH, EAST, SOUTH and WEST. No similar medicine stands higher with the people. It is well known on the Pacific coast, and liberal demands for it from San Francisco, Sacramento in California, and Portland, Oregon; even from Australia, large orders are received for it. And throughout Canada, it is well and favorably known, and sold everywhere.

Read what Captain Foster writes:

PORT BURWELL, March 23d, 1869.

Messrs. PERRY DAVIS & SON,

DEAR SIRS:—I am pleased to notify you of the benefit which I have received from ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM; having been troubled with a cough for several years back, I thought I would try Allen's Lung Balsam was recommended to me. I immediately procured it, and found it to relieve my cough more readily than anything I ever tried. My wife has also used it with most satisfactory results.

Yours Very Truly,

Capt. D. FOSTER.

THE LATEST DISCOVERY

In Medication.

The great difficulty which physicians have been laboring for centuries to overcome, has at length been obviated. A vegetable Cathartic and Alterative more efficient than any mineral preparation of the same class, and as agreeable to the taste as ordinary cordials, is now offered to the sick in the form of a Lozenge.

DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S

is the most important medicinal novelty that modern chemistry has produced. It contains two botanical extracts, perfectly harmless in themselves, but embodying all the remedial properties of mercury, and destined in this pleasant form to supersede and banish from general use, the numerous pills and portions of which that dangerous excitant is the main ingredient. More than were made by the inventor of this popular remedy before it was brought to its present state of perfection. The Lozenge is harmless in its operation, and altogether the medicinal taste of its curative components has been extinguished by chemical art, their virtues remain as active and potent as ever.

In Dyspepsia, Biliousness Constipation, Sick or Nervous Headache, Piles, Dropsy, and the irregularities to which the fairer sex are subject, the Lozenge will be found infinitly more effective than any of the horrible and disgusting compounds usually administered in such cases. As an antibilious specific and general aperient, they have no equal either among advertised preparations or the prescriptions of the regular pharmacopœia.

☞ It is guaranteed that no one who has once tried DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S Liver and Stomach Lozenge, will ever again take a purgative powder, or draught or pill.

TOBIAS' CELEBRATED VENETIAN LINIMENT, whose wonderful cures, sure and instaneous action, in cases of Chronic Rheumatism, Headache, Toothache, Croup, Cuts, Burns, Colic, Cramps, Dysentery, etc., have astonished the civilized world, is now a catch-penny; but an article that has stood the test of twenty years. The enormous sale and rapidly increasing demand is at once the surest evidence of its usefulness and popularity. No family should be without a bottle in the house. Hundreds of dollars and many hours of suffering may be saved by its timely use.

Colic, Cramp, and Dysentery yield at once to its paincurative properties. It is perfectly innocent, and can be given to the oldest or youngest born child. No matter if you have no confidence in Patent Medicines—try this, and you will be sure to buy again, and recommend to your friends. Hundreds of Physicians recommend it in their practice.

In Remote Settlements of United Value.

Food makes blood; blood makes the body. If the blood be pure, the body is healthy. So if we are not in health, we know some impurities are lurking about, which must be removed, and the sooner the better.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS remove all from the system which nature needs no longer.

The wonderful cures effected by Brandreth's Pills have arrested the attention of enlightened physicians. Upwards of five thousand now use them in their daily practice, and two hundred have given their written testimony as to their innocence and value, as cleansers of the bowels and blood. Their untold value is to those living in settlements where doctors can only be had at great expense. For if you are sick, you have only to take one or more doses of Brandreth's Pills to get cured. SPECIAL NOTICES.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

Read the Evidence.

"Facts are stubborn things," and it is to facts alone that it is desired to direct the attention of the readers of this article.

Many years of severe and thorough practical trial have demonstrated beyond the peradventure of a doubt the fact that the medicines prepared by me, and known as SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, SCHENCK'S SEAWEED TONIC, and SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, have proved extraordinarily successful in the cure of diseases of the pulmonary organs, or what is usually termed Consumption.

I am fully aware that there are many persons whose prejudices rule them so completely that "proofs strong as Holy Writ," would fail to convince them of the efficacy of my remedies, and that there are others who, under no circumstances, could be prevailed upon to admit their merits, simply because such an admission would prove detrimental to their particular personal interests.

Fortunately for the welfare of mankind, these doubting people form a comparatively small portion of the community at large. They are to be found here and there, but, compared with the great mass of the world's population, their numbers are so small that I dismiss them, and address myself to those who are willing to listen to the dictates of reason, and who are disposed to admit the strong logic of well established facts.

We are also told almost daily that Consumption the scourge of the American people, is incurable; that a man whose lungs are diseased must be given over to die; that he should make his peace; and that the arrangement of his temporal as well as spiritual affairs should claim his earliest attention. If there were not facts as undeniable as that the sun will shine in a clear heaven at midday to controvert these random and not unfrequently harmful assertions, I should feel unwilling to take up the gage of battle against them; but I feel fortified with results—facts—which neither theory nor mere assertion can overturn. I propose to prove that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED, and that the medicines I prepare—THE MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC, and PULMONIC SYRUP, will, if used in strict accordance with the directions, in a majority of cases effect that which the faculty pronounces impossible—they will cure Consumption.

An ounce of solid fact is worth a pound of theory. Let me, therefore, present the facts connected with my own individual experience. Many years ago, I was a confirmed consumptive, and like thousands of other unfortunates, was given up to die. Eminent physicians pronounced my case a hopeless one, and told me that if I had any preparations to make for the final solemn event, that I had better make them speedily. I believed this just as confidently as did the persons who thus affectionately informed me that my days were numbered, and that recovery was impossible. Still, the desire to live lingered in my bosom. I was young, and clung to life with the same tenacity that young men, and old men too, ordinarily do. I did not feel willing to abandon hope as longas a single vestige of it remained. I had full faith in the sad information conveyed to me by my physicians, but still there was a lingering belief that something could be done, although I knew not in what direction to seek for the much desired relief.

It was at this gloomy and eventful period of my history that I first learned of the roots and herbs from which my remedies for this dreaded disease are prepared. I procured and used them, and, to the utter amazementof all—physicians, friends and neighbors—began to improve. My entire system commenced to undergo a complete renovation. Expectoration which formerly had been difficult and painful, now became comparatively easy. I threw off daily large quantities of opaque yellow matter. My appetite returned, my long-lost appetite returned. I ate freely of such food as was palatable to me, and which was at the same time nutritious, and my emaciated proportion became less copious and less offensive; exhausting night sweats ceased; the racking and harassing cough abated; the fever broke; the pain departed; flesh planted itself on the sadly wasted frame, and with flesh came strength and full health. From a mere skeleton I became a stout, strong, robust man, and I have maintained both strength and flesh to this day. I weigh two hundred and thirty-five pounds; I am blest with an apetite vouchsafed to but few men, yet the my digestive organs are amply equal to all the requirements of a healthful condition of my system.

Now, be it remembered, all those wonderful changes were wrought by the use of the medicines I prepare—MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC and PULMONIC SYRUP. A cure so seemingly so miraculous naturally created astonishment in the minds of those who knew me. I was literally bedridden on all sides. I had visited daily who besought me to give them the remedies which had wrought the wonderful restoration and had wrested me from the very jaws of death. They were received by me with open arms, for to impart the secret and inform the writers where the specifics for consumption could be obtained. Others, who were able, went to travel, and satisfied with writing, sent for and consulted me in regard to their cases. To all these applications I responded as I was able.

I had fully regained my health, and gratitude for the happy result prompted me to turn my attention to the science of medicine with the hope of thereby being able to be of service to my suffering fellow-creatures. I devoted myself closely to my studies, and more especially to that branch of them relating to the terrible disease from which I had suffered so long and so much. I investigated it in all its fearful phases, in order to assure myself that my case was not an exceptional one. The closer my investigations the more satisfactory were my conclusions. I felt convinced that fifteen thousands of my fellow-countrymen dying annually of consumption whose cases were not as desperate and apparently hopeless as mine had been, I argued from this that remedies which had proven so effective with me would prove equally so with others. I prepared my medicines in a pleasant and agreeable form, and announced them to the world. The results are well known. Thousands of suffering men, women and children, who were on the way to the grave, have been cured, and are to-day living evidences of the fact that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED; and I think I may say, without arrogating to myself any more than is justly my due, that I have had as much experience in the treatment of consumption as any other person in the country, and that my success has been wonderfully great.

Let the reader remember that these are not mere fancied statements. They are positive living facts, of which I am the living evidence.

There is an old adage which says, "What has been done may be done." I have made a complete cure of consumption by the remedies I now offer to the public. Thousands of others have testified to similar happy results from their use, and thousand of others still might be benefitted if I have been could they but be prevailed upon to try the virtue of The Mandrake Pills, Seaweed Tonic and Pulmonic Syrup. All that is necessary to convince the most sceptical of their merits is a fair trial.

Full directions accompany each of the medicines, so that it is not absolutely necessary that patients should see me personally, unless they desire to have their lungs examined, in which particular I am personally at my PRINCIPAL OFFICE, No. 15 North Sixth Street, corner of Commerce, EVERY SATURDAY.

Advice is given without charge, but for a thorough examination with the Respirometer the price is five dollars.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic, each $1 50 per bottle, or $7 50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents per box.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

☞ A prominent feature on Tuesday—the noes.

☞ Potatoes are suffering from "dry rot" in this section.

☞ It is said that the Vandalia is to go to Portland on recruiting service.

☞ Dr. Dessauer, the well-known Oculist, from Boston, is in this city, at the Franklin house, on Wednesday and Thursday only, with his usual assortment of Spectacles, Eye Glasses, &c.

☞ The sale by auction, of Mr. March's fine Library, at Greenland, on Friday next, affords opportunity to select from a large number of valuable works, many of them richly bound. Catalogues may be had at Mr. Foster's Bookstore in this city.

☞ We have seen the portrait of the late C. W. Brewster, engraved for the second volume of his Rambles About Portsmouth, now in press. It is an excellent likeness of our old and highly esteemed friend and brother. "The Rambles" will be ready for distribution to subscribers on Saturday next.

☞ Our acknowledgments to Mr. E. O. Cole of the Western Union Telegraph Line for a special dispatch from Concord, which we publish elsewhere, containing an account of the execution of Josiah L. Pike. The lines were down until late in the afternoon, and bets were made in this city that Pike's sentence had been commuted.

THE THEATRE.—Dollie Bidwell fairly excelled herself in the character of Miami, Monday night, and we have once more to commend the acting of Lillie Wilkinson, who is growing to be a decided favorite with the theatre-goers.

The "French Spy" drew another large audience, Tuesday evening, and to-night "East Lynne," one of Dollie Bidwell's specialties, is offered for the approbation of her many friends.

THE CONSTABLE ELECTION. Tuesday was pleasant, but as there were no partizans to rally the various clans to the contest, the vote was light. Democrats voted "yes" and Democrats voted "no" while Republicans threw two-thirds of all the votes cast on both sides in this city, the Democracy generally staying from the polls, doubtless thinking it was none of their funeral. The polls were kept open until about six o'clock, when the votes of the different wards were declared as follow:

	Yes.	No.	Total.
Ward I,	26	208	234
" II,	41	203	244
" III,	7	129	136
	74	540	634

Majority against the act, 466. One man in Ward One threw a vote with "Yes" and "No" on it.

We were unable to procure any returns by telegraph, except the report that the proposed law is heavily defeated.

☞ While the Chronicle is always ready with a reason for its faith, and neither spares friend or foe in advocating a principle—it would be very slow to do injustice to any, and our columns are always open to all for correction as everybody knows.

And as a firm Republican member of the City Government has almost convinced us that we have done injustice in our strictures on Alderman Nowell, particularly as to his votes on the Police and Printing question—we are happy to say so. He says Mr. Nowell misunderstood the desire of the Republican Board as to Police, and never wavered on the Printing, in desiring to give it to a Republican. And further, that Ald. Nowell has never been influenced by or followed the lead of Mayor Jones.

Now we never questioned Ald. Nowell's Republican sympathies or intentions, but we did think his actions in the cases referred to, tended the wrong way, and we did not hesitate to say so, —as we did under similar circumstances of others last year. We hold to all public patronage going to the dominant party always,—and to sustaining the party policy always. Nobody has been more ready to acknowledge Mr. Nowell's industry, enterprise, and public spirit, then we; and none would regret more to do him or any other friend (or foe) injustice. Of course he and all others have a right to vote as they please, but by deeds men are judged and named. We would lose no opportunity to undo any injury we may unwittingly inflict on any.

FURTHER NAVY YARD IMPROVEMENTS.—The new Steam Fire Engine House just completed at this Navy Yard, (located near the Franklin Shiphouse,) is said by those interested in such matters who have visited it from various parts of the country, to be one of the best constructed and arranged, either at the several Naval Stations or elsewhere; and is worthy the inspection of all parties, as combining in the smallest possible space all the requirements for the proper care and keeping of Fire Engines and their appliances.

The main building is built of brick on granite foundations, and the walls are 15 feet 4 inches in height, from the top of the underpinning, and covered with a circular "Monitor" roof. In the centre of the floor, and from the main entrance, there are two tracks about five feet apart, on which the two steamers run; under which are two pits five feet deep, so that any repairs to the under portions of the engines can be made while in the house. There are also telescopic galvanized iron hoods, so arranged with a chimney in the roof, that they can be shut down over the smoke stacks and the engines can be worked in the house. The building is supplied with benches, tools and other facilities for repairing. In the rear of the building and connected with it, is the House Tower, 12 feet square on the base and sixty feet in height, heated by steam. There are facilities by which 3000 feet of hose can be hoisted up at one time and properly dried, all waste water being carried off through the sewer which is connected with the pit at the bottom. The Tower is surmounted by an ornamental vane and compass points, to which William A. Orcutt of Boston has affixed one of of his most approved "Lightning Conductors." The boilers of the engines are replenished by a pipe from a suspended tank which is filled through a pipe from a reservoir in the immediate vicinity.

A BEAUTIFUL BOOK.—We have taken much pleasure in reading "The Court Circles of the Republic, or the Beauties and Celebrities of the Nation—illustrating life and society under eighteen Presidents, describing the social features of the successive Administrations from Washington to Grant;" Illustrated with original portraits splendidly engraved on steel, of fifteen ladies, Mrs. Wm. Sprague, (full length, for frontispiece,) Mrs. Alex. W. Randall, John Jay, Myra Clark Gaines, Tuley, E. F. Ellet, Sallie Ward Hunt, H. J. Butterfield, Rosa Vertuer Jeffrey, Mrs. U. S. Grant, and Miss Ellen Woodbury,—the only unmarried lady given.

The work is written by Mrs. E. F. Ellet, with sketches by Mrs. R. E. Mack; and is very fittingly as well as "admiringly and affectionately inscribed to Mrs. Levi Woodbury, whose influence in the Court circles has ever been so gracious, refining and beneficent, and whose beautiful home life is a blessing to all who know her."

The book is a large and handsome octavo of 600 pages, and will be found very enjoyable reading. There is much that is new, no little to amuse, and many an incident of history is presented in different light from that generally accepted. There is just the last coloring of Southern influence apparent, all things it seems to us, and possibly a touch of snobbish aristocracy; but we regard the book as a valuable contribution to the social American life—which after all, is no doubt often the real life of a nation.

We copy this morning, a sketch of our distinguished townswoman, who is widely known and esteemed as a true lady of the old school—though by no means grown "old" herself. The book is from the press of the Hartford Publishing Company, and for sale only by subscription,—in the modern travelling bookstore style.

☞ We omitted to give the names of that brace of yapping puppies: they are, Softy Lop-Ears and Lanky-Danky. They bot bay the moon.

—The Eastern Railroad Co. have just made an excellent improvement on their road, in the shape of a signal at bridges to protect brakemen on the top of freight cars, from being struck by bridges in the night-time. It consists of a slender rod of hard wood swung on hinges, and of a length sufficient to cover a car, fastened on a pole by the side of the track. They are placed at a sufficient distance from the bridges, so that if a man is struck by the rod, he will have time to gain a place of safety before the train reaches the bridge. They are so light of substance, and swung so easily on the hinges, that a blow from one of them would not injure a man, but remind him of greater danger ahead.—Salem Gazette.

TARRANT & CO., NEW YORK, SOLE AGENTS FOR UNITED STATES, ETC.

Morning Chronicle.

From "Beauties and Celebrities of the Nation."

MRS. LEVI WOODBURY.

Another lady whose social influence was abiding, was the wife of Hon. Levi Woodbury of New Hampshire. Her father was Hon. Asa Clapp of Portland, Maine; her mother was a descendant of the ancient family of De Quincey. Carefully educated, with fine natural parts, Miss Clapp came into society with more than ordinary eclat. Her uncommon personal charms, united to polished manners, grace and kindliness, attracted every one. When yet a schoolgirl, she was called on, in the absence of her mother from home, to preside at the reception of President Monroe and suite at her father's mansion, and won encomiums for her good taste and graceful deportment.

After their marriage, Judge and Mrs. Woodbury settled in that delightful old town, Portsmouth, for two centuries the capital of the Province, and subsequently the sovereign State of New Hampshire; and retaining more of that high tone, and social elevation which clings naturally around an old capital, than is often found on this continent. In the autumn succeeding his marriage, Judge Woodbury was elected Governor of the State, and entered on a long career of political life. The graceful ease with which his young wife presided at the executive mansion, threw a charm over the usual stiffness of official intercourse.

When his term had expired, Governor Woodbury was elected Senator in Congress; and a large part of his time was thenceforward necessarily spent in Washington. Mrs. Woodbury accompanied him, and entered metropolitan society. History lingers on those days: the standard of statesmanship was high; the old school polish still existed. The Senate and the House held a body of brilliant men, whose acquirements and wit set off their solid merit; and who exercised on the public mind a potent influence, not surpassed by any succeeded generation of public men.

It was then the usage for members of Congress who were agreeable to each other, to form themselves and families into "messes," having a table in the boarding-house, or hotel where they lived. In this way friendships were cemented or formed, and many of the messes acquired a special reputation from the talents and polish of the associates. Often has Mrs. Woodbury related casual anecdotes, or humorous of some of the messes to which she and her husband belonged in Washington at that time. And it seemed like another age, to hear the brilliant Verplanck, the great conversationist Tazewell, the metaphysical Calhoun, the eccentric Randolph, and his no less distinguished rival Burgess, sparkle and flash as freshly as if they were of to-day. On the breaking up of President Jackson's first Cabinet, Mr. Woodbury was invited to a seat, as Secretary of the Navy, and removed to Washington; continuing through General Jackson's and Mr. Van Buren's Presidential terms in the Cabinet, but after one or two years, as Secretary of the Treasury.

General Jackson frequently made informal visits to the family of Secretary Woodbury, and showed the kindliness of his heart by the pleasure he took in chatting with the children; winning their affection as truly as he had the devotion and respect of their parents. Mrs. Woodbury sustained her social duties with unyielding patience. It is easy to say, she was popular, but it is not enough; her house was delightful for its social reunions. The private receptions for friends were most agreeable, and no events were ever permitted to interfere with them. In those unpretending weekly soirees the fascination of her manners and the charm of her conversation were most conspicuous and appreciated. They were not political, and the guests were not confined to those in public life; artists and men of merit always found there a kindly welcome.

One of the journals of that time, says: "If, as has been said, some are born to command, Mrs. Woodbury seems born to please. Portland may justly feel pride in the recollection that she is a native of that city." Another writer, speaking of those gathered at the Secretary's: "The foreign legations were there too, with their embroidered coats, and I could not but feel proud as an American, when glittering in their stars and badges, they approached the fair hostess, that so splendid a specimen of American beauty, amiability, and politeness should welcome and receive them in this land of Republicanism."

At the close of Mr. Van Buren's administration, Mr. Woodbury again entered the Senate. In 1844, Mr. and Mrs. Woodbury and family, were present on board the man-of-war Princeton, when the accidental bursting of the 12 inch "big gun" buried Secretaries Upshur and Gilmer, Commodore Kennon, Mr. Maxy, and several other gentlemen into eternity; besides wounding many, including Senator Benton. Fortunately, Mrs. Woodbury and daughters, although invited to take a position near the gun as it was about to be fired, in order to witness the ricochet of the shot on the water, declining doing so and escaped unhurt.

In 1845, her husband was appointed to the bench of the Supreme Court of the United States, which seat he held until his death in 1851; at that time he was a prominent candidate for the Presidency. During this long association with Washington society, and amid the rancor arising from party strife, Mrs. Woodbury never indulged in its bitterness; the arrows of her wit were never dipped in gall. She possessed a cultivated taste for modern classics, and was especially familiar with the writings of the most gifted women of France, England and America. She had also that eloquence du billet, formerly so much admired, and her letters to her friends were of that pointed and piquant style, of which Madame de Sevigne is considered the founder.

The loss of her husband was a serious blow; but Mrs. Woodbury was left surrounded with affectionate children, for whom the duties of life were still to be performed. She had four daughters, whose gifted minds and personal advantages made them eminently successful in society. The eldest child, Charles, is a lawyer, lately United States Attorney for Massachusetts. Her daughter Mary married Hon. Montgomery Blair, Postmaster General under President Lincoln. Frances married Archibald H. Lowery of New York; Virginia Hon. G. V. Fox, Assistant Secretary of the Navy, and subsequently the Special Envoy to the Emperor of Russia, with the congratulatory resolutions of Congress on his escape from assassination. The youngest, much celebrated as a belle, Miss Ellen, is still unmarried.

Mrs. Woodbury was never ambitious of social distinction; neither her cultivated tastes, nor the attractions of court life abroad, were able to tempt her across the ocean. It was because of her objections, that her husband refused the mission to Spain, tendered him in 1831, by General Jackson; and again in 1845, the mission to England offered, him by President Polk. A true American matron, the love of home duties was strongest in her heart, and it required but little exercise of her powers of abnegation to refuse what many fair ladies would have deemed a golden opportunity to breath the atmosphere of court, and gaze on royalty at advantage.

Wearied with formal society, she embraced the opportunity, as her children were settled for life, to withdraw herself more and more into the domestic circle; and to sympathize with, and see the great world of society through them. Visiting them in the winter, and having them cluster around her in the summer, at her own lovely home, her life glides harmoniously along; her eyes are bright, her form erect, and her step as elastic as in youth. She takes exercise on foot and in the saddle. The ready repartee springs as gaily as of yore to her lips, and the young love to draw around one who has neither lost her power to please, nor her quiet enjoyment of social intercourse.

Influenced by a sense of duty in the daily walk of life, love and respect gather around her from neighbors, family, friends and Christ's door. She was ever free from envy; possessing intelligence and benevolence. In the symmetry of her character, no marked contrasts strike the observer. It would be difficult to analyze the qualities to which Mrs. Woodbury owed her remarkable success and popularity. Esteemed as she was and is, for a thousand virtues and accomplishments, by a wide circle of friends and acquaintances, and all her acquaintances must be her friends—noted for the union of personal charms with solid judgement, perfect taste, and the graceful ease acquired by constant association with the best society, there is something more that constitutes the subtle attraction for which she is distinguished.

It is partly her invariable calmness and the moderation of her nature, inspiring confidence; partly her generous consideration at all times for others. She is a lovely study for all who appreciate the highest and gentlest qualities of womanhood. But though we cannot say in what the spell consists, it will be well for all women to emulate the virtues of such a character.

The Chronicle.

A NAVAL MUDDLE.—One of the most active of the numerous lobby forces now being organized for the coming congressional campaign is that of the Staff Officers of the Navy—the surgeons, paymasters and engineers. These gentlemen managed to obtain from Secretary Welles an order giving them precedence over the line officers, under which the surgeon, the paymaster and the engineer of a man-of-war might outrank its commanding officer, and claim higher honors. When Gen. Grant became President, three hundred officers of the line remonstrated; "so the old rank was re-established, and the staff officers had to have small strips of velvet sewed in between the strips of gold lace on their coat-sleeves, which denote that the wearers are staff officers, and not lieutenants, captains or commodores of the line, who have won their rank by long service, or by gallant conduct in battle. The staff officers, instead of submitting quietly! are now preparing to make an appeal to Congress for what they are pleased to term their rights. If they simply proposed to ask a hearing before the naval committees of the Senate and House, it would be well enough; but they will not be contented with the legitimate statement of their case. Ponderous pamphlets are to be distributed, and Congressmen are to be compelled to read them, as well as to listen to elaborate personal explanations. In short, a purely professional question, which the public know little and care less about, is to be brought up on every hand, and made to season every dish. The result will be that the staff officers of the navy, a most estimable set of gentlemen, will be avoided as bores and nuisances, and that the leaders of fashionable society will have to procure placards for their drawing and dining-rooms, inscribed, "allusions to naval rank prohibited here."—Wash. Cor. Boston Journal.

I always supposed that "lobbying" was something disgraceful, but from the above I learn differently. A body of men who are wronged by the national law, if they take means to lay their grievances before the people's representatives in Congress, are lobbyists. I shall never despise lobbying in the future as I have in the past, particularly when I consider the services of the "three hundred line officers," in that line of business.

The staff have never had nor claimed precedence over the line, that I ever heard of,—but simply demand authority in their own departments commensurate with their responsibility therein, and rank and pay according to their length of service. The strip of velvet on their sleeves denotes not only that they are staff officers, but that if surgeons they must serve about twelve years, and if engineers for nearly seventeen years, before receiving higher rank than is awarded to a line officer for three years' actual service. The idea of the lieutenants having "won their rank by long service, or by gallant conduct in battle," in contradistinction to the manner in which the staff officers holding rank with them won theirs, is rich indeed, when we consider that the senior lieutenant in the service joined it in 1861, and went to school four years before he was reckoned fit for duty. Four years sailing about in time of peace is surely not a heavy overmatch for twelve or seventeen years service, embracing the period of the late war.

As to the Naval Muddle being a purely professional question, which the people know little about and have no interest in, I cannot see it in that light. The question is, shall our navy be a popular institution, in which the people shall all have an equal chance for promotion, ability and service being equal; or shall it be merely a nursery for class prejudice and exclusiveness, and for a privileged order of aristocracy, who now, as in times past, regard with disdain "the people" and those who enter the service immediately from among them with no other sanctification than the education of their brains or hands, at their own expense?

That the "leaders of fashion" will support the pretensions of the line officers is very likely; but that does not prove the staff to be wrong, for I have never heard of any reform, moral, social or political, which the leaders of fashion either inaugurated or carried to a conclusion. But the press and voters of this country should and will support the republican citizen-element in our navy; and if the staff keep working for their rights with the energy and ability they have hitherto displayed, our navy may yet become a republican navy, in spite of the lofty scorn of the line, the frowns of the leaders of fashion, or the opposition of the most able and accomplished journalist. DODD'S NERVINE ONCE MORE.
THE STANDARD REMEDY for biliousness with the medical profession is the Anti-Bilious Pill of the American Pharmacopœia. And its reputation has been well enough deserved. But it is a Pill, nevertheless, and most people of sensibility feel something about as big as a meeting house coming into their throat whenever a pill is spoken of. DODD'S NERVINE AND INVIGORATOR acts efficiently on the biliary organs, is irritates neither stomach nor intestine in all its operation; and what is VERY IMPORTANT, as all good nurses know, it is MOST AGREEABLE TO TAKE. Nothing so pleasant to the palate as any delicate wine. We all know how it is with Cod Liver Oil. In a pure state it is excellent for certain conditions of debility, and particularly in tendencies to Consumption; and yet many of the best physicians decline to prescribe it, because it so wearifully sickens the patient. That, they say, makes it do more harm than good. With Dodd's Nervine all this becomes obstacle. For sale by all Druggists. Price $1. o24w

DR. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA Vinegar Bitters.
THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK, Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits, and refuse Liquors, doctored, spiced, and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers" "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD-PURIFIER and LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter, and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell. $100 will be given for an incurable case, providing the bones are not destroyed by mineral poisons or other means, the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.
FOR INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND GOUT, DYSPEPSIA, OR INDIGESTION, BILLIOUS, REMITTENT, and INTERMITTENT FEVERS, DISEASES OF THE BLOOD, LIVER, KIDNEYS, and BLADDER, these BITTERS have been most successful. SUCH DISEASES are caused by VITIATED BLOOD, which is generally produced by derangement of the DIGESTIVE ORGANS.
Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood healthy, and all will be well.
These Bitters are not a gilded pill, to delight the eye or please the fancy, but a medical preparation, composed of the best vegetable ingredients known.
They are Alterative, Tonic, Diuretic, Sedative, Diaphoretic, and Gentle Purgative.
"The Life of all Flesh is the Blood thereof."—Purify the blood and the health of the whole system will follow.

The News.

Major Shepperd, collector of internal revenue at Okoloma, Mississippi, was shot and killed on Saturday night by his son. The citizens captured the murderer and turned him over to the authorities.

A German passenger, one of the survivors of the Stonewall disaster, committed suicide on Tuesday night, by jumping from the steamer Great Republic at island No. 25. It is supposed the effects of the Stonewall disaster crazed him.

TRAGEDY AT SEA.—The Tahiti Cotton Company, about six months ago, sent the barque Margaret Cander, Captain Blackett, to the Gilbert Islands for a cargo of coolies. The captain succeeded in securing about three hundred. During the return voyage they mutinied and killed the captain and two officers, horribly mutilating their bodies. The mate escaped to the hold of the vessel; there he placed a keg of powder under the main hatch, and, having arranged a fuse, called the coolies, who crowded around the hatchway. The fuse was then lighted, the explosion killing nearly all on board. The rest jumped overboard, or fell victims to the mate and the remaining men.

Providence was enlivened the other evening by the sight of a young woman boxing the ears of her lover, on the street, because he had escorted another lady home.

A charming young friend of ours, who had got tired of the prevailing fashion for short dresses, recently horrified her friends by declaring she would put an end to herself! She subsequently explained to their great relief, that she only meant to resume "long tails."

THE NAVAL LINE AND STAFF.—Secretary Robeson has decided to appoint a board of six officers of the navy, three from the line and three from the staff, to consider the differences now existing between the two branches, and report, if possible, some plan by which they may be properly reconciled. Since the late trials the feeling in the navy has been much intensified. The design of the Secretary is to mature a plan, founded on the reports of this board, for presentation to Congress in his forthcoming report.

☞ The funeral of Rear-Admiral Stewart took place Wednesday afternoon in Philadelphia. A minute-gun salute was fired at this Navy Yard.

WEBSTER AND FREE TRADE.—The New York Evening Post reproduces a speech in favor of free trade, and against a protective tariff, which was delivered by Daniel Webster, in Faneuil Hall, Boston, the 11th of October, 1820. Just before the election in 1828, Mr. Webster made another speech from the same platform, against free trade, and in favor of protection. The last speech consumed two evenings. On the morning of the first day, the Boston Commercial Gazette republished the speech of 1820; and Mr. Webster occupied a large part of the first evening in vindicating his change of opinion and policy with reference to a protective tariff.

THE REASONS.—Having been asked why I do not reply to certain personal attacks lately made upon me, in the Portsmouth exponent of the Democratic idea of courtesy and manly dealing, I take occasion to say that I can perceive nothing in a mere torrent of personal abuse calling for a reply; besides, I acknowledge my disinclination and utter inability to spit slime, and I do not choose to outrage common decency to please any one. As to provocation, I have had far greater from the same quarter. Why, I was actually styled "the very gentlemanly writer for the Chronicle" by the same sheet, not a great while ago, and for no other offence than that I combatted the opinions and deductions of a certain lecturer, without making use either of falsehoods, cowardly and malicious inuendoes, or abusive epithets,—which style of conducting a controversy was so utterly incomprehensible to the minds of my present traducers, as to fill them with admiration for what they were unable to imitate. However, I forgive them their former insulting commendation, in consideration of their recent abuse. And if their effusions do the writers as little injury as they do the object of their petty malice, it will not harm them any to keep on. The honorable, courteous and manly Democracy of Portsmouth may well feel proud of their high-toned party organ.

"GIVE ME YOUR CHEEK, SIR?"—"Did you ever give a boy a theatre check?" inquired Jo last night. "Never." "Ever see a man give one?" "No." "Well it was never done but once. —As a general thing, young women are more of an obliging disposition than young men, an illustration of which comes from Monroe Co., Ind., where a donation party was held last Winter. At the supper table a young person of the male gender addressing one of his species at the further end of the table, said: "Moses, just start the milk this way, if you please." One of the young ladies, eager to be accommodating, seized the cream cup and handed it to her next neighbor, with the remark, "My name is not Moses, but I can start the milk!" which created a momentary smile, pending which she retreated in good order.

—The New England Farmer is inclined to believe the value of carrots as food for stock is underrated, judging from actual experience in feeding them. Although 85 per cent of the carrot is water "its influence in the stomach upon other articles of food is most favorable, conducting to the most perfect digestion and assimilation."

—Mr. Lawes, of England, used to say that the best farmers were on the poorest land and the poorest farmers on the best land. There is no doubt that the tendency of cultivating very fertile land, especially if it be cheap, is to induce carelessness in Farming.

—In Wisconsin, if a farmer plants trees at the roadside, he is exempt from working on the highway. Any one injuring these trees is fined five dollars, and marked.

THE PROPER WAY.—The New York correspondent of the Syracuse Journal says of the late Henry J. Raymond:

"Mr. Raymond was great enough to overlook personal attacks. He never retaliated, in kind, through his paper, when assailed unfairly, as he often was, and never permitted any of his subordinates to do it for him. His rule on this point was short and rigid: "It must never be done," was his invariable and inflexible order whenever any of his editors, in their zeal for him, proposed any reply in kind to such personal attacks, though heaven knows the opportunities for retaliation were as great as was the temptation to indulge in it; and though now and then something of the sort chanced to slip in, he was always displeased with it, and never failed to reprimand the offender."

In the suit of the Stark Mills of Manchester against Bailey and Cascaden of Philadelphia, the United States Court at the latter city has decreed a perpetual injunction, restraining the defendants from the use of the mark "Star Mills, Seamless," as used on their bags, the court deciding that such mark is a colorable imitation of the plaintiff's mark "Stark Mills, Seamless," and a violation and infringement of their exclusive right to its use.

☞ The official count of the votes cast at the late election in Minnesota is necessary to determine whether the republicans or the democrats have elected the State ticket.

BODY FOUND.—Saturday, the 23d ult., Thomas Russell and Michael Kennedy of Northbridge visited Worcester together and got on a spree. Kennedy returned alone, and could not or would not give any information concerning Russell, declaring that he did not know what had become of him. The friends of Russell, suspecting foul play, set about looking into the matter, and traced Russell as far as Millbury, on his way home, he and Kennedy having been seen in a drinking saloon there late Saturday night. Sunday the water was drawn from the pond in Millbury, and the body of the missing man was found underneath a rock near the railroad bridge. The presumption is that he fell through the timbers, or railroad ties, in attempting to walk through, after leaving the saloon. The place is unsafe for even a sober man to cross in the day time, and nothing could be more foolhardy than for a drunken man to attempt to walk through there in the night time. The body was examined by a surgeon, but no indication of foul play was detected, and an inquest was deemed unnecessary. The deceased was about thirty years of age.—Boston Journal.

—At a camp-meeting in Wisconsin, this season, two girls were converted by sleeping in a tent near a lively young minister. They want to thank him some little for his "suffer little children," &c. This war and the small-pox will save the Indian Agents some trouble.—Kansas Tribune.

—A young pupil of the New Orleans grammar school was scolded by his mother. "Sammy, Sammy," said she, "why did you do that? You might have known you would hurt yourself." Malarious Fogs.

Countless millions of cubic feet of malarious vapor reek from the moist earth every twenty-four hours during the month of November. This evaporated moisture is the active principle which begets fever and ague, billious remittents, indigestion, dysentery, billious cholic, rheumatism, and many other ailments which prevail more generally in the Fall than at other seasons, and some of which, in low, swampy regions and new clearings, take the form of virulent epidemics. The best safeguard against these complaints, as evidenced by the experience of a long series of years, is HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, the most pleasant and at the same time the most efficient of all vegetable tonics. The invigoration of the system is manifestly the best means of defending it against the causes of sickness, whether constitutional or casual. Nature, as every pathologist knows, is the most determined enemy of disease, and the paroxysm of an acute malady is in most instances the consequences of the efforts she makes to conquer the foe. The great object, therefore, of preventive treatment is to reinforce the system, and it is accomplished thoroughly, rapidly and safely, by the use of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS. This powerful tonic contains also an aperient and corrective principle. It is no less valuable as a regulator and purifier than as an invigorant, and there is no danger of exciting the brain or over-stimulating the circulation by employing it as an antidote.

MERIT SOON NOISED ABROAD.

It is but six years since ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM, was first offered for sale. Its good qualities were soon made known at home, and very soon its fame was noised far and near; now it is sold in nearly every Drug Store in the United States—Canada, East, South and West. No similar medicine stands higher with the people. It is well known on the Pacific coast, and liberal demands for it from San Francisco, Sacramento in California, and Portland, Oregon; and from Australia, orders are received for it. And throughout Canada, it is well and favorably known, and sold everywhere.

PORT BURWELL, March 23d, 1869.

Messrs. PERRY DAVIS & SON,

Sirs:—I am pleased to notify you of the benefit which I have received from ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM; having been troubled with a cough for several years past, the Balsam was recommended to me. I immediately procured it, and found it to relieve my cough more readily than anything I ever tried. My wife has also used it with most satisfactory results.

Yours Very Truly,
Capt. D. FOSTER.

THE LATEST DISCOVERY

In Medication.

The great difficulty which physicians have been laboring for centuries to overcome, has at length been obviated. A vegetable Cathartic and alterative more efficient than any mineral preparation of the same class, and as agreeable to the taste as ordinary candy, is now offered to the sick in the form of a Lozenge.

DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S

is the most important medicinal novelty that modern chemistry has produced. It combines the botanical extracts, perfectly harmless in themselves, but embodying all the remedial properties of mercury, and destined in the planet fame to supersede and banish from general use, the nauseous pills and portions of which that dangerous existent is the main ingredient. More than were made by the inventor of this peerless remedy before it was brought to its present state of perfection. The Lozenge is harmless in its operation, and altogether the medicinal taste of its curative components has been extinguished by chemical art, their virtues remain as active and potent as ever.

In Dyspepsia, Biliousness Constipation, Sick or Nervous Headache, Piles, Dropsy, and the irregularities to which the feebler sex are subject, the Lozenge will be found infinitely more effective than any of the horrible and disgusting compounds usually administered in such cases. As an antibilious specific and general aperient, they have no equal either among advertised preparations or the prescriptions of the regular pharmacopeia.

☞ It is guaranteed that no one who has once tried DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S Liver and Stomach Lozenge, will ever again take a purgative powder, or drungist's pill.

Comfort and Bliss or Pain and Agony.

DR. TOBIAS' CELEBRATED VENETIAN LINIMENT, whose wonderful cures, sure and instaneous action, in cases of Chronic Rheumatism, Headache, Toothache, Croup, Cuts, Burns, Colic, Cramps, Dysentery, etc., have astonished the civilized world, is no new catch-penny; but an article that has stood the test of twenty-two years. The enormous sale still rapidly increases. Demand is at once the surest evidence of its usefulness and popularity. No family should be without a bottle in the house. Hundreds of dollars and many hours of suffering may be saved by its timely use.

Colic, Cramp, and Dysentery yield at once to its paincurative properties. It is perfectly innocent, and can be given to the oldest person or youngest child. No matter if you have no confidence in Patent Medicines—try this, and you will be sure to buy again, and recommend to your friends. Hundreds of Physicians recommend it in their practice.

Sold by the Druggists and Storekeepers. Price fifty Cents and One Dollar. Depot, 10 Park Place, New York. o1

The wonderful cures effected by Brandreth's Pills have arrested the attention of thinking physicians. SPECIAL NOTICES.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

Read the Evidence.

"Facts are stubborn things," and it is to facts alone that it is desired to direct the attention of the reader of this article.

Many years of severe and thorough practical trial have demonstrated beyond the peradventure of a doubt the fact that the medicines prepared by me, and known as SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, SCHENCK'S SEAWEED TONIC, and SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, have proved extraordinarily successful in the cure of diseases of the pulmonary organs, or what is usually termed Consumption.

I am fully aware that there are many persons whose prejudices rule them so completely that "profits strong as Holy Writ," would fail to convince them of the efficacy of my medicines, and that there are others who, under no circumstances, could be prevailed upon to admit their merits, simply because such an admission would prove detrimental to their particular personal interests.

To such I would say that there are many persons whose prejudices rule them so completely that "profits strong as Holy Writ," would fail to convince them of the efficacy of my medicines, and that there are others who, under no circumstances, could be prevailed upon to admit their merits, simply because such an admission would prove detrimental to their particular personal interests.

We are also told almost daily that Consumption the scourge of the American people, is incurable; that a man whose lungs are diseased must lay down over to die; that he must abandon hope; and that the arrangement of his temporal as well as spiritual affairs should claim his earliest attention. If there were not facts as undeniable as that the sun will shine in a clear heaven at midday to controvert these random and not unfrequently harmful assertions, I should feel unwilling to take up the gage of battle against them; but, fortified with results—facts—which neither theory nor mere assertion can overturn, I do not hesitate to say that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED, and that the medicines I prepare—THE MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC, and PULMONIC SYRUP—will, if used in strict accordance with the directions, in a majority of cases effect that which, in faculty pronounces impossible—they will cure Consumption.

An ounce of solid fact is worth a pound of theory. Let me, therefore, present the facts connected with my own individual experience. Many years ago, I was a confirmed consumptive, and like thousands of other unfortunates, was given up to die. Eminent physicians pronounced my case a hopeless one, and told me that if I had any preparations to make for the final solemn event, that I had better make them speedily. I believed this just as confidently as did the persons who thus affectionately informed me that my days were numbered, and that recovery was impossible. Still, the desire to live lingered in my bosom. I was young, and clung to life with the same tenacity that young men, and old men too, ordinarily do. I did not feel willing to abandon hope as longhas a single vestige of it remained. I had full faith in the sad information conveyed to me by my physicians, but there was a lingering belief that something could be done, though I knew not in what direction to seek for the much desired relief.

It was at this gloomy and eventful period of my history that I first learned of the roots and herbs from which my remedies for this dreaded disease are now prepared. I procured and used them, and, to the utter amazement of all—physicians, friends and neighbors—began to improve. My entire system commenced to undergo a complete renovation. Expectoration, which formerly had been difficult and painful, now became comparatively easy. I threw off daily large quantities of offensive yellow matter. At the same time my long-lost appetite returned. I ate freely of such food as was palatable to me, and which was at the same time nutritious and wholesome. Expectoration became less copious and less offensive; exhausting night sweats ceased; the racking and harrassing cough abated; the fever broke; the pain departed; flesh planted itself on my sadly wasted frame, and with flesh came strength and full health. From a mere skelton I became a stout, strong, robust man, and I have maintained both strength and flesh to this day. I weigh one hundred and thirty-five pounds; I am blest with an appetite vouchsafed to but few men, while my digestive organs are amply equal to all the requirements of a healthful condition of system.

Now, be it remembered, all those wonderful changes were wrought by the use of the medicines I prepare—MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC and PULMONIC SYRUP. A cure seemingly so miraculous naturally created astonishment in the minds of those who knew me. I was literally beleaved on all sides. I had visitors daily who besought me to give them the remedies which had wrought the wonderful transformation and had wrested me from the very jaws of death. Letters were received by scores importuning me to impart the secret and inform the writers where the specifics for consumption could be obtained. Others, who were too weak to travel, not satisfied with writing, sent word that consulting me in regard to their cases. To all these applications I responded as I was able.

I had fully regained my health, and gratitude for the happy result prompted me to turn my attention to the science of medicine with the hope of thereby being able to be of service to my suffering fellow-creatures. I devoted myself closely to my studies, and more especially to that branch of them relating to the terrible disease from which I had suffered so long and so much. I grew interested in it in all its fearful phases, in order to assure myself that my case was not an exceptional one. The closer my investigations the more satisfactory were my conclusions. I felt convinced that tens of thousands of my fellow-creatures were dying prematurely of consumption whose cases were not as desperate, and apparently hopeless as mine had been, and I argued from this that remedies which had proved so effective with me would prove equally so with others. I prepared my medicines in a pleasant and attractive form, and announced them to the world. The results are well known. Thousands of suffering men, women and children, who were on the way to the grave, have been cured, and are living evidences of the fact that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED; and I think I may say, without arrogating to myself any more than is justly my due, that I have had as much experience in the treatment of consumption as any other person in the country, and that my success has been wonderfully great.

Let the reader remember that these are not mere fancied statements. They are positive living facts, of which I am the living witness.

There is an old adage which says, "What has been done may be done." I have been completely cured of consumption by the remedies I now offer to the public. Thousands have testified to similar happy results from their use, and thousand of others still might benefitted as I have been could they be induced upon to try the virtue of The Mandrake Pills, Seaweed Tonic and Pulmonic Syrup. All that is necessary to convince the most skeptical of their merits is a fair trial.

Full directions accompany each of the medicines, so that it is not absolutely necessary that patients should see me personally, unless they desire to have their lungs examined. For this purpose I am personally at my PRINCIPAL OFFICE, No. 15 North Sixth Street, corner of Commerce, EVERY SATURDAY.

Advice is given without charge, but for a thorough examination with the Respirometer the price is five dollars.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic, each $1 50 per bottle or $9 00 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents per box.

THE ENTERTAINMENT at the Temple, this evening by the Bidwell Company is well worth seeing, and we consider "The Hidden Hand" the best drama yet offered by the wide-awake manager, Dollie, as "Capitola," seems to be in her proper sphere, and Wilkinson's "Wool" is a piece of acting irresistibly funny. We hope to see a large audidience of our best citizens present.

Communication.

Messrs. Editors:—As the time draws near for the holding of the Municipal Election, the result of which will have a bearing on the March election for members of the Legislature and other officers, considerable discussion has already commenced, both in the papers and by "the word of mouth." The officers to be elected are somewhat important, viz., the Mayor and Board of Aldermen,—as upon their judgment rests the selection and appointment of the subordinate City officials.

For two years last past the chair of the Executive has been filled by Hon. Frank Jones, Democrat, while his Council has had a Republican ascendancy, the consequence of which has been more or less obstruction in the administration of the city affairs.

There have been several persons named as candidates for Mayor, a number of whom, no doubt, would not accept, nor have even anticipated that their names would be mentioned. The Republican majority in this city is ordinarily sufficient to give assured success, yet it is not large enough to be drawn upon by injudicious nominations for any office, especially that of Mayor,—and it behooves the party to nominate their best and most impartial men,—men whose action has and will receive the endorsement of their constituents, because their action bears upon its face the stamp of having the interests of the public and the party, and not those of individuals, in view. They should also be honest men, of sufficient capacity for the offices to which they may aspire, and possess elements of popularity with the people.

These are the only conditions which will be of any consequence after the nominations are made, and they are those which the Caucus cannot consult too closely. If the Republicans make any mistakes, the Democratic leaders are ready and sharp enough to avail themselves thereof. Secure candidates who are not vulnerable, and whom no man can honestly condemn, and whom all can consistently and honestly support. Let there be caution in selecting the candidates, while justice, generosity and conciliation toward the individual members of the party shall be the rule, and there can be no possibility of a failure. E. CO. RAIL.

☞ The lazy good-for-nothings of the spleeny organ did not add up the number of votes cast in this city on Tuesday, and copied our mistake of 20 votes, as they found it. The stupids could not find out in twelve hours that 234, 244 and 186 did not amount to 634. The whole number of votes cast was 614, and our error arose from a change in the vote of Ward One, erroneously given us at first and corrected hastily at a late hour.

☞ The post mortem examination of the body of Pike, made by Surgeon R. H. Crosby and others on Tuesday, disclosed the fact that Pike's neck was not broken by the drop, and that he must have died from strangulation. There was a separation between the second and third vertebra; the left lung was full of blood and the right lung showed marks of former disease; the brain was light colored and soft; other organs healthy.

☞ George Woodsum and Woodbury Day, who were recently arrested in Biddeford, Me., charged with the crime of highway robbery upon the person of Stephen Scammon at the Advent camp meeting at Alton last summer, were arraigned before Justice Lane, at Laconia, and waiving examination were ordered to recognize in the sum of $500 each for their appearance at the next term of the Court.

THE TRUTH ABOUT SHERIDAN'S RIDE.

Captain Mayne Reid's Magazine, "Onward," has the following thrilling and truthful reminiscence:—

Sheridan had led his army further up the Valley of the Shenandoah than Union infantry had ever penetrated before, and after sending the Johnnies "whirling through Winchester" on the 18th of September, and three days later dislodging them from their eyrie at Fisher's Hill, his troops had fully rested and recuperated themselves by a ten or twelve days' encampment in the neighborhood of Harrisonburg and Mount Crawford.

His "raiders," as they were occasionally called, were composed of the Sixth corps, temporarily detached from the army of the Potomac, under command of Wright; the Eighth, being a portion of the army of Western Virginia, under Crook; the Nineteenth, from the Department of the Gulf, under Emory; three divisions of cavalry commanded by Custer, Merritt and Powell, and some forty-five pieces of artillery, making an aggregate offensive force of about thirty thousand men.

The affair at Fisher's Hill, Stonewall Jackson's favorite stronghold—also styled the "key of the valley"—had proved a surprising and, to the Confeds, a disgusting piece of strategy on the part of "Little Phil;" and, in the three or four days' pursuit which followed it, the Union troops were favored with only occasional glimpses of their fragmentary bands, scattered over the country and escaping through the gaps of the Blue Ridge.

During the month of August and a part of September, while Sheridan was waiting for instructions to "go in," Jubal Early had detailed large numbers of his men to gather in the crops, as the fruitful fields of the great valley of Virginia were never more inviting, or promised a richer harvest to the reaper. They were yellowed with ripened grain, and the broomy stalks of maize tossed aloft their myriad pennons, while the orchards blushed and bowed under a surplusage of tempting, luscious fruit. Alas! for these brave but misguided men; it was the last harvest many of them ever reaped. Not long after they were themselves harvested by the "Yanks," and housed in Northern granaries, or, cut down by the sickle of the old reaper, Death, left to enrich the fields they had stripped, and fertilize them for another year's crop.

As the winter rations of Lee's army, thus obtained, were stored in the mills and corn-cribs of the valley, while the barns and granaries of Pennsylvania and Maryland were filled with abundant supplies for the loyal army under Grant, the destruction, not to say capture, of either hoard by the opposing force would be a matter of great importance; and therefore this amicable, "dog in the manger" principle was one of the grand objects aimed at by each of the contending hosts. The first lay in the rear of a barrier of soldiers clad in gray, while the approach to the other was prevented by a line of boys in blue; but the blue line had now pierced the other, scattering its gray cohorts, and thirty thousand Union troops for upward of two weeks had been living luxuriously upon the "milk and honey" with which the land abounded.

On the morning of October 7 a dense smoke hung like a pall over river, field and wood, stealing up and up the hills on either side of the valley; the army of the Middle Military Division, flushed with its recent victories, and stimulated by the repose and plenty it had enjoyed, was tramping jauntily along the turnpike on its way northward, while squadrons of cavalry on its flanks set fire to every barn, mill, corn crib, stack of wheat or other store of provender encountered. Flocks of sheep and droves of cattle kept pace with the urgence of Union army drovers and commissary butchers, and night saw our well supplied troops encamped near Mount Jackson, after a march of twenty-four miles.

On the line of that long march everything that could afford sustenance to the enemy, and could not be removed by the retiring army, was destroyed; while, two days before, our cavalry, who had raided up the valley as far as Staunton, had similarly scourged with the torch all that district lying between the latter town and Harrisburg.

A like devastation marked the progress of our army on the 8th; and on the morning of the 9th we encamped near Strasburg, to remain for that day idle; since there was no enemy near, Early's force having been annihilated.

On the 10th the "Bloody Sixth" packed up, marched through Middletown, and up the Luray Valley to Front Royal, where they lay for three days, peering into Manassas Gap, as though anticipating a raid through that celebrated pass by some of the reorganized bands of the late discomfitted Confederates.

No enemy appeared, however, and on the morning of the 13th the "pack up" was again bugled to the soldiers of the "Greek Cross," followed by the rumor that we were about to return to Petersburg to rejoin the army of the Potomac.

Taking the line of march the corps skirted along by the westerly verge of the Blue Ridge, and marched in the direction of Ashby's Gap; the movement giving rise to a report that we were going to Alexandria, by way of Leesburg and the south bank of the Potomac, there to embark for City Point.

About four o'clock in the afternoon the troops halted near the antiquated village of Millwood, and on the morning of the 14th, instead of resuming their advance, the corps was rapidly counter-marched over about ten miles of the route passed on the previous day, and then, swinging off to the westward, struck the valley pike at Middletown. Our army had withdrawn from Strasburg, and was now formed on the north bank of Cedar Creek, its left resting on the north fork of the Shenandoah, near the base of Massanutten or Tree-top mountain. The Sixth corps formed the extreme infantry right, the Eighth held the left near the river, while the Nineteenth occupied the centre, the lines being somewhat in echelon, conforming to the course of the creek, which flows from northwest to southeast. Kitching's Provisional Division lay in the rear of the Eighth corps, while a portion of the cavalry was pushed out towards the Luray Valley, and held the fords of the Shenandoah, on the extreme left. Custar with the main body was posted on the opposite flank, that rested near Great North Mountain, a spur of the Alleghanies. And as the fords both of the Shenandoah and Cedar Creek were commanded by artillery, our position was deemed perfectly secure.

The weather was becoming bleak and uncomfortable, and the mountain peaks had already been once or twice blanched by light snow falls, while the hoar frosts took unpleasant liberties with the toes of sleeping soldiers. The country around us looked brown and bare, and the thin blue smoke from our camp fires only lent to the landscape a chilly effect.

At this time camp life was varied by rumors, first, that there was no great force of the enemy in our front, only some guerillas; then, that a powerful body confronted us; that Longstreet had arrived" with Kershaw's and Anderson's divisions—taken from the defences of Richmond—and had assumed personal command; then, that we were going back to Petersburg; then, that we should winter in the valley, and such like contradictory statements, which soldiers in camp are continually circulating and for which no one is responsible.

A dark, blustering night succeeded the sunset of October 18, a sunset so warm and fervid that after it had kissed "good night" to the distant hills the woods and fields seemed suddenly cast into a chill sombre gloom. As no moon showed itself that night, and the scowling clouds at intervals veiled the blinking stars, the troops went to their tents earlier than was their custom. Only a few gossipers remained around the camp fires smoking and telling stories. But as the gusty wind whisked the flames about their feet, and puffed the smoke and the snapping spiteful sparks into their faces, gossiping became rather unpleasant, and they, too, after a short time, one by one, stole off to their sleeping places.

The wind continued to bluster through the night, but as morning approached it subsided, and a light mist like a silken veil stretching across the mountain tops from east to west, canopied the valley and enfolded in its chilly shroud the white tents seen spectre-like along the bleak, brown slopes and ridges.

The dark sky had just begun to assume that cold, leaden color along the east, which heralds the dawn, while the fog appeared grayer and damper. The valley pike lay between the Sixth corps' left and the right of the Nineteenth, almost at right angles to their lines, and stretching away northward to Winchester—a distance of eighteen or twenty miles.

From the level on which our corps, the Sixth, lay, the ground rose in terraced undulations toward the road, and there becoming a bold bluff rolled away for perhaps half a mile, beginning again to undulate in its descent toward the Shenandoah and the creek—both of which streams were skirted by a growth of young oaks, gum trees and cedars. At 5 o'clock the report of a single gun came bellowing with a flat prolonged roar from the left, but the sound was not loud enough to be heard in the camp of the Sixth corps, except by the guards and pickets or a few wakeful dozers. My comrade and myself were among the latter, and lay awake chatting in our tent, for we had become too chilled to sleep, owing to an unsufficiency of blankets.

The boom of the gun came from the direction of the river, and bowled on till it was lost among the mountain ridges to the west. Then another report, accompanied by half a dozen rifle shots, that in comparison seemed like the clapping of a child's hands, and again a brief interval of silence.

Soon after, a third low, growling reverberation and another pause, and then two or three "booms" succeeding one another so rapidly that their echoes blended together, and at length became mixed with the cracking trill of an irregular discharge of musketry.

Away from the actual scene and vicinity of that firing it is doubtful whether a hundred men, not including guards and pickets, were astir at the time—the army as a whole being ensconced beneath the meagre shelter of the tents. There was no apparent fury in the fight going on, and the noise was so muffled as to create the belief that it was full fives miles off.

My chum and I, seated within our tent near the turnpike road, simultaneously queried each other, "You hear those guns?" "What's up now?"

Gus intimated that we had better "turn out." I suggested that it was "only Custer burning around with a couple of guns after some rebel guerillas;" but Gus didn't take my view of it.

He got up, stepped out of the tent, and in a few moments a lurid light flared into it and over my face. It at first startled me; but on raising my head I saw Gus on his hands and knees blowing vigorously at the embers of the fire, upon which he had piled some fresh sticks. Feeling no inclination to get up so early, my head once more sought my knapsack, and I soon dropped into a sort of doze, during which, as I lay with my ear close to the ground, I hear several shots fired in quick succession, without heeding them. I was soon after aroused by Gus, tugging at my blanket, and telling me I had better get up, as there was "going to be a fight."

To be continued to-morrow.

OVER AND OVER AGAIN.

Over and over again,
No matter which way I turn,
I always find in the Book of Life
Some lesson I have to learn:
I must take my turn at the mill;
I must grind out the golden grain;
I must work at my task with a resolute will—
Over and over again.

We cannot measure the need
Of even the tiniest flower,
Nor check the flow of the golden sands
That run through a single hour;
But the morning dew must fall,
And the sun and the summer rain
Must do their part and perform it all—
Over and over again.

Over and over again
The brook through the meadow flows,
And over and over again
The ponderous mill-pond goes;
Once doing will not suffice,
Though doing be not in vain;
And a blessing falling on us once or twice,
May come, if we try, again.

The path that has once been trod
Is never so rough to the feet,
And the lesson we once have learned
Is never so hard to repeat;
Though sorrowful tears may fall,
And the heart to its depts be driven,
With storm and tempest we need them all
To render us meet for Heaven.

CHEESE FROM ONE COW.—There are some people who keep but one cow who would like to make a little cheese now and then if they knew how. An exchange gives them these instructions:

Take cool weather, either in spring or fall, when milk and cream will keep and when flies are scarce. Strain your milk in some deep vessel that will hold two milkings; in the morning skim lightly; warm the milk to blood heat, add the water which has soaked a bit of rennet about two inches square over night, and as soon as stiff cut with a knife; let it stand a few minutes, when you can cut it into a cloth strainer, and lay by until you accumulate as large a curd as your hoop will hold, when you chop the whole, scalding with hot whey just so it will give a cracking sound if chewed. Then add a little salt, sage, or whatever you like, and press. The whole operation need not require over an hour's time.

MANAGEMENT OF POULTRY. — Very few farmers pay sufficient attention to the breeding and management of poultry, although it is well worth while to do so. The price of eggs and dressed poultry has been remunerative for several years, and no doubt will continue to be so. The manure of the poultry house, when properly managed and applied to garden and field crops is very beneficial. To the orchardist, poultry are a necessity, for picking pupæ or larvæ of injurious insects and saving his fruit from destruction. The apple-worm and the curculio have been nearly exterminated in some orchards by the simple remedy or preventive of keeping poultry about the trees. No remedy for the striped bug, the destroyer of melon and cucumber vines, has been found equal to a flock of small chickens.

Every farmer should have a well arranged poultry house in some well-sheltered nook, with a door opening into the orchard. If the orchard is not very near the dwelling-house, the best plan will be to winter the fowls in a warm house in the barnyard and to put up a shed in the centre of the orchard to be occupied by them during summer.

—A Connecticut cattle-breeder, after trying several breeds and crosses, has come to the conclusion that a cross between the Alderney and Ayrshire makes the most profitable animal for ordinary farm use—having special reference we suppose to the production of milk and butter.

—In Wheeling, a few days ago, a photographer took the picture of a well-known toper as he was lying on the sidewalk, and he was soon on exhibition in all the shop windows. The inebriate signed the pledge.

DODD'S NERVINE ONCE MORE.
THE STANDARD REMEDY for biliousness with the medical profession is the Anti-Bilious Pill of the American Pharmacopœia; this is a reputation has been well enough deserved. But it is a Pill, nevertheless, and most people of sensibility feel something about as big as a musket ball come into their throat whenever a pill is spoken of. DODD'S NERVINE AND INVIGORATOR acts efficiently on the biliary organism; it irritates neither stomach nor intestine in all its operation; and what is VERY IMPORTANT, as all good nurses know, it is MOST AGREEABLE TO TAKE, being as pleasant to the palate as any delicate wine. We all know how it is with Cod Liver Oil. In a pure state it is excellent for certain conditions of debility, and particularly in tendency to Consumption; and yet many of the best physicians decline to prescribe it, because it so dreadfully sickens the patient. That, they say, makes the cure harder than good. With Dodd's Nervine all this becomes obetacle. For sale by all Druggists. Price $1. o21w

WHAT ARE
DR. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
Vinegar Bitters.
THEY ARE NOT A VILE FAMILY DRINK, Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits, and refuse Liquors, doctored, spiced, and sweetened to please the taste, called "Bitters," "Appetizers" "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD-PURIFIER and LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter, and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell. $100 will be given for an incurable case, providing the bones are not destroyed by mineral poisons or other means, the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.
FOR INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND GOUT, DYSPEPSIA, or INDIGESTION, BILLIOUS, REMITTENT, and INTERMITTENT FEVERS, DISEASES OF THE BLOOD, LIVER, KIDNEYS, and BLADDER, these BITTERS have been most successful. SUCH DISEASES are caused by VITIATED BLOOD, which is generally produced by derangement of the DIGESTIVE ORGANS.
Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find it impurities bursting through the Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood healthy, and all will be well.
These Bitters are not a gilded pill, to delight the eye or please the fancy, but a medical preparation, composed of the best vegetable ingredients known.
"The Life of all Flesh is the Blood thereof."—Purify the blood and the health of the whole system will follow.

The famous New York liquor firm of A. N. Binninger & Co., have failed. The house was established in 1777, and was supposed to be one of the strongest in the city.

The cholera prevails with great severity at the ancient Russian city of Kief on the Danube.

The official account of a battle lately fought in Cuba, near the town of Ramon, says that the insurgents were badly defeated, losing one hundred and twenty men, including two general officers.

The shops of the Wilcox and Gibbs Sewing Machine Company and several other manufacturing establishments at Taunton were burned Wednesday night.

The latest returns, nearly all official, of the election in Wisconsin, show that the senate will stand 18 republicans, 14 democrats, and 3 independents, 2 of the latter being democrats. The House will stand 55 republicans, 38 democrats, and 7 independents.

The Naval court martial which convicted Lt. Com. Seely is ordered to reconvene at the Charlestown Navy Yard.

Hon. Robert J. Walker died at Washington, on Thursday, aged 67.

Leonard Choate, the Newburyport "fire-bug" has been found guilty.

Two kerosene murders are reported. Sarah Kennedy, bed ridden and helpless, was burned to death in New York, Wednesday evening. A kerosene lamp by her bedside upset. Thursday morning a Miss Maurice of Groton, Conn., undertook to kindle a fire with kerosene. The stove exploded and she lived two minutes.

THE ELECTION.—Returns of the vote on the Constabulary Act show that 112 towns have cast 3,853 votes in favor of the law and 8,457 against it—indicating that the measure has been defeated in the State by a majority of about two to one. The following returns are additional to those given heretofore.

	Yes.	No.

☞ John O. Downs, master of the fishing boat "I Tell Ye" of about 30 tons burthen, reports that on Friday last he left the Isle of Shoals at about 2 P. M., bound to Gloucester, with fifty barrels of herring. At half-past six, it being dark and rainy, a large Schooner ran into his starboard quarter, and made a hole so large that his boat sunk in ten minutes. He reports that no answer was returned to the repeated calls of himself and his man for help, from the schooner, which kept on her course, and he with his man took the dory, and watching the compass, made the best of their way to Rockport, where they arrived at about ten o'clock that night. He judges that the boat was about five miles to the east of the Dry Salvages, north of Thacher's Island, when she was run down.

New Hampshire Items.

Teachers' Institutes have been held recently, at Lebanon and Claremont. At the former place, Prof. Orcutt delivered the closing lectures to not less than 800 hearers, mostly citizens of the place.

James A. Place has been appointed Postmaster at Salmon Falls, vice John B. Wentworth, deceased.

—New Hampshire, by a popular vote on Tuesday, rejected the State Constabulary act of its last Legislature. This was done by the Republicans and Temperance men, through fear of effect on the March elections. The Democrats left the field chiefly to the Republicans; and the latter after having put the bill through the Legislature, very wisely strangled it at the ballot box. The people of this State would do the same if they could get the chance.—Newburyport Herald.

☞ Sixty workmen were discharged from the Navy Yard on Thursday.

Foreign Correspondence.

GOSPORT, Nov. 12.

Messrs. Editors:—The schooner Pilot, Capt. Smalldige, of Mt. Desert, Me., heavily laden with merchandise from Boston, and sailing from Gloucester that day, was wrecked about 8 o'clock, Thursday evening, on the Anderson Rocks, off Star Island. Her crew and four passengers, including one woman and two boys, all arrived safe in a boat on Star Island, where they found dry clothing and every comfort at the hospitable home of Mr. Origen S. Caswell, who rallied Gosport to tow the wreck in, and save what they could; but the wind was high and the breakers heavy, and nothing material could be done before she rolled over and went down, about 2 o'clock, a few moments after the captain and one man left her.

The inhabitants picked up some four score bbls. of flour and a few other articles in a damaged condition, which was amicably divided between the captain and the claimants of salvage, the missionary being kindly remembered in the odd, but perhaps the best barrel of flour, in the settlement of Captain Smalldige and Alvin Newton, Esq. Although there is nothing Small in the Captain, exceptin his name, it is nothing new in Newton to be generous.

The Captain and all his men were well acquainted with the coast, knew well the distance of these savage rocks from the White Island light, but all were deceived by some strange phenomena, making the light seem about four times its true distance that evening. Mr. Barber, going out the first of that night noticed the fact and stood gazing from the piazza of the parsonage several minutes, trying to account for the peculiar mirage or optical illusion, but he thought it must be something in the atmosphere and in the wind clouds that hung around White Island, but there seemed to no one, any fault in the light kept so well by Mr. Berry and his trusty help, and certainly Capt. Smalldige is as trusty as ever.

Will Maine papers please notice the wreck of the Schooner? No blame can attach to the Captain or crew, and they and their few passengers wish to express publicly their thanks to the people of Star Island for their hospitality and uniform kindness.

Being duly warned some eight of the legal voters of this smallest town of the State, met at the School House on the 9th, P. M., when Mr. Samuel H. Robinson read the warrant.

Whole number of votes cast for Moderator, 7, Necessary for choice, 4. Origen S. Caswell rec'd 1, Alvin Newton, 6, and was chosen and took the oath of office. Remarks were made by the Missionary (Mr. Barber) on the expediency of the State Police, and the vote was taken.

Whole number of votes cast, 7; for the State Police, 7—against 0. If there were contrary ones, they did not vote, or stayed away from the meeting. But little interest was manifest, save with a few in favor of the law. B.

GOLDEN WEDDING.—The 50th anniversary of the marriage of Mr. Thomas and Mrs. Catherine Curtis occur redon the 7th inst. at Newcastle. They were married the 7th of November, 1819, at the residence of the late Capt. Thomas E. Oliver, uncle of the bride. Of the large party then convened, but two survive besides the long-wedded couple. Those persons and the numerous family assembled at the mansion of the venerable parents on the evening of the 7th, to participate in festivities suited to the joyful occasion. Two of the sons have deceased; one lost on the Pacific ocean, in 1851, the other died more recently. The parents have lived to see their 9 children, seven sons and two daughters, all married and settled in life—all useful and respectable members of society.

The services of the festival were commenced with prayer and brief remarks and recitation from the Psalms by a resident clergyman present. An interesting congratulatory address was made by the presiding official, Elvin Kinnear, Esq., of Farmington, a son-in-law of the family. Valuable gifts were presented, hymns of praise and congratulation were sung:—and then followed an elegant and bountiful collation, graced with water, pure and sparkling. The whole was closed with the benediction, addressed to the venerable couple, as recorded by Moses, the man of God:

"The Lord bless thee and keep thee; the Lord make his face shine upon thee and be gracious unto thee; the Lord lift up his countenance upon thee and give thee peace."

Newcastle, Nov. 10. A.

A large number of citizens, including members of the city government, attended the funeral of Hon. Wm. F. Estes at Dover.

RAMBLES ABOUT PORTSMOUTH.—In a neat volume of 375 pages, Mr. Lewis W. Brewster, of the Portsmouth Journal, has given us one of the best monuments which any man among us has reared to himself, without being conscious of it: for while Mr. Charles W. Brewster, in the Rambles, was rescuing a thousand valuable and curious facts in our local history, he has connected himself with them in such a way as to be permanently remembered, not only as a veracious story teller, but also as a writer of rare humor and pure sentiment.

The full title of the Book is:—"Rambles about Portsmouth. Second Series. Sketches of Persons, Localities and Incidents of Two Centuries: principally from Tradition and Unpublished Documents. By Charles W. Brewster. With a sketch of the Author, by Wm. H. Y. Hackett."

The Second Series is the natural outgrowth of the First, and occupied the leisure hours of the author during the ten years after the first was put to press.

To the many citizens here, and the hundreds of the Sons of Portsmouth abroad, who own or have read the first series of the Rambles, no further notice of the book is needful. To all others, who take any interest in the early history of Portsmouth or of New Hampshire, let us say, their knowledge of these matters, and their interest therein, will be greatly increased by the perusal of this book.

Communication.

CAN LADIES MANAGE A BALL SUCCESSFULLY?—Those who were present at the Assembly given by the ladies of the C. B. B. Club at Congress Hall, a few evenings since, must have had conclusive evidence that they can. As we sat there entirely disinterested in their affairs, we could not help admiring the excellent order with which everything was conducted. One of the fair young ladies was selected as their leader, and to her skilful management they were indebted for much of their success.

The ladies were dressed in white, and distinguished from the rest of the company by a red, white and blue rosette. The prompter would take no orders from any one except them, and we were once quite amused to see one of the gentlemen committee give orders, which were not complied with. The ladies procured partners for all, formed the sets, and managed far better than what we have seen at many a ball where gentlemen had charge. At the close, all bills were paid by them, and they engaged the music for a grand Picnic Hop at the same place, Saturday evening, Dec. 1. Since the commencement of these Assemblies the managers have had considerable opposition; but with the rapid improvements they are making, and with the kind assistance of the lady managers, and their motto, "good company or none," they intend that the C. B. B.'s "can't be beat" by any other parties. TRIX.

Malarious Fogs.

Countless millions of cubic feet of malarious vapor rise from the moist earth every twenty-four hours during the month of November. This evaporated moisture is the active principle which begets fever and ague, billious remittents, indigestion, dysentery, billious cholic, rheumatism, and many other ailments which prevail more generally in the Fall than at other seasons, and some of which, in low, swampy regions and new clearings, take the form of virulent epidemics. The best safeguard against these complaints, as evidenced by the experience of a long series of years, is HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, the most pleasant and at the same time the most efficient of all vegetable tonics. The invigoration of the system is manifestly the best means of defending itself against the causes of sickness, whether constitutional or casual. Nature, as every pathologist knows, is the most determined enemy of disease, and the paroxysms of an acute malady are in most instances the consequence of the efforts she makes to conquer the foe. The great object, therefore, of preventive treatment is to reinforce the system, and it is accomplished thoroughly, rapidly and safely, by the use of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS. This powerful tonic contains also an aperient and corrective principle. It is no less valuable as a regulator and purifier than as an invigorant, and there is no danger of exciting the brain or over-stimulating the circulation by employing it as an antidote.

MERIT SOON NOISED ABROAD.

It is but six years since ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM, was first offered for sale. Its good qualities were soon made known at home, and very soon its fame was noised far and near; now it is sold in nearly every Drug Store in the United States—NORTH, EAST, SOUTH and WEST. No similar medicine stands higher at home, while it is well known on the Pacific coast, and liberal demands for it from San Francisco, Sacramento in California, and Portland, Oregon; even from Australia, large orders are received for it. And throughout Canada, it is well and favorably known, and sold everywhere.

Read what Captain Foster writes:

PORT BURWELL, March 23d, 1869.

Messrs. PERRY DAVIS & SON, 4

Sirs:—I am pleased to notify you of the benefit which I have received from ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM; having been troubled with a cough for several years past, the Balsam was recommended to me. THE LATEST DISCOVERY

In Medication.

The great difficulty which physicians have been laboring for centuries to overcome, has at length been obviated. A vegetable Cathartic and alterative more efficient than any mineral preparation of the regular physician, and as agreeable to the taste as ordinary candy, is now offered to the sick in the form of a Lozenge.

DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S

is the most important medicinal novelty that modern chemistry has produced. It contains two botanical extracts, perfectly harmless in themselves, but embodying all the remedial properties of mercury, and destined in this pleasant form to displace and banish the nauseous, griping, nauseous pills and portions of which that dangerous agent is the main ingredient. More than one thousand dollars expended were made by the inventor of this peerless remedy before it was brought to its present state of perfection. The Lozenge is harmless in its operation, and altogether the medicinal taste of its curative components has been extinguished by chemical art, their virtues remain as active and potent as ever.

In Dyspepsia, Biliousness Constipation, Sick or Nervous Headache, Piles, Dropsy, and the irregularities to which the feebler sex are subject, the Lozenge will be found infinitly more effective than any of the horrible and disgusting compounds usually administered in such cases. As an antibilious specific and general aperient, they have no equal either among advertised preparations or the prescriptions of the regular pharmacopœia.

☞ It is guaranteed that no one who has once tried Dr. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S Liver and Stomach Lozenge, will ever again take a purgative powder, or draught or pill.

TOBIAS' CELEBRATED VENETIAN LINIMENT, whose wonderful cures, sure and instaneous action, in cases of Chronic Rheumatism, Headache, Toothache, Croup, Cuts, Burns, Colic, Cramps, Dysentery, etc., have astonished the civilized world, is no new catch-penny; but an article that has stood the test of twenty-two years. The enormous sale and rapidly increasing demand is at once the conclusive evidence of its fulness and popularity. No family should be without a bottle in the house. Hundreds of dollars and many hours of suffering may be saved by its timely use.

Colic, Cramp, and Dysentery yield at once to its paleonative properties. It is perfectly innocent and can be given to the oldest person or youngest child. No matter if you have no confidence in Patent Medicines—try this, and you will be sure to buy again, and recommend to your friends. Hundreds of Physicians recommend it in their practice.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

Read the Evidence.

"Facts are stubborn things," and it is to facts alone that it is desired to direct the attention of the readers of this article.

Many years of severe and thorough practical trial have demonstrated beyond the peradventure of a doubt the fact that the medicines prepared by me, and known as SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, SCHENCK'S SEAWEED TONIC, and SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, have proved extraordinarily successful in the cure of diseases of the pulmonary organs, or what is usually termed Consumption.

I am fully aware that there are many persons whose prejudices rule them so completely that "profits strong as Holy Writ," would fail to convince them of the efficacy of my remedies, and that there are others who, under any circumstances, could be prevailed upon to admit their merits, simply because such an admission would prove detrimental to their particular personal interests.

Fortunately for the welfare of mankind, these doubting people form a comparatively small portion of the community at large. They are to be found here and there, but, compared with the great mass of the world's population, their number are so small that I dismiss them, and address myself to those who are willing to listen to the dictates of reason, and who are disposed to admit the strong logic of well established facts.

We are also told almost daily that Consumption the scourge of the American people, is incurable; that a man whose lungs are diseased, may as well go on over to die; that he must abandon hope; and that the arrangement of his temporal as well as spiritual affairs should claim his earliest attention. If there were not facts as undeniable as that the sun will shine in a clear heaven at midday to controvert these random and not unfrequently harmful assertions, I should feel unwilling to take up the gage of battle against them; but, fortified with results—facts—which neither theory nor mere assertion can overthrow, I propose to prove that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED, and that the medicines I prepare—THE MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC, and PULMONIC SYRUP—when taken in strict conformity with the directions, in a majority of cases effect that which the faculty pronounces impossible—they will cure Consumption.

An ounce of solid fact is worth a pound of theory. Let me, therefore, present the facts connected with my own individual experience. Many years ago, I was a confirmed consumptive, and like thousands of other unfortunates, was given up to die. Eminent physicians pronounced my case a hopeless one, and told me that if I had any preparations to make for the final solemn event, that I had better make them speedily. I believed this, like a condemned man, and did the persons who thus affectionately informed me that my days were numbered, and that recovery was impossible. Still, the desire to live lingered in my bosom. I was young, and clung to life with the same tenacity that young men, and old men too, ordinarily do. I did not feel willing to abandon hope as long as a single vestige of it remained. I had full faith in the sad information conveyed to me by my physicians, but still there was a lingering belief that something could be done, though I knew not in what direction to seek for the much desired relief.

It was at this gloomy and eventful period of my history that I first learned of the roots and herbs from which my remedies for this dreaded disease are now prepared. I was induced to try them, and, to the utter amazement of all—physicians, friends and neighbors—began to improve. My entire system commenced to undergo a complete renovation. Expectoration, which formerly had been difficult and painful, now became comparatively easy. I threw off daily large quantities of offensive yellow matter. At the same time my long-lost appetite returned. I ate freely of such food as was palatable to me, and which was at the same time nutritious and wholesome. My expectoration became less copious and less offensive; exhausting night sweats ceased; the racking and harrassing cough abated; the hectic flush, the pain departed; flesh planted itself on my sadly wasted frame, and with flesh came strength and full health. From a mere skeleton I became a stout, strong, robust man, and I have maintained both strength and flesh to this day. I weigh two hundred and thirty-five pounds; I am hale; with an appetite vouchsafed to but few men, while my digestive organs are amply equal to all the requirements of a healthful condition of my system.

Now, be it remembered, all these wonderful changes were wrought by the use of the medicines I prepare—MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC and PULMONIC SYRUP. And were seemingly so miraculous naturally created astonishment in the minds of those who knew me. I was literally bedazzled on all sides. I had visitors daily who besought me to give them the remedies which had wrought the wonderful restoration they saw in me from the very jaws of death. Letters were received by scores importuning me to impart the secret and inform the writers where the medicines for consumption could be obtained. Others, who were too weak to travel, not satisfied with writing, sent for and consulted me in regard to their cases. To all these applications I responded as I was able.

I had fully regained my health, and gratitude for the happy result prompted me to turn my attention to the science of medicine with the hope of thereby being able to be of service to my suffering fellow-creatures. I devoted myself closely to my studies, and more especially to the study of them relating to the terrible disease from which I had suffered so long and so much. I investigated it in all its fearful phases, in order to assure myself that my case was not an exceptional one. The closer my investigations the more satisfactory were my conclusions. I fully convinced that tens of thousands of my fellow-creatures were dying annually of consumption whose cases were just as desperate and apparently hopeless as mine had been, and I argued from this that remedies which had proven so effective with me would prove equally so with others. I prepared my medicines in a pleasant and attractive form, and announced them to the world. The results are well known. Thousands of suffering men, women and children, who were on the way to the grave, have been cured, and are to-day living evidences of the fact that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED; and I think I may say, without arrogating to myself any more than is justly my due, that I have had so much experience in the treatment of consumption as any other person in the country, and that my success has been wonderfully great.

Let the reader remember that these are not mere fanciful statements. They are positive living facts, of which I am the living evidence.

"There is an old saying that says, 'what has been done may be done.' I have been completely cured of consumption by the remedies I now offer to the public. Thousands of others have testified to similar happy results from them, and thousands of others still might benefitted as I have been could they but be prevailed upon to try the virtue of the Mandrake Pills, Seaweed Tonic and Pulmonic Syrup. All that is necessary to convince the most skeptical of their merits is a fair trial.

Full dirdctions accompany each of the medicines, so that it is not absolutely necessary that persons should see me personally, unless they desire to have their lungs examined. For this purpose I am personally at my PRINCIPAL OFFICE, No. 15 North Sixth Street, corner of Commerce, EVERY SATURDAY.

Advice is given without charge, but for a thorough examination with the Respirometer the fee is five dollars.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic, each $1 50 per bottle, or $7 50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents per box.

THE WILL OF THE LATE JOHN NESMITH.—The will of the late ex-Governor John Nesmith, of East Cambridge, covers an estate of about $300,000, and the property is all devised, with the exception of a few trifling legacies, for the benefit of his wife and seven children, with this exception, however:

Upon the decease of his wife and his last surviving child, the sum of $60,000 and a lot of land and the buildings upon it on the corner of John and Merrimac streets, in Lowell, is to be made over to the State of New Hampshire, the whole to be known as the "Nesmith Fund," for the aid, support, education and maintenance of the indigent blind of the State of New Hampshire. The fund is not to be diminished except for the purpose of rebuilding or making repairs, or improving the property, so that the income from it shall be increased. The will is dated October 25, 1865, and a codicil bearing the date of April 28, 1869, provides that the State shall accept the gift under its conditions before it is made over to the State, and that they shall not lease or lose control of it for more than five years at a time.

A second codicil of a later date gives two lots of land adjoining the Sanborn Cemetery to the town of Franklin, N. H., for the purpose of an ornamental park or common, with the provisions that no buildings shall be erected upon it, and that within thirty years the town shall buy the cemetery, transfer the bodies and add the cemetery to the lots donated. Failing this, the gift shall be null and void.

AN UNUSUAL SERVICE.—Rev. Mr. Timlow of East Cambridge was called upon to perform a double service and of directly opposite nature. It was that of a marriage and funeral in the same family and at the same hour. The mother had died, and just before her death requested her daughter to have her contemplated marriage consummated as soon after death as practicable. It so happened that convenience and other things pointed to the hour of the funeral service. And so it occurred that, by the side of the mother's coffin, the daughter was married. There was the weeping father, with the sacred marriage tie just broken, and there was the daughter just forming the tie, and with emotions that can hardly be imagined. Just after the marriage ceremony, Mr. Timlow proceeded with the burial service. It was a season of great solemnity, and yet must have impressed all the spectators as very strange.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of the United States Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837,
NO. 78 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,
After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all papers and documents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made into American and Foreign works, to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Invention, and legal and other advice rendered on all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.
No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
During eight months the subscriber, in the course of his practice, made only one rejected applications, SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided IN HIS FAVOR by the Commissioner of Patents.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse." CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.
"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me THIRTEEN applications, in all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGHART."

DODD'S NERVINE ONCE MORE.
THE STANDARD REMEDY for biliousness with the medical profession is the Anti-Bilious Pill of the Annual Pharmacopœia. And its reputation has been well enough deserved. But it is a Pill, nevertheless, and most people of sensibility feel something about as big as a meeting house coming into their throat whenever a pill is spoken of. DODD'S NERVINE AND INVIGORATOR acts efficiently on the biliary organism; it irritates neither stomach nor intestine in all its operation; and what is VERY IMPORTANT, as all good people know, it is MOST AGREEABLE TO TAKE, being as pleasant to the palate as any delicate wine. We all know how it is with Cod Liver Oil. In a pure state it is excellent for certain conditions of debility, and particularly in tendencies to Consumption; and yet many of the best physicians decline to prescribe it, because it so dreadfully sickens the patient. That, they say, makes it do more harm than good. With all this be no longer an obstacle. For sale by all Druggists. Price $1. o214w

WHAT ARE
DR. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
Vinegar Bitters.
THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK Made of Poor Rum, Whisky, Proof Spirits, and refuse Liquors, doctored, spiced, and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetisers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD-PURIFIER and LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter, and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell. $100 will be given for an incurable case, providing the bones are not destroyed by mineral poisons or other means, the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.
FOR INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND GOUT, DYSPEPSIA, or INDIGESTION, BILIOUS, REMITTENT, and INTERMITTENT FEVERS, DISEASES OF THE BLOOD, LIVER, KIDNEYS, and BLADDER, these BITTERS have been EVER SO successful. SUCH DISEASES are caused by VITIATED BLOOD, which is generally produced by derangement of the DIGESTIVE ORGANS.
Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood healthy, and all will be well.
These Bitters are not a gilded pill, to delight the eye or please the fancy, but a medical preparation, composed of the purest vegetable ingredients known.
They are Alterative, Tonic, Diuretic, Sedative, Diaphoretic, and Gentle Purgative.
"The Life of all Flesh is the Blood thereof."—Purify the blood and the health of the whole system will follow.

Rev. Mr. Spaulding of Dover intends to deliver a Thanksgiving Discourse at the First Congregational church, on the Rights of Animals.

The post of the Grand Army of the Republic established in Dover, and already numbering about 70 members, has been without a name up to Friday evening last, when it was unanimously voted to call it Post Charles W. Sawyer, in honor of Major Sawyer, who so gallantly answered his country's call and sacrificed his life in its behalf.

At Dover, sneak thieves attempted to get into the house of Mr. Uriah Wiggin during his absence, and after trying two windows and a door, were probably frightened away by the barking of a dog. The next night watch was kept, and two men were seen prowling around in that vicinity about midnight for nearly two hours.

Mr. Thos. Chase of Tuftonborough raised a Beet weighing thirteen pounds and measuring two feet in circumference.

John M. Brackett, Joseph L. Avery, John L. Peavey, Joseph W. Goodwin, Charles W. Thurston, Joseph Varney, Windborn A. Sanborn, are Directors of the Wolfeborough Railroad. John M. Brackett, President; John L Peavey, Clerk; J. L. Avery, Treasurer.

The Telegraph says that a woman named Mary Ann Doherty was arrested in Nashua on the 9th for assaulting Bartholomew Sullivan with a tea-kettle and threatening his life. She resisted the officer fiercely, biting, scratching and kicking. Sullivan took hold to help the officer, and the woman was got to the lobby, where she made a kick at Sullivan and hit him in the bowels. He fainted on the spot and it is feared his injuries may prove fatal.

An attempt was made by some persons to enter the house of Mr. James Littlefield at Garrison Hill, Dover, they were probably alarmed by the hired man getting up and lighting a lamp.

A man calling himself Alfred Rowe, of Barrington, called at the house of R. T. Rogers, Rochester, where he staid all night. He was drunk, and claimed to have been robbed of an overcoat and money. In the morning his coat was found hanging on the front fence, with the money in the pocket.

At town meeting Rochester refused to assist either of the Railroads by the loan of its credit or otherwise.

A dog belonging to H. A. Lamos, Great Falls, was supposed to have the hydrophobia, and was despatched before biting any one.

The houses of Hon. Amos Tuck and Prof. Eben Stearns, in Exeter, were burglariously entered Wednesday night. From Mr. Tuck's house was taken a gold watch and chain worth two hundred dollars, a diamond ring worth one hundred dollars, and money and jewelry to the value of one or two hundred more. From Prof. Stearns was taken silver ware and valuables to the amount of three hundred dollars.

Mrs. George Frost of Eliot and a boy named Simpson, met with a severe accident at Dover by being thrown from a wagon. They had stopped the horse and were about alighting, when he, from some unknown cause, started to run; and in turning, threw Mrs. F. and the boy with great violence upon the ground. The lady was badly injured upon the wrist and knee, and the boy upon the head.

THE WOLFEBOROUGH ROBBERY.—It would seem that the good people of Wolfeborough are sound sleepers and accustomed to noises in the night. One person, who lived just opposite the Lake Bank, heard a noise on the night of the robbery, got up, poked his head out the window and finally concluding that he had heard himself dream, went back to bed. In the upper part of the building two persons were quietly snoozing. One of them went through the same operations as the man opposite and arrived at the same sage conclusion. The other man did not even awake from the embrace of Morpheus. Those sleeping in the building were employed to do so by the Bank Directors and were furnished with arms with which to defend themselves and give an alarm. They now think that chloroform added to their somnolence.—Patriot.

THE CONSTABULARY ELECTION.—Returns from 186 towns give the following vote; No, 12,062; Yes, 5583.

Hampton Falls, 13 yeas, 17 nays. North Hampton, 4 yeas; 8 nays. So. Hampton, 10 yeas; nays 33. So. Newmarket, 16 yeas; 33 nays. Stratham, 11 yeas, 31 nays.

The U. S. steamer Albany has sailed for St. Domingo. She carries three Commissioners who go to take formal possession of Samana Bay as an American Naval Station. The Albany was loaded with heavy ordnance for coast fortifications, and will take on board a regiment of infantry and a company of Artillery at the Dry Tortugas.

The holiday number, of Godey's Lady's Book, for December, has Two Steel Plates, Two Christmas Plates, Colored Plate of a cushion in Bead-work and another large Sheet of Embroidery Patterns. In the literary department a grand army of literary celebrities in the magazine world contribute a rich feast. A number of Christmas games will be found in the Arm-chair department.

THANKSGIVING CONCERT. — Hayward's Concert at the Temple, Thanksgiving Night, will undoubtedly be a very pleasing entertainment. Mr. Hayward is probably the best ballad singer in the country, and in his new entertainment he has everywhere met with the most gratifying success. The press are enthusiastic in praise of the entertainment, pronouncing it one of the best now before the public. The Lancaster Republican thus speaks of it;

"It affords us genuine satisfaction to be able to notice a really meritorious public entertainment, and without reserve, we pronounce those given by Mr. and Mrs. William Hayward, the very best that have been presented to our people during the current year. The entertainments were of high order of merit, regarded in a humorous or musical sense. Mr. H., as a delineator of character, is very successful; his costumes are good and ludicrously to life. He has a pleasant voice, of fine tone and compass—and in his especial forte, ballad singing, is unequalled. Mrs. H. has also a fine voice, rendering her parts with very great success. In the entire range of song and character, while there is plenty to amuse, there is nothing visible that can excite unfavorable criticism. The entertainments are chaste, witty, emotional, and every way of a high order of interest and merit. We commend Mr. and Mrs. H. to the public as artists deserving the fullest recognition."

NORTH MILLPOND.—The only means of reaching Gravelly Ridge, and that whole section of country, is across one or more Railroad tracks, either at the Creek or Vaughan Street—both of them rather ugly and somewhat dangerous crossings. We are decidedly in favor of a Bridge across the Pond, somewhere near the centre of its length—and a bridge also high over the tracks at Dover St., we should regard as a very great and desirable improvement. And now that a majority of the Board of Aldermen have voted to lay out the new highway asked for, even directly on a level with the numerous rails at Cabot Street—dangerous and undesirable as this appears to many, we sincerely hope the Railroad officers will view the matter as a public improvement and inevitable necessity, and instead of useless opposition, will do their share to erect the Dover Street bridge, as Pres. Minot of the Concord Road stated his corporation would, at the hearing on the question several months since.

According to Alderman Slater—Mr. Cheever states that the Eastern Railroad has not bought the Hale's Point field—and further, that nobody can buy it, without a road being laid out through it.

LEE, NOV. 11.

On the 8th inst., a very worthy and intelligent young man in this town, who is very feeble and fast sinking with consumption, was baptized by Rev. A. G. Comings in the North River. He experienced no injurious effect, but was happy and comfortable in the evening.

It is said that Lee, at present, for temperance and sobriety, is the banner town of the State of New Hampshire. Long may she wear her honors!. The boast is often made that no rum-shop is in Lee, nor will be allowed here. Such a victory, even for a little while, is worth something.

Mr. Alfred Snell of Lee has a Brahma hen that challenges all the world of biddies to a trial of big eggs. Biddy Snell fights her battle of eggs with a double-shotted gun, daily laying a double egg of extraordinary size. At the store at Lee Hill they have often been measured, and one of the latest issued was 6 3-4 inches in circumference the smallest way, and 8 inches the largest. What biddy will beat that, in a daily business? A. G.

☞ The Eastern Railroad Company have recently bought 4000 feet of land in Salem, adjoining their car shops, for the purpose of extending their buildings. They have now over a hundred hands employed in the building of cars, which are among the most elegant and commodious in the country.

☞ A naval court-martial will assemble on Monday at the Navy Yard for the trial of Benj. Bracken, a marine. Capt. D. M. Fairfax is President, and Gen. John A. Bowles of Washington, Jude Advocate.

☞ Among the names mentioned for the Democratic nomination for Mayor we hear that of Jerome C. Butler, Esq.

—General Custer was lately advertised to address a democratic meeeting in Leavenworth, but in a card to the papers remarked that he was not in the business.

—A southern paper having said there was nothing pretty about Jefferson Davis, the Commercial Bulletin thinks there were some petti-coats about him at the close of his career.

Impaired Digestion.

All the organs of the body are, so to speak, the pensioners of the stomach. In that living laboratory is prepared the nourishment required to sustain them, and by the vessels and ducts connected with the digestive apparatus, that nourishment is conveyed to every part of the system. Upon the quality and quantity of this element of life, and upon the manner in what it is distributed and apportioned, physical health mainly depends, and as the mind inevitably sympathizes with the body, the vigor of the one is absolutely necessary to the well-being of the other.

It is because HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS accomplishes this double object that it enjoys a reputation as a preventive and curative never heretofore attained by any medicinal preparation. But its direct beneficial operation upon the weak or disordered stomach is not its sole recommendation. It is the most comprehensive of all known remedies. It tones, strengthens, and regulates the discharging as well as the assimilating organs; gently moving the bowels, promoting healthful evaporation through the pores, rousing the inert liver from its torpor, and imparting harmonious and natural action in the whole animal machinery. This benign result is not produced by any of the reactionary drugs which are used so lavishly in the old school practice, founded by Paracelsus; but by mild, safe and agreeable vegetable agents intermixed with a pure and mellow stimulant which diffuses their influence through the system and renders their sanitory properties active and effective.

MERIT SOON NOISED ABROAD.

It is but six years since ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM, was first offered for sale. Its good qualities were soon made known at home, and very soon regulates the demand far and near and it is sold in nearly every Drug Store in the United States—NORTH, EAST, SOUTH AND WEST. No similar medicine stands higher with the people. It is well known on the Pacific coast, and liberal demands for it from San Francisco, Sacramento in California, and Portland, Oregon; even from Australia, large orders are received for it. And throughout Canada, it is well and favorably known, and sold everywhere.

Read what Captain Foster writes:

PORT BURWELL, March 23d, 1869.

Messrs. PERRY DAVIS & SON,

Sirs:—I am pleased to notify you of the benefit which I have received from ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM; having been troubled with a cough for several years past, the Balsam was recommended to me. I immediately procured it, and found it to relieve my cough more readily than anything I ever tried. My wife has also used it with most satisfactory results.

Yours Very Truly,

Capt. D. FOSTER.

THE LATEST DISCOVERY

In Medication.

The great difficulty which physicians have been laboring for centuries to overcome, has at length been obviated. A vegetable Cathartic and alterative more efficient than any mineral preparation of the same class, and as agreeable to the taste as ordinary candy, is now offered to the sick in the form of a Lozenge.

DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S

is the most important medicinal novelty that modern chemistry has produced. It contains two botanical extracts, perfectly harmless in themselves, but embodying all the remedial properties of mercury, and destined in this pleasant form to supersede and banish from general use, the nauseous pills and portions of which that dangerous excipient is the main ingredient. More than were made by the inventor of this peerless remedy before it was brought to its present state of perfection. The Lozenge is harmless in its operation, and altogether the medicinal taste of its curative components has been extinguished by chemical art, their virtues remain as active and potent as ever.

In Dyspepsia, Biliousness Constipation, Sick or Nervous Headache, Piles, Dropsy, and the irregularities to which the female sex are subject, the Lozenge will be found infinitely more efficacious than any of the horrible and disgusting compounds usually administered in such cases. As an antibilious specific and general aperient, they have no equal either among advertised preparations or the prescriptions of the regular pharmacopœia.

The Proprietor feels so confident that no one who has once tried DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S Liver and Stomach Lozenge, will ever again take a purgative powder, or a drench of nauseous stuff.

The enormous sale and rapidly increasing demand is at once the surest evidence of its usefulness and popularity. No family should be without a bottle in the house. Hundreds of dollars and many hours of suffering may be saved by its timely use.

Cramp, Colic, Cramp, and Dysentery yield at once to its paincurative properties. It is perfectly innocent, and can be given to the oldest person or youngest child. SPECIAL NOTICES.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

Read the Evidence.

"Facts are stubborn things," and it is to facts alone that it is desired to direct the attention of the readers of this article.

Many years of severe and thorough practical trial have demonstrated beyond the peradventure of a doubt the fact that the medicine prepared by me, and known as SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, SCHENCK'S SEAWEED TONIC, and SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, have proved extraordinarily successful in the cure of diseases of the pulmonary organs, or what is usually termed Consumption.

I am fully aware that there are many persons whose prejudices rule them so completely that "profits strong as Holy Writ," would fail to convince them of the efficacy of my remedies, and that there are others who, under no circumstances, could be prevailed upon to admit their merits, simply because such an admission would prove detrimental to their particular personal interests.

Fortunately for the welfare of mankind, these doubting people form a comparatively small portion of the community at large. They are to be found here and there, but, compared with the great mass of the world's population, their numbers are so small that I dismiss them, and address myself to those who are willing to listen to the dictates of reason, and who are disposed to admit the strong logic of well established facts.

We are also told almost daily that Consumption the scourge of the American people, is incurable; that the tubercles in the lungs are diseased, and give on over to die; that he must abandon hope; and that the arrangement of his temporal as well as spiritual affairs should claim earliest attention. If there were not facts as undeniable as that the sun will shine in a clear heaven at midday to controvert these random and not unfrequently harmful assertions, I should feel unwilling to take up the gage of battle against them; but, fortified with results—facts—which neither theory nor mere assertion can overturn, I propose to prove that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED, and that the medicines I prepare—THE MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC, and PULMONIC SYRUP—will, if used in strict accordance with the directions, in a majority of cases effect that which the faculty pronounces impossible—they will cure Consumption.

An ounce of solid fact is worth a pound of theory. Let us, therefore, present the facts connected with my own individual experience. Many years ago, I was a confirmed consumptive, and like thousands of other unfortunates, was given up to die. Eminent physicians pronounced my case a hopeless one, and told me that if I had any preparations to make for the final solemn event, that I had better make them speedily. I believed this just as confidently as did the persons who thus affectionately informed me that my days were numbered, and that recovery was impossible. Still, the desire to live lingered in my bosom. I was young, and clung to life with the same tenacity that young men, and old men too, ordinarily do. I did not feel willing to abandon hope as long as a single vestige of it remained. I had full faith in the sad information conveyed to me by my physicians, but still there was a lingering belief that something could be done, though I knew not in what direction to seek for the much desired relief.

It was at this gloomy and eventful period of my history that I first learned of the roots and herbs from which my remedies for this dread disease are now prepared. I procured and used them, and, to the utter amazement of all—physicians, friends and neighbors—to whom I appeared dead, my entire system commenced to undergo a complete renovation. Expectoration, which formerly had been difficult and painful, now became comparatively easy. I threw off daily large quantities of offensive yellow matter. At the same time my long-lost appetite returned. I ate freely of such simple food as was palatable to me, which was at the same time nutritious and wholesome. Expectoration became less copious and less offensive; exhausting night sweats ceased; the cough and harrassing cough abated; the fever broke; the pain departed; flesh planted itself on my sadly wasted frame, and within a comparatively short full health. From a mere skeleton I became a stout, strong, robust man, and I have maintained both strength and flesh to this day. I weigh two hundred and thirty-five pounds; I am blest with an appetite vouchsafed to but few men, while my digestive organs are simply equal to all the requirements of a healthful condition of my system.

Now, be it remembered, all those wonderful changes were wrought by the use of the medicines I prepare—MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC and PULMONIC SYRUP. A cure seemingly so miraculous naturally created astonishment in the minds of those who knew me. I was literally beslezed on all sides. I had visitors daily who besought me to give them the remedies which had wrought this wonderful restoration and had wrested me from the very jaws of death. Letters were received by scores importuning me to publish the secret and tell the world where the specifics for consumption could be obtained. Others, who were too weak to travel, not satisfied with writing, sent for me and consulted me in regard to their cases. To all these applications I responded as I was able.

I had fully regained my health, and gratitude for the happy result prompted me to turn my attention to the science of medicine with the hope of thereby being able to be of service to my suffering fellow-creatures. I devoted myself closely to my studies, and more especially to that branch of them relating to the terrible disease from which I had suffered so long and so nearly fatally, to study it in all its fearful phases, in order to assure myself that my case was not an exceptional one. I pursued my investigations the more earnestly to verify my conclusions. I felt convinced that tens of thousands of my fellow-creatures were dying of consumption who, with proper care, might not as desperate, and apparently hopeless as mine had been, and I argued from this that remedies which had proved so effective with me would prove as equally so with others. I prepared my medicines in a pleasant and attractive form, and announced them to the world. The results are well known. Thousands of suffering men, women and children, who were on the way to the grave, have been cured, and are to-day living evidences of the fact that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED; and I think I may say, without arrogating to myself any more than is justly my due, that I have had as much experience in the treatment of consumption as any other person in the country, and that my success has been wonderfully great.

Let the reader remember that these are not mere fancied statements. They are positive living facts, of which I am the living evidence.

There is an old adage which says, "What has been done may be done." I have been completely cured of consumption by the remedies I now offer to the public. Thousands have been notified to similar happy results from their use, and thousand of others still might benefitted as I have been if they but be induced to give a fair trial to the virtue of The Mandrake Pills, Seaweed Tonic and Pulmonic Syrup. All that is necessary to convince the most skeptical of their merits is a fair trial.

Full directions accompany each of the medicines, so that it is not absolutely necessary that patients should see me personally, unless they desire to have their lungs examined. For this purpose I am personally at my PRINCIPAL OFFICE, No. 15 North Sixth Street, corner of Commerce, EVERY SATURDAY.

Advice is given without charge, but for a thorough examination with the Respirometer the price is five dollars.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic, each $1 50 per bottle, or $9 00 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents per box.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

New Advertisements to-day.

Auction—Pickering Farm, Newington.
Auction—H. F. Wendell.
Auction—Horse, M. T. Betton & Co.
Republican Mayoralty Caucus.
Firemen's Ball—S. F. E. Co., No. 2.
Portsmouth Savings Bank.

☞ Not any sardine—J. F. Dean.

☞ Sagamore S. F. Engine Co. are to hold their tenth annual Ball at Congress Hall on Thanksgiving Eve,—as advertised. The Two's have long stood high in our Fire Department, both socially and for business.

☞ Bidwell's Theatrical Company brought out "The Hidden Hand" very creditably, Thursday evening. This evening "Leah, the Forsaken" and the laughable farce "The King's Gardener" hold the boards. The engagement of the Company closes to-morrow evening, as they are to commence an engagement at Newburyport on Monday. The audience of Thursday evening do not need any urging to see "Leah."

☞ The body of Mr. James Dennett was brought from Boston to this city Thursday afternoon, and buried in the South Street Cemetry. The family accompanied, and the Portsmouth Mechanics' Association (a portion of their members,) received the body at the depot here, and escorted it to the grave; Messrs. Reed V. Rand, Samuel Kingsbury, Wm. Varrell and Thomas Varrell acting as pall-bearers. There were no services here, the funeral taking place at Somerville. Mr. Joseph Randall, undertaker, of that place, formerly of this city, had the body in charge; and opportunity was given at the grave to look on the face of the deceased once more.

THE MAYORALTY.—It will be seen by the advertisement in another column, that the Republican caucus for the nomination of a candidate for Mayor is to be held at the Court House on Tuesday evening next, at half-past seven o'clock. We hope that Republicans will discuss the merits of the different candidates candidly, with a view to bringing out an acceptable man whom all can unite on. Let every Republican who cares about the nomination be at the caucus, and resolve that the candidate who shall be nominated shall receive their unanimous support and be elected. The treatment of the candidate of last year by the bolters was shameful, and if we had the least idea that Capt. Thacher would accept a re-nomination, we should urge it as an act of justice to himself and to those who voted against him. But we hear that Capt. Thacher positively declines; it is therefore necessary to make a new choice. The several gentlemen already named as candidates are warmly supported by their respective friends, and we trust that opposition to each other will cease after the nomination shall have been made. Nominate a true Republican of character and ability and let all unite in removing all traces of copperheadism from our city affairs.

FLEET STREET.—In the Board of Aldermen, Thursday Evening, it was voted to widen Fleet Street (now 16 to 22 feet) to 40 feet, between Congress and Hanover—Yeas, Pender, Clark, Cotton, Miller, Spinney, 5; Nays, Slater, Nowell, Pendexter. Awarded the Mechanics' Association $2 per foot for land taken, bought from the Ham estate, and 40 cts. per foot for that bought of W. S. Hadley; Mr. Lydston 40 cts. per foot, the Haven heirs 15 cts. per foot and the City to build new fence, and Mr. Cotton 30 cts. per foot.

NORTH MILLPOND BRIDGE.—The Aldermen also voted to lay out the new highway asked for, from Cabot Street across the pond to Mystic Street. Yeas, Slater, Pender, Miller, Nowell, Spinney; nays, Cotton, Clark; Pendexter not voting. There was much discussion of both the Street questions, and Ald. Pendexter stated that if he was sure the Eastern Railroad had not bought Hale's Point, as Ald. Slater stated, he would vote for the Millpond road. The Mayor and Ald. Nowell, Cotton and Pendexter, thought the former vote of the Aldermen, three years ago, should be adhered to—to pay one-half the cost when the petitioners raised the other. The Board did not complete this laying-out by awarding damages.

YORK.—The action of George Bowden et. al. vs. Luther Junkins, has been withdrawn from the Supreme Court and submitted to Geo. A. Hammond, of Eliot, and E. C. Spinney, of Kittery, as Referees. This case has been one of long standing, and has excited much interest in this place where the parties reside.

George M. Freeman has sold his residence at Cape Neddick and removed to Manchester.

☞ The New Hampshire Gazette for this week, is now ready for delivery at the Chronicle office. Price 5 cts. per copy—$2. per year. Contains all the Local and other reading from the Daily Chronicle.

THE GAZETTE for 1870.—New Subscribers paying $2 for the New Hampshire Gazette for the year 1870, will receive the paper free until Jan. 1st.

☞ Mr. March's Library is to be sold at auction to-day, by catalogue, at his late residence in Greenland. Sale commences at 10 o'clock.

THE TRUTH ABOUT SHERIDAN'S RIDE.

The musketry firing on the left was by this time continuous, like the sputtering of a sun-shower, while the boom of artillery came only at intervals, resembling big drops among the smaller spray.

I got up, smoothed my hair through my fingers and put on my cap. My toilet was then completed, as I had slept with my clothes on to keep out the chill. I might have washed my face had there been water. But there was only sufficient in my canteen for a pannikin of coffee, and the spring was a good way off.

Gus was "getting his traps together," so I placed my coffee cup on the fire, and took "a few hard tack" and a piece of pork out of my haversack. While at Millwood I had foraged a quart jar of apple butter from the closet shelf of a reb sympathizer, and Gus, spoon in hand, had already commenced making demonstrations upon it.

While all these little breakfast preparations were going on, the morning dawned; the misty atmosphere turning a dull daylight gray color, and the fog becoming less dense. My comrade sat on his knapsack near the fire plying his spoon in the apple butter pot, and suggested that I had better "pack," adding, "We'll have to get out of this 'fore long I reckon."

He soon became more serious and urgent; and I now noticed that the distant firing was gradually becoming more frequent and distinct—because the air was less dense, I thought from the fog having begun to lift.

I was very incredulous that morning; but yielding to the solicitations of my comrade, I at length packed my knapsack; and returning from the tent, stood warming my hands over the fire.

About an hour had elapsed since the time of our hearing the first gun, and we were wondering what corps was engaged, when a tall, gaunt man came running up to the fire. He was in the dress of a soldier, but without rifle or belts, and wearing a gray citizen's cap and a haversack, slung over his shoulder. He rubbed his hands, with an appreciative relish as he stooped over the fire; and then turning to me he grumbled out, "They're givin' us hell over there, an't they?"

"Giving who hell?" I queried.

"Our corps," he replied.

I looked at his cap; but seeing no badge on it, again queried, "What corps do you belong to?"

"Crook's."

"Crook's!" I repeated, in anxious surprise. "Do you mean to say that the rebs are driving you?"

"Are they driving us?" he muttered, slewing himself around, and pointing to the left of our line. "You see 'em comin' yonder?"

I looked in the direction indicated, peering anxiously though the mist, which had assumed a yellow tinge, as the sun's earliest rays struck the tops of the hills beyond. There were the shadowy outlines of men fleeing in confusion through the haze over the undulating crests of the ridges, and there, too, the spectral forms of others evidently in pursuit!

The pursurers were not following swiftly, but pausing at intervals; and as they paused I saw red sparks of fire leap up, and become extinguished by the damp misty air, followed by corresponding cracks, while occasionally the rifle barrels glinted like dew upon cobwebs swaying in the sunlight.

I turned to seek further information of the straggler from Crook's; but he had had enough warning, and was now a hundred yards away, going at a good trot toward the low open ground on our rear.

I was thoroughly confused: so suddenly had the sense of reality burst upon me; but grabbing up my coffee-pot, I poured the hot contents into my canteen, donned my belts, and picking up my rifle stood looking at Gus.

My comrade was a cool, first-class soldier; and as he saw my disordered appearance, and perhaps remembered that I was breakfastless, he consoled me by saying, "I knew you'd be in a fix. You oughter got up earlier."

After this bit of Job's comfort, we both hurried off to the right of our regimental camp, where we knew our line would form: and, in less than a minute thereafter, the air was alive with the bray of bugles, the rat-a-tap of drums beating the "long roll," and the commands of company officers arousing their men, and hurrying them into the ranks.

In another half minute the men of Crook's and a number of the Nineteenth corps mixed with them, were running in complete rout through the camp: while the bullets of the enemy were piercing our tents and whizzing about our ears.

Quick as possible our regiment formed, though irregularly, while the others of the brigade were in a similar confused, though still organized, state. Colonel P——, commanding the brigade, came forth from his tent, calling out for his horse, as he buckled on his sword. In an instant, his charger being produced and bestraddled by him, we were ordered to retire, and at once swung off to his left flank.

It is not in the least likely, that any orders had been issued to the brigade or division commanders that morning, though corps and army headquarters were within five hundred yards of each other—the latter being located in an old Virginia mansion on our right, while the tents of the former stood on a rising ground some distance nearer the main road.

Between the two headquarters the ground rolled away to the northward, level for three or four miles, with clumps of trees here and there, and flanked on either side by a slight elevation of the land. It was up this level channel that the scared troops from the left of our line were fleeing, although, singular enough, this route led them further and further from the pike, which should have been considered the proper line of retreat. But the enemy in attacking had struck our left, with the intention, no doubt, by pressing heavily, to double it up on the rear centre, and so get between us and Winchester. Therefore, when Crook's corps gave way, it exposed the left and rear of the Nineteenth, leaving this corps no alternative but to retire. This it did, but not without offering resistance; and to their efforts perhaps be attributed the fact of our corps, the Sixth, not being thrown into complete disorder. Under the circumstances it well might have been, though it did belong to that stubborn and often defeated, but never demoralized, old stock—the army of the Potomac.

In a few minutes, then, the Sixth had formed a line of battle stretched across the field, showing front both to our retreating troops and the advancing tide of the enemy. So precipitate was the flight of the former, and so panic struck were the fugitives, that they actually rushed through between our formed files, where many of them received hard knocks for thus disturbing the doubtful equanimity of the corps with whom they collided. I confess to having given some of these myself; and with a will, when I thought of that delicacy—the jar of apple butter—I had been compelled to leave behind, with other nick-nacks stowed away in the tent.

These retreating men prevented our delivering a fire to the enemy, and we were ourselves soon compelled to retire our line.

About half a mile to the rear we first became engaged; but made only a brief stand, and then retired again and took up a new position—which in turn had to be abandoned.

The world knows the story of the reverses which the Union troops suffered that morning; how they were driven from hill crest to hollow, and from wood to ravine, until they made their effort a little to the north of Middletown, nearly five miles from where our tents had been standing! In the course of the day's manœuvering the Jersey Brigade had made a detour to the left, which brought them into position by the pike road; and which they held when the last "rally" was attempted.

Middletown is a cluster of houses upon high ground traversed by the turnpike. For about five miles to its north the road runs in a direct line to Newtown—the latter village also occupying an eminence, as viewed by us from the southward. Between these two places the pike lay, like a light drab streak, depressed in the centre to the level of the adjoining fields, and rising at its extremities to the tops of the hills on which the two villages stood. It was a splendid road, its causeway hard as steel; though for three years it had been the highway of contending armies, who had chased each other scores of times along it—now in dispirited retreat, now in pursuit with weary yet exultant tread. Wagon and artillery trains had never made a rut upon it; and there was no sign of such, though it had not been repaired since the breaking out of the war.

The fences had disappeared from both sides to be used as fuel for the bivouacs of both armies; while the turf for a hundred yards to right and left was worn short and crisp, exposing the brown earth, trodden by the feet of hosts, led by famous leaders, such as "Stonewall" Jackson, Longstreet, Banks, Hunter, Shields, Stewart, Sheridan, and "the old man Early." This was the result of both a humane and a prudential policy on the part of the commanders; for the turf was less painful to the feet of their troops, while their trains and artillery, having the road to themselves, were kept well closed up and less liable to be attacked.

While halted in the fields near Middletown, Gus and I left the ranks during a lull in the firing, and hurried to a house about a hundred yards off, to fill our canteens at the well. We knew there was a well, having been there before.

A woman was craning her neck out of the southern gable window, watching intently the wagons and the men that were crowded along the road, and straining her eyes at some bushes whence the sound of occasional firing came from the enemy. She was one of those tall, thin, sallow Southern dames, with a warm magnetic black eye; but just inside the casement stood with folded arms another woman, younger and fairer, whom we knew to be her daughter. On seeing us, the woman in the window drew back; while both treated us to that withering, contemptuous glance they were in the habit of bestowing upon "Yanks." For all this they were old acquaintances; for, during the time we had been in the neighborhood we had paid them a visit to purchase "pumpkin" pies, of corn meal pastry, at fifty cents apiece. As we repassed the window in going out of the yard, the mother chirped out with sarcastic pleasantry:—

"I hear as you 'uns is goin' to Harper's Ferry—if ye git thur?"

"Well," replied Gus, "we've started that way; but it's by a mistake; and we've got one or two little matters to settle before we go much further."

"You'd better stay with us," sneeringly remarked the younger woman, "we expect father and brother, 'long here soon with our soldiers."

"If ye do," retorted Gus, in a reproachful tone, "you'd better be a bakin' of your tough pies to feed 'em on."

And with this brief dialogue we hurried off the premises.

On returning to the regiment, some one in the ranks was heard to say despondingly, "Boys! this is a bad business, going back as we are; and Sheridan at Washington too!"

Concluded to-morrow.

Dollie Bidwell makes her farewell bow in "Jack Sheppard," and "My Cousin Joe" closes up the series of entertainments. Our Newburyport friends will be favored with a visit from this Company next week, and we bespeak for them a good reception. The company is large, talented and worthy of patronage.

☞ The Mechanic Association voted to sell Mr. Jones their back land, on which to erect a public Hall,—but he declining to purchase with any restriction, although declaring this his intentions; the Association at their last meeting voted to give him a clear title.

CITY MATTERS. — In the Aldermen, Nov. 11th, the Mayor and Alderman Slater reported that the line of the road at the residence of Ald. D. H. Spinney had been straightened,—and the report was accepted and the action approved.

The offer of Mr. M. Eldredge to give a strip of land to widen Middle Street, near Lafayette Road, if the City will move the wall, was accepted; and the Com. on Streets were given power to act in the matter.

The petition of T. Tredick and others for a gas light at corner of Chestnut and State Streets, caused considerable discussion, and no little fun. Ald. Nowell wished it. Ald. Cotton opposed, as he thought the lights in that vicinity are plenty now, and new ones were more needed elsewhere, — but he did not blame Ald. Nowell for advocating it, as it was in his vicinity. Ald. Spinney thought if Ald. Nowell was to be our next Mayor, he should have all the light possible. Ald. Miller thought he should not be made light of. Ald. Slater then would call for his motion of long ago, to put a light on Capt. Thacher's corner of Vaughan St. Ald. Nowell being further badgered about his gas-light, remarked that he thought there was plenty of gas in the Board.

Mr. James Douglas was given permission to lay brick sidewalk on Deer Street; and Mr. John H. Folsom to lay one on Vaughan St., and also to encumber same for building.

The Mayor stated that the Eastern Railroad will lay walk across Deer St., on the west side of Vaughan, at the junction; and his action in ordering the walk north of Capt. Vennard's residence relaid, was approved by the Board.

The request for repair or adjustment of the drain near the Hill estate on Vaughan St., was referred to Com. on Sts. with power.

The action on the two road questions we have already given in detail. The Mayor and a majority of the Aldermen were decidedly in favor of the widening of Fleet Street to 40 feet, as recommended by the Com. on Sts. for two years. The vote was long ago to widen six feet over present width, and this Ald. Pendexter could not vote to increase, on account of the expense, the injury to the Mechanic Association property, and the fact that six feet would satisfy Mr. Parry and the other petitioners for the widening. The Mayor and Ald. Spinney were desirous of forty feet or more, and Ald. Spinney thought it would be but few years before Fleet Street would be cut through to Deer. On motion of Ald. Miller, it was voted, 5 to 3, to widen the street to 40 feet.

Ald. Slater called up the North Millpond bridge and road question. He insisted that the petitioners had rights, which should be respected, as well as those of the inhabitants of all other parts of the city,—and should not be put off with an offer to pay half their road. Mayor Jones opposed the road strongly, and in the course of debate said he would pay half for Freeman's Point Bridge when the City would pay the other half. Ald. Nowell and Cotton opposed the road and bridge; Ald. Nowell and Miller desired it to go over the Railroads at Dover St.; Ald. Pendexter thought this impracticable, and would vote for the Cabot St. route if he could be sure the Railroads do not own the Hale field. Ald. Slater resisted all motions to postpone the matter further, and pressed a vote, and the road and bridge were voted, 5 to 3.

The Board adjourned for two weeks.

☞ The question of the day—"who's to be Mayor."

☞ The New Hampshire Gazette for this week, is now ready for delivery at the Chronicle office. Price 5 cts. per copy—$2. per year. Contains all the Local and other reading from the Daily Chronicle.

THE TRUTH ABOUT SHERIDAN'S RIDE.

Concluded.

It is difficult to describe the feeling of hopelessness these few words produced upon all who heard them. Strockey, the captain of our company, confirmed their truth by adding, "Yes; he went to Washington two or three days ago."

"Who is commanding the army?" was asked, and the inquirer was told it was "Wright." The old Sixth knew Wright well, as an officer in different grades of our corps, until, by the death of the beloved Sedgwick, he was called to its command. We knew that he had led us often since then into and out of "the thickest of the fight;" but, he had never commanded an army; and we felt that the present was not a safe occasion to try a "prentice hand."

There was at the moment a painful anxiety manifested as to the chief command; though we might have spared ourselves this inquietude, for it is doubtful whether any one could have acted more skilfully, under the circumstances, up to the juncture, than Wright had done. What he would have done further is a matter of conjecture, as the opportunity was not presented for any further development of strategy on his part.

The fog had now dispersed, and the sun was shining brightly. We were in the fields about a mile north of Middletown, and had held this position for nearly an hour. Looking back along the road that sloped up towards Newtown, both it and the adjacent field were dotted with stragglers, servants leading back mules, wounded men getting to the rear, with a good many of that peculiar class of soldiers known to their worthier comrads as "coffee boilers." The general direction of this sporadic tide was towards Newtown, the goal being probably Harper's Ferry, which was upward of forty miles further on from the enemy. A few wagons were ambling diagonally over the fields towards the road, as though retiring from the flanks; but it was strikingly notable that there was nothing, man or beast, moving back from the village to the line of the army. The firing in our front was now becoming exceedingly quick and severe, as if the enemy was making use of our own guns, captured by them in the early movements of the morning. On the other hand, our artillery fire seemed, as it was in fact, proportionately weaker, from the loss of at least fifteen pieces. Occasionally our men glanced behind them towards Newtown, muttered imprecations leaped from their lips, directed against the "bummers" and "coffee boilers" that could be seen constantly and very distinctly retiring to the rear, as there was an uninterrupted view all the way up to the village.

Just at this crisis the First Rhode Island Battery, or a section of it, galloped at a splendid pace close along the rear of our line, and was soon lost to our view in a ravine beyond, in which there was a tract of timber. In a few seconds after a terrific "slumm" came booming out of the woods, within two hundred yards of our flank, while a cushion of snow-white smoke was seen puffing up over the trees.

"Good God," cried Strockey, "they are getting range of us with shell."

Another concussion of the air and a "slumm" as before, followed by the cloud of smoke, made him knit his brows and compress his lips. "Slumm" again, and as the smoke cleared I raised myself slightly on my hands, for we were lying down under orders, and saw the gleam of a burnished Parrott, and a rammer, with sponging rod on the shoulder of a blue blouse. Strockey saw it too, and with a yell shouted out:—

"By God! it's the Rhode Island Battery."

How those splendid fellows served their guns! And the guns seemed to understand what was required of them, for never before was metal known to speak more opportunely than those pieces did.

"Spang! spang! spang!" and a metallic twang and whirring whistle was heard at every discharge, as the iron lipped dogs belched out their gyral tongues of steel. It was worth a division of reinforcements to hear it, for it was the first artillery we had seen that morning on the Union side, while although we did not see them, we knew from experience that the rebs had used theirs with terribly destructive effect.

Just then a faint cheer was heard afar off in our rear, as from the stragglers along the Newton road. Gus, glancing over his shoulder, growled out mechanically, "Listen to those bummers. Where's the provost guard?"

I too looked back along the pike, and saw the tide of "strags" and retreaters moving off as before, all going northward. Everything not with us at the front was retiring in the same direction—toward Newtown. No, not everything; a single horseman was seen galloping down the slope of the hill from Newtown and toward us. There was only one and in all likelihood my eye was attracted to the individual—some wagon master I supposed him to be—because he was travelling in an opposite course to the crowd, through the thick of which he was making way.

The glance of others may have been momentarily arrested, as was mine, by the sight of this solitary horseman; but it was so unimportant a matter that no one thought of calling a comrade's attention to it.

The fling in our front had now become exceedingly severe and we expected every moment that the enemy would show themselves, charge and attempt to dislodge us from our position. But they did not then nor ever afterward in that valley. Their opportunity of "driving" us out of the "garden of Virginia" was lost, for it was open only about ten minutes longer.

While we lay waiting for them a dozen or more voices in our rear whined out a second feeble disjointed "H-a-a-y! hoo-ray!" and there was some change in the aspect of the crowd straggling along the road and in the fields nearest to Newtown. I noticed that the rider already mentioned had turned off the hard, dusty causeway and was galloping the road margin upon the brown turf. But he was still coming toward us, while the groups as he passed them either halted or turned and followed, by twos and threes, in his wake, as if returning to the army. The horseman could be seen at intervals, to take off his hat and wave it above his head, while the stragglers cheered in response.

Some one in our ranks remarked, "That fellow's got a heavy load of 'commissary' inside his shirt, he has."

Still at a gallop, his horse came on, with long, sweeping lunges, though he was not galloping fast, his pace being more noticeable for its stretch than quick movement. A great number of our troops had now noticed him, but still paid him only the attention that might be given to a drunken man making a show of himself on horseback.

At this time a second horseman appeared upon the hill just emerging from Newtown, and a full half mile to the rear of the first. He too seemed to be riding at a hard gallop, as if trying to overtake the other. Just then attention was recalled to the front by a spluttering fusilade from the enemy's skirmish line that was being thrown forward, and as they came slowly on we gave them a volley in return. Then a single shell from the battery on our right dropped and burst in their midst, causing them to retire, and as they withdrew two or three more shells passed over their heads and exploded behind a little ridge, under cover of which we believed them to be massing.

A cheer again rising in our rear, but this time stronger and more continuous, caused hundreds of us to look back. The solitary horseman was within five hundred yards of us, and the herds of stragglers were still straggling, but they straggled to the front—a manœuvre so unexpected as to astonish the oldest of our veterans. And cutting through among them down the Newtown slope came half a dozen other horsemen strung out in race-course order, but no two of them widely separated, as they forged forward, now one leading, then another, along the gray roadway. The second rider was nearly a mile ahead of these, while himself a good half mile behind the foremost, who was now rapidly approaching our lines.

As he came close enough for his features to be distinguished, we could see they were animated to the highest pitch of anxiety and earnestness, and with his body thrown forward he appeared to grasp his horse's ribs convulsively between his knees. The horse, a splendid black charger, was evidently laboring, as the long swinging gallop and distended neck plainly testified.

In another instant the strange horseman came sweeping up to our lines, a dozen yards to the left of where I and my comrade stood. As he approached he once more raised his hat and waved it in the air. We could see his lips move with great apparent energy; but we could not hear his voice amidst the firing and confusion.

There was nothing in his dress or appearance to have attracted particular attention. He wore the uniform of an officer—the coat double breasted, with the buttons in threes; while his hat was the full dress army one with the folded crown. His attitude was that of a man crouching forward, and half-kneeling on the ribs of his horse his left hand clutching the bridle reins with a grasp of iron. A rough heavy beard, without any flowing qualities, but rather inclined to stubbiness, concealed his jaws and neck, adding to the effect of the crouched attitude; and as he looked right and left, from under the broad slouched brim of his beaver, the remarkable expression of his features was that of a severe energy. But as he swept athwart our line, once more raising his hat and waving it in the air, that bright dark eye seeming to flash upon everything at once made him remembered. That man had been seen scores of times by that army, surrounded by a glittering staff and followed by a "swallow tail" pennon—his headquarters flag, of red and white, with two stars. The troops recognized him now, and a hundred voices shouted as from one throat:—

"It's Sheridan—hooray!"

A cry of exultation rose quickly along the lines as he wheeled back through them, and swept on over hillock and down the hollow to the right. That staunch cordon of the Sixth, that, but a moment before, had not heart to give a single cheer in the face of the overwhelming foe, hammering at them for five long hours, now found outlet for their feelings in mingled shouts of joy, defiance, and revenge. Had Michael with his legions come swooping from the clouds to sustain us in that fearful fray, his advent could not have inspired greater confidence and enthusiasm into the ranks of our faltering line.

Away to the right went the sweating black steed, and both he and his rider were soon lost to our sight, but the prolonged cheer, louder at intervals, told how they were greeted, till the shouts of salutation grew fainter and fainter, at length dying away in the distance.

* * * *

It is not necessary to tell particularly what followed. All know "Little Phil" assumed command of the retreating army, how the lines were reformed, and how, about one o'clock in the afternoon, we commenced advancing on the enemy. Completely turning the tables a charge was made by our cavalry swooping in on both flanks. Again we charged, and again the enemy resisted and retired. A third time they essayed to stay our onset, but in vain. Our first charge had astonished, our second staggered, and the third crushed them. Our cavalry doubled up their flanks, and at sunset the victors of the morning were a routed rabble.

That night Custer chased their shivered battallions as far as Woodstock, and the Sixth slept where it had slept the night before.

Sheridan kept his promised word; he had "whipped them out of their boots," and put his men back in their own camps before nightfall.

On returning to my old bivouac, I found that my pot of apple-butter had shared the fortunes of the day with the enemy. The butter had been "cleaned out" and the pot "shattered to pieces."

Next morning Gus and I paid a visit to our fair friends at the farm house; but as we came up to the door it was spitefully slammed in our faces. Gus, however, stung by what they had said the day before, was determined on a revanche, and placing his lips to the keyhole he called in to the young lady, asking her "how father and brother had relished the pumpkin pie?"

The Chronicle.

THE WOLFEBOROUGH BANK ROBBERY. The News of that town says the amount stolen was $10,000 to $12,000. The President, Hon. John M. Brackett, had a pocket book containing some $10,000 worth of bonds and other securities taken. A large portion of this, it is hoped, will be of no value to the thieves. Of the funds stolen $6000 belonged to the Lake Bank, the balance to the Savings Bank and individuals. The loss will not affect the business of either of the banks, as it is but a small portion of the surplus fund. The News says:

Access was gained to the banking room through a window by a ladder. The window was fastened down by a sprig, and inside was also fast. The window was pried up with a jimmy, and the slats of the blind broken in. A hole was then drilled into the door of the safe a little below the lock, and a blast made. From appearances it is judged that this did not open the door, but started it, so that by the use of the proper tools, with which the burglars were evidently well supplied, the door was forced open.

The burglar-proof so called was then blown open with powder. The blast must have been a heavy one, as considerable glass was broken in the room and fragments of the safe were scattered about. The noise was heard by several persons in the neighborhood, but as noises in the night in this vicinity are no unusual things, no one was alarmed. One person living across the street was awakened by the noise and got up and looked out of the window towards the bank, but seeing nothing and hearing nothing further, concluded that he had awoke by a dream, and went to bed again.

Two persons were asleep in the upper part of the building. One of them was awakened some time during the night, as he thought, by some kind of a racket. He got up and shoved up the window, looked out and listened for some time, but heard nothing more, and concluded that he had been dreaming; the other young man did not awake at all. The concussion was sufficient to jar down some of the type set up in the News office, which is immediately over the banking room.

Mr. Chamberlain, one of the parties who slept in the building, thinks he must have been under the influence of chloroform, and is confident that he could smell the fumes in his room the next morning. The robbery was not discovered until about six o'clock in the morning. Parties were sent in every direction in pursuit, and it is thought that a portion of the gang were traced to near Dover, by the way of Union Village, and another portion to Alton, in the direction of Concord.

It is proper to say that every reasonable precaution had been taken to guard against robbery by the bank. The persons sleeping in the building were employed to do so by the Directors, and were furnished with arms with which to defend themselves and give an alarm. The safe was the same which was broken open five years since; at that time only the outer door of the safe was opened. The burglar proof, withstood every attempt at that time, and was therefore considered to be what it claimed to be, proof against burglary.

VARNISH FOR SHOES.—Put half a pound gum shellac, broken up into small pieces, in a quart bottle or jug, cover it with alcohol, cork it tight, and put it on a shelf in a warm place; shake it well several times a day, then add a piece of camphor as large as a hen's egg; shake it again and add one ounce of lampblack. If the alcohol is good, it will be all dissolved in three days; then shake and use. If it gets too thick, add alcohol; pour out two or three teaspoonfuls in a saucer, and apply it with a small paint brush.

If the materials are all good, it will dry in about five minutes, and will be removed only by wearing it off, giving a gloss almost equal to patent leather. The advantage of this preparation over others is, it does not strike into the leather and make it hard, but remains on the surface, and yet excludes the water almost perfectly. This same preparation is admirable for harness, and does not soil when touched, as lampblack preparations do. — Hall's Jour. of Health.

—One night, four dogs killed 210 sheep, and injured a great many more, belonging to Judge Lawrence, in Logan County, Ohio. They attacked the flock about five o'clock in the evening, and continued till nearly morning, before they could be driven off.

DODD'S NERVINE ONCE MORE.
THE STANDARD REMEDY for biliousness with the mildness of a Cathartic is the Anti-Bilious Pill of the American Pharmacopœia. And its reputation has been well enough deserved. But it is a Pill, nevertheless, and most people of sensibility feel something about as big as a meeting house coming into their throat whenever a pill is spoken of. DODD'S NERVINE AND INVIGORATOR acts efficiently on the biliary organism; it irritates neither stomach nor intestine in all its operation; and what is VERY IMPORTANT, as all good nurses know, it is MOST AGREEABLE TO TAKE, being as pleasant to the palate as any delicate wine. We all know how it is with Cod Liver Oil. In a purpose state it is excellent for certain conditions of debility, and particularly in tendencies to Consumption; and yet many of the best physicians decline to prescribe it, because it so dreadfully sickens the patient. That, they say, makes it do more harm than good. With Dodd's Nervine all this becomes obstacle. For sale by all Druggists. Price $1. o214w

WHAT ARE
DR. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
Vinegar Bitters.
THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK, Made of Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits, and refine Liquors, doctored, spiced, and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetisers" "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD-PURIFIER and LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter, and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell. $100 will be given for an incurable case, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poisons or other means, the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.
FOR INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND GOUT, DYSPEPSIA, or INDIGESTION, BILLIOUS, REMITTENT, and INTERMITTENT FEVERS, DISEASES OF THE BLOOD, LIVER, KIDNEYS, and BLADDER, these BITTERS have been most successful. SUCH DISEASES are caused by VITIATED BLOOD, which is generally produced by derangement of the DIGESTIVE ORGANS.
Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood healthy, and all will be well.
These Bitters are not a gilded pill, to delight the eye or please the fancy, but a medical preparation, composed of the best vegetable ingredients known.
They are Alterative, Tonic, Diuretic, Sedative, Diaphoretic, and Gentle Purgative.
"The Life of all Flesh is the Blood thereof."—Purify the blood and the health of the whole system will follow.

The News.

The Saxon House of Deputies have unanimously resolved that the government should endeavor to procure the abolition of capital punishment throughout North Germany.

The fast express trains on the Erie and New York Central railroads will be withdrawn on the 15th instant, on account of the dangers resulting from frost in the rails.

Mining circles on the Pacific coast are in considerable excitement over recent silver discoveries in Nevada.

A Port-au-Prince letter states that Miragoane was captured by the rebels on the 7th of October, through the treachery of Gen. St. John, who was subsequently tried and shot.

The American steamer Algonquin has arrived and been transferred to the Haytien navy under the name of the Terror.

A letter from the city of Mexico states that by the caving of the Jesu Marie silver mines, in Guanajuato, one hundred men were killed. The next day sixteen women, six children and twelve men were drowned in the river Merecala, in the State of Michoacan. They had reached the river bank and sat down to rest before undertaking to ford the river, which had been swollen by the late rains. The bank on which they sat overhung an angry current, and suddenly slid off the main land into the stream. Every one perished, and their bodies were found lower down the river.

Hon. Amos Kendall died in Washington city Nov. 12, aged 80. He was appointed Postmaster General by Pres. Jackson, and was a very able and efficient officer in that position. Gen. Jackson's first Postmaster, Barry, was wholly incompetent to do any thing beyond turning out old postmasters and putting in democratic partizans, and getting the department into utter confusion. When it was bankrupt, Mr. Barry resigned and Kendall being appointed soon brought order out of confusion, and introduced many improvements. He recommended Money Orders [and so did we, at the same time—U. T.] but Congress would not adopt it, till long afterwards.

Mr. Kendall, it is said, aided Prof. Morse in getting started with his telegraph;—and has in later years been a public benefactor, to Baptist institutions, and others of a more general character.

A Dear Joke.—Practical jokes, as a general thing, are mischievous as well as foolish. Very frequently they bring disaster on the joker, which seems fit and proper. Here is a late instance. On Monday evening, Nov. 8, a son of James H. Currier, about 15 years old, was shot in the head by Bradbury Waterhouse, a lad about the same age, in the northwest part of Barrington. Waterhouse was going home after dark from the house of Oscar Corson; Currier was concealed behind the fence, and made a noise imitating a wild animal, when Waterhouse came along. Waterhouse very naturally ran back to Corson's, and got a gun loaded with shot, and when he again approached the place where Currier was concealed, the same noise was repeated. Waterhouse, supposing it to be some wild animal, fired and dangerously wounded Currier, so that his recovery is doubtful. One eye was entirely put out, and shot are lodged in his tongue and various other parts of his head; also in his chest and stomach. Currier was carried to his home, some forty rods, in Mr. Corson's arms, and is now under the doctor's hands, suffering the penalty of his own folly.

Correspondence of Chronicle and Gazette.

BOSTON, Nov. 13.

However stable a correspondent may be in his habits, he can't always write of horses, and as my last was a sort of equine-ostial blow from the Hub, on horses, stables and drives, I veer around and give a slight puff from a theatrical standpoint.

Years ago I fancied I had seen sterling comedy in its best estate—I had been made hilarious by the comedy of Pyramus and Thisbe, I had been dazed by the spectacular grandeur of "Midsummer Night's Dream;" John Gilbert, Mrs. Barrow, and the Woods had borne my young mind away with comedy, with costume and with well appointed scenery. Alas, since then the "Boston" has sadly degenerated, and those who pride themselves on residence in our "Modern Athens" no longer point to the noble house erected by Boston merchants for the best exponent of the mimic world. Farther up Washington street, beaut ful in its external simplicity, is the theatre which in two short years has gained a reputation second to none in the country. Noted for its excellent orchestra, with a name that is synonymous for the the utmost painstaking to excel in all departments, never allowing a play to be mounted unless every detail is most rigidly provided for in the best manner, and with a company unequalled this side of the Atlantic,—"Selwyn's" justifies the encomiums lavished upon it, not only by Bostonians, but by all who have sat within its pleasant walls.

No event in theatrical circles this season has been so anxiously awaited as the production of "Midsummer Night's Dream" at this theatre. The first representation will take place on Tuesday Evening, Nov. 16, to allow a full rehearsal for which the theatre will be closed on the preceding evening. A criticism in advance of the performance would be ill-judged, but it is safe to say that for brilliancy of costume and scenery, for perfection of mechanism, for richness and appropriateness of the accompanying music, and for the care evinced in the cast of characters, no play for years has been so well put upon the stage in this section.

Beautiful as Boston's pet theatre is, it has something better than a merely elegant building—an excellent management. Mr. Selwyn has never been satisfied with doing simply well, but has ever striven that in all things his theatre should not only excel but make a steady advance toward perfection; and in his multifarious duties he has had great assistance from the business agent, Mr. H. A. McGlenen, whose recent return, after a short absence from this establishment, is as pleasing to the theatre-going public in general as it is grateful to his host of personal friends.

Of the other theatres I do not speak at present, knowing too well that brevity is my only hope as a writer. M.

Mixed Liquor. — The Manchester Mirror of Friday, has the following item.

It is said that beer and whiskey do not mix well—that they are of such a nature that they operate upon the stomach and brain of him who imbibes, in a sudden and sometimes singular manner. A gentleman in this city, who never was "tight" in his life till yesterday, drank some beer as he sometimes does, and afterwards, on the offer of a person whom he did not know, took a little whiskey as he is not accustomed to do—and not long after was taken up roaring drunk and carried to the Police station. His friends found it out, went after him, took him home and cared for him. He had seven dollars in his pocket with which he was intending to pay a doctor's bill. That disappeared mysteriously. But his headache continues this morning and so does his heartache. He don't care to talk so much about it as he did last night, and so the Police let it all go by, hoping he won't again mix up things that way. Name withheld by courtesy.

Charles Fisher, Esq., of Drewsville, one of the selectmen of Walpole, met with a severe accident on Wednesday afternoon of last week. He was at work on a bridge when a portion of it fell and caught his left arm in such a manner that it could not be liberated for half an hour, and was so badly mutilated as to require amputation. Mr. Fisher lost some $5000 by the flood, and as was a consequence also was at work on a bridge by which he now loses an arm.

There were a few very extra Cattle sold at 13½ ₱ lb, 30 per cent. shrink, but, as will be noticed, most of the sales were at prices less than 12c ₱ lb. Next week being Thanksgiving week the market will be held on Tuesday and Wednesday. Sheep and Lambs—The trade for Sheep has not improved any since last week, and there was not much demand except for the best lots. Those from the West were taken direct to the slaughter houses. We quote extra lots at $3 50 @ $4 50; ordinary $1 50 @ $3 ₱ head, or from 3 @ 6½c ₱ lb.

Swine—Store Pigs, wholesale 10½ @ 11c ₱ lb; retail 11 @ 11c ₱ lb. Columbia County Pigs—12 @ 12½c ₱ lb. Fat Hogs—6000 at market; prices 10½ @ 11½c ₱ lb.

Impaired Digestion.

All the organs of the body are, so to speak, the pensioners of the stomach. In that living laboratory is prepared the nourishment required to sustain them, and by the vessels and ducts connected with the digestive apparatus, that nourishment is conveyed to every part of the system. Upon the quality and quantity of this element of life, and upon the manner in what it is distributed and apportioned, physical health mainly depends, and as the mind inevitably sympathises with the body, the vigor of the one is absolutely necessary to the vigorous action of the other.

It is because HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS accomplishes this double object that it enjoys a reputation as a preventive and cure never heretofore attained by any medicinal preparation. But its direct beneficial operation upon the weak or disordered stomach is not its sole recommendation. It is the most comprehensive of all known remedies. It tones, strengthens and regulates the discharging as well as the assimilating organs; gently moving the bowels, promoting healthful evaporation through the pores, rousing the inert liver from its torpor, and inducing harmonious and natural action in the whole animal machinery. This benign result is not produced by any of the reactionary drugs which are used so lavishly in the old school practice, formerly by parsimonious; but by mild, safe and agreeable vegetable agents intermixed with a pure and mellow stimulant which diffuses their influence through the system and renders their sanitory properties active and effective.

MERIT SOON NOISED ABROAD.

It is but six years since ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM, was first offered for sale. Its good qualities were soon made known at home, and very soon its fame was noised far and near; now it is sold in nearly every Drug Store in the whole states of North, East, South and West. No similar medicine stands higher with the people. It is well known on the Pacific coast, and liberal sales are made for it from San Francisco, Sacramento in California, and Portland, Oregon; even from Australia, large orders are received for it. And throughout Canada, it is well and favorably known, and sold everywhere.

Read what Captain Foster writes:

PORT BURWELL, March 23d, 1869.

Messrs. PERRY DAVIS & SON,

Gentlemen,—For years I am pleased to notify you of the benefit which I have received from ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM; having been troubled with a cough for several years past, the Balsam was recommended to me. I immediately procured it, and found it to relieve my cough more readily than anything I ever tried. My wife has also used it with most satisfactory results.

Yours Very Truly,

Capt. D. FOSTER.

THE LATEST DISCOVERY
In Medication.

The great difficulty which physicians have been labouring for centuries to accomplish, has at length been obviated. A vegetable Cathartic and alterative more efficient than any mineral preparation of the same class, and as agreeable to the taste as ordinary candy, is now offered to the sick in the form of a Lozenge.

DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S

is the most important medicinal novelty that modern chemistry has produced. It combines vegetable extracts, perfectly harmless in themselves, but embodying all the remedial properties of mercury, and adding to this pleasant form to supersede and banish from general use, the nauseous pills and portions of which that dangerous excitant is the main ingredient. More than One thousand experiments were made by the inventor of this peerless remedy before it was brought to its present state of perfection. The Lozenge is harmless in its operation, and altogether the medicinal taste of its curative components has been extinguished by chemical art, their virtues remain as active and potent as ever.

In Dyspepsia, Biliousness Constipation, Sick or Nervous Headache, Piles, Dropsy, and the irregularities to which the feebler sex are subject, the Lozenge will be found infinitely more effective than any of the horrible and disgusting compounds usually administered in such cases. As an antibilious specific and general aperient, they have no equal, either among advertised preparations or the prescriptions of the regular pharmacopœia.

☞ It is guaranteed that no one who has once tried Dr. Erasmus Winslow's Liver and Stomach Lozenge, will ever again take a purgative powder, or draught or pill.

Comfort and Bliss or Pain and Agony.

DR. TOBIAS' CELEBRATED VENETIAN LINIMENT, whose wonderful cures, sure and instaneous action, in cases of Chronic Rheumatism, Sciatacha, Toothache, Croup, Cuts, Burns, Bruises, Sprains, Diphtheria, Sore Throat, and all the horrible diseases which afflict humanity, cannot be surpassed by any other preparation. Its sale is unprecedented in the civilized world, is no new catch-penny; but an article that has stood the test of twenty-two years. The enormous sale and apparently hopeless demand is at once the surest evidence of its usefulness and popularity. No family should be without a bottle in the house. Hundreds of dollars and many hours of suffering may be saved by its timely use.

Colic, Cramp, and Dysentery yield at once to its paincurative properties. It is perfectly innocent, and can be given to the oldest person or youngest child. Try it, if you have no confidence in Patent Medicines—try this! you will want to use it, to buy again, and recommend to your friends. Hundreds of Physicians recommend it in their practice.

Sold by the Druggists and Storekeepers. Price Fifty Cents and One Dollar. Depot, 10 Park Place, New York. o1

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.
Read the Evidence.

"Facts are stubborn things," and it is to facts alone that it is desired to direct the attention of the readers of this article.

Many years of severe and thorough practical trial have demonstrated beyond the peradventure of a doubt the fact that the medicines prepared by me, and known as SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, SCHENCK'S SEAWEED TONIC, and SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, have proved extraordinarily successful in the cure of diseases of the pulmonary organs, or what is usually termed Consumption.

I am fully aware that there are many persons whose prejudices rule them so completely that "proofs strong as Holy Writ," would fail to convince them of the efficacy of my remedies, and that there are others who, under no circumstances, could be prevailed upon to admit their merits, simply because such an admission would prove detrimental to their particular personal interests.

Fortunately for the welfare of mankind, these doubting people form a comparatively small portion of the community at large. They are to be found here and there, but, compared with the great mass of the world's population, their numbers are so small that I dismiss them, and address myself to those who are willing to listen to the dictates of reason, and who are disposed to admit the strong logic of well established facts.

We are also told almost daily that Consumption the scourge of the American people, is incurable; that a man whose lungs are diseased must be given over to die; that he must abandon hope; and that the arrangement of his temporal as well as spiritual affairs should claim his earliest attention. If there were not facts as undeniable as that the sun will shine in a clear heaven at midday to controvert these random and not unfrequently harmful assertions, I should feel unwilling to take up the gage of battle against them, but, fortified with results—facts—which neither theory nor mere assertion can overturn, I propose to prove conclusively to the sceptical, that the cures effected by the medicines I prepare—THE MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC, and PULMONIC SYRUP—will, if used in strict accordance with the directions, in a majority of cases effect that which the faculty pronounces impossible—they will cure Consumption.

An ounce of solid fact is worth a pound of theory. Let me, therefore, present the facts connected with my own individual experience. Many years ago, I was a confirmed consumptive, and like thousands of other unfortunates, was given up to die. Eminent physicians pronounced my case a hopeless one, and told me that if I had any preparations to make for the final solemn event, that I had better make them speedily. I believed this just as confidently as did the persons who thus affectionately informed me that my days were numbered and that recovery was impossible. Still, the desire to live lingered in my bosom, I was young, and clung to life with the same tenacity that young men, and old men too, ordinarily do. I did not feel willing to abandon hopes so long as a single vestige of it remained. I had full faith in the sad information conveyed to me by my physicians, but still there was a lingering belief that something might be done, though I knew not in what direction to seek for the much desired relief.

It was at this gloomy and eventful period of my history that I first learned of the roots and herbs from which my remedies for this dreaded disease are now prepared. I procured and used them, and, to the utter amazement of all—physicians, friends and neighbors—began to improve. My entire system commenced to undergo a complete change for the better. Expectoration, which had been difficult and painful, now became comparatively easy. I threw off daily large quantities of offensive yellow matter. At night the horrid night-sweats became less copious and less offensive; exhausting night sweats ceased; the racking and distressing cough abated; the fever left my system; pain departed; flesh planted itself on my sadly wasted frame, and within flesh came strength, and full health. From a mere skeleton I became a stout, strong, robust man, and I have maintained both strength and flesh to this day. I weigh two hundred and thirty-five pounds; I am blest with an appetite vouchsafed to but few men, while my digestive organs are amply equal to all the requirements of a healthful consultion of my system.

Now, let it remembered, all these wonderful changes were wrought by the use of the medicines I prepare—MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC and PULMONIC SYRUP. A cure seemingly so miraculous naturally created astonishment in the minds of those who knew me. I was literally beset on all sides. I had visitors daily who besought me to give them the remedies which had wrought the wonderful restoration and had wrested me from the very jaws of death. Letters were received by scores importuning me to impart the secret and inform the writers where the specific for consumption could be obtained. Others, who were too weak to travel, not satisfied with writing, sent for and consulted me in regard to their cases. To all these applications I responded as I was able.

I had fully regained my health, and gratitude for the happy result prompted me to turn my attention to the science of medicine with the hope of thereby being able to be of service to my suffering fellow-creatures. I devoted myself closely to my studies, and more especially to that branch of them relating to the terrible disease from which I had suffered so long and so much. I investigated it in all its fearful phases, in order to assure myself that my case was not an exceptional one. The closer my investigations the more satisfactorily did I become convinced that tens of tens of thousands of my fellow-creatures were dying annually of consumption whose cases were not as desperate and apparently hopeless as mine had been, and I argued from this that remedies which had proven so effective with me would prove equally so with others. I prepared and announced them in a pleasant and attractive form, and introduced them to the world. The results are well known. Thousands of suffering men, women and children, who were on the way to the grave, have been cured, and are to-day living evidences of the fact that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED, and I think I may say, without arrogating to myself any more than is justly my due, that I have had as much experience in the treatment of consumption as any other person in the country, and that my success has been wonderfully great.

Let the reader remember that these are not mere fanciled statements. They are positive living facts, of which I am the living evidence.

Hope is an old adage which says, "What has been done may be done." I have been completely cured of consumption by the remedies I now offer to the public. Thousands of others have testified to their happy results from using the same, and thousand of others still might benefitted as I have been could they but be prevailed upon to try the same. The Mandrake Pills, Seaweed Tonic, and Pulmonic Syrup. All that is necessary to convince the most sceptical of their merits is a fair trial.

Full directions accompany each of the medicines, so that it is not absolutely necessary that patients should see me personally unless they desire to have their lungs examined. For this purpose I am personally at my Principal Office, No. 15 North Sixth Street, corner of Commerce, Every Saturday.

Advice is given without charge, but for a thorough examination with the Respirometer the price is five dollars.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic, each $1 50 per bottle, or $7 50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents per box.

In Remote Settlements of United Value.

Food makes blood; blood makes the body. If the blood be pure, the body is healthy. So if we are not in health, we know some impurities are lurking about, which must be removed, and the sooner the better.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS remove all from the system which nature needs no longer.

The wonderful cures effected by Brandreth's Pills have arrested the attention of enlightened physicians. Upwards of five thousand now use them in their daily practice, and two hundred have given their written testimony as to their innocence and value, as cleansers of the bowels and blood. Their untold value is to those living in settlements where doctors can only be had at great expense. For if you are sick, you have only to take one or more doses of Brandreth's Pills to get cured. Full Directions are with each box.

Communication.

Messrs. Editors:—Among the many candidates for Mayor the name of John S. Harvey Esq. has often been mentioned, as one of the most reliable business men of the city, with liberal views to its prosperity, and if nominated and he would accept, he would carry the strength of the whole Republican party.

OLD WHIG.

Communication.

Messrs. Editors :—Among the names mentioned for the Republican nomination for Mayor, I find none who would unite the party any better than Mr. Thos. E. O. Marvin. Mr. Marvin is a native of Portsmouth, well-known to all our citizens; is a thorough-going Republican, a successful business man and has experience in city matters. "He that is faithful in that which is least, is also faithful in much."

A REPUBLICAN, EVERY TIME.

Communication.

Messrs. Editors; Let Republicans talk of making no nomination for Mayor until our excellent nominee of last year publicly declines. No true man can blame Capt. J. H. Thacher for feeling indignant at the treatment accorded him by a very few Republicans (?) last year. He would receive the unanimous support of the party now. Let us give it to him with a will;—elect him and then ask his acceptance.

TRUE BLUE.

Communication.

Messrs. Editors :—A large number of our fellow Republicans desire the nomination of Hon. Joseph B. Adams as a candidate for Mayor. Mr. Adams has always voted with the party since its organization; was an efficient Alderman and was acting Mayor during the severe illness of Mayor Dearborn in 1864. As a prompt business man he has no superior among the candidates mentioned, and would poll a large vote. Let us have no half way citizen's ticket.

REPUBLICAN VOTER.

Communication.

Messrs. Editors:—I was glad to see in your paper a few days ago, a communication about the present quality of the Gas furnished by the Portsmouth Gas Co. I hope some means may be devised by which that corporation may be induced to desist from their endeavors to deprive their customers of eyesight. As the Aqueduct Co. has at last been so considerate as to increase the supply of water, it seems as if there were no reasons to despair of accomplishing this equally desirable object; and that even soulless Corporations may by sufficient pertinacity be brought to think of the public good, as well as of their own dividends. Therefore I would advise all sufferers from the bad gas we now have, to let their complaints be loudly heard; and if the Company or their Agent take no action after the first attack, why, then

HITTY MAGINN.

THE MAYORALTY.—We give up considerable space, to-day, to communications urging the nomination of favorite candidates before the Republican caucus, to-morrow evening. The interest manifested augurs well for a full caucus, and if the friends of all the aspirants will unite in support of the nominee, (which they should do,) we shall have a Republican Mayor in a few weeks. With no feelings of opposition to the other candidates named, we can but agree with "True Blue" in wishing Capt. Thacher would accept an election, and thereby prevent the possibility of discord.

THE IRON-CLADS.— Sharpley's Minstrels advertise one performance only at the Temple, to-morrow evening. Jake Budd and Charlie Atkinson are with the troupe, which is one of the best now travelling. The programme they offer is a good one.

☞ Bidwell's Dramatic Company closed their engagement here, Saturday evening, a large audience being in attendance.

—Forty-seven men who were drawn as jurors for a county of Georgia were excused from service on account of having young babies at home, and the court adjourned "until the baby season is over."

—In accordance with an act passed by the last legislature of Kentucky, all the dams on the Licking river have removed. Large quantities of freight along the banks are waiting to be moved as soon as the river rises.

Communication.

MR. T. S. NOWELL.—When offices go begging, persons sought to fill them are required to possess certain requisites. These conditions must vary according to the nature of the position to be assumed.

When private parties have business in hand, to control which they have neither the capacity or leisure, they naturally seek the best man whose services can be procured, for the purpose.

Public matters are governed by the same rules by which a merchant or manufacturer or professional man must transact his private business, with any hope of a satisfactory result.

The requirements of a successful business man may be briefly summed up as follows: strict integrity, decision, firmness, energy and prudence. Five cardinal points, which will guide their possessor to the goal of his hopes, as surely as their lack will prove his ultimate ruin.

The little "Ship of State" we call our home has been well governed hitherto, but still needs the master hand. Party spirit aside, any right feeling man will admit that what is most desired—nay, what is absolutely needed,—is the business and financial prosperity of the City, whether this party or that have the balance of power. With this view of our necessities, let us apply the rule to the gentleman whose name heads this communication.

He has served the city faithfully one year, as an Alderman. How came he in that position? Because the people of Portsmouth found in him a representative man, whose interests are identical with those of the city; whose unswerving honesty would allow no private feeling to interfere with the public good; prompt to secure and adopt such measures as would advance the welfare of the city, and as unflinching in his determination to oppose irregular or unprofitable measures; a man whose ability to legislate for the general good found ample testimony in his success in providing for his own. His record of then is his record of to-day. Fellow-citizens, how do you like it? Do the "rules" above mentioned apply?

The faith in Mr. Nowell's capacity for the Mayor's chair is strong—and is gaining, too. Ask the solid men of Portsmouth—you will find them a unit in his behalf. Ask the mechanics, who can realize the effect of his weekly disbursements upon their lives and their comfort, and who elevate themselves when they elevate a brother mechanic. Ask the professions if they can bring aught to controvert what is here claimed for him—and you will find the verdite is for Thomas S. Nowell before the jury leaves its seat. Try it in full caucus next Tuesday night — and then vote at the polls according to your honest belief.

A PACIFIC RAILWAY

GOLD LOAN $6,560,000.

We beg leave to announce that we have accepted the agency of the

KANSAS PACIFIC RAILWAY COMPANY,

For the sale of its

NEW SEVEN PER CENT.

Thirty Year Gold Loan,

Free from Tax.

This Loan amounts to $6,500,000.

First Mortgage Land-Grant and Sinking Fund Bonds,

secured upon the extension of the Railway from near Sheridan, in Kansas, to Denver, Colorado, a distance of 257 miles of which 12 miles are completed, and the rest is under construction. It is also a Mortgage upon the Road, the Rolling Stock and Franchise of this first-class Railway, besides now running through the State of Kansas.

And in successful operation for 437 miles

west of the Missouri River, and earning already enough to meet all of its expenses and existing obligations, besides MORE THAN THE INTEREST UPON THIS NEW LOAN. In addition to this the Bonds are also secured by a first mortgage of the extending in alternate sections on either side of the track, from the 394th mile post in Kansas to Denver. The proceeds of the sale of these lands are to be invested by the Trustees in the 7 per cent Bonds, themselves up to 120 in U. S. Bonds, as a SINKING FUND FOR THE REDEMPTION OF THE BONDS.

GOVERNMENT LAND GRANT OF THREE MILLION ACRES,

The Lands embrace some of the finest portions of the magnificent Territory of Colorado, including a small field of gold mines. The company also holds as an asset another tract of

Three Millions of Acres in the State of Kansas,

and although not pledged as a security for this Loan, their possession adds largely to the Company's wealth and credit. We estimate the Value of the Company's property, covered by this mortgage at $23,000,000 net, while the Loan is merely $6,500,000.

The Bonds have

THIRTY YEARS TO RUN,

from May 1, 1869, and will pay

SEVEN PER CENT INTEREST IN GOLD, semi-annually, on May 1 and Nov. 1, and are FREE FROM GOVERNMENT TAXATION, the Company paying the tax.

The principal of the Loan is made payable in Gold, in the City of New York, but each coupon will be

PAYABLE IN FRANKFORT, LONDON OR N. YORK at option of the holder, with notice, at the following rates:

On $1,000 Bond in N. Y. $35 (gold) each half year.
" London....£7 ±5. 10. "
" Frankfort..$7 fir. 30 krtzs., "

The Agents of the Loan, before accepting the trust had the conditions of the Road, and the country through which it runs, carefully examined. They are happy to give the Loan an emphatic endorsement as a

FIRST CLASS INVESTMENT,

in every respect perfectly sure, and in some essential even

Better than Government Securities.

The Bonds will be sold for the present at

96, and accrued Interest, both in Currency,

the Agents reserving the right to advance the rate.

The attention of investors is invited to these well-secured bonds, which we recommend as one of the most profitable investments in the market.

Gold and Government Securities taken in payment at their market value, without commission.

In the Supreme Judicial Court recently sitting at Keene, a verdict was found of $543 in favor of Solomon Laws against J. Alley in injury to Mr. L. in 1867. As Mr. L. was on his way home to Marlborough, and while on Marlborough street in Keene, with a horse and wagon, Mr. Alley's two horse team coming in the opposite direction, ran against him and broke his harness, wagon and threw him out upon the ground, injuring his back and shoulder.

Rochester on Tuesday last, voted 181 in favor and 185 against aiding the Concord and Rochester Railroad and the Nashua and Rochester Railroad.

The first executions in the State were those of Sarah Simpson and Penelope Kenny, who were hung for child murder at Portsmouth in 1739. In 1755 Eliphaz Doe of Mampton Falls was executed at Portsmouth for murder of a man, and at the same place, in 1768, Ruth Blay was hung for alleged child murder. The remaining executions were Josiah Burnham, at Haverhill, in 1806; Isaiah Thomas, a colored man, at Dover, about 1810; Daniel Davis, farmer, at Amherst, in 1821; Andrew Howard, at Dover, some years latter; Abraham Prescott at Hopkinton, in 1836: Rev. Enos G. Dudley, at Haverhill, in 1849; and Samuel Mills, at Haverhill, in May, 1868.

The mother of Pike, executed on Tuesday last, has been all along kept in ignorance of him, and she still believes him to be at sea.

Benjamin A. Roberts, formerly connected with the Charlestown, Mass., Advertiser, has become assistant editor of the Nashua Telegraph.

The remains of the murderer Pike left Concord for Newburyport, Mass., on Wednesday, in a private conveyance. The body was in a handsome coffin provided by the brothers of the deceased, and over it were laid flowers presented by a friend.

Mr. James Tucker, master Mechanic in P. G. F. & C. R. R. shop at Union, raised this season in his garden five good sized heads of cabbage on one stump.

Mr. Moses Sinclair, a few weeks since while gunning at Ossipee, killed nine ducks at one shot.

At the Temperance levee given in Kingston by the members of Greenwood Lodge, I. O. of G. T., on the evening of Nov. 3, among the prizes drawn was a beautiful silver basket, made and engraved expressly for the enterprise. Mr. Hill of Kingston, was the lucky receiver.

Much complaint is made in Exeter of the tearing down of business signs, and of the removing of gates and other property from where it belongs to some distant locality, by some young rowdies in the village. The News Letter thinks police should summarily deal with these fellows, no matter how "respectable" their pretensions. A night in jail followed by a smart fine is the best antidote for these "little indiscretions."

The Exeter News Letter says if rumsellers must sell,—and of course sell they will, we say don't sell to the boys. Rather deny all who have not attained their majority. We have recently heard of one or two cases where boys were found in a state of intoxication, and are charitable enough to hope they did not buy their drink in Exeter. This is well enough to talk about, perhaps; but if the boys don't drink, the men never will.

A few evenings since the conductor of a Concord train found seven sleepers across the track about a mile below Manchester. A serious accident would have happened but for the discovery of the obstructions in season. An Irishwoman had been put off the afternoon train at Windham, and is supposed to have made this attempt in revenge.

Some malicious vandal, on Tuesday-night last, entered the Hollis street cemetry, in Nashua, demolished the monument on Col. E. P. Emerson's lot, and broke a little cross over the grave of his grandchild.

The State lodge of Good Templars, at its session in Lake Village, just closed, adopted the following resolutions;—That of the two conflicting testimonies, recently given in our State in the same day, in regard to prohibiting the sale of liquor—the one by our votes at the polls and the other by a penitent murderer on the gallows,—we solemnly protest against the former, and most heartily endorse the latter; that we solemnly promise beneforth and forever that we will not use our influence or vote for any person for an office who is not committed to the temperance cause. That a committee be appointed to confer with other temperance organizations on the subject of political action in favor of total abstinence and legal prohibition.

OLDEST BANK OFFICERS.—Two of the oldest bank officers in the United States, Eliphalet Williams, President of the Northampton National Bank, Mass. who is in his 90th year, and Stalham Williams, President of the Utica (N. Y.) Savings bank, who is in his 97th year, are both descendants of Rev. Wm. Williams, for 56 years pastor of the church at Hatfield, Mass. Nathaniel Fullerton, Esq., of Chester, Vt., is in his 95th year, and was first elected a director of the Bank of Bellows Falls early in the year 1832, and has been re-elected every year since, and was elected president of the bank in 1837, to which he has also been re-elected every year since.

A BOY'S COMPOSITION ON LAGER.—Lager beer is made in breweries, and lager is Dutch for a brewery. Germans drink lager beer, likewise Americans, too; but it doesn't do Americans so much good as it does Germans, who get fat and jolly, while the American doesn't get fat only in the nose, and red, too, which a German don't. Everybody don't drink lager beer—boys don't drink it because they ain't big enough. When they get big enough they do—German boys do cause their pap lets 'em and thinks it is good for them. I tried to drink lager beer once, me and Bill Yager—Bill could drink it 'cause his pa was a German—I couldn't drink it, 'cause it was so bitter—so Bill he drinked it all, and then Bill licked me and my ma licked Bill and Bill threw a stone through our window and I threw a stone at Bill's dog, and Bill's pa said he would lick me, and my pa said he would lick Bill's pa, and therefore I don't think lager beer is good for little boys, it's so bitter. Editors drink lager beer, and that is what makes them write bitter, and likewise lawyers too; and lager beer is good for them. Lager beer aint so good as it used to be, 'cause my pa said so, and ma she said he ought to be ashamed of himself to drink it, and pa said he was, only if people didn't drink lager beer the other people couldn't sell their hops, and they would all spoil. Lager beer is five cents a glass, 'cause my pa said so, only sometimes when there is more lager it is five cents for two glasses, and the men that make lager beer they get rich, and when I get big I will make lager beer too, only it's so bitter. And this is all I know about it.

AN ENTERPRISING WOMAN.—A novel wedding was celebrated in Memphis on Thursday. A widow lady from North Carolina, Mrs. M. Blackwell, on her way to the Red river country with all her household goods, including several children, felt an aching void and determination to fill the place of the late Mr. Blackwell upon short notice. Procuring a marriage license, with a blank for the name of the husband, she explained her wishes to the landlord of the wagon yard, where she resided while in transitu, who introduced her to a strapping fellow named Dayton, who was nothing loth, and the two were made one five minutes afterward, where they stood in the wagon yard. After the ceremony, the newly-matched pair took up their march for their new home.

THE USES OF SUNFLOWERS.—Some time ago, there was a question raised, by an item in the New York Observer, as to the uses of sunflowers.—Mr. W. H. Henderson, writing from Port Hope, Mich., Oct. 20, gives the following satisfactory answer:

I have just finished harvesting a half acre of the mammoth Russian variety. It yielded five or six tons of excellent fodder, and I have thrashed from the heads forty-six bushels of seed. The seed is to be pressed for oil, and the cake left from the crushing used for fattening stock.

BURNED TO DEATH.—A most heart-rending scene occured in Biddeford, Monday. An interesting little boy of Horace Chappel, while the other members of the family were absent for a few minutes from the room, set his clothes on fire, with some matches, and although a lady from another room rushed to the rescue, on hearing the child scream, smothering the flames with her own clothes, the child was so terribly burned that it lingered in intense agony until the next morning, when death came to its relief. The moans of the little sufferer and the anguish of parents and the other children rendered the scene indescribably affecting.—Bid. Journal.

—A murderer at Rondout is said to have been "out of his head." That is one of the reasons, we suppose, why he endeavored, after he had killed his wife to cut it off from his body with a razor, and get rid of it entirely.

—Some boys in Cincinnati stole the insides of a hand organ from a deaf grinder's machine, and the man grinds away ignorant of his loss. He gets as much money and tortures the ears of passers far less.

—The famous Bradley Fisher case is again before the courts of Washington. Mr. Bradley sues for damages in the sum of $20,000 for being debarred from practice in the criminal court by Judge Fisher.

—A man in Maine applied for two gallons of rum for "mechanical purposes."—"For what mechanical purposes?" inquired the agent. "For raising a barn," was the reply.

—The province of Gancia, in Austrian Poland, produces a great quantity of eggs, most of which are exported. The number exported last year was 6,900,000.

—The women have formed themselves into a Parliament. Whenever women agitators and reformers get together there is always a parley meant, and nothing else.

DODD'S NERVINE ONCE MORE.
THE STANDARD REMEDY for biliousness with the medical profession is the Anti-Bilious Pill of the American Pharmacopœia. And its reputation has been well enough deserved. But it is a Pill, nevertheless, and most people of sensibility feel something about as big as a musting house coming into their throat whenever a pill is spoken of. DODD'S NERVINE AND INVIGORATOR acts efficiently on the biliary organs; it irritates neither throat nor intestine in all its operation; and what is VERY IMPORTANT, as all good nurses know, it is MOST AGREEABLE TO TASTE, being as pleasant to the palate as any delicate wine. We all know how it is with Cod Liver Oil. In a pure state it is excellent for certain conditions of debility, and particularly in tendencies to Consumption; and yet many of the best physicians decline to prescribe it, because it so dreadfully sickens the patient. That, they say, makes it do more harm than good. With Dodd's Nervine all this becomes obstacle. For sale by all Druggists. Price $1. o21w

WHAT ARE
DR. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA Vinegar Bitters.
THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK, Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits, and refuse Liquors, doctored, spiced, and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetisers" "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD-PURIFIER and LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter, and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell. $100 will be given for an incurable case, providing the bones are not destroyed by mineral poisons or other means, the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.
FOR INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND GOUT, DYSPEPSIA, or INDIGESTION, BILLIOUS, REMITTENT, and INTERMITTENT FEVERS, DISEASES OF THE BLOOD, LIVER, KIDNEYS, and BLADDER, these BITTERS have been most successful. SUCH DISEASES are caused by VITIATED BLOOD, which is generally produced by derangement of the DIGESTIVE ORGANS.
Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood healthy, and all will be well.
These Bitters are not a gilded pill, to delight the eye or please the fancy, but a medical preparation, composed of the best vegetable ingredients known.
They are Alterative, Tonic, Diuretic, Sedative, Diaphoretic, and Gentle Purgative.
"The Life of all Flesh is the Blood thereof."—Purify the blood and the health of the whole system will follow.

The News.

Colonel Whiteley, the chief of the secret-service bureau, has succeeded in capturing $80,000 worth of counterfeit revenue stamps within three months, or about four-fifths of all that are known to have been manufactured.

Gilman W. Carr, twenty-three years of age, was crushed to death in a shocking manner on Friday in a mill in Orono, Me., by becoming entangled in the chain of a wheel. His body revolved around the shaft seven times, the chain encircling him at each revolution, crushing his body terribly, causing his death almost instantly.

The first serious accident that has taken place on the Pacific Railway occurred Sunday morning near San Leandro; two trains came in collision, completely wrecking both, and killing or wounding thirty or forty passengers. Among the killed is A. W. Baldwin, judge of the United States District Court of Nevada. The legs of one man were amputated before he could be released from the cars.

Biddeford had another serious fire, Sunday morning.

Edward B. Ketchum, whose heavy forgeries a few years ago created a first-class Wall street sensation, was released from Sing Sing on Saturday. His sentence was commuted eight months for good conduct.

The Washington Territory legislature again wants a quorum, and the absent members are to be arrested.

The Empress Eugenie has left Cairo for Alexandria.

At Des Moines, Iowa, Saturday evening, a freight train ran into the eastern bound Pacific railroad passenger train on the side track and completely demolished a palace car and also two other passenger cars. Fifteen to twenty passengers were more or less injured but no one was killed.

An old lady who pretends "to know all about it" says the only way to prevent steamboat explosions is to make the engineers "bile their water on the shore." In her opinion, "all the bustin' is done by cooking the steam on board the boat."

NEW BOOK IN PRESS.—R. W. Bliss & Co., of Hartford, Conn., have in press an illustrated book on a subject which is new and inviting. It is entitled The River of the West, and is a history of the North Western Slope from the discovery of the Columbia River; with graphic accounts of the Indians, Fur Traders, Missionaries, Immigrants, and Early Times in Oregon, and events in the lifetime of a Rocky Mountain Trapper, and Oregon Pioneer. It also gives a description of Oregon, Washington, and Montana — their Condition, Resources, the Northern Pacific Railroad, &c. It is written by Mrs. Frances Fuller Victor, of Oregon, whose articles in the Overland Monthly, have attracted general attention. It is to be sold only by subscription, and agents are wanted in every town.

About thirty dwelling houses have been built in Farmington this year. George F. Nutter, of New Durham, will build a large hotel there next season.

We learn that the "rustic beauties" who recently blew out the gas at the Essex House, Salem, Mass., on retiring for the night, were not Dover girls, as reported in the Boston Herald, but hailed from Rochester, where the "farthing dip" is still used, and who don't yet rejoice in gas metres and other new fangled contrivances.

Rev. Dr. Spalding, pastor at the Orthodox church, Dover, will take for his Thanksgiving text the "Rights of Animals." The Gazette hopes it will lead to the organization of a Humane Society for the prevention of cruelty to the poor dumb beasts," the need of which step is every day manifest in our streets."

The Dover Gazette says the well-known cantata of the "Haymakers" was played to an admiring audience, free of charge, on Central Square, Monday afternoon, when a load of hay was overturned at the Payne street crossing.

Prof. Fogerty's Sporting House at Dover on Saturday evening was the scene of a lively, interesting raffle for two bears and two ferocious wolves belonging to Col. Joe Cushing. The fun brought out all the sports of the city, from those who drive in pairs down to the solitary owner of a dog-cart, all of whom threw the "ivories" at fifty cents a head. The forty-five shake by a representative for the gallant Prof. won the bears, while the lowest throw of seventeen was the lucky winner of the wolves by "Skip" Twombly of the "Sportman's Retreat." The Gazette says the child devouring bears were brought to the block of the butcher on Monday, and best steak will be the order of the day for some time to come at many of the first class restaurants. Alas for poor Bruin, that he should come to this end, after doing so well in the ring.

GOOD AND BAD FARM STOCK.—There is no fact in agriculture more fully established than that it will not pay to keep poor stock when it is possible to secure that of a better quality. The cost of keeping an inferior cow is precisely the same as that of a better one. A good horse will always command a better price in the market, or is more valuable to its owner for his own purposes, than a poor one. The cost of keeping is the same. Why not, then, raise the best horses? There are breeds of swine that grow rapidly and fatten upon much less food, and in a shorter time than others. Why not procure these improved kinds? The same may be said of sheep, poultry, and, in fact, every kind of farm stock, and yet we find thousand of farmers, in spite of these incontrovertible facts, arraying themselves in steady hostility to all movements having for their object the improvement of domestic farm animals. They cling to inferior stock with a pertinacity that is surprising.—Journal of the Farm.

PASTE.—The following is a recipe for making common paste which will keep for a long time without fermentation: Dissolve an ounce of alum in a quart of water warmed; when cold add as much flour as will give it the consistence of cream; then strew into it as much powdered rosin as will lie on a sailling, and two or three cloves, ground. It will keep for a year, and when dry may be softened with water.

—Seven out of sixty-four fires in New York during the month of August, were caused by kerosene. Out of 100 samples of oil tested by the Board of Health, only one came up to the legal standard. Manufacturers and dealers are reckless in their violation of the law, and will continue to be so until public sentiment demands its rigid enforcement. The crime ought to be punished as severely as arson.—Jour. Chemistry.

—We see that John H. Weeden, of Waterbury, Conn., has taken out a patent for a "head-rest attachment for chuch-pews," which is intended "to support the head of the worshipper (or sleeper!) when inclined," and which "may be conveniently detached from the pew when not required for use."

—The following is told of Professor W. S. Tyler, of Amherst College:—"One morning in the winter of 1867, after there had been a heavy fall of snow, the boys came into the recitation-room bounding and stamping their heavy boots, and making a great deal of noise. The Professor scolded them sharply, and wound up saying: "Those who are so valiant with their heels had better come up and stamp out my paths.' After the recitation, the class was called together, and it was voted that the thing be done that evening. Ere their task was done, the boys were invited in, good cheer was spread, a social hour enjoyed, and thus the evening passed. But next morning, the Professor found all the old brooms and shovels piled upon his front porch. So, just before commencing the recitation, he remarked that those students who had lost their class-canes might find them by calling upon him."

—The use of nitro-glycerine is prohibited by law in Sweden, the country where it was first employed. Impaired Digestion.

All the organs of the body are, so to speak, the pensioners of the stomach. In that living laboratory is prepared the nourishment required to sustain them, and by the vessels and ducts connected with the digestive apparatus, that nourishment is conveyed to every part of the system. Upon the quality and quantity of this element of life, and upon the manner in which it is distributed and apportioned, physical health mainly depends, and as the mind inevitably sympathizes with the body, the vigor of the one is absolutely necessary to the well-being of the other.

It is because HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS accomplishes this double object that it enjoys a reputation as a preventive and curative never heretofore attained by any medicinal preparation. But its direct beneficial operation upon the weak or disordered stomach is not its sole recommendation. It is the most comprehensive of all known remedies. It tones, strengthens and regulates the discharging as well as the assimilating organs; gently moving the bowels, promoting healthful evaporation through the pores, counteracting the inert liver from its torpor, and inducing harmonious and natural action in the whole animal machinery. This benign result is not produced by any of the reactionary drugs which are used so lavishly in the old school practice, founded by Paracelsus; but by mild, safe and agreeable vegetable agents intermixed with a pure and mellow stimulant which diffuses their influence through the system and renders their sanitory properties active and effective.

MERIT SOON NOISED ABROAD.

It is but six years since ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM, was first offered for sale. Its good qualities were soon made known at home, and very soon its fame was noised far and near; now it is sold in nearly every Drug Store in the United States—NORTH, EAST, SOUTH AND WEST. No similar medicine stands higher with the people. It is well known on the Pacific coast, and liberal demands for it from San Francisco, Sacramento in California, and Portland, Oregon; several from Australia, large orders are received for it. And throughout Canada, it is well and favorably known, and sold everywhere.

Read what Captain Foster writes:

PORT BURWELL, March 23d, 1869.

Messrs. PERRY DAVIS & SON,

Sirs:—I am pleased to notify you of the benefit which I have received from ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM; having been troubled with a cough for several years past, the Balsam was recommended to me. I immediately procured it, and found it to relieve my cough more readily than anything I ever tried. My wife has also used it with most satisfactory results.

Yours Very Truly,
Capt. D. FOSTER.

THE LATEST DISCOVERY

In Medication.

The great difficulty which physicians have been laboring for centuries to overcome, has at length been obviated. A vegetable Cathartic and alterative more efficient than any mineral preparation of the same class, and as agreeable to the taste as confectionery, is now offered to the sick in the form of a Lozenge.

DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S

is the most important medicinal novelty that modern chemistry has produced. It contains two powerful extracts, perfectly harmless in themselves, but embodying all the remedial properties of mercury, and destined in this pleasant form to supersede and banish from general use, the nauseous pills and portions of which that dangerous excitant is the main ingredient. More than were made by the inventor of this peerless remedy before it was brought to its present state of perfection. The Lozenge is harmless in its operation, and altogether the medicinal taste of its curative components has been extinguished by chemical art, their vir ues remain as active and potent as ever.

In Dyspepsia, Biliousness Constipation, Sick or Nervous Headache, Piles, Dropsy, and the irregularities to which the feebler sex are subject, the Lozenge will be found infinitly more effective than any of the horrible and disgusting compounds usually administered in such cases. As an antibilious specific and general aperient, they have no equal either among the advertised preparations or the prescriptions of the regular pharmacopoeia.

☞ It is guaranteed that no one who has once tried DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S Liver and Stomach Lozenge, will ever again take a purgative powder, or draught or pill.

Comfort and Bliss or Pain and Agony.

DR. TOBIAS' CELEBRATED VENETIAN LINIMENT, whose wonderful cures, sure, and instaneous action, in cases of Chronic Rheumatism, Headache, Toothache, Croup, Cuts, Burns, Colic, Cramps, Dysentery, etc., have astonished the civilized world, is now cash-capping for, and an article that has stood the test of twenty-two years. The enormous sale and rapidly increasing demand is at once the most unerring test of its usefulness and popularity. No family should be without a bottle in the house. Hundreds of dollars and many hours of suffering may be saved by its timely use.

Colic, Cramp, and Dysentery yield at once to its almost magic properties. It is perfectly innocuous and can be given to the oldest person or youngest child. No matter if you have no confidence in Patent Medicine—try the, and you will be induced to buy again, and recommend to your friends. Hundreds of Physicians recommend it in their practice.

Sold by the Druggists and Storekeepers. Price Fifty Cents and One Dollar. Depot, 10 Park Place, New York. o1

MARRIAGE GUIDE,

Being a private instructor for married persons or those about to be married, both male and female, in everything concerning the physiology and relations of our sexual system, and the production and prevention of offspring, including all the new discoveries never before given in the English language, by WM. YOUNG, M. D. This is really a valuable and interesting work. It is written in plain language for the general reader, and is illustrated with numerous Engravings. All young married people, or those contemplating marriage, should avoid having the least impediment to married life, should read this book. It discloses secrets that every one should be acquainted with; still it is a book that must be locked up and not lie about the house. It will be sent to any address on receipt of 50 cents. Address, Dr. WM. YOUNG, No. 416 Spruce street, above Fourth, Philadelphia.

☞ AFFLICTED AND UNFORTUNATE.—No matter what may be your disease, before you place yourself under any one of the notorious QUACKS—native and foreign—who advertise in this or any other paper, get a copy of Dr. Young's Book and read it carefully. It will be the means of saving you many a dollar, your health and possibly your life.

Dr. Young can be consulted on any of the diseases described in his publications, at his office, No. 416 Spruce street, above Fourth, Philadelphia.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

Read the Evidence.

"Facts are stubborn things," and it is to facts alone that it is desired to direct the attention of the readers of this article.

Many years of severe and thorough practical trial have demonstrated beyond the peradventure of a doubt the fact that the medicines prepared by me, and known as SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, SCHENCK'S SEAWEED TONIC, and SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, have proved extraordinarily successful in the cure of diseases of the pulmonary organs, or what is usually termed Consumption.

I am fully aware that there are many persons whose prejudices rule them so completely that "proofs strong as Holy Writ," would fail to convince them of the efficacy of my remedies, and that there are others who, under no circumstances, could be prevailed upon to admit their merits, simply because such an admission would prove detrimental to their particular personal interests.

Fortunately for the welfare of mankind, these doubting people form a comparatively small portion of the community at large. They are to be found here and there, but, compared with the great mass of the world's population, their numbers are so small that I dismiss them, and address myself to those who are willing to listen to the dictates of reason, and who are disposed to admit the strong logic of well established facts.

We are also told almost daily that Consumption the scourge of the American people, is incurable; that a man whose lungs are diseased must be given over to die; that he must abandon hope; and that the arrangement of his temporal as well as spiritual affairs should claim his earliest attention. If there were not facts as undeniable as that the sun will shine in a clear heaven at midday to controvert these random and not unfrequently harmful assertions, I should feel unwilling to take up the gage of battle against them; but, fortified with results—facts—which neither they nor mere assertion can overturn, I propose to prove that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED, and that the medicines I prepare—THE MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC, and PULMONIC SYRUP—will, if used in strict accordance with the directions, in a majority of cases effect that which the faculty have pronounced impossible—they will cure Consumption.

An ounce of solid fact is worth a pound of theory. Let us, therefore, present the facts connected with my own individual experience. Many years ago, I was a confirmed consumptive, and like thousands of other unfortunates, was given up to die. Eminent physicians pronounced my case a hopeless one, and told me that if I had any parsonal affairs to make for the final solemn event, that I had better make them speedily. I believed this just as confidently as did the persons who thus affectionately informed me that my days were numbered; and that recovery was impossible. Still, the desire to live lingered in my bosom. I was young, and clung to life with the same tenacity that young men, and old men too, ordinarily do. I did not feel willing to abandon hope as long as a single vestige of it remained. I had still faith in the sci ntific attainments conferred to me by my physicians, but still there was a lingering belief that something could be done, though I know not in what direction to seek for the much desired relief.

It was at this gloomy and eventful period of my history that I first learned the roots and herbs from which my remedies for this dreaded disease are now prepared. I procured and used them, and to the utter amazement of all—physicians, friends and neighbors—began to improve. My entire system commenced to undergo a complete renovation. Expectoration, which formerly had been difficult and painful, now became comparatively easy. I threw off daily large quantities of offensive yellow matter. At the same time my long-lost appetite returned, and I could eat food as wse palatable to me, and which was at the same time nutritious and wholesome. Expectoration became less copious and less offensive; exhausting night sweats ceased; the racking and harrassing cough abated; the fever broke; the ghastly pallor left my face; flesh united to my sadly wasted frame, and with flesh came strength and full health. From a mere skeleton I became a stout, strong, robust man, and I have maintained both strength and flesh to this day. I weigh two hundred and thirty-five pounds; I am blest with an apetite vouchsafed to but few men; I enjoy my digestive organs s re amply equal to all the requirements of a healthful condition of my system.

Now, be it remembered, all these wonderful changes were wrought by the use of the medicines I prepare—MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC and PULMONIC SYRUP. A cure seemingly miraculous naturally created astonishment in the minds of those who knew me. I was literally beset on all sides. I had visitors daily who besought me to give them the remedies which had wrought the wonderful restoration and had wrested me from the very jaws of death. Letters were received by scores imporuning me to impart the secret and inform the writers where the specifics for consumption could be obtained. Others, who were too remote to call, were satisfied with writing, sent for and consulted me in regard to their cases. To all these applications I promptly did as I was able.

I had fully regained my health, and gratitude for the happy result prompted me to turn my attention to the science of medicine with the hope of thereby being able to be of service to my suffering fellow-creatures. I devoted myself closely to my studies, and more especially to that branch of them relating to the terrible disease from which I had suffered so long and so much. I investigated it in all its fearful phases, in order to assure myself that no one was going to be accepted in vain. The closer my investigations the more satisfactory were my conclusions. I felt convinced that one of thousand of my fellow-creatures were dying annually of consumption whose cases were not as desperate and apparently hopeless as mine had been, and I felt urged to make the remedies which had proven so effective with me would prove equally so with others. I prepared my medicines in a pleasant and tasteless form, and announced them to the world. The results are well known. Thousands of suffering men, women and children, who were on the way to the grave, have been cured, and are to-day living evidences of the fact that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED. I do, and I think I may say, without arrogating to myself any more than is justly my due, that I have had as much experience in the treatment of consumption as any other person in the country, and that my success has been wonderfully great.

Let the reader remember that these are not mere fancied statements. They are positive living facts, of which I am the living evidence.

There is an old adage which says, "What has been done may be done." I have been completely cured of consumption by the remedies I now offer to the public. Thousands of others have testified to similar happy results from their use, and thousands of others still might be testified as I have been could they but be prevailed upon to try the virtue of The Mandrake Pills, Seaweed Tonic and Pulmonic Syrup. All that is necessary to convince the most skeptical of their merits is a fair trial.

Full directions accompany each of the medicines, so that it is not absolutely necessary that patients should see me personally, unless they desire to have a lung sounding. Still, for a purpose I am personally at my PRINCIPAL OFFICE, No. 15 North Sixth Street, corner of Commerce, EVERY THURSDAY.

Advice is given without charge, but for a thorough examination with the Respirometer the price is five dollars.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic, each $1 50 per bottle, or $7 50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents per box.

In Remote Settlements of Untold Value.

Food makes blood; blood makes the body. If the blood be pure, the body is healthy. So if we are not in health, we know some impurities are lurking about, which must be removed, and the sooner the better.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS remove all from the system which nature needs no longer.

The wonderful cures effected by Brandreth's Pills are attested by the attestation of enlightened physicians. Upwards of five thousand now use them in their daily practice, and two hundred have given their written testimony as to their innocence and value, as cleansers of the bowels and blood. Their untold value is to those living in settlements where doctors can only be had at great expense. For if you are sick, you have only to take one or more doses of Brandreth's Pills to get cured. Full Directions are with each box.

PERSONAL.—U. S. Senator Aaron H. Cragin arrived in town, Monday evening, and is stopping at the Rockingham House. We trust that through his influence the Yard may be made "first class," and that more work will be ordered, that our mechanics may be employed for the winter.

SHARPLEY'S MINSTRELS.—The "ironclads" drew a splendid house at the Portland Theatre, Saturday night, fully proving their claims to a high position in the "burnt cork" line. Andy McKee was inexpressibly comic, while Sam himself with his banjo, Kane in his side-splitting Dutch delineations, Atkinson, Jake Budd, and the rest of the company, kept the audience in a state of great good humor. The orchestra was first rate, and the general verdict was a capital show.—Press.

THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE.—The voters of Ward One are to choose four members at the election next week. The terms of Messrs. Wm. R. Martin and John S. Harvey expire with the present year; Rev. I. F. Waterhouse has removed from town, Rev. Lot L. Harmon being chosen to fill the vacancy to Jan. 1, 1870, by the present City Council; and Capt. John Chase, whose term would have expired Jan. 1, 1871, has deceased during the present year. Two are to be chosen for one year, and two for three years. In Ward Two, two Committeemen are to be chosen for three years, the terms for which Messrs. E. A. Joy and Chas. H. Hayes were elected, having expired. In Ward Three, two are to be chosen for three years, to fill vacancies made by the expiration of the terms of Messrs. Augustus Walden and Albert R. Hatch.

THE REPUBLICAN CAUCUS for the nomination of a candidate for Mayor, will be held at the Court House, this evening, at half-past 7 o'clock. The man who can confidently predict who the nominee will be (at this time of writing,) must be a sage. The subject has engrossed the attention of politicians and business men for a whole week, and the friends of the leading candidates are bustling about town, advocating the claims of their respective candidates with a pertinacity that evinces a great deal of interest on their part.

While we commend the spirit of emulation that they exhibit, we can see no point to be gained by indulging in condemnation of their opponents. Surely, the Republicans of this city do not wish a Democrat to hold the Mayoralty again. Are they not satisfied that dissension among their ranks has elected Frank Jones, for two successive terms? Will they not learn wisdom from their past folly, and elevate a Republican to the Chief Magistracy of this Republican city?

This is the time for all o unite on an acceptable candidate. Throw personal feeling to the winds. Nominate a live man and then elect him. We enjoin upon our Republican friends moderation and a proper regard for the feelings of those who may not agree with them as to the policy of selecting this or that man. Let us go to the caucus determined to put forward a strong representative man, and then, sinking all past differences, unite in cordially advocating the choice of the majority. In no other way can success be assured; without harmony defeat is inevitable.

A PACIFIC RAILWAY

GOLD LOAN $6,500,000.

We beg leave to announce that we have accepted the agency of the KANSAS PACIFIC RAILWAY COMPANY, For the sale of its NEW SEVEN PER CENT. Thirty Year Gold Loan. Free from Tax.

This Loan amounts to $6,500,000, First Mortgage Land-Grant and Sinking Fund Bonds, secured upon the extension of the Railway from near Sheridan, in Kansas, to Denver, Colorado, a distance of 227 miles of which 12 miles are completed, and the rest is under construction. It is also a Mortgage upon the Road, the Rolling Stock and Franchise of the first-class Railway, besides now running through the State of Kansas, And in successful operation for 437 miles west of the Missouri River, and earning already enough to meet all of its expenses and existing obligations, besides paid in full THE INTEREST UPON THIS NEW LOAN. In addition to this the Bonds are also secured by a first mortgage of the GOVERNMENT LAND GRANT OF THREE MILLION ACRES, extending in alternate sections on either side of the track, from the 394th mile post in Kansas to Denver. The proceeds of the sale of these lands are to be invested by the Trustees in the 7 per cent Bonds, themselves up to 120 in U. S. Bonds, as A SINKING FUND FOR THE REDEMPTION OF THE BONDS.

The Lands embrace some of the finest portions of the magnificent Territory of Colorado, including a coal field and pinery. The company also holds as an asset another tract of Three Millions of Acres in the State of Kansas, and although not pledged as a security for this Loan, their possession adds largely to the Company's wealth and credit. We estimate the Value of the Company's property, covering this mortgage, at $23,000,000 net while the Loan is merely $6,500,000.

The Bonds have THIRTY YEARS TO RUN, from May 1, 1869, and will pay SEVEN PER CENT. INTEREST IN GOLD, semi-annually, on May 1 and Nov. 1, and are FREE FROM GOVERNMENT TAXATION, the Company paying the tax.

The principal of the Loan is made payable in Gold, in the City of New York, but each coupon will be PAYABLE IN FRANKFORT, LONDON OR N. YORK at option of the holder, with notice, at the following rates:

On $1,000 Bond in N. Y. $35 (gold) each half year.
" " London.....£7 s5. 10. "
" " Frankfort.....florins..... "

The Agents of the Loan, before accepting the trust had the condition of the Road, and the country through which it runs, carefully examined. They are happy to give the Loan an emphatic indorsement as a FIRST CLASS INVESTMENT, in every respect perfectly sure, and in some essential even Better than Government Securities.

The Bonds will be sold for the present at 96, and accrued Interest, both in Currency, though agents reserve the right to advance the rate.

The attention of investors is invited to these well-secured bonds, which we recommend as one of the most profitable investments in the market.

Gold and Government Securities taken in payment at their market value, without commission.

Morning Chronicle.

For the Chronicle and Gazette.

AN OLD-TIME LETTER.

Messrs. Editors:—I have copied the following letter of Mr. Anthony Thacher to his brother, Mr. Peter Thacher, of Sarum, Wilts Co., England, from Rev. Increase Mather's "Remarkable Providences," Boston, 1684, reprinted in London in 1856,—which I think will interest the readers of the Chronicle and Gazette.

In this same storm the ship "Angel Gabriel," 240 tons, of Bristol, England, (in which came passengers Deacon Samuel Haines and William Furber, who settled in Portsmouth, and John Casswell,sr., John Bailey,sr., and John Bailey,jr., who settled in Ipswich,) was driven from her anchors at Pemaquid and totally wrecked.

The "James," 220 tons, also of Bristol, was at anchor at the Isles of Shoals, and had a narrow escape from shipwreck. Rev. Richard Mather, father of Increase Mather, was a passenger in the James, and gives a very graphic account of the experience of that vessel, in his Journal, published by the "Dorchester Antiquarian and Historical Society."

Mr. Mather says: "This letter of Mr. Anthony Thacher to his brother, Mr. Peter Thacher, then a faithful minister of Christ in Sarum in England, was written within a few days after that eminent providence happened unto him. Matters were then fresh in his memory. I shall therefore here insert his narrative in his own words,who "expresseth himself as followeth:—"

I must turn my drowned pen and shaking hand to indite the story of such sad news as never before this happened in New England. There was a league of perpetual friendship between my cousin Avery (note that this Mr. Avery was a precious holy minister, who came out of England with Mr. Anthony Thacher.) and myself never to forsake each other to the death, but to be partakers of each other's misery or welfare, as also of habitation in the same place. Now, upon our arrival in New England, there was an offer made unto us. My cousin Avery was invited to Marblehead, to be pastor in due time; there being no church planted there as yet, but a town appointed to set up the trade of fishing. Because many there (the most being fishermen) were something loose and remiss in their behaviour, my cousin Avery was unwilling to go thither, and so refusing we went to Newbury, intending there to sit down. But being solicited so often, both by the men of the place and by the magistrates, and by Mr. Cotton and most of the ministers, who alleged what a benefit we might be to the people there, and also to the county and commonwealth; at length we embraced it, and thither consented to go. They of Marble-head forthwith sent a pinnace for us and our goods. We embarked at Ipswich, August 22, 1635, with our families and substance, bound for Marble-head, we being in all twenty-three souls, viz., eleven in my cousin's family, seven in mine, and one Mr. William Eliot, sometimes of New Sarum, and four mariners. The next morning, having commended ourselves to God,with cheerful hearts we hoisted sail; but the Lord suddenly turned our, cheerfulness into mourning and lamentations; for on the 14th of this August, 1635, about ten at night, having a fresh gale of wind, our sails being old and done, were split. The mariners, because that it was night, would not put to new sails, but resolved to cast anchor till the morning. But before daylight it pleased the Lord to send so mighty a storm, as the like was never known in New England since the English came, nor in the memory of any of the Indians.

It was so furious that our anchor came home. Whereupon the mariners let out more cable, which at last slipped away. Then our sailors knew not what to do, but we were driven before the wind and waves. My cousin and I perceived our danger, solemnly recommended ourselves to God,the Lord both of earth and seas, expecting with every wave to be swallowed up and drenched in the deeps. And as my cousin, his wife, and my tender babes, sat comforting and cheering one the other in the Lord against ghastly death, which every moment stared us in the face, and sat triumphing upon each one's forehead, we were by the violence of the waves and the fury of the winds, (by the Lord's permission,) lifted up upon a rock between two high rocks, yet all was one rock, but it raged with the stroke which came into the pinnace, so as we were presently up to our middles in water as we sat.

The waves came furiously and violently over us, and against us; but by reason of the rock's proportion could not lift us off, but beat her all to pieces. Now look with me upon our disasters, and consider of my misery, who beheld the ship broken, the water in her, and violently overwhelming us, my goods and provisions swimming in the seas, my friends almost drowned, and mine own poor children so untimely, (if I may so term it without offence,) before mine eyes drowned, and ready to be swallowed up, and dashed to pieces against the rocks by the merciless waves, and myself ready to accompany them. But I must go on to an end with this woful relation.

In the same room whereas he sat, the master of the pinnace not knowing what to do; our foremast was cast down, our mainmast broken in three pieces, the fore part of the pinnace beat away, our goods swimming about the seas, my children bewailing me, as not pitying themselves, and myself bemoaning them; poor souls, whom I had occasioned to such an end in their tender years, when as they could scarce be sensible of death. And so likewise my cousin, his wife, and his children, and both of us bewailing each other, in our Lord and only Saviour, Jesus Christ, in whom only we had comfort and cheerfulness, insomuch that from the greatest to the least of us, there was not one screech or outcry made,but all as silent sheep contentedly resolved to die together lovingly, as since our acquaintance we had lived together friendly.

Concluded to-morrow.

SALT FOR THE THROAT.—An exchange says: "In these days when diseases of the throat prevail, and particularly a dry, hacking cough, which is not only distressing to ourselves but to those with whom we are brought into business contact, those thus afflicted may be benefitted by trying the following remedy. Last fall we were induced to try what virtue there was in common salt. We commenced by using it three times a day—morning, noon and night. We dissolved a large tablespoonful of common salt in about half a tumblerful of cold water, and with this we gargled the throat most effectually, just before meal time. The result has been that during the winter we were not only free from coughs and colds to which, as far as our memory extends, we have always been subject, but the dry hacking cough has entirely disappeared. We attribute it entirely to the salt gargle, and do, most cordially, recommend it to those of our readers who are subject to diseases of the throat."

—A South Carolina youth of aristocratic lineage, while on a "spree" recently, married the inmate of a workhouse, and then deeded her his property in such a way that no one can get a cent of it.

WHEN WAS IT?—AND WHAT WAS IT?—The Manchester Union has an editorial on the State Constable Law, endeavoring, as a matter of course, to gain capital for the Democratic party. It says, among other things:—

"When the Democrats were in power they made laws which were enforced, and there was not one rum shop where there are ten now."

The Union will greatly oblige Uncle Toby, by stating when this golden day occurred, and what law it was, that was so nicely enforced. We remember somewhat distinctly, all the temperance efforts, moral and legal, in New Hampshire, for the last fifty years, and if any State Liquor Law has been thoroughly or generally enforced here, in that time, we would like to see some better evidence of it than mere assertion.

There have been laws on our State Books, for the punishment of drunkards, ever since we were a State, and long before;—but we never heard that their enforcement reformed one drunkard, or shut up one shop. These laws have been the work of all parties, or rather of general consent.

There have also always been laws licensing, and professing to restrain and regulate the sale of strong drink, but no one of them, that we can remember, has ever been generally obeyed or enforced,—certainly not in Portsmouth, which was, at once, the hub of the liquor trade and of the democratic party.

Then again, please to tell Uncle T. when it was, that but one rum-shop stood in the State, to ten now. He remembers no such time! but 50 years ago, there were 240 liquor shops and stores in P.;—45 years ago there were 200; and in a special town meeting, 200 men voted unanimously to nullify the license tax:—and so it was.

In the Washingtonian Era, say 1840, or a little later, it was said that but 37 places sold liquor in Portsmouth,—i. e. were known to sell—but the number soon increased to 60, and gradually to 100. The number now is a little short of 200. Any one may see, by a very little figuring, that the ten per cent proportion is as wild a guess as any fanatic ever made.

Doubtless the Democratic Party has had its Mission or Missions—but if promoting Temperance, by Law or Gospel, was one of them, we never heard of it before.

The Washingtonian effort was in no sense a party matter or measure, yet the democratic papers and leaders were terribly afraid it would upset their party, and not without some reason,—for the same Union tells us, "They did not accomplish all that was desirable, and they were turned out of power in 1855, partly upon this very issue." This is true—the so called prohibitory laws were the outgrowth of the Washingtonian reform. And as the party voted against the laws, they lost votes on this account as well as on the score of subserviency to the slave power, which was the grand reason of their overthrow, and that of Gen. Pierce.

COW YARD MANURE.—The American Stock Journal has the following in relation to the importance of saving the manure of the cow yard:

"Talk to a farmer about the value of manure and the importance of collecting and saving it for future use, and he is astonished that any one should suspect that he is not master of that subject and practiced it to the last shovelfull. Then take a walk with him to his summer cow yard where the milking is done mornings and evenings, and the lane leading to it, and you will find the droppings of perhaps six months or a year scattered about and tramped into the dust and partially washed away by the rains, to the amount of cart-loads. One cart-load of this is worth more than two from the barn yard, as any practical gardner will tell you. But the farmer looks upon these droppings, many of which are reduced to a powder, as beneath his notice.

There is a waste that might have added ten bushels of wheat to his granary, or a ton of hay to his haymow if it had been collected every week and properly applied. One hour's labor every week would have saved all this, which would have been worth more in producing crops than a ton of so-called phosphate, at a cost of sixty dollars in cash. These droppings always make their mark when applied to the land—the phosphates not always. These remarks do not apply to all farmers; there are many honorable exceptions, and their fields show it to their advantage; but there are too many to whom it will apply, and their fields tell a tale too, but not much to their credit. We hope some of them will take the hint and do better in future. Fields are terrible tell-tales"

DODD'S NERVINE ONCE MORE.
THE STANDARD REMEDY for biliousness with the medical profession is the Anti-Bilious Pill of the American Pharmacopeia. And its reputation has been well enough deserved. But it is a Pill, nevertheless, and most people of sensibility feel something about as big as a meeting house coming into their throat whenever a pill is spoken of. DODD'S NERVINE AND INVIGORATOR acts efficiently on the biliary organism; it irritates neither stomach nor intestines in all its operation; and what is VERY IMPORTANT, as all good nurses know, it is MOST AGREEABLE TO TAKE, being as pleasant to the palate as any delicate wine. We all know how it is with Cod Liver Oil. In a pure state it is excellent for certain conditions of debility, and particularly in tendencies to Consumption; and yet many of the best physicians decline to prescribe it, because it so dreadfully sickens the patient. That, they say, makes it do more harm than good. With Dodd's Nervine all this becomes obstacle. For sale by all Druggists. Price $1. o21w

WHAT ARE
DR. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA Vinegar Bitters.
THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK, Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits, and refuse Liquors, doctored, spiced, and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetisers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD-PURIFIER and LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter, and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell. $100 will be given for an incurable case, providing the bones are not destroyed by mineral poisons or other means, the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.
FOR INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND GOUT, DYSPEPSIA, or INDIGESTION, BILLIOUS, REMITTENT, and INTERMITTENT FEVERS, DISEASES OF THE BLOOD, LIVER, KIDNEYS, and BLADDER, these BITTERS have been most successful. SUCH DISEASES are caused by VITIATED BLOOD, which is generally produced by derangement of the DIGESTIVE ORGANS.
Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood healthy, and all will be well.
These Bitters are not a gilded pill, to delight the eye or please the fancy, but a medical preparation, composed of the best vegetable ingredients known.
They are Alterative, Tonic, Diuretic, Sedative, Diaphoretic, and Gentle Purgative.
"The Life of all Flesh is the Blood thereof."—Purify the blood and the health of the whole system will follow.

The News.

Napoleon reviewed the troops at Compiegne on Sunday.

The Tennessee constitutional convention will meet at Nashville on the second Monday in January, 1870. It will consist of seventy-five members, to be elected on the 18th of December.

The re-union of the army of the Tennessee will take place to-day at Louisville, Kentucky.

The latest returns from the Wisconsin election make Governor Fairchild's Republican majority 9000. The assembly will consist of 54 republicans, 39 democrats, and 2 independents.

Amos Kendall cut off one grandson with only $10,000 because he went into the rebellion. The other grandsons got $25,000 each.

Cincinnatti has highway-women.

A project for a treaty of alliance, offensive and defensive, between France, Austria and Russia, has been submitted by Prince Gortschakoff to Fleury, the French Minister, and sent by the latter to Napoleon. The duration of the alliance is to be three years, and it is to be renewable upon six months' notice. Each party is to keep a certain standing army.

Edmund Healey murdered his wife at South Boston, Monday evening, with an axe. He confesses the crime.

The Court Martial in the case of Lieut. Com. Seely, recently tried and sentenced for cruelty to his subordinates, was re-convened at the Charlestown Navy Yard, by order of the Secretary of the Navy, on Tuesday, for the purpose of the revision of the sentence, which was declared and forwarded to the Department.

It is reported that the Yerger case will not be further argued, but will be held in abeyance, till Mississippi is reconstructed, when the prisoner will be turned over to the civil court. It is understood to be the intention of the President to pursue the same course in similar cases in Texas.

Thirty-seven counties in New York give 123,369 in favor and 106,413 against the Judiciary Article.

The Illinois Constitutional Convention will be very equally divided politically. The Chicago Tribune's latest figuring shows 43 Republicans, 41 Democrats and one member in doubt. One of the Republican delegates was elected by one majority.

DARTMOUTH COLLEGE.—The fall term of Dartmouth College closes next Friday, the 19th inst. President Smith is taking a leave of absence, for the purpose of gaining much needed rest and recreation. The past term has been quiet, consequently timorous Freshmen are rejoicing. The only excitement has been the greasing of the Freshmen's chapel-seats, and their retaliation by plentifully larding the seats occupied by the Sophomore class.

At this, the latter class, in the morning exercises, attempted to drive the Freshmen out of their seats, and for a time there was a prospect of as lively a row as ever disgraced a college, but the Professor, by prompt interference, succeeded in quieting the belligerents. The total number of students in all the departments is 418. The college funds for the aid of indigent students is steadily increasing. There are now over 80 scholarship, yielding an income of from $60 to $100 each, which is appropriated by needy students.

The spring term will commence Jan. 7th, 1870.—Mirror.

SIGNS.—It is a good sign to see a man do acts of charity—a bad sign to hear him boast of it.

It is a good sign to see an honest man wearing his old clothes—bad to see them filling holes in the window.

It's a good sign to see a man wiping the perspiration from his brow—bad to see him wipe his lips as he comes out of a cellar.

It's a good sign to see a woman dressed with taste and neatness—bad to see her husband sued for finery.

It's a good sign to see a man advertise in the papers—bad to see the sheriff advertise for him.

It's a good sign to see a man sending his children to school—bad to see them educated at the night school in the street.

—On the night of the 30th ult., two young ladies in Hannibal, Mo., retired for the night, when one having gone to bed, the other put out the light and jumped hastily into bed, their two heads coming together with such force that the first was knocked senseless, and remained so for some two hours, and after medical assistance was called in.

—A little boy met his Sabbath School teacher, and innocently asked if to say "cofferdam" was swearing.

The replied, "no, my dear—what makes you ask that question?"

His answer was, "I saw an old cow down the street yonder; she was nearly choked to death, and I thought she would cof-er-dam head off."

—Several lads got into a wagon laden with whisky in Hartford, Conn., a few days since, and partook freely of the fusil oil. One of them drank so much that for three days he has been unable to speak, and his recovery is considered doubtful.

New Hampshire Items.

In Unity, on the 2d, Col. Nathaniel Huntoon celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of his marriage to his fourth wife. His first marriage took place 60 years ago.

They have bee thieves in Canterbury, and J. M. Ham, who recently lost two hives, offers $25 for their detection.

The house of Mr. William Weatherbee, in the north-west part of Londonderry, was entered at a window by some rascals one night week before last, and $50 in money, a valuable watch and some other articles were stolen. The robbers who were barefoot, were tracked a considerable distance.

On Friday night, in Epsom, the barn of James C. Yeaton was burned to the ground. In it were eight horses, harnesses and a cart owned by a Mr. Feenan, of Chelsea, Mass., a contractor on the Suncook Railroad.

Isaac F. Potter of East Concord has gathered seventy-five bushels of chestnuts on his farm this season, and has sold them for about $5 a bushel.

THE RIVERSIDE MAGAZINE, for young people.—This elegant and excellent Magazine is a monthly of 8vo size, containing forty-sight large pages in each number, with a great variety of very nice engravings on wood; bound in a cover; a rich design in the best style of color printing. The Magazine takes its name from the "Riverside Press," where it is made, and was first issued in January, 1867. The aim of the Publishers was to present a magazine which could go into every family in the land, and be read by all children; not only so, but they meant to make it, and have made it one which parents would read, with their children, since it is not childish, but childlike. The advertisments sets forth some of the chief points of this really valuable Magazine, which we heartily commend. The subscription terms are—$2.50 a year; to clergymen and teachers, $2. The new volume begins with the number for January, 1870. The club rates and premium lists are very liberal, and will be furnished on application to the Publishers, H. O. Houghton & Co., Riverside, Cambridge, Mass.,

THE ROYAL ROAD TO FORTUNE.—This is the title of a new and neat volumn of 333 pages, just published by Alfred L. Sewell, Chicago, and sold by Nichols & Hall, Boston, and James F. Shores jr., Portsmouth.

To those who read the production of Emily Huntington Miller, in the Little Corporal and elsewhere, it is enough to say that she is the author of this book, and that it is one of her best.

It is destined to be both popular and useful. It is the beginning of the Little Corporal Library, which will interest the young, and those of riper years who do not grow old too fast.

New Publications.

"Our Dumb Animals" is a monthly paper published in Boston, by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, — at the Society's Rooms, 46 Washington Street. Its motto is, to "speak for those who cannot speak for themselves;" and besides its specialty being presented in a forcible, attractive and convincing manner, there is much reading matter of general interest always to be found in its columns. The price is $1 per year, which may be sent as above; or we will receive subscriptions at the Chronicle and Gazette Office,—for the cause.

Demorest's Young America.—This very sprightly juvenile is constantly improving. A new and most interesting feature consists of a beautiful chromo series of Audubon's American birds, each separate picture of which is fit to frame, and together would form a charming set for a child's room.

Communication.

Messrs. Editors:—AMERICANS.—Where is the organization known as the A. P. A.? We have received no report of their election of Officers nor Installation. Will some friend connected with the institution, furnish a report for your columns? The people are becoming very much interested in the success of the order, and are desirous of being posted as much as possible regarding it success and workings. May success attend its endeavors to promote true Protestantism throughout the land. S.

—Young Lockwood, who was ruined by the Wall street gold robbery, was to have been married in grand style, with great magnificence, but recalled the seven hundred invitations and was married privately, to one of the handsomest and most accomplished ladies of New York, who stood true to him, notwithstanding his downfall.

—Little Sammy Brown, of Iowa Falls, got down in the cellar the other day, turned the faucet of a barrel filled with forty gallons of molasses, and when discovered, was having a jolly good time wading around in sweetness ankle deep.

CRUELTY TO ANIMALS.—There is a law in Massachusetts, designed to restrain such cruelty—and and at a late Court in Worcester, there was tried the case of Patrick Tracy who appealed from the judgment of the police court at Milford. Patrick is said to be a well-disposed man when not in liquor; but when "a little sprung," he wants to lick somebody or something. Mrs. Tracy—good wife that she is—went out to milk their goat, which did not stand so still as Patrick thought would be becoming in a goat, and so he went at her and pounded her head sharply with a brick. The jury thought Patrick's way of exacting obedience from the goat, was but little better than cruelty, and so they convicted him. When asked by the court if he could pay a fine, he answered: "Yes, yer honor; if ye don't put it too high." And when ordered to pay a fine of $20, he exclaimed:—"Twinty dollars! that's more than the blathering goat is worth!"

Not having $20 in his pocket, and discovering that if he did not pay the fine he had no alternative but go to jail, he desired an officer to send a dispatch to his wife, at Milford to "send him twinty dollars quick by telegraph," to keep him out of jail. But as the money did not come till the next morning, the goat-master had one night in prison, in addition to the fine, and the cost and trouble of his wife's journey to take him out; and probably, by this time, he thinks "it's more than the blathering goat is worth!" If he has arrived at that sage conclusion, he will probably never be tried and imprisoned again for pounding his goat's head with a brick-bat. Perhaps he will think it best to abandon his habit of "carrying about a brick in his hat."

TREATMENT FOR SCRATCHES.—Many cases are cured by simply keeping the heels washed thoroughly with castile soap, and annointing them with glycerine or fresh lard. Should this not effect a cure apply twice a day the following mixture: One pint of water, ten drachms sulphuric acid, one drachm corrosive chloride of mercury. Shake thoroughly before using.—Maine Farmer.

—It is a common remark that every third person you meet, who has resided in St. Louis for a number of years, has an affection of the throat or lungs.

Impaired Digestion.

All the organs of the body are, so to speak, the pensioners of the stomach. To that living laboratory is prepared the nourishment required to sustain them, and by the vessels and ducts connected with the digestive apparatus, that nourishment is conveyed to every part of the system. Upon the quality and quantity of this element of life, and upon the manner in what it is distributed and apportioned, physical health mainly depends, and as the mind inevitably sympathizes with the body, the vigor of the one is absolutely necessary to the well-being of the other.

It is because HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS accomplishes this double object that it enjoys a reputation as a preventive and curative never heretofore attained by any medicinal preparation. But its direct beneficial operation upon the weak or disordered stomach is not its sole recommendation. It is the most comprehensive of all known remedies. It tones, strengthens and regulates the discharging as well as the assimilating organs; gently moving the bowels, promoting healthful evaporation through the pores, rousing the inert liver from its torpor, and inducing harmonious and natural action in the whole animal machinery. This benign result is not produced by any of the reactionary drugs which are used so liberally in the old school practice, founded by Paracelsus; but by mild, safe and agreeable vegetable agents intermixed with a pure and mellow stimulant which diffuses their influence through every fibre and renders their sanitory properties active and effective.

MERIT SOON NOISED ABROAD.

It is but six years since ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM, was first offered for sale. Its good qualities were soon made known at home, and very soon its fame was noised far and near; now it is sold throughout every Drug Store in the United States—NORTH, EAST, SOUTH AND WEST. No similar medicine stands higher with the people. It is world wide in its fame, and its sales are unprecedented. Demands for it from San Francisco, Sacramento in California, and Portland, Oregon; even from Australia, large orders are received for it. And throughout Canada, it is well and favorably known, and sold everywhere.

Read what Captain Foster writes:

PORT BURWELL, March 23d, 1869.

Messrs. PERRY DAVIS & SON,

Sirs—I am pleased to notify you of the benefit which I have received from ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM; having been troubled with a cough for several years past, the Balsam was recommended to me. I immediately procured it, and found it to relieve my cough more speedily than anything I ever tried. My wife has also used it with most satisfactory results.

Yours Very Truly,

Capt. D. FOSTER.

THE LATEST DISCOVERY

In Medication.

The great difficulty which physicians have been laboring for centuries to overcome, has at length been obtained. A vegetable Cathartic and alterative more efficient than any mineral preparation of the same class, and as agreeable to the taste as ordinary candy, is now offered to the sick in the form of a Lozenge.

DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S

is the most important medicinal novelty that modern chemistry has produced. They are two botanical extracts, perfectly harmless in themselves, but embodying all the remedial properties of mercury, and destroyed in this pleasant form to supersede and banish from general use, the nauseous pills and portions of which that dangerous excitant is the main ingredient. More than

were made by the inventor of this peerless remedy before it was brought to its present state of perfection. The Lozenge is harmless in its operation, and altogether the medicinal taste of its curative components has been extinguished by chemical art, their virtues remain as active and potent as ever.

In Dyspepsia, Biliousness Constipation, Sick or Nervous Headache, Flatulence, Dropsy, and the irregularities to which the feebler sex are subject, the Lozenge will be found infinitly more effective than any of the nauseous and disgusting compounds usually administered in such cases. As an antibilious specific and general aperient, they have no equal either among advertised preparations or the prescriptions of the regular pharmacopoeia.

☞ It is guaranteed that no one who has once tried DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S Liver and Stomach Lozenge, will ever again take a purgative powder, or draught or pill.

TOBIAS' CELEBRATED VENETIAN LINIMENT, whose wonderful cures, sure and instaneous action, in cases of Chronic Rheumatism, Scaitache, Toothache, Croup, Cuts, Burns, Colic, Cramps, Dysentery, etc., have astonished the civilized world, is no new quack-penny but an article that has stood the test of twenty-two years. The enormous sale and rapidly increasing demand is at once the surest evidence of its usefulness and popularity. No family should be without a bottle in the house. Hundreds of dollars and many hours of suffering may be saved by its timely use.

Colic, Cramp, and Dysentery yield at once to its pain-killing properties. It is perfectly innocent and can be given to the oldest person or youngest child. No matter if you have no confidence in Patent Medicines—try this, and you will be glad to buy again, and recommend to your friends. Hundreds of Physicians recommend it in their practice.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

Read the Evidence.

"Facts are stubborn things," and it is to facts alone that it is desired to direct the attention of the readers of this article.

Many years of severe and thorough practical trial have demonstrated beyond the paradventure of a doubt the fact that the medicines prepared by me, and known as SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, SCHENCK'S SEAWEED TONIC, and SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, have proved extraordinarily successful in the cure of diseases of the pulmonary organs, or what is usually termed Consumption.

I am fully aware that there are many persons who have prejudices against them, and who doubt that "profits strong as Holy Writ," would fail to convince them of the efficacy of my remedies, and that there are others who, under no circumstances, could be prevailed upon to admit their merits, simply because such an admission would prove detrimental to their particular personal interests.

Fortunately for the welfare of mankind, these doubting people form a comparatively small portion of the community at large. They are to be found here and there, but, compared with the great mass of the world's population, their numbers are so small that I dismiss them and address myself to those who are willing to listen to the dictates of reason, and who are disposed to admit the strong logic of well established facts.

We are also told almost from infancy that consumption the scourge of the American people, is incurable; that a man whose lungs are diseased must be given over to die; that he must abandon hope; and that the arrangement of his temporal as well as spiritual affairs should claim his earliest attention. If there were not facts as undeniable as that the sun will shine in a clear heaven at midday to controvert these random and not unfrequently harmful assertions, I should feel unwilling to take up the gage of battle against them. Armed, fortified with results—facts—which neither theory nor mere assertion can overturn, I propose to prove that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED, and that the medicines I prepare—THE MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC, and PULMONIC SYRUP—will, if used in strict accordance with the directions, in a majority of cases effect that which the faculty pronounces impossible—they will cure Consumption.

Ten ounces of solid fact is worth a pound of theory. Let me, therefore, present the facts connected with my own individual experience. Many years ago, I was a confirmed consumptive, and like thousands of other unfortunates, was given up to die. Eminent physicians pronounced my case a hopeless one, and told me that I had any preparations to make for the final solemn event, that I had better make them speedily. I believed this just as confidently as did the persons who thus affectionately informed me that my days were numbered and that recovery was impossible. Still, the desire to live lingered in my bosom, I was young, and clung to life with the same tenacity that young men, and old men too, ordinarily do. I did not feel willing to abandon hope as long as a single vestige of it remained. I had full faith in the sad information conveyed to me by my physicians, but there was a lingering belief that something could be done, though I knew not in what direction to seek for the much desired relief.

It was at this gloomy and eventful period of my history that I first learned of the roots and herbs from which my remedies for this dreaded disease are now prepared. I procured and used them, and, to the utter amazement of all—physicians, friends and neighbors—began to improve. My entire system became invigorated by the simple renovation. Expectoration, which formerly had been difficult and painful, now became comparatively easy. I throw off daily large quantities of offensive yellow matter. At the same time my long-lost appetite returned. I ate freely of such food as was palatable to me and which did at the same time nutritious and wholesome. Expectoration became less copious and less offensive; exhausting night sweats ceased. The hectic flush and harrasing cough abated; the fever broke; the pain departed; flesh planted itself on my sadly wasted frame, and with flesh came strength and vigor. Step by step I became a skeleton became a stout, strong, robust man, and I have maintained both strength and flesh to this day. I weigh two hundred and thirty-five pounds; I have the best with an appetite vouchsafed to but few men, while my digestive organs are amply equal to all the requirements of a healthful condition of the system.

Now, be it remembered, all those wonderful changes were wrought by the use of the medicines at, the minds of those who know me. I was literally bedridden all sides. I had visitors daily who besought me to give them the remedies which had wrought the wonderful restoration and had wrested me from the very jaws of death. Letters were received by scores importuning me to impart the secret and informs that others where the specifics for consumption could be obtained. Others, who were too weak to travel, not satisfied with writing, sent for and consulted me in regard to their cases. To all these applications I responded as I was able.

I had fully regained my health, and gratitude for the happy result prompted me to turn my attention to the science of medicine with the hope of thereby being able to be of service to my suffering fellow-creatures. I devoted myself closely to my studies, and more especially to that branch of them relating to the terrible disease from which I had suffered so long and so much. I investigated it in all its fearful phases, in order to assure myself that my case was not an exceptional one. The result my investigations the more satisfactory were my conclusions. I felt convinced that tens of thousands of my fellow-creatures were dying a victim to of consumption whose cases were not as desperate and apparently hopeless as mine had been, and I argued from this that remedies which had proven so effective with me would prove equally so with others. I prepared my medicines in a pleasant and attractive form, and announced them to the world. The results are well known. Thousands of suffering men, women and children, who were on the way to the grave, have been cared, and are to-day living evidences of the fact that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED; and I think I may say, without arrogating to myself any more than is justly my due, that I have as much reason to be proud of the treatment of consumption as any other person in the country, and that my success has been wonderfully great.

Let the reader remember that these are not mere fancied statements. They are positive living facts, of which I am the living evidence.

There is an old adage which says, "What has been done may be done." I have been completely cured of consumption by the remedies I now offer to the public. Thousands of others can be testified to similar happy results from their use, and thousands of others still might benefitted as I have been if they but be prevailed upon to try the virtue of The Mandrake Pills, Seaweed Tonic and Pulmonic Syrup. All that is necessary to convince the most skeptical of their merits is a fair trial.

Full directions accompany each of the medicines, so that it is not absolutely necessary that patients should see me personally, unless they desire to have their lungs examined. For this purpose I am personally at my PRINCIPAL OFFICE, No. 15 North Second Street, corner of Commerce, EVERY SATURDAY.

Advice is given without charge, but for a thorough examination with the Respirometer the price is five dollars.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic, each $1.50 per bottle, or $9 for half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents per box.

HAYWARD'S CONCERT.—On Thanksgiving night, Mr. William Hayward, the widely celebrated ballad singer, is to give one of his Character Personation Concerts at the Temple, assisted by Mrs. Georgia A. Hayward, a Contralto Vocalist of some note. Mr. Hayward is one of the most popular singers now before the public, and wherever he has appeared in his new entertainment the press have been alike unanimous and enthusiastic in their praises, pronouncing it one of the best entertainments going.

Mr. Hayward has recently been giving a series of Concerts in Maine, being everywhere greeted by crowded houses. The Lewiston Journal says "Hayward's Concert and Character Personation Entertainment at Central Hall, Saturday evening, drew out a first-class audience which filled the Hall. The entertainment was of an excellent order—vulgarity and profanity (too commonly introduced by most humorists) being strictly avoided—and the audience appreciated it, if their frequent and hearty applause was an index to their opinion."

THE REPUBLICAN MAYORALTY CAUCUS met at the Court House, Tuesday evening, and was called to order at half past 7 o'clock by Hon. John H. Bailey, of the Republican City Committee.

Hon. Horton D. Walker was chosen Chairman, and John S. Rand, Esq., Secretary. Capt. Joseph H. Thacher was unanimously re-nominated for Mayor. His letter of declination was read, but the meeting insisted on the appointment of a committee to urge his acceptance. Messrs. Elbridge G. Peirce, Jr., Wm. P. Jones and J. C. Carr were appointed and after twenty minutes' delay reported Capt. Thacher's positive declination, stating that he would be away from the city for months.

The meeting then proceeded to ballot for a candidate, as follows; whole number of votes, 515; Joseph B. Adams, 289; Thomas S. Nowell, 198; Scattering, 28. Neccessary for a choice, 258.

The nomination was made unanimous, and Messrs. Wm. W. Henderson, John H. Cheever, and Daniel L. Randall were appointed to inform the nominee. Mr. Adams appeared and accepted in a brief speech, after which the meeting adjourned sine die. The caucus was one of the largest ever held in this city.

CO-OPERATIVE BANKING IN ITALY.—The development of the co-operative principle is one of the features of the times in Italy. A co-operative bank of credit has been formed for the working classes in Naples. One-half of its shares have already been taken, partly by working men, and the rest are especially offered to the working classes. As soon as two-fifths of this residue are taken, the bank will begin operations on the following plan: Limited loans on word of honor, discounting bills, receipt of savings, deposits on running accounts, advances on public property. It is the first instance of the application of the co-operative principle to credit in Southern Italy among the working classes, and the experiment is regarded with much interest. A bank of the same kind exists in Padua, and meets with considerable success, having with a capital of 30,000 lire conducted affairs in the first year to amount to 300,000 lire.

THE RIVERSIDE.
THE MOST DELIGHTFUL OF ALL
MAGAZINES FOR YOUNG PEOPLE.
Crowded with entertaining and instructive reading matter.
Illustrated in the finest manner by our first Artists.
At the head of its list of contributors is HANS CHRISTIAN ANDERSEN, the most eminent living writer for the Young.
JACOB ABBOTT,
also, and a host of witty and sensible writers, contribute to the Magazine.
It is eminently the Magazine for the Household.
Daniel Webster used to say that whenever he wished to get at some simple fact in history or science, he looked for it in a well written child's book.
THE RIVERSIDE
contains, besides its lively stories, a store of information, pleasingly presented, and it is so prepared that it is not too young for the old, nor too old for the young. Pure English and straightforward talk characterize its contents.

A CAPITAL CHANCE
for subscribers, without expending any money, to procure first-rate books for themselves and for Holiday Presents to give to their friends.
Send $2.50 as subscription to the "Riverside," and the publishers will forward a list of 122 Books worth, in all, $200.00. For each and every new name sent by a subscriber with $2.50 cash, they will forward one dollar's worth of books from this list. Thus, a subscriber, upon sending another name besides his own, with $2.50, may choose a book worth a dollar; by sending two other names and $5.00, he can get a book worth $2.00, or two books worth $1.00 each, as he may select. In this way a little labor only is necessary to secure, without expending any money, books to give away at Christmas time, or books to read one's self during the long evenings.
As a special Premium, this offer is made:—Any one who sends the names of sixteen new subscribers, and $40.00, shall receive, free of expense, a complete set of the Globe Edition of Dickens' Works, the most complete cheap edition extant, in 14 volumes.

A PACIFIC RAILWAY
GOLD LOAN $6,500,000.
We beg leave to announce that we have accepted the agency of the
KANSAS PACIFIC RAILWAY COMPANY,
For the sale of its
NEW SEVEN PER CENT.
Thirty Year Gold Loan,
Free from Tax.
This Loan amounts to $6,500,000.
First Mortgage Land-Grant and Sinking Fund Bonds,
secured upon the extension of the Railway from near Sheridan, in Kansas, to Denver, Colorado, a distance of 237 miles of which 12 miles are completed, and the rest is under construction. It is also a Mortgage upon the Rolling Stock and Franchise of this first-class Railway, besides now running through the State of Kansas,
And in successful operation for 437 miles
west of the Missouri River, and earning already enough to meet all of its expenses and existing obligations, besides MORE THAN THE INTEREST UPON THIS NEW LOAN. In addition to this the Bonds are also secured by a first mortgage of the GOVERNMENT LAND GRANT OF THREE MILLION ACRES,
extending in alternate sections on either side of the track, from the 394th mile post in Kansas to Denver. The proceeds of the sale of these lands are to be invested by the Trustees in the 7 per cent Bonds, themselves up to 12% in U. S. Bonds, as
A SINKING FUND FOR THE REDEMPTION OF THE BONDS.
The Lands embrace some of the finest portions of the magnificent Territory of Colorado, including a coal field and pinery. The company also holds as an asset another tract of Three Millions of Acres in the State of Kansas, and although not pledged as a security for this Loan, their possession adds largely to the Company's wealth and credit. We estimate the Value of the Company's property, covered by this mortgage at $23,000,000 net, while the Loan is merely $6,500,000.
The Bonds have
THIRTY YEARS TO RUN,
from May 1, 1869, and will pay
SEVEN PER CENT. INTEREST IN GOLD, semi-annually, on May 1 and Nov. 1, and are FREE FROM GOVERNMENT TAXATION, the Company paying the tax.

The Agents of the Loan, before accepting the trust had, the condition of the Road, and the country through which it runs, carefully examined. They are happy to give the Loan an emphatic endorsement as a
FIRST CLASS INVESTMENT,
in every respect perfectly sure, and in some essential even Better than Government Securities.
The Bonds will be sold for the present at
96, and accrued Interest, both in Currency,
the Agents reserving the right to advance the rate.
The attention of investors is invited to these well-secured bonds, which we recommend as one of the most profitable investments in the market.

Morning Chronicle.

For the Chronicle and Gazette.

AN OLD-TIME LETTER.

Concluded from Yesterday.

Now as I was sitting in the cabin-room door, with my body in the pinnace, when lo! one of the sailors, by a wave, being washed out of the pinnace, was gotten in again, and coming in to the cabin-room over my back, cried out, "We are all cast away! the Lord have mercy upon us! I have been washed overboard into the sea, and am gotten in again!" His speech made me look forth, and looking towards the sea, and seeing how we were, I turned myself to my cousin and the rest, and spake these words: "Oh, cousin! it hath pleased God to cast us here between two rocks, the shore not far off from us, for I saw the tops of trees when I looked forth." Whereupon the master of the pinnace looking up at the scuttle-hole of the quarter-deck, went out at it, but I never saw him afterward. Then be that had been in the sea went out again by me, and leaped overboard towards the rocks, whom afterwards also I could not see. Now none were left in the barque that I knew or saw, but my cousin, his wife and children, myself and mine, and his maid-servant. But my cousin thought I would have fled from him, and said unto me—"Oh, cousin, leave us not, let us die together," and stretched forth his hand unto me.

Then I, letting go my son Peter's hand, took him by the hand, and said: "Cousin, I propose it not, whither shall I go? I am willing and ready to die with you and my poor children. God be merciful to us, and receive us to himself;" adding these words: "the Lord is able to help and to deliver us." He replied, saying: "Truth, cousin; but what His pleasure is we know not; I fear we have been too unthankful for former deliverances, but he hath promised to deliver us from sin and condemnation, and to bring us safe to heaven through the all-sufficient satisfaction of Jesus Christ,—this therefore we say challenge of him." To which I replying, said, "That is all the deliverance I now desire and expect," which words I had no sooner uttered, but by a mighty wave I was with the piece of the barque washed out upon part of the rock, where the wave left me almost drowned, but recovering my feet I saw above me on the rock my daughter Mary, to whom I had no sooner gotten, but my cousin Avery and his eldest son came to us, being all four of us washed out by one and the same wave. We went into a small hole on the top of the rock, whence we called to those in the pinnace, to come unto us, supposing we had been in more safety than they were in.

My wife seeing us there, was crept into the scuttle of the quarter-deck to come unto us, but presently came another wave and dashing the pinnace all to pieces, carried my wife away in the scuttle, as she was, with the greater part of the quarter deck unto the shore, where she was cast safely, but her legs were something bruised; and much timber of the vessel being also cast, she was sometime before she could get away, being washed by the waves.

All the rest that were in the barque were drowned in the merciless seas. We four, by that wave, were clean swept away from off the rock also, into the sea; the Lord, in one instant of time, disposing of fifteen souls of us, according to His good pleasure and will; His pleasure and wonderful great mercy to me, was thus: standing on the rock as before you heard with my eldest daughter, my cousin and his eldest son, looking upon and talking to them in the barque, when as we were by that merciless wave washed off the rock, as before you heard.

God in his mercy caused me to fall by the stroke of the wave, flat on my face, for my face was toward the sea, in so much, that as I was slipping off the rock into the sea, the Lord directed my toes into a joint in the rock's side, as also the tope of some of my fingers with my right hand, by means whereof, the wave leaving me, I remained so, having in the rock only my head above the water. When on the left hand I espied a board or plank of the pinnace; and as I was reaching out my left hand to lay hold on it, by another coming over the top of the rock, I was washed away from the rock, and by the violence of the waves, was driven hither and thither in the seas a great while, and had many dashes against the rocks. At length, past hopes of life, and wearied in body and spirits, I even gave over to nature, and being ready to receive in the waters of death, I lifted up both my heart and hands to the God of Heaven.

For note, I had my senses remaining perfect with me at the time that I was under and in the water, who at that instant lifted up my head above the top of the water, that so I might breathe without any hindrance by the water. I stood bolt upright as if I had stood upon my feet, but I felt no bottom, nor had any looting tor to stand upon, but the waters. While I was thus above the waters, I saw by me a piece of the mast, as I suppose about three feet long, which I labored to catch into my arms. But suddenly I was overwhelm'd with water, and driven to and fro again and at last I felt the ground with my right foot.

When immediately whilst I was thus grounding on my face, I presently recovering my feet, was in the water up to my breast, and through God's great mercy had my face unto the shore, and not to the sea. I made haste to get out, but was thrown down on my hands with the waves, and so with safety crept to the shore. Where blessing God, I turned about to look for my children and friends, but saw neither, nor any part of the pinnace, where I left them as I supposed. But I saw my wife about a boat length from me, getting herself forth from amongst the timber of the broken barque; but before I could get to her, she was gotten to the shore. I was in the water after I was washed from the rock, before I came to the shore, a quarter of an hour at least.

When we were come each to other, we went and sat under the bank. But fear of the seas roaring, and our coldness, would not suffer us there to remain. But we went off into the land and sat us down under a cedar tree which the wind had thrown down, where we sat about an hour almost dead with cold. But now the storm was broken up, and the wind was calm, but the sea remained rough and fearful to us. My legs were much bruised, and so was my head; other hurt I had none, neither had I taken in much quantity of water; but my heart would not let me sit still any longer, but would go to see if any more were gotten to the land in safety, especially hoping to have met with some of my own poor children, but I could find none, neither dead nor yet living. You condole with me my miseries, who now began to consider my condition.

Now came to my remembrance the time and manner, how and when I last saw and left my children and friends. One was severed from me sitting on the rock at my feet, the other three in the pinnace; my little babe (oh! poor Peter) sitting in his sister Edith's arms, who to the uttermost of her power sheltered him from the waters, my poor William standing close unto them, all three of them looking ruefully on me on the rock; their very countenances calling unto me to help them, whom I could not go unto, neither could they come at me, neither would the merciless waves afford me space or time to use any means at all, either to help them or myself. Oh! I yet see their cheeks, poor silent lambs, pleading pity and help at my hands. Then on the other side to consider the loss of my dear friends, with the spoiling and loss of all our goods and provisions, myself cast upon an unknown land, in a wilderness, I know not when, nor how to get thence.

Then it came to my mind how I had occasioned the death of my children, who caused them to leave their native land, who might have left them there, yea, and might have sent some of them back again and cost me nothing: these and such like thoughts do press down my heavy heart very much. But I must let this pass, and will proceed on in the relation of God's goodness unto me in that desolate island on which I was cast. I and my wife were almost naked both of us, and wet and cold even unto death. I found a knapsack cast on the shore, in which I had a steel and flint and powderhorn. Going farther I found a drowned goat, then I found a hat, and my son William's coat, both which I put on. My wife found one of her petticoats, which she put on. I found also two cheeses and some butter, driven ashore. Thus the Lord sent us some clothes to put on, and food to sustain our new lives which we had lately given unto us; and means also to make fire, for in an hour I had some gunpowder, which to my own (and since to other men's) admiration was dry; so taking a piece of my wife's neckcloth, which I dried in the sun, I struck fire, and so dried and warmed our wet bodies, and then skinned the goat; and having found a small brass pot, we boiled some of her. Our drink was brackish water; bread we had none.

Then we remained until the Monday following. When about three of the clock, in the afternoon, in a boat that came that way, we went off that desolate island, which I named after my name, Thacher's Woe; and the rock, Avery his Fall; to the end that their fall and loss, and mine own, might be had in perpetual remembrance. In the isle lieth buried the body of my cousin's eldest daughter, whom I found dead on the shore. On the Tuesday following, in the afternoon, we arrived at Marble-head."

There is a soft low murmur in my heart,
And on the breeze.

Sweet Autumn sheds a gentle influence now,
The world is clad in beauty and in light;
The sunshine shimmers softly through the trees,
And all is bright.

Some spirit has made love to every flower
That breathes its love out on the passing breeze;
Some magic hand has thrown a witching garb
Upon the trees.

For all the blossoms blush—they seem rare gems
From the bright land of dreams. In earthward flight,
Some Seraph's wing has swept the trees and left
Gleams of its light.

Above us bends the silent, cloudless sky,
And o'er its depths a lone bird wants its flight;
Seen for one moment—then, like gilded hope,
It fades from sight.

The Spirit of the Wind has struck his harp,
But altered is the music of the lay;
The notes are wailing, and the burden is—
"Passing away."

We love to linger out. The deep, blue sky
Seems nearer now than when the summer's here;
The rustling leaves a melting murmur cast,
Upon the ear.

Yes, there is music in the fallen leaves.
They breathe the spirit of the mighty Past;
They wake a chord in each heart as they sigh,
"Bright days fly fast."

THEATRE AND HALL PREACHING.—It is generally know that in several of our large cities, for a year or two past, there have been series of Sunday evening lectures or sermons, by Unitarian and other "liberal" preachers: — and that Rev. Mr. Alger, Unitarian, has for the year past had a free congregation in Music Hall, on Sunday morning.

Now, on the second Sunday evening in November, Rev. Mr. Murray, the popular pastor of the Parks Street Orthodox church, begins a course of twelve Sunday evening lectures in the same Music Hall. The Congregationalist newspaper says:

It was an occasion of great interest. Prof. Tourjee's chorus of more than seven hundred singers, led and sustained by the great organ, with the four parts emphasized by three trombones and a cornet, furnished choral music of the most thrilling and satisfying character; and, when augmented in the hymns before and after sermon to the tunes of Old Hundred and Hamburg, sung in unison, by the voices of the entire congregation, it seemed to us that a volume of tune resulted, which, relative to the size of the room, nearly or quite equaled the wonderful effects produced in June at the Coliseum. The audience crowded—and that a half hour before the time for service to commence—every standing place, as well as every seat. The sermon was from the text, "A bruised reed he shall not break," and effectively and tenderly presented the sympathy of God for the misery of men. The services were admirably managed. The sermon began one-half hour, to a minute, from the opening note of the voluntary, and the benediction was pronounced at twenty minutes after eight o'clock.

The Universalist [newspaper] also contains a brief notice of Mr. Alger's morning sermon, and some allusions to Mr. Murray's evening discourse.

Mr. Alger considered the "Distinctive Advantages of Liberal Christianity over the Current Orthodoxy." Mr. Murray's theme was "The Tenderness and Patience of God towards Human Weakness and Sin." The reporter says Mr. Alger had "a fair attendance, but in the evening there was an unprecedented throng. As many as four thousand people gained admission, while multitudes were obliged to retire. Probably the great attraction was Prof. Tourjee's 700 singers; though Mr. Murray is just now the star of the Boston pulpit."

The Universalist very much prefers Mr. Murray's sermon, to Mr. A.'s,—and says:—

It is proper to add that the thing which most charms us in Mr. Murray's opening sermon, is its flat denial of the very propositions one would expect him to defend. He boldly pronounces the core of his creed a lie. Hear him:

"Heaven must not be made to appear to my mind as a vast corral, into which souls are stampeded, The motive of a horror of hell can never furnish any well regulated mind with an impulse towards heaven. You might as well try to frighten a flower into lifting itself toward the sun as to try to frighten a man into lifting himself toward God. Why, we cannot frighten a man, even in the inclination of his appetites. We cannot break down and disrupt by force even the bulwark of his sensations. And if man along the lower ranges of his nature thus defies the insane attempt to control him, do you think you can manage him along the higher? If you cannot subjugate the lower faculties, do you think you can subjugate the higher immortal faculties of his God-like nature? No! Our independence is God's glory, and the unforced, spontaneous character of our obedience and praise is what gives them their chief value in his sight."

And the whole discourse was pitched in this key!

DODD'S NERVINE ONCE MORE.
THE STANDARD REMEDY for biliousness with the medical profession is the Anti-Bilious Pill of the American Pharmacopeia. And its reputation has been well enough deserved. But it is a Pill, nevertheless, and most people of sensibility feel something of a shock in big as a meeting house coming into their throat whenever a pill is spoken of. DODD'S NERVINE AND INVIGORATOR acts effectually on the biliary organism; it irritates neither stomach nor intestine in all its operation; and what is VERY IMPORTANT, as all good nurses know, it is MOST AGREEABLE TO TAKE, being as pleasant to the palate as any delicate wine. We all know how it is with Cod Liver Oil. In a pure state it is excellent for certain conditions of debility, and particularly in tendencies to Consumption; and yet many of the best physicians decline to prescribe it, because it so dreadfully sickens the patient. That, they say, makes it do more harm than good. With Dodd's Nervine all this become obstacle. For sale by all Druggists. Price $1. o214w

WHAT ARE
DR. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA Vinegar Bitters.
THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK, Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits, and refuse Liquors, doctored, spiced, and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetisers" "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD-PURIFIER and LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter, and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell. $100 will be given for an incurable case, providing the bones are not destroyed by mineral poisons or other means, the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.
FOR INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND GOUT, DYSPEPSIA, or INDIGESTION, BILLIOUS, REMITTENT, and INTERMITTENT FEVERS, DISEASES OF THE BLOOD, LIVER, KIDNEYS, and BLADDER, these BITTERS have been most successful. SUCH DISEASES are caused by VITIATED BLOOD, which is generally produced by derangement of the DIGESTIVE ORGANS.
Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood healthy, and all will be well.
These Bitters are not a gilded pill, to delight the eye or please the fancy, but a medical preparation, composed of the best vegetable ingredients known.
They are Alterative, Tonic, Diuretic, Sedative, Diaphoretic, and Gentle Purgative.
"The Life of all Flesh is the Blood thereof."—Purify the blood and the health of the whole system will follow.

THURSDAY, NOV. 18, 1869.

The News.

The Alabama legislature has ratified the fifteen the amendment to the national Constitution. The vote in the Senate was—yeas, 24; nays, none. In the House—yeas, 69; nays, 16.

The lower breach of the Tennessee legislature refused to ratify the fifteenth amendment, by 57 to 12. The Senate will be equally unanimous.

The opening ceremonies at the Suez canal commenced on Monday.

The insurrection in Dalmatia has been quelled.

The Italian government has pardoned all political offenders.

The Gaiety Theatre at Milwaukee, Wisconsin, was set on fire by the explosion of a kerosene lamp, and before the audience could escape the whole building was in flames. Two bodies have been found, and it is supposed that others are in the ruins.

An earthquake shock of several seconds duration visited Sebastopol on the 12th instant. Tables and other articles of furniture were shaken from their places, and many people were seized with dizziness. In the centre of the city the shocks were so violent that a large number of inhabitants left their houses and rushed in terror into the streets.

The official count of the votes cast at the late election in Massachusetts, give Claflin, Repub., 74,106; Adams, Dem., 53,735; Chamberlain, Labor Reform, 18,567, Scat. 102. Claflin's plurality, 23,371; Claflin's majority, 9,702.

Gen. Benjamin F. Butler has pensued in the New York Supreme Court by Miss Rowena Florence of New Orleans, neice of the late Gen. Twiggs, for the recovery of the value of the spoons and other silver ware and table urniture appropriated by Butler while in command in New Orleans, in the spring of 1862, together with three splendid swords presented to Gen. Twiggs by the United States Government and the States of Texas and Georgia. Miss Florence lays her damages at $37,000, and Judge Jones granted an order of arrest Tuesday against Butler, fixing the amount of bail at $15,000.

—Brick Pomeroy's regard for truth is admirably illustrated by the following paragraph from his New York Democrat of Thursday:—

"There is no end to improvement in New England, when there is any unfortunate body to be tortured. They had to hang a villain named Pike there the other day for butchering an old man and woman be robbed; and they didn't like to let it pass off quietly, for there hadn't been a circus there for three months, and the girls were 'awful dull.' So all the young ladies, who were dying for fun, formed themselves into a choir: had front seats and a singing match, while the performance went on. They say it was 'real nice,' only he didn't kick or squirm half as hard or long as they expected. They returned thanks however, to Rev. Solomon Holman, who very kindly wrote a very long speech, which the villain was made to recite with the rope around his neck, and thus lengthened the performance. They don't often get such 'a real nice time,' these charming New England girls."

—A country school teacher preparing for an exhibition of his school selected a class of pupils, and wrote down the questions and answers to the questions he would put to them on the examination day. The day came, so did the young hopefuls, all but one. The pupils and their places had been arranged and all went glibly on until the question for the absentee, when the teacher asked:

"In whom do you believe?"

"Napoleon Bonapart-e"

"You believe in the Bible, do you not?"

"No," said the pupil, amid roars of uncontrollable laughter, "the boy who believes in the Bible hasn't come to school to day, he's at home, sick abed."

—A bran new "dodge" for a free ride was practiced by a couple of men in Mississippi recently. They started out on a fishing excursion from the city of Jackson, wandered several miles from home, and spent all their money. The question then came up for solution—How to get back to Jackson? They called upon the sheriff living near by, and represented themselves as a couple of escaped prisoners from Jackson prison, who were out of food, and had determined to give themselves up. The sheriff took them in charge, fed them, and in due time presented them at the Jackson jail and claimed his reward. He left a "blue streak" of oaths behind him when he found he had been sold.

Leonard Bartlett, freight conductor on the Boston and Maine Railroad, had a narrow escape from death, Friday. His train parted near Dover, and in attempting to step over the gap he fell between the two portions of the train, and was only saved from being run over by catching on the dead boards, where he clung until the train was stopped. His heel was badly injured, and he was otherwise bruised, but no bones were broken.

The Boston and Maine Railroad Company will erect a new passenger station at Dover next season.

George V. March, formerly reporter of the Concord Statesman, has charge of the reporting corps of the Manchester (England) Daily Guardian.

On Monday, one of the cattle trains over the Montreal road, in passing over the temporary trestle-work at North Concord, dropped down six car loads of cattle by the spreading of the rails, blocking up the road and delaying passenger travel.

☞ A little Vermont girl, about 8 years of age, recently caught her dress on fire during the absence of her mother. With great presence of mind she smothered the flames and cut off her burning apron with a pair of scissors, while her little hands were burning to blisters, and not only saved her own life but that of the baby also, who was left in her charge, by keeping away from it until the fire was put out.

☞ Lake Nespigon, lying only 30 miles north of Lake Superior, hitherto considered too insignificant to find a place in the American atlases, is announced to be larger than Lake Ontario or Erie. This lake discharges water into Lake Superior by the Neepigon River, a broad, rapid stream, and is the seventh in number and possibly the second in size of the chain of great lakes which form so remarkable a feature in the geography of North America.

HENRY WARD BEECHER A FIRST-RATE BLACKSMITH.—In his speech at the Plymouth Bethel Meeting, Sunday evening, he said:

I never saw anybody that I did not watch them, and see how they did it, for there is no telling but that some time I might have to do it myself. I was going across a prairie once: my horse began to limp.

Luckily I came across a blacksmith's shop, but the smith was not at home. I asked the woman of the house if she would allow me to start fire, and make the shoe. She said I might if I knew how; so I started a fire, and heated the shoe red-hot, and turned it to fit my horse's foot, and pared the hoof, and turned the points of the nails out cunningly as I had seen the blacksmith do, so that in driving into the hoof they should not go into the quick, and shod the horse.

At the next place I came to I went straight to a smith, and told him to put the shoe on properly. He looked at the horse's foot, and paid me the greatest compliment I ever received in my life.

He told me if I put on that shoe I had better follow blacksmithing all my life. Now, I never should have know how to do this if I had not looked on and seen others do it.

—A rabbinical conference has been in session the past week in Philadelphia, attended by both Orthodox and Liberal Jews. It was decided that the restoration of the old Jewish state under the son of David is not an article of Jewish faith, that the destruction of the second temple and the dispersion of the Jews was not on account of their sins, that no distinction should be made in worship between those who are and those who are the descendants of Aaron, that belief in the resurrection of the body is not required, and that prayers in the vernacular were to be encouraged in worship.

—The Jews of St. Louis have just dedicated a house of worship whose audience room "has absolutely nothing of a synagogue, and if the Hebrew words did not stand on the curtain covering the tabernacle, it would not be possible by any of its features to discriminate it from any Protestant audience-room." The ceremonies of dedication were almost entirely without trace of Judaism.

—It is stated that in one of his late sermons, the rector of the St. Alban's Protestant Episcopal Church, of New York, affirmed that the Episcopalian and Roman Catholic belief is alike, although the members do not commune together, owing to intrigues at the Court of Rome at the time of the Reformation. The preacher asserted that the churches referred to are really one, and he hoped to see the day when both should be united.

—The Episcopalians hold regular preaching services in a large hall in Salt Lake City, and have a fine school, with 100 scolars, some of them the children of Mormons. They do not feel that their lives are in danger; and have lately purchased with aid from the East, a beautiful residence and a large lot of land for $11,000.

MY DARLING.

My darling is the sweetest maid
That ever lived on marmalade
Or wanted wings to make her
The angel that she ought to be;
But then—unluckily for me,
I'm far and-forty, and, then you see,
She's only twelve—deuce take her!

Why, I was thirty-three
Before she had begun to be—
That B you see leads me to D,
Because the Fates miscarry;
To let her be my wife a bar
They prove—nor suffer letter R,
To make my Mary marry!

Her hair is gold in wavy curls,
Her eyes are stars, her teeth are pearls,
Her boots are bronze and lace up,
Her cheeks is bloomy like a plum'
Her breath is sweet as marjorum;
But poetry is weak to sum
Her figure and her face up.

Alas, the truth I must aver,—
My nephew Dick's in love with her,
While Prudence says I should prefer
Her aunt, who's plain and heavy.
O, would—but why ask Fate to grant
A boon which I'm aware it can't!
O, would that she had been her aunt,
Or I had been my nevvy.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

We Live in three Climates.

In this country we have at different seasons of the year, the temperature of three climates. Our Springs and Autumns have a softness and mildness that belong only to the Temperate Zones; our Mid-summers are torrid, and our Mid-winters almost arctic in their frigidity. These changes, involving a variation of from ninety to one hundred degrees of Fahrenheit in the year, act upon the whole conducive to health and long life, but they tend to entail upon us some distressing complaints which can only be escaped by the exercise of due care and the use of a proper antidote when the system is pre-disposed to contract them. The chief and most annoying of these disorders is Dyspepsia or Indigestion, to be guarded against which, since the introduction of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, now about twenty years ago, has proved to be a perfectly manageable disease.

In the Spring and Fall, but more especially in the Fall, the symptoms of Dyspepsia are generally aggravated. The profuse expenditure of the animal fluids under the burning sun of Summer, is apt to leave the stomach weak and indolent and incompetent to the task of perfect digestion. It requires a tonic which will rouse it from its lethargy and brace and invigorate without irritating or inflaming it. This tonic has been proved in the wonderful vegetable preparation which has replaced in a great measure, all the old nalliatives formerly prescribed by physicians, under the fallacies that the disorder could not be radically cured. The success of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS in all the varieties of dyspepsia, acute or chronic, has effectually exploded this fallacy, and it is now recommended as a specific for indigestion by some of the most eminent members of the medical profession.

MERIT SOON NOISED ABROAD.

Its but six years since ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM, was first offered for sale. Its good qualities were soon made known at home, and very soon its fame was noised far and near; now it is sold in nearly every Drug Store in the United States—NORTH, EAST, SOUTH and WEST. No similar medicine stands higher with the people. It is well known on the Pacific coast, and liberal demands for it from San Francisco, Sacramento in California, and Portland, Oregon; even from Australia, large orders are received for it. And throughout Canada, it is well and favorably known, and sold everywhere.

Read what Captain Foster writes:

PORT BURWELL, March 23d, 1869.

Messrs. PERRY DAVIS & SON,

Sirs:—I am pleased to notify you of the benefit which I have received from ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM; having been troubled with a cough for several years past, the Balsam was recommended to me. I immediately procured it, and found it to relieve my cough more readily than anything I ever tried. My wife has also used it with most satisfactory results.

Yours Very Truly,

Capt. FOSTER.

In Medication.

The great difficulty which physicians have been laboring under continually to overcome, has at length been obviated. A vegetable Cathartic and alterative more efficient than any mineral preparation of the same class, and so pleasant to the taste as ordinary candy, is now offered to the sick in the form of a Lozenge.

DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S

is the most important medicinal novelty that modern chemistry has given to the world. Composed of botanical extracts, perfectly harmless in themselves, but embodying all the remedial properties of mercury, and other mineral drugs, it is designed to supersede and banish from general use, the nauseous pills and portions of which that dangerous excitant is the main ingredient. More than twelve thousand medical gentlemen were made by the inventor of this peerless remedy before it was brought to its present state of perfection. The Lozenge is harmless in the operation, and altogether the medicinal taste of its curative components has been extinguished by chemical art, their virtues remain as active and potent as ever.

In Dyspepsia, Biliousness Constipation, Sick or Nervous Headache, Piles, Dropsy, and the irregularities to which the feebler sex are subject, the Lozenge will be found infinitely more effective than the pills, drafts and disgusting compounds usually administered in such cases. As an antibilious specific and general aperient, they have no rival, either among advertised preparations or the prescriptions of the regular pharmacopœia.

☞ It is guaranteed that no one who has once tried Dr. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S Liver and Stomach Lozenge, will ever again take a purgative powder, or draught or pill.

Wholesale Agent, JOHN F. HENRY, No. 8 College Place, New York City.

TOBIAS' CELEBRATED VENETIAN LINIMENT, whose wonderful cures, sure and instaneous action, in cases of Chronic Rheumatism, Headache, Toothache, Croup, Cuts, Burns, Colic, Cramps, Dysentery, etc., have astonished the civilized world, is no new catch-penny; but an article that has stood the test for twenty-two years. The enormous sale and rapidly increasing demand is at once the surest evidence of its usefulness and popularity. No family should be without a bottle in the house. Hundreds of dollars and many hours of suffering may be saved by its timely use.

Colic, Cramp, and Dysentery yield at once to its paincurative properties. It is perfectly innocent, and can be given to the oldest person or youngest child. No matter if you have no confidence in Patent Medicines—try this, and you will be sure to buy again, and recommend to your friends. Hundreds of Physicians recommend it in their practice.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

Read the Evidence.

"Facts are stubborn things," and it is to facts alone that it is desired to direct the attention of the readers of this article.

Many years of severe and thorough practical trial have demonstrated beyond the peradventure of a doubt the fact that the medicines prepared by me, and known as SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, SCHENCK'S SEAWEED TONIC, and SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, have proved extraordinarily successful in the cure of diseases of the pulmonary organs, or what is usually termed Consumption.

It may seem strange that there are many persons whose prejudices rule them so completely that "profit is strong as Holy Writ," would fail to convince them of the efficacy of my remedies, and that there are others who, under no circumstances, could be prevailed upon to admit their merits, simply because such an admission would prove detrimental to their particular personal interests.

Fortunately for the welfare of mankind, these doubting people form a comparatively small portion of the community at large. They are to be found here and there, but, compared with the great mass of the world's population, their numbers are so small that I dismiss them, and address myself to those who are willing to listen to the dictates of reason, and who are disposed to admit the strong logic of well established facts.

We are also told almost daily that Consumption the scourge of the American people, is incurable; that a person whose lungs are diseased may be given over to die; that he must abandon hope; and that the arrangement of his temporal as well as spiritual affairs should be his immediate attention. If there were not facts as undeniable as that the sun will shine in a clear heaven at midday to controvert these random and not unfrequently harmful assertions, I should feel unwilling to take up the gage of battle against them; but, fortified with results—facts—which neither theory nor mere assertion can overturn, I propose to prove that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED, and that my medicines I prepare—THE MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC, and PULMONIC SYRUP—will, if used in strict accordance with the directions, in a majority of cases effect that which the faculty pronounce impossible—they will cure Consumption.

An ounce of solid fact is worth a pound of theory. I offer, therefore, present facts for consideration with my own individual experience. Many years ago, I was a confirmed consumptive, and like thousands of other unfortunates, was given up to die. Eminent physicians pronounced my case a hopeless one, and told me that if I had any preparations to make for the final solemn event, that I had better make them speedily. I believed this just as confidently as did the persons who thus affectionately thinned me that my days were numbered; and that recovery, was impossible. Still, the desire to live lingered in my bosom. I was young, and clung to life with the same tenacity that I should if I had lived long and been too, ordinarily do. I did not feel willing to abandon hope as long as a single vestige of it remained. I had faith in the and information conveyed to me by my physicians, but still there was a lingering belief that something could be done, though I knew not in what direction to seek for the much desired relief.

It was at this gloomy and eventful period of my history that I first learned of the roots and herbs from which my remedies for this dreaded disease are now prepared. I procured and used them, and, to the utter amazement of all—physicians, friends and neighbors—my health and vitality commenced to undergo a complete renovation. Expectoration, which formerly had been difficult and painful, now became comparatively easy. I threw off daily large quantities of offensive yellow matter. At the same time my long-lost appetite returned. I ate freely of such food as was palatable to me, and which was at the same time nutritious and wholesome. Expectoration became less copious and less offensive; exhausting night sweats ceased; the racking and harrassing cough abated; the liver broke; the stomach acted; flesh planted itself on my sadly wasted frame, and with flesh came strength and full health. From a mere skeleton I became a robust man, and for years I have maintained both strength and flesh to this day. I weigh two hundred and thirty-five pounds; I am blest with an apretite vouchsafed to but few men, while my digestive organs are equal to all the requirements of a healthful condition of my system.

Now, be it remembered, all those wonderful changes were wrought by the same medicines I prepare—MANDRAKE PILLS, SEAWEED TONIC and PULMONIC SYRUP. A cure seemingly miraculous naturally created astonishment in the minds of those who knew me. I was literally bedridden on all sides. I had visitors daily who came to give me the last farewell which had wrought the wonderful restoration and had wrested me from the very jaws of death. Letters were received by scores importuning me to impart the secret and inform the writers where the specifics for consumption could be obtained. Others, who were too weak to travel, not satisfied with writing, sent for and consulted me in regard to their cases. To all these applications I responded as I was able.

I find daily regained my health, and gratitude for the happy result prompted me to turn my attention to the science of medicine with the hope of being enabled to be of some benefit to my suffering fellow-creatures. I devoted myself closely to my studies, and more especially to that branch of them relating to the terrible disease from which I had suffered so long and so much. I investigated it in all its fearful phases, in order to assure myself that in my case was not an exceptional one. The closer my investigations the more satisfactory were my conclusions. I felt convinced that tens of thousands of my fellow-creatures were falling annually of consumption whose cases were not as desperate and apparently hopeless as mine had been, and I argued from this that remedies which had proved so effective with me would prove equally so with others. I prepared my medicines in a pleasant and attractive form, and announced them to the world. The results are well known. Thousands of suffering men, women and children, who were on the way to the grave, have been restored, and are living evidences of the fact that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED; and I think I may say, without arrogating to myself any more than is justly my due, that I have had as much experience in the treatment of consumption as any other person in the country, and that my success has been wonderfully great.

Let the reader remember that these are not mere limited statements. I have living evidence of the fact that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED; and I think I may say, without arrogating to myself any more than is justly my due, that I have had as much experience in the treatment of consumption as any other person in the country, and that my success has been wonderfully great.

There is an old adage which says, "What has been done may be done." I have been completely cured of consumption by the medicines I now offer to the public. Thousands of others have testified to similar happy results from their use, and thousands of others still might benefited if I have been could they but be prevailed upon to try the virtue of The Mandrake Pills, Seaweed Tonic and Pulmonic Syrup. All that I require is to convince the most skeptical of their merits is a fair trial.

Full directions accompany each of the medicines, so that it is not absolutely necessary that patients should see me personally, unless they desire to have their lungs examined. For this purpose I am personally at my PRINCIPAL OFFICE, No. 15 North Sixth Street, corner of Commerce, EVERY SATURDAY.

Advice is given without charge, but for a thorough examination with the Respirometer the price is five dollars.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

☞ Turkey-time.

☞ The first man—Adam(s).

☞ To-day being Thanksgiving, we shall issue no Chronicle on Friday.

☞ We give on the 4th page this morning, the Report of one of the Lady Teachers from this city, of the Freedmen's School at Raleigh, N. C.; as read by her before the South Parish, at a recent meeting convened for that purpose. It will interest all who appreciate the good work that is being done in this way.

☞ Wednesday was, weatherly speaking, mixed. It begun with a cold snow storm, continued with a heavy gale and drenching rain from the south-east, and closed with a mild southerly breeze of aromatic flavor. The poultry trade was dull—as the farmers didn't put in an appearance. Turkeys sold at 35 cts. per lb. and the supply hardly equalled the demand.

☞ Services this morning at the usual hour, at most of the churches in this city—the Universalist excepted. And while the occasional discourses of pastors, at such times, are generally among their best efforts; it is no doubt a fact, that both preachers and hearers are benefitted by a good attendance, and Thanksgiving dinner enjoyed with a keener relish.

KELLEY & LEON'S ASSOCIATED MINSTRELS advertise one entertainment in this city on Friday evening. They have never appeared here, but have an excellent reputation in New York and the West. The Burlington Free Press has the following in regard to their entertainment:

The troupe, we think, is fully equal if not superior to any band of minstrels which has ever visited Burlington, and is composed of gentlemen, on the stage and off, whose performances cannot fail to please, every act being rendered in a manner which shows them to be at the head of the profession. The singing of the quartette is extremely fine, and the orchestra, under the leadership of G. P. Barnard, is the best we have ever had here, and with the eccentricities of the end men, Surridge and Talbot, which kept the audience convulsed with laughter, would furnish an evening's entertainment. The clog dancing of Johnny Jennings was capital. Indeed everything on the well-chosen bill was well carried out, the closing piece, a scene from the Grand Dutch "S," a new feature in this city, being the cause of special approbation.

THE CONCERT THIS EVENING. Mr. Hayward's concert here years ago are remembered with pleasure, and we commend the entertainment to the public.

The North Star, Danville, Vt., says: As a balladist he can't be best. He has a melodious, well-cultivated voice, and personates to perfection and various characters he represents. There is not a word in all his songs that can offend the most fastidious taste, and yet they are 'brim full' of both mirthfulness and pathos. The sentimental song entitled 'Twenty years ago,' was splendidly given, while the mirthful songs entitled 'The Grecian Bend' and 'Romping Sally' brought down the house with roars of laughter.

The Niagara Falls Gazette says:—"We don't know when we have heard anything to equal some of the ballads given on this occasion. 'Mother Dear, O Pray for me,' and 'Come this way my Father,' were pieces sung by Mr. Hayward with surpassing beauty and thrilling effect. His smooth, silvery voice, added much to the effect of those most beautiful and plaintive pieces. Many an eye was moist with tears, and the silence observed was the most delicate and at the same time the most significant approval that an appreciative audience could have given. Mr. Hayward is one of the very best vocalists we have ever heard."

☞ The New Hampshire Gazette for this week, is now ready for delivery at the Chronicle office. Price 6 cts. per copy—$2. per year. Contains all the Local and other reading from the Daily Chronicle.

☞ The Town of Rye (Beach) is yearly increasing and improving as a summer visiting or watering place. Among other developments, Mr. E. A. Straw of Manchester is building two more cottages, on the very sightly point east of the Ocean House, where on were two before, his own and Capt. Walker's of Concord. Mr. Straw bought about ten acres of land there, and his brother and Mr. Adams of Manchester are now building.

—It is reported that the Czar has forbidden the attendance of Russian bishops at the Ecumenical Council.

—A Chicago paper tells a story of election night which it thinks shows the enterprise of the young Chicagoese. A parcel of boys were seen getting together the materials for a bonfire. When they were asked what was the news, they replied that they had none. "We don't dabble in politics. We built the fire so that when the news comes we can sell it out to the side that beats!"

THE RIVERSIDE
contains, besides its lively stories, a store of information, pleasingly presented, and it is so prepared that it is not too young for the old, nor too old for the young. Pure English and straightforward talk characterize its contents.

A CAPITAL CHANCE

A PACIFIC RAILWAY
GOLD LOAN $6,500,000.
We beg leave to announce that we have accepted the agency of the
KANSAS PACIFIC RAILWAY COMPANY,
For the sale of its
NEW SEVEN PER CENT.
Thirty Year Gold Loan,
Free from Tax.
This Loan amounts to $6,500,000.
First Mortgage Land-Grant and Sinking Fund Bonds,
secured upon the extension of the Railway from near Sheridan, in Kansas, to Denver, Colorado, a distance of 237 miles of which 12 miles are completed, and the rest is under construction. It is also a Mortgage upon the Road, the Rolling Stock and Franchise of this first-class Railway, besides now running through the State of Kansas,
And in successful operation for 437 miles
west of the Missouri River, and earning already enough to meet all of its expenses and existing obligations, besides MORE THAN THE INTEREST UPON THIS NEW LOAN. In addition to this the Bonds are also secured by a first mortgage of the GOVERNMENT LAND GRANT OF THREE MILLION ACRES,
extending in alternate sections on either side of the track, from the 30th mile post in Kansas to Denver. The proceeds of the sale of these lands are to be invested by the Trustees in the 6 per cent Bonds, themselves up to 120 in U. S. Bonds, as
A SINKING FUND FOR THE REDEMPTION OF THE BONDS.
The Lands embrace some of the finest portions of the magnificent Territory of Colorado, including a coal field and pinery. The company also holds as an asset another tract of Three Millions of Acres in the State of Kansas, and although not pledged as a security for this Loan, their possession adds largely to the Company's wealth and credit. We estimate the Value of the Company's property, covered by this mortgage at $33,000,000 net, while the Loan is merely $6,500,000.
The Bonds have
THIRTY YEARS TO RUN,
from May 1, 1869, and will pay
SEVEN PER CENT. INTEREST IN GOLD, semi-annually, on May 1 and Nov. 1, and are FREE FROM GOVERNMENT TAXATION, the Company paying the tax.
The principal of the Loan is made payable in Gold, in the City of New York, but each coupon will be PAYABLE IN FRANKFORT, LONDON OR N. YORK at option of the holder, with notice, at the following rates:
On $1,000 Bond in N. Y. $35 (gold) each half year.
" " London.....57 s5. 10. "
" " Frankfort..87 fir. 50 krtzs., "
The Agents of the Loan, before accepting the trust had the condition of the Road, and the country through which it runs, carefully examined. They are happy to give the Loan an emphatic endorsement as a
FIRST CLASS INVESTMENT,
in every respect perfectly sure, and in some essential even Better than Government Securities.
The Bonds will be sold for the present at
96, and accrued Interest, both in Currency,
the Agents reserving the right to advance the rate.
The attention of investors is invited to these well-secured bonds, which we recommend as one of the most profitable investments in the market.
Gold and Government Securities taken in payment at their market value, without commission.

FREEDMEN'S SCHOOL, RALEIGH.

Report for the year 1868—'69.

Being asked to give an account of our last year's work, or in other words, write a report, is indeed asking us to do a very hard thing, for we might talk months and then the whole would not be told; for we should never tire of talking, but you would tire of hearing. Then again, the facts of the two years are so impressed on our minds that it is difficult to separate them, and we may tell you some things you have heard before.

One said to me a few days ago, "Are you not tired of the work?" I said, "We are not weary of the work, though we often weary in it." I know at times, humanity gets tired of all work, and it is very natural to feel discouraged because immediate results are not reached, and the same kind of work must go on year after year; still patience and perseverance are as needful as zeal and enthusiasm, and there is nothing in this work which ought to make us weary in well-doing.

Then if we are not tired of the work, let me earnestly entreat you not to tire of it; do not let your efforts slacken; this is Christ's cause, and these his poor are lifting their united voice, that we will not abandon the work. Last year it was indeed working under difficulties. We found everything in a rough state; but though we had many trials, at first, we have not yet exhausted Paul's list of tribulations. Let me compare the two years,—then you can judge for yourselves, if the money, time or sacrifice have been spent in vain.

In October, 1867, we arrived in Raleigh, late at night, alone; none knew of our coming, and consequently there were none to receive us. We then understood the full meaning of the word home-sick. In Oct., 1868, there was a multitude to receive us, and as we stepped from the cars, hundreds of hands were held out, that they might take our shawls, bags, &c., and shouts from the children, "Hurrah! the teachers have come," or "Here's the train; look out for the teachers;" and from the older ones, "Praise the Lord, Hallelu", made us feel that we were indeed got home.

The first year our home was of the rudest kind, merely a shed; however, we were happy, though we wasted much time in trying to keep out the rain, for it leaked like a seive; and with the rain came toads, slugs, and the like. This year we had a comfortable and pleasant home, and shall return to the same. The first year, our school-house, too, you will remember, was simply a rough building, without windows; now, we have a nice large building, with three rooms below our schools and the church above. This has been built in part by the Freedmen, and we have a photograph, that you can see what these people are doing for themselves. The school-rooms are neatly finished and very comfortable.

The change in the general appearance of the school is wonderful indeed. Not a single instance of begging, for books or clothes has occurred this year, among the scholars. Last year, we taught from all sorts of books, as they were too poor to buy, this of course was very tedious, hardly any three having the same books. Now, we have them classed as they are able to buy their own books. Their progress has been wonderful many who came to us two years ago, not knowing a single letter, are now reading in Hillard's Third Reader, studying geography and arithmetic. Two from our Schools, have already been sent into the country to teach.

These children seem to have marvellous progress singing, declaiming &c., you would be surprised to hear them recite 'Maud Muller' 'Barbara Fretchie,' Poe's "Raven" and the like, without making the slightest mistake. There has also been a marked change in punctuality and order. When their parents bring them to school they charge us to whip them 'powerful' for they are used to it and 'wouldn't mind without the stick no way' but we found no use for the stick.

We had an average attendance of 125, many of these walk from three to eight miles. One little girl, six years old, walked five miles and back again, was always in her seat, at the ringing of the bell, never absent; she came, when it stormed so hard, that we felt unable to bear it. The parents are willing to make any sacrifice. Said a mother the other day, "my William is all carried away with his school and thinks that I do him badly if I keep him at home, a day, to help me." We feel that every effort or act of kindness is more than appreciated and that we can hardly do enough.

We enjoy visiting the homes of the pupils, and feel most impressed at the warm and earnest prayers offered by their parents in behalf of the dear northern friends, who have done, and are still doing so much for them. They are certainly seasons of great interest to us. If there ever was a time when gratitude should inspire us, it is now. When I muse over the past, and look at the present, my feelings know no bounds.

All seem desirous of pleasing us, and it is impossible not to like them; they are impulsively affectionate, and continually bringing some little token of their friendliness, as flowers, or it may be only a sweet potato. One little girl picked cotton a whole a week, earning 5 cts, then on Sunday morning brought it to me. Three nights each week, we have an interesting night-school, at the school-house often having 100 or more present, all come after toiling all day; several old women walked three miles and six young men farther

How few of those who call the freedmen lazy niggers, would walk five or sixmiles, after laboring hard all day, for the sake of learning to read and write. Where but in colored schools were people ever known to learn their letters and then to read after they were 70 years of age, only that they might study for themselves the Word of God? And yet in our schools it is no uncommon thing to see the white headed old man or woman, with great brass bowed spectacles, sitting among their grand, perhaps great grand children spelling out the words.

One old woman came with a Bible and was following along the pages letter by letter and line by line. I said "Do you know how to read?" "No honey." "What are you doing then?" "Well," she said "I'se got so old that I can't learn the letters. I am 3 or 400 years old; I tries to learn but I forgets them as fast as I learns them; I was only looking to see how they look, for when I dies and goes home to heaven I hopes to be able to read the blessed Bible, and I thought I might be able to remember how it looked to me here."

Our Sunday School was much larger than last year, some times numbering 300; the old came as well as the young. At our monthly concerts the church was always crowded. Some of the prayers offered for us, though sincere, were oftentimes amusing. I will give you one, as near as I can remember. "O Lord, bless de teachers who come so far to 'struct us in de way to heaven. Rock them in de cradle of love! Backen de word of power in their hearts, that they may have souls for their hire and many stars in their crowns, in the great gittin' up mornin' when de general will is called.

And when all de battles is over, may they fall all covered with victory, and rise to wear de long white robe in glory, and walk de shinin' streets in silver slippers, down by de golden sunrise, close to de great white throne, and there may they strike glad hands with all the dear scholars, and praise for, O Lord, forever and forever, for Jesus' sake. Amen."

Each school has its points of special interest and encouragement. We are never discouraged,—we rejoice in the planting and watering, expecting from God the increase. Often we say, "Lord, it is good to be here." Each to-day is so full that no duty, however slight, can be left for to-morrow. I am often asked "what we find to do out of school hours?" Well, we visit the old and Sick, trying in a measure to supply the wants of each,—and to those who enabled us to do this we would say, that we tried to make the best use of the money so liberally given, and could you but go into one single cabin and hear the sincere "God bless you," you would indeed realize that is is truly more blessed to give than to receive.

In one cabin we find a family of ten, perhaps, without any wood; the poor old creatures are hovering over the last dying embers; in another, an old woman is sick; she must move, as she has not money enough by fifty cents to pay the rent bill; and in still another we find a little child lying dead, but they can not get a coffin until the money is paid, for no one will trust them,—but these are enough. In our visits from house to house we find all phases of character, and sometimes are at a loss what to say or do.

But it is heart-cheering to turn from such and enter old Aunt Patsy's cabin. She grasps our hands with a pressure that makes one's fingers ache, and at the same time gives verbal assurance of a heart-felt welcome,—"De good Lord puts it into your hearts to come an' see us poor old creeturs once in a while, and I'se so glad to see you. Thank God I'm spared to see this day." And from Aunt Hagar, too, may be learned many a lesson of confiding faith and trust. She says, "Sometimes I really thinks I gets along too well. I am here alone, nobody troubles me, I puts my trust in God. I just keeps lookin' up, and when I'se hungry I knows that if the flesh starves the soul won't;" and so we go from place to place, often weary in flesh and spirit, and cannot always realize the comforting assurance that in due season we shall reap if we faint not.

Cold indeed must be the heart that does not warm to the gladness of feeling with which they welcome any one from the North. They say they can tell the Yankees by the light in their faces, and should know them anywhere. One old man, on being asked who he was going to vote for, said, "Christ, my country and the yankees." I wish you could hear them sing "America," "My country" never means so much, in my ears, as when sung by these people who are but just finding out that they have a country. They date everything from the surrender! Oh! that we could call in some of our good friends here, to talk with them of the event of that day; ask them how they feel? and the one word that rings out, waking the echos from even the rebel hill tops is, "Glad, Glad."

The freedman has amply justified all that was believed and expected of him. We shall hope for good if not great results. We did not anticipate an easy work, nor have we found it so; but there is not the least cause for discouragement. Among the pleasant features of our work is the sympathy you manifest in it. Did we stand alone we might tremble but, with your sympathies and prayers, and the blessing of God, why should we doubt. As we return again to our Southern home, we invite any who would like to see for themselves, to visit us there, and also ask that you will still be ready and willing to aid us in this noble work; let us not feel that your interest has ceased. Remember Christ's words "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren ye have done it unto me." That these appeals are in vain, for verily you will have your reward.

Anecdote of Macready.

A singular thing occured at the St. Charles Theatre, New Orleans, during Macready's engagement. The play was "Virginius;" and if ever the great tragedian felt himself pedestaled above all common humanity it was when he was arrayed in a Roman toga. On this occasion he was just preparing himself at the side scene for an imposing entrance, when the Dentatus of the evening, Mr. George Farren—an excellent actor and a genial gentleman, but much sought after by the jolly boys of the period, and hence subject to occasional departures from the strict line of temperance—stumbled up against him in a disagreeably familiar manner.

"Bill," said he, in a suspiciously husky voice.

"Sir," responded the great man, looking a million of daggers.

"I want you to—understand, old boy —hic—you're not agoin' to get—erra—many of the syllables to-night."

"Why, what on earth is the matter with the man?" frigidly inquired Macready.

"Corned—my boy—that's all."

"What do you mean by corned?"

"Tight."

"Tight"?

"Blue."

"Blue? Heavens! Oh, you don't mean that you are drunk?"

"That's about the size of it, old fellow."

"This is dreadful—terrible! How did you get into such a beastly state, and how shall we go on with the play?"

"Don't ruffle your feathers about that," said Farren, "I've just swallowed a tumbler of vinegar and cayenne, and in about five minutes I'll be as sober as a judge."

Somewhat relieved by the assertion, Macready softened sufficiently to give him what assistance he could, and the play proceeded without any particular notice being taken of the inebriated centurion, until he came to the part where he had to be discovered lying on a bier — stage-dead. Macready was busily attending to the arrangement of the body, while the front scene was going on; but each time that poor George —in whose system the pungent potion he had taken was producing a sort of qualmishness—attempted to straighten himself out, he started back again.

"It's no use," he cried," if I lie down, I shall be as sick as a cat."

"But my dear fellow, you're dead—you must. The scene won't be long. Come, stretch yourself out."

"Well, then, get me a pillow and I'll try," said George in a tone of agony.

The pillow was brought, and in the mean-time Macready cautioned the stage carpenters not to draw off the front scene until Dentatus was comfortably fixed. "Now, for heaven's sake, be careful," he said to them "and do not move until I say 'all right.'" The carpenters nodded compliance.

During this time, Macready, the pillow in his hand, was endeavoring to persuade Farren to lie still, which was almost a physical impossibility under the circumstances. At last, in one of his paroxysms, the anxious tragedian, wishing to console him, and leaning over him in a painful but ludicrous contortion, said inadvertently: "A few minutes longer, and you'll be all right."

The carpenters heard their cue, and suddenly revealed to the astonished spectators a tableau never thought of by Sheridan Knowles. Macready rushed off the stage with a zoological howl, and the act-drop descended upon a convulsed audience.

FEMENINE TACTICS. — A favorite method of destroying or marring the matrimonial prospects of each other is, when any young woman is evidently rising into the realms of bellehood, to report her engaged, always taking care to speak of the victim as really very charming, but engaged. You will hear some of your friends thus disposed of, whom you are quite certain have no idea of giving up single blessedness. It is only necessary to be seen with a gentleman a few times, to start the thing, and when it is once fastened upon you, no amount of protestation will make society disbelieve it, so that you have but two alternatives; either to marry the man in cold blood, or else drive him away and lose his society and friendship. Fortunately for the men, there exist some sensible women who won't let an idle report break up their pleasant relations with a gentleman, but have the nerve and good sense to live down the silly gossip of those people who take this method of annoying them. Besides, a man who is attracted by a charming girl, and allows himself to be scared off, bullied or intimidated by a "report" of her engagement, don't deserve her, and is a poor stick at best.

DODD'S NERVINE ONCE MORE.
THE STANDARD REMEDY for biliousness with the medical profession is the Anti-Bilious Pill of the American Pharmacopeia. And its reputation has been well enough deserved. But it is a Pill, nevertheless, and most people of sensibility feel something about as big as a meeting house coming into their throat whenever it is spoken of. DODD'S NERVINE AND INVIGORATOR acts efficiently on the biliary organism; it irritates neither stomach nor intestine in all its operation; and what is VERY IMPORTANT, as all good nurses know, it is MOST AGREEABLE TO TAKE, being as pleasant to the palate as any delicate wine. We all know how it is with Cod Liver Oil. In a pure state it is excellent for certain conditions of debility, and particularly in tendencies to Consumption; and yet many of the best physicians decline to prescribe it, because it so dreadfully sickens the patient. That, they say, makes it do more harm than good. With Dodd's nervine all this becomes obsolete. For sale by all Druggists. Price $1. o21w

WHAT ARE
DR. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA Vinegar Bitters.
THEY ARE NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK, Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits, and refuse Liquors, doctored, spiced, and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetisers" "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD-PURIFIER and LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter, and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell. $100 will be given for an incurable case, providing the bones are not destroyed by mineral poisons or other means, the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.
FOR INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, AND GOUT, DYSPEPSIA, or INDIGESTION, BILLIOUS, REMITTENT, and INTERMITTENT FEVERS, DISEASES OF THE BLOOD, LIVER, KIDNEYS, and BLADDER, these BITTERS have been most successful. SUCH DISEASES are caused by VITIATED BLOOD, which is generally produced by derangement of the DIGESTIVE ORGANS.
Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins, cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood healthy, and all will be well.
These Bitters are not a gilded pill, to delight the eye or please the fancy, but a medical preparation, composed of the best vegetable ingredients known.
They an Alterative, Tonic, Diuretic, Sedative, Diaphoretic, and Gentle Purgative.
"The Life of all Flesh is the Blood thereof."—Purify the blood and the health of the whole system will follow.

MISTAKES.—On the day when the Constabulary act was voted upon, a friend of mine, Mr. A., a temperance Republican — fell in with a Mr. F., whom he had known for years, both being on their way to the polls, and conversation was at once commenced. Mr. A. knew that the other was a temperance man in precept and example, and quite naturally imagined him a good Republican; so, as Mr. F. announced his intention to vote in favor of the law, Mr. A. tried to do a little electioneering, for the first time in his life.

He argued that the adoption of the law would tend to throw the State into the hands of the Democracy, and that then we should have a worse deluge of rum even than at present; and wound up by saying, "Why, you might just as well throw a Democratic ticket next March, and have done with it, as to vote 'Yes' to-day;" and was a little taken aback when his companion replied, "Well, I shall do both, for I have always voted that ticket! I am willing to do all I can to stop the rum traffic, however."

"Well," returned Mr. A., "since you really oppose rum, you should vote today with the recognized temperance men. Now here is a decided one, (as they approached a known prohibitionist,) whom I feel quite sure voted in the negative. How is it; (to the third gentlemen,) did you not?" "No; I voted 'yes,'" was the answer. The two temperance men went on their way laughing; the Republican voted "No" and the Democrat "Yes," and Mr. A. returned home quite satisfied that he was never intended for a political wire-puller.

A few evenings since I made a mistake. I felt that there was something I wished to remember, but what it was I could not recall to mind. At last I bethought me that I had not been shaved for several days, and thought I did not feel quite satisfied. I went to the shaving saloon, where, under the skillful manipulations of the tonsorial Blackil, who (though he is a Democrat) never shaves with the "trust razor" which loosens all the victim's teeth, I was soon peacefully slumbering in the big chair; and not till he roused me with the remark that they were having a pleasant time at a certain gathering, did I find out that I really wanted to go to a merry party, when I had fancied I wanted to get shaved.

Mistakes sometimes creep into the papers, even. I once read an account of a gentleman's having commenced a series of lectures on "Footprints in the Holy Sands," which put my geography completely at fault; but sand is a very likely material to receive, if not to retain, impressions of footsteps, and I thought there might possibly be some place where it is called holy. A more careful reading satisfied me that the Holy Land was the subject of the lectures.

In another case, in a report of certain proceedings, it was stated that, if a certain street was straightened, "the Smith heirs would lay a concrete sidewalk" opposite their property. But the compositor made "hens" "out of heirs," so that the report read "the Smith hens would lay a concrete sidewalk!" Luckily for the peace of the heirs, the error was corrected, or they would doubtless have been no little pestered with applications to sell some of the remarkable fowls that laid concrete sidewalks instead of big eggs. PAKEHA.

☞ The Cincinnati Printing Gazette thinks it dreadful, that the Congressional Printer publicly announces his desire "that each employe shall so manage his financial matters and debts as to obviate the annoyance of having crediters and collectors applying for permission to enter the office to make collections." We don't agree with the Gazette; we regard any man who doesn't pay his bills as a nuisance and a disgrace to the public service, from which we would have him expelled as soon as possible, whether in high or low capacity.

New Hampshire Items.

At Great Falls the house of George H. Horne was broken into on Sunday night by burglars, who stole from his pockets about $100 in money, besides a pistol which was lying near for their especial benefit, and a watch. They gained an entrance by prying up a window.

☞ The American Grocer says the firms of Bininger, liquor dealers in New York, are the [oldest in that city except the Lorillards; and the failure of A. Bininger & Co. (not A. W. & Co.) created as much surprise as would that of Stewart the dry goods king. They were worth two millions, and outside speculations caused the failure, as it does of many successful business men. Stock gambling swallows up millions as readily as it does cents.

☞ Sickness is quite prevalent in the South part of Rye, mainly fevers and the like. Mrs. Emmons B. Philbrick died a fortnight since; and her father, Mr. Dalton, died a week afterwards,—it was thought from taking cold at her funeral.

☞ The Storm of Wednesday came up rather suddenly, and was very severe, though short; and coming after the very fine weather of Tuesday, caused a large fleet of vessels to be exposed, several of which met disaster. Three or four were wrecked at Hampton, and one at least on Rye Beach.

The large old schooner, Decatur, of Eden, Me., lumber-loaded, went ashore on the rocks at Rye Harbor, near Capt. Walker's Wednesday evening, and is a total wreck—masts, deck and cargo entirely gone; and a large lot of lumber which washed ashore in the vicinity no doubt came from her.

Nothing is to be seen of her boat, nor is anything known of the crew but it is hoped they were taken off previously. Several articles of men's and women's clothing have washed ashore. At Hampton the schooners Yantic, from Portland, and the Wm. Gregory and Ada Gowan, both from St. John, N. B., and all loaded with lumber for Boston, went ashore near Boar's Head—and the wrecks and cargoes will all be sold as they lay.

UNIVERSALISM.—Next year will be the centenary of Universalism in America. The churches throughout the country are organizing for great work during that year. It is proposed to raise not less than one million dollars for the use of the denomination, of which two hundred thousand dollars is to constitute a permanent fund to be known as the MURRAY Memorial, in honor of the first preacher of that faith in America. At the recent meeting held at the Rev. Dr. Chapin's Church in New York, the sum of $20,000 was secured for the centenary fund.

A GOOD WINE NEEDS NO PUFF.—Calling on a friend of ours of the American legation, the other day, he invited us to a glass of wine. We complimented his taste in the choice of so rich a Port, but were somewhat astonished when he assured us it was an American vintage. It was rich, juicy and high flavored, possessing none of the peculiarities which distinguish the manufactured sugared wines and cider-champagnes He told us the proprietor, Mr. A. Speer, of New Jersey, U. S. A., had been awarded a gold cup for the excellence of his wine. This is a new phase in the produce of America—a wine country. (Dickens' "All the Year round"

We quote the above with pride that we do produce one wine in this country, that Europeans acknowledge superior to their own production.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

PERSONAL.—Hon. George G. Fogg of the Concord Monitor was in town on Friday.

☞ Rev. Daniel Austin of this city will spend the winter at Providence, R. I., and South.

☞ Republican Caucuses for the nomination of Ward officers meet this evening in Wards One and Two. The latter meeting will be held at the new ward room on State Street.

☞ At a recent sale of a bankrupt estate in this vicinity, more pounds of silver were sold, than the owner had ever acknowledged to possessing ounces, in his sworn statement to the Revenue Collector.

☞ There is much discussion as to the selection of Republican candidates for Aldermen. That's right—do all your pulling and hauling before the list is made up; and then go in for the regular party nominations, whoever they may be.

Communication.

☞ There has been considerable talk of Democratic votes for the Republican nominee for Mayor. Don't take any stock in that kind of thing—the Opposition are never green enough for it—the Republicans are alone in such action to defeat their own candidates.

S. O. R.

☞ The largest audience of the season attended Hayward's Concert at the Temple, Thanksgiving evening. The entertainment was one of the best,—amusing and without any flatness or indecent allusions which make other amusements (too often) disagreeable. Hayward is a fine singer and effective caricaturist.

☞ The Ball of No. 2 Engine Company, at Congress Hall on the Eve of Thanksgiving, passed off well, as usual with these social gatherings, which have now numbered ten annually. A nice party, fair attendance, good music, supper at the Company's neat hall, and a good time all round. The belle of the ball was, perhaps, a young lady dressed in white alpacca, or some such goods, who from her accustomed style of much display, adopted for this occasion the greatest contrast, of entire simplicity—and though more "quiet," was not a whit less charming than ever.

☞ The Republicans of this city have shown by their large caucus, that the time is come when a Democratic Mayor will be one of the things that were. Mr. Adams, the candidate selected by the Republicans, is personally popular, and will fill the office with ability and credit, for we do not doubt that he will be chosen Mayor. The Democratic leaders are trembling in their shoes at the result of the caucus, Tuesday evening. Mr. Adams will poll as large a vote as any candidate named, and will draw largely from the ranks of his panic-stricken opponents. That he will administer the affairs of the city satisfactorily to all our citizens, we have no reason to doubt. Let him receive the solid vote of the Republican party.

☞ The Philharmonic Society is flourishing finely this (their fifth) season. They now meet at Grand Army Hall, Market Street, Monday evenings; and have in rehearsal Mozart's Twelfth Mass. The attendance is large, and an orchestra has been formed, which renders much assistance.

☞ Hampton Beach is a great lumber yard just now. Part of the impromptu stock is advertised at auction to-day.

☞ Kelly & Leon's minstrels, advertised to give a concert here Friday evening, have not been seen yet.

HEN WORK.—A brood of nine chicks came to light on Thanksgiving day, at the West end. All owing to the President's proclamation for an early Thanksgiving. These candidates for martyrdom next year are the property of a well-known builder.

☞ There will be a meeting of the Republican State Committee at the Eagle Hotel, Concord, on Thursday, the 25th instant, at 8 o'clock P. M., for the purpose of fixing the times and places for holding the State, Councillor, Senatorial, and County Conventions. A full attendance is very desirable.

☞ The Louisville Courier-Journal truly and sadly says that "Whiskey" is the epitaph of half the journalists and other literary men who have sunk into early graves within the past twenty years.

THE GAZETTE for 1870.—New Subscribers paying $2 for the New Hampshire Gazette for the year 1870, will receive the paper free until Jan. 1st.

From the Portsmouth Journal.

FOR MAYOR, JOSEPH B. ADAMS.

All personal and factional feelings of good Republicans should end with the nomination of a candidate by a properly constituted and conducted Republican caucus. The caucus, if of any use whatever, should by common consent be the finality on all questions of the merits or claims of candidates for nomination to office, and the union of the party should be such that the selection of the caucus will as much constitute a man a candidate to be supported by every Republican, as his election at the polls constitutes him the office Mr. Adams has had considerable experience in various departments of the City Government, and during Mr. Dearborn's administration was acting Mayor while Mr. D. was sick. We have no doubt of his ability to conduct the business of the Mayoralty with credit to himself and the city.

The time for expressing personal preferences is past. If we would have a Mayor of Republican selection we must every man of us vote for the present nominee, remembering that a vote cast otherwise is strengthening the other side. The question is, now that the Republicans have taken their stand and nominated their candidate, shall they be helped to sustain their position or not? Party pride, the influence that will be produced upon the spring election here, and the necessity of keeping the ballot boxes in the hands of friends, stimulate us to union and effort that the whole ticket may be secured to us.

We earnestly hope that every Republican will be at the polls next Tuesday, and cast his vote without a scratch.

☞ The New Hampshire Gazette for this week, is now ready for delivery at the Chronicle office. Price 5 cts. per copy—$2. per year. Contains all the Local and other reading from the Daily Chronicle.

A PACIFIC RAILWAY

GOLD LOAN $6,500,000.

We beg leave to announce that we have accepted the agency of the

KANSAS PACIFIC RAILWAY COMPANY,

For the sale of its NEW SEVEN PER CENT.

Thirty Year Gold Loan,

Free from Tax.

This Loan amounts to $6,500,000.

First Mortgage Land-Grant and Sinking Fund Bonds,

secured upon the extension of the Railway from near Sheridan, in Kansas, to Denver, Colorado, a distance of 537 miles of which 12 miles are completed, and the rest is under construction. It is also a Mortgage upon the Road, the Rolling Stock and Franchise of this first-class Railway, besides now running through the State of Kansas,

And in successful operation for 437 miles

west of the Missouri River, and earning already enough to meet all of its expenses and existing obligations, besides MORE THAN THE INTEREST UPON THIS NEW LOAN. In addition to this the Bonds are also secured by a first mortgage of the extending in alternate sections on either side of the track, from the 394th mile post in Kansas to Denver. The proceeds of the sale of these lands are to be invested by the Trustees in the 6 per cent Bonds, themselves up to 120 in U. S. Bonds, as A SINKING FUND FOR THE REDEMPTION OF THE BONDS.

GOVERNMENT LAND GRANT OF THREE MILLION ACRES,

The Lands embrace some of the finest portions of the magnificent Territory of Colorado, including a coal field and pinery. The company also holds as an asset another tract of

Three Millions of Acres in the State of Kansas,

and although not pledged as a security for this Loan, their possession adds largely to the Company's wealth and credit. We estimate the Value of the Company's property, covered by this mortgage at $23,000,000 net, while the Loan is merely $6,500,000.

The Bonds have

THIRTY YEARS TO RUN,

from May 1, 1869, and will pay

SEVEN PER CENT. INTEREST IN GOLD, semi-annually, on May 1 and Nov. 1, and are FREE FROM GOVERNMENT TAXATION, the Company paying the tax.

The principal of the Loan is made payable in Gold, in the City of New York, but each coupon will be

PAYABLE IN FRANKFORT, LONDON OR N. YORK at option of the holder, with notice, at the following rates:

On $1,000 Bond in N. Y. $35 (gold) each half year.
" " London....67 sh. 10. "
" " Frankfort..87 flr. 30 krtzs., "

The Agents of the Loan, before accepting the trust had the condition of the Road, and the country through which it runs, carefully examined. They are happy to give the Loan an emphatic endorsement as a

FIRST CLASS INVESTMENT,

in every respect perfectly sure, and in some essential even

Better than Government Securities.

The Bonds will be sold for the present at

96, and accrued Interest, both in Currency,

the Agents reserving the right to advance the rate.

The attention of investors is invited to these well-secured bonds, which we recommend as one of the most profitable investments in the market.

Gold and Government Securities taken in payment at their market value, without commission.

SCHOOLS AND THE BIBLE.—The Advance, the able othodox paper at Chicago, reviews very briefly the contest about reading the bible in Common Schools, noticing first the Roman Catholic proposition to rebuild Common Schools, or what is virtually the same thing, to endow the schools of one or more seats, as much. This, the Advance disapproves, and then says:—

A second proposition is, to insist on retaining the reading of the Bible, and similar devotional exercises, in the public schools, in despite of the remonstrance of those who conscientiously object. This we suppose to be the popoular view among evangelical Christians, but we cannot see it to be just in itself, consistent with religious freedom, or safe for the schools. We have no right to insist that our wishes shall be gratified in religious respects, against the scruples of other, and in connection with institutions supported by a public tax on all property. We may regret their errors, and be very sure that we are right, and that they are wrong, in religious faith; but it happens that they are equally certain of the contrary, and that the law properly makes no distinction between us. It impartially decides that a common institution must be worked upon common principles, in a manner which shall be satisfactory to all. If we will only judge by placing ourselves in the position of those who differ from us, we shall see that as Americans, and as advocates of religious freedom, we should violate our own principles in seeking to compel them to place their children under distinctive Christian worship. The attempt to do this will endanger the existence of the schools.

The only remaining course is, to maintain our common school system in full vigor, and to remove from it whatever may conflict with the religious belief of of any portion of the community, trusting to family instruction, Sunday schools, church influence and similar means to cultivate the religious nature, and to train children in an intelligent and pure faith. It is but little, at best, that can be done religiously in our public schools by a perfectory daily reading of a chapter in the Bible, while the evil of thereby driving away a large number of children, is one of great magnitude. Our national character and prospects are endangered by the wide separation of classes, the mixture of races on our soil, and the want of common affinities and sentiments among the people. The remedy for this lies largely in our common schools, in which the children of the nation are brought into association and acquaintance, and are trained under similar influences. We must be prepared to sacrifice much in order to save such an instrumentality, and it can be saved only by a perfectly just and impartial course of procedure. The convictions of other men must be respected as much as our own. Common schools must stand on a basis common to the whole community. With this attempt to view a difficult subject in the light of the principles involved, aside from all prejudices of person or party, we submit our ideas to candid consideration.

PRIVATE PROPERTY IN LAW BOOKS.—A good story is told of John W. Crockett and Jim Gibson, both of them able lawyers, and in full practice, in the early days of Jackson's purchase. They both reside in Fulton, Hickman county. On one occasion they were employed on opposite sides in an ejectment case before a magistrate. The court was held in a school house. Crockett was reading the law to the court, and when he got through Gibson asked him for his book, saying that the statute just read was new to him. Crockett refused to give it to him, on the ground that it was his own private property, and if Mr. Gibson wanted the benefit of law books there were some for sale.

The court ruled the book was private property, and that Gibson had no right to see it except with Mr. Crockett's consent. Gibson was puzzled, but being a man of resources, he fell upon a plan that completely upset Crockett's calculations. He stepped back and found under the desk an old copy of Noah Webster's spelling book, and in addressing the court he read from the speller: "Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, that laws heretofore passed (fitting Crockett's law) be and the same are hereby repealed." Crockett sprang to his feet with, "Let me see that book." "No, 'you don't," says Gibson, "This book is private property, and I'm not in the habit of packing law books around for the benefit of others." It is needless to say that Crockett lost his case, Gibson having the last say on him.

—Paducah Kentuckian.

—Mr. Breckinridge and Humphrey Marshall met at Paris, Kentucky, last week. The former told the latter a war story which he had heard related, which hits off General Marshall's immense size:—

"When General Marshall heard that General Pegram intended entering Kentucky with his command, he felt as if his own perserves were being poached upon, and sent word to Pegram that he must not come into the State. Pegram replied that he was preparing, and intended to enter Kentucky at once. Marshall declared that if he did he would have to pass over his (Marshall's) dead body. Whereupon Pegram intended that that would be too much to expect of his artillery, but if he found the obstacle in his way he would immediately tunnel through."

—Indianapolis has a councilman who delivered himself of the following speech: "Any Judge who could issue such an order as that of Judge Hines is a jackass." Forgetting himself, a little further on, he added: "And I am the peer of such a man."

THE YOSEMITE FALL.—Dixon, the Washington correspondent of the Boston Advertiser, has visited the Yosemite valley this summer, and in a recent letter thus speaks of the fall, which is the greatest natural curiosity in the world:—

The Yosemite fall may be beautiful to some eyes—I can see nothing, feel nothing, but its terrible grandeur. There have been hours in which I grew afraid of it as if it were a living thing. The angle of the rock is of such character that for a distance of two miles in the valley this fall seems directly in front. Stand at either of the hotels, half a mile above the one or half a mile below the other, anywhere in that stretch of meadow, and the fall is squarely before your eyes. It waits on one's footsteps like an obedient creature.—rather like a spirit—now compelling one to bow in mute and profound adoration, and now watching for one's moments of unholy or worldly weakness. One cannot get away from it:—step at the door of your hotel, and there it is; look up from the shadow in which you are lying at noontide, and there its grandeur falls; wake in the night and look from your window, and it vibrates tantalizingly in the magic moonlight; shut your eyes and close your ears, and you see it and feel it falling down its dizzy height into your heart of hearts. From a dozen points of view it is a vertical fall of 2640 feet—what can the eye and the mind do with such a height as that? Go to the base, climb about it, face it down to its simplest detail, and it still remains a vertical shaft of 1550 feet, a cascade of 600 feet in 80 or 90 rods, and then a plunge of 500 feet for an ending. Now it seems to be fifteen feet wide and ten or twelve inches deep where it breaks over the edge of the rock; at the melting of the snows it is three or four feet deep, and thirty or forty feet wide. When the winds first caught this long column of water on the morning after my arrival, it seemed to me as if I were looking at the wonder of the world; in every morning of my stay I have seen that same magnificent contest of wind and water—I think the picture is so graven on my brain that I can see it as long as life lasts.

☞ The large purchases of Government Bonds for the Sinking Fund, is naturally releasing a good deal of fixed capital, and directing to other classes of investments. The following remarks by the New York Tribune, of a late date, bear directly on the subject of safe and profitable investments:

The rapidity with which the increased revenues resulting from a wise and economical administration of the Government are enabling the Secretary of the Treasury to reduce the public debt, is releasing invested capital at the rate of one hundred millions per annum. The capital of the country is, moreover, increasing at a rapid rate. Much of this released and accumulating capital is of the class that is not employed in business, but seeks secure investment with reasonable income. Among those who have been accustomed to keep their money in Government Bonds, and who enjoyed the sense of security which these afforded, there is much inquiry, now that the Government is ready to pay them off with a handsome premium, as to what other forms of investment are safe. It well understood that some of the securities of corporations, especially First Mortgage Bonds of honestly managed Railroad Companies, must be safe. The difficulty is to know which can be trusted, as everybody having a thousand dollars or more to invest cannot thoroughly investigate the numerous loans offered. Responsible, intelligent, and honorable bankers must do this for them. Messrs. Fisk & Hatch are bringing their experience to bear upon these questions with laborious investigation and a conscientious desire to offer only first-class and well guarded loans. They were largely instrumental in disposing of the various Government loans during the war, and have since then sold the entire first mortgage loan of the Central Pacific Railroad. They are now about to dispose of a loan of $2,800,000 for the Western Pacific Railroad already built and in operation from San Francisco to Sacramento, to which they elsewhere invite the attention of investors.

—In Great Britain, money is very commonly loaned at four or five per cent. In New England the law restricts interest to 6 per cent. In New York the law declares 7 per cent to be just. In the Western States 10 per cent. and even 12 per cent. are legalized. How plain it is, that there is and can be no standard, and that morality connot thus change as the cars carry one from State to State. We, therefore consider usury laws absurd, and as sure to be repealed with advancing civilization. Nothing more is needed than a law regulating the rate when none is specifying mentioned in an agreement between the parties.

—Discussion of the Bible question in Cincinnati has led one of the writers for the Cincinnati Commercial to examine the book. After describing it briefly he comes to the conclusion that "indeed, the Bible is a good book to read."
